ANSWER: You're much too quick with the telephone, little lady. The number one way to lose boy friends is: besiege them with telephone calls. Let bad enough alone now. Stay away from Mr. Bell's invention as far as this lad is concerned and use it sparingly with the next beau you acquire.

Bailieboro News

The sunbeams of Bensfort United church met at the home of Mrs. Charles Barnard. Plans were discussed to have the usual Easter party on April 19th in the basement of the church. The baptismal font that the girls purchased has arrived and will be dedicated at the opening service on March 28.

The Women's Institute of Bailieboro held a cooking school in the United church hall on Wednesday when Miss Downing of Toronto demonstrated and showed a film on "Cooking Shortcuts."

Mrs. Lorne Harris and Mrs. Charles Barnard attended the executive meeting of the Peterborough Presbytery at Mark St. church on Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Keith McIntyre and Mrs. Everett MacFarlane were Friday guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. Barnard.

Mr. and Mrs. James Gaynor and Karen entertained a number of guests on Friday and Saturday evening.

Word was received by friends here of the sudden death of Mr. Ralph Kilbon of Neshonic Station, New Jersey on March 12. Mr. Kilbon owns a farm east of Baileboro.

Fenella News

Reg. George has returned home from B.C.

Mr. Clifton Rogers spent Monday afternoon with friends at Apsley and called to see Clarence McCormick who is convalescing from a recent illness.

HI-SUGAR
NEW HYBRID TOMATO

Sugar content so high they taste like grapes, eaten raw. Golf ball size, fiery red, firm, perfect form, quite early. A table sensation for pickles, preserves, garnishing, salads, desserts, etc. Makes big heavy bearing plants growing up to 6 feet across, or can be staked. Single plants often yield a bushel of ripe fruit. A distinctly new and unusual garden delight. Pkt. of 35 seeds 25¢ postpaid.

BUGG—In loving memory of Mr. G. Bugg, who passed away March 16, 1952.

His smiling way and pleasant face
Are a picture to recall;
He had a kindly word for each,
And died beloved by all.
Some day we hope to meet him.
Some day we know not when.
To clasp his hand in the better land,
Never to part again.
—Always remembered by Ronald, Margaret and Norman.

JOHNSON—In loving memory of our dear father, William S. Johnson, who passed away March 16, 1945.

Faces Charge In Court After Accident

Thomas R. Sedgewick of Burleigh Falls was on trial in magistrate's court today on a charge of dangerous driving, a charge which carries a maximum penalty of up to $1,000 fine or two years in jail or both.

The charge was laid as a result of an accident which occurred on Highway 28 just north of the drive-in theatre on the afternoon of January 30. Sergewick, travelling north, was in collision with a southbound car driven by Donald Hendron of Lakefield which, in turn, was in collision with a northbound car driven by Lieuteant Colonel Leonard Ritza of the Ortona Barracks in Hamilton.

Evidence given by OPP Const. Roy Feeley showed that Sedgewick's car had ended up in the ditch, buried in snow on the wrong side of the highway. Hendron, too, ended up on the wrong side, passing along the east shoulder to hit Ritza. All three cars suffered damages on the right front and sides.

HAD LIGHTS ON

Crown witness Donald Hendron testified that he was driving through a snow "squall" (though it was not actually snowing) and had turned on his headlights in midafternoon due to poor driving conditions. He said the accused was on the wrong side of the road, angling in the direction of the west ditch. He guessed the point of impact at the centre of the west lane.

Hendron said that he had had conversation with Sedgewick and that the accused had told him that he had been attempting to pass a fourth car, not involved in the accident, driven by Jules Windover of Burliegh. He said that Sedgewick told him that when he (Sedgewick) could not pass he 'gave the car the gun" and headed for the west ditch.

SLOWED BY SNOW

Defence counsel Trevor Clarke brought from Windover testimony that he had slowed upon entering the snow squall, that he might have caught his wheels in the east snowbank and thus been slowed considerably. This, the defence felt, might have forced the accused out of the line of traffic.

The testimony of Lt. Col. Ritza, who was wearing clerical collar, was featured by sharp exchanges between Mr. Clarke and Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, Mr. Clarke felt the Crown Attorney was asking the witness for presumptions, not facts.

Lt. Col. Ritza testified that he was driving behind the acused, who "went shooting over to the left" He was afraid of being sandwiched between the two cars, both of which went anglewise to opposite ditches so headed for the east shoulder. But he was not in time to avoid a collision with Hendron. He said that the road was slippery, that he doubted if the centre was bare and that driving conditions were difficult.

The case continues this afternoon.

Plan Queen Mother Guest At Dinner

LONDON (Reuters)—The Queen Mother will attend an English-Speaking Union dinner in New York at the Waldorf Astoria Nov. 3 during her planned visit to the United States, it was announced heretoday.

Final results of the King George VI memorial fund raised by the English-Speaking Union of the United States as a tribute to the late king will be formally reported to her at the dinner.

The memorial fund has already yielded a total of over $300,000, to be spent on memorial fellowships for British and Commonwealth students who want to study in the United States.

The Queen Mother will stay in Washington at the White House from Nov. 4 to 6.

Waitress Stabbed At Busy Intersection

It was reported that a crowd of onlookers gathered but watched apathetically until one, a 55-year-old woman, came to the girl's assistance.

Refuse Paris Permission To Quit County

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario legislature's private bills committee today rejected an application by the Town of Paris to withdraw the County of Brant and become a separate municipality.

The committee voted 15 to 5 not to report to the legislature the private bill presented by Hon Harry Nixon (L—Brant).

Committee chairman W. M. Nickle (PC—Kingston) said the move by Paris "is the thin edge of the wedge to see if the county system in Ontario is going to live or not."

Andrew Telfer, warden of Brant county said the withdrawal, coupled with the application to the municipal board by the City of Brantford for the annexation of 7,900 acres of Brant county "would practically ruin the county."

WOULD LOSE 48 P.C.

He supported the statements of the county solicitor R. W. Reville who said the withdrawal and annexation would mean a loss of 48 per cent of the county assessment. [illegible] in this instance, said Mr. Reville. "We have to look on it as the whole state of the county system."

The solicitor claimed the move would mean the "dissolution of the county—and there is no doubt about that."

In supporting the application, Gordon Baron, solicitor for Paris, said the town was paying more into the county than it was receiving. The Township of South Dumfries, in which the town is located, cannot afford to supply the services needed in Paris.

Mr. Baron said the county levies the town $18,000 for road improvement, "and I would challenge the county council to prove they have spent $300, on municipal roads in Paris last year."

VOTERS APPROVED

Residents of Paris in December, 1952, voted 1,614 to 306 in favor of breaking away from the county.

W. A. Orr, deputy minister of municipal affairs said the question was simply a matter of gvernment policy; "Do you want to continue the county system or not."

"We have to take the bill on its merits today . . . the residents of the town voted in favor of it . . . in my opinion the Town of Paris can carry on," said Alfred Cowling (PC—Toronto High Park).

In a reply to a question, Mayor Stanley McPherson of Paris said the town was prepared to discuss the question with the county, "but I doubt if we could get any agreement."

C. E. Janes (PC—Lambton East) said the county couldn't carry on, "without the assistance of this urban, wealthy town. The county has made a supreme effort on road assistance . . . it would be a serious mistake if we allowed the separation."

CGIT Hold Candy Sale For Projector Screen

Each girl carried a decorated basket with containers, also having a St. Patrick's day motif and sold the candy from door to door.

They realized $25, and the demand very much exceeded the supply. The money is to go towards the purchase of the new screen for the Sunday school projector. The girls chose that as their particular project in the recent church renovation.

Egypt Has Suggested Suez Talks Resume

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain today announced that Egypt has made approaches aimed at a resumption of the Suez canal zone base talks interrupted last October.

Latest official statement of the British attitude is that made by Foreign Secreary Eden to the House of Commons March 1. He then reaffirmed the view that a settlement was in the "general and allied interest."

A vigorous attack on any attempt to negotiate with Egypt at this time was launched by a Conservative party "rebel" group in Parliament in a debate last week.

Rangers Enjoy 12th Reunion, 100 Attend

About one hundred former members of the Prince of Wales Rangers and their friends gathered last weekend at the Canadian Legion Hall to celebrate the twelfth anniversary of the Regiment's mobilization for services in the Second World War and to renew old friendships with their former wartime buddies.

The programe on Saturday evening, consisted of games and fun in the form of a "Millionaire's Night" under the management of the entertainment committee composed of H. Walsh, J. Field, H. Webb, A. Brook and A. Henwood. Several worthwhile prizes which had been donated by local industries and firm were given out to the high-scorers.

On Sunday morning a brief ceremony was held at the war memorial directed by A. Jackson, during which a wreath was laid in memory of those who gave their lives for the cause during the Second World War.

Sunday afternoon at 1.30 p.m. the group assembled in the Legion for a banquet and a short program which included the election of association officers for the year 1954.

A toast to the regiment was made by Frank R. Pammett and ably replied to by A. Jackson. Col. J. A. Dewart gave the toast to the ladies which was responded to by Mrs. A. H. Heideman. The speaker for this occasion was Major R. C. Honey who outlined the operation know as "Caribou Crawl" when a military convoy of 123 vehicles was moved by [illegible] and rail from Port Alberni on Vancouver Island to Moncton, Northern British Columbia early in 1944.

The following were elected to office for 1954: president, H. Doolittle; vice-president, A. Henwood; secretary, W. Loomis; treasurer, W. Butcher; bulletin editor, F. R. Pammett; Executive Committee, A. Jackson, F. Marsden, A. Brook, G. Harper, B. Castle, B. Rollins, L. Herr, J. Field, H. Webb and H. White.

U.S. Bearing 78% War Cost

PARIS (Reuters) — The United States this year is bearing 78 per cent of the cost of the eight-year-old Indo-China war, official figures released here today show.

Christian Pineau, spokesman of the National Assembly's finance committee, said the United States will supply 490,000,000,000 francs (about $1,400,000,000) during 1954 (about $388,000,000).

Pineau gave these figures as the assembly began to debate the national defence budget for 1954, amounting to about $3,171,000,000, compared with $3,522,000,000 last year.

Flames spread under the eaves and into the attic of the Lackey house where there is principally water and smoke damage. The flames didn't get into the main part of the house. However a whole new roof will be needed.

CAUSE NOT KNOWN

Cause of the fire is still undetermined. Fire Chief William Sorrie has called the fire marshal's office in Toronto for assistance in investigating the outbreak.

First witnesses agree that the fire started either in a shed at the rear of the kitchen or in the kitchen itself. A coal stove was going in the kitchen but the fire was low; and as firemen were cleaning up afterwards they noticed that the coal was still not burned.

Mr. Trotter said he was asleep upstairs when he was wakened by shouting. Then he noticed a glow at the rear of the house and found it was fire.

He roused his wife and two children and they got out with what clothing they could.

"There was fire in the kitchen as I went down the stairs and it singed Donny's hair," he said. "My wife and Terry got out ahead of me."

Downstairs a couple of unidentified men gave him a hand getting his family away to safety.

WENT WRONG WAY

While this was going on they had lost track of Mr. Trotter Sr. The elderly man, who was sleeping in the middle bedroom, made his way downstairs. Instead of going out the side door he started through the length of the house and was found standing around in the smoke and heat by Constable Crough.

"I'd just been driving up Park St. when I noticed the smoke," said Constable Crough. "There were flames shooting up from the kitchen window."

He opened the front door to see if there was anybody still in the building but got no response when he called out. He came to a second door along the hallway, kicked it open, and saw Mr. Trotter standing there in the smoke and heat. The elderly man seemed in a kind of daze.

Mr. Trotter may have had a weak spell because he called out to the constable: "I've got a bad heart".

FAILURE IN CALIFORNIA—A six-foot-tall Mexican is caught at San Diego, Cal., after he tried to sneak into the U.S. illegally under the hood of an auto. Immigration inspector Richard McCowan (right) and other officials said that the "wetback" would be returned to Mexico.

Russian Ambassador To See NHL Game

TORONTO (CP) — Russia's ambassador to Canada will see a National Hockey League game Wednesday night between Montreal Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs, the club that made an abortive bid for a trip to Russia after the Soviet team won the world hockey championship.

D. S. Chuvahin and his wife came to Toronto for a Canadian-Soviet friendship dinner tonight. They plan to stay over for the game.

Young Soldier Goes On Trial

Cierpisz is charged with the Jan. 5 shooting of Pte. Robert Bilow, 21, of Winchester, Ont., a fellow member of Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry stationed at Currie Barracks here.

Mr. Justice Boyd McBride said a question of the qualifications of one of the jurymen was "a situation which, in my 40 years of legal experience, is entirely novel."

The question revolved around whether George H. Craven was a salaried employee of the federal government and therefore exempt from jury duty.

It was decided that Craven, a civilian employee with the Royal Canadian Engineers at Currie Barracks, where he is employed by the hour as a painter, was not a salaried official or employee of the government in the legal meaning of the phrase.

Cierpisz's mother, Mrs. Ana Cierpisz of Windsor, is here as a witness for the defence. She is not allowed to hear presentation of evidence.

U.S. Paper Demands Policy Explained

PHILADELPHIA (CP) — The Philadelphia Inquirer in an editorial today says that questions about U. S. "new look" defence policy raised by External Affairs Minister Pearson of Canada and others "indicate that the policy requires clear-cut explanation."

"It is not just officials or public figures, but the people of the country who have a right to know just what the 'new look' is all about," the editorial says.

"The name itself is unfortunate . . . so far as can be judged from the information given out, what is developing is not a 'brand new' policy, but a shift in emphasis from the old one, on the basis of a changing situation in the world."

Hold Taxi Driver Aiding Illegal Entry

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (CP)—U. S. immigration officials said today a taxi driver from Niagara Falls, Ont., arrested last Wednesday, is being held in connection with the illegal entry from Canada last September of a German-born woman.

The taxi driver, Richard W. Friesman, was picked up after taking a fare across the Rainbow Bridge here. Immigration officials said no action has been taken but he is still being held for deportation.

They said it was Friesman who last Sept. 6 brought Mrs. Hilda Krueger to Buffalo from Canada. She married a man named Boykin, they said. She was arrested Sept. 21 for illegal entry and is free on bond pending deportation proceedings.

Commission Blames Israel And Syria

JERUSALEM (AP)—The Israeli-Syrian mixed armistice commission Monday night condemned both Israel and Syria for a gun battle March 11 on the Sea of Galilee, and heard fresh complaints from both countries about firing in the same area Monday.

Both sides demanded a second emergency meeting of the armistice commission to consider the new protests.

Defence Spending Cut

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP)—The Pakistan government will spend 800,000,000 rupees (about $80,000,000) on defence in the 1954-55 financial year, Finance Minister Chaudhary Mohammed Ali said Monday in presenting the new budget. This is 8,500,000 rupees less than defence spending in the current financial year.

No Information Available On Gas Price

HAMILTON (CP) — Thomas Weir, vice-president and general manager of the Union Gas Company, Chatham, said today that distributing companies in the east have no information as to the price which will be charged in Ontario for Alberta natural gas if and when the trans-Canada pipeline is built.

Mr. Weir was commenting on statements made Monday by A. R. Crozier, Ontario fuel controller, who said that the price of Alberta natural gas for Hamilton residents [illegible] would be one-third lower than the present price of comparative gas.

"Mr. Crozier may have a general idea as to price," said Mr. Weir. "He may have access to engineering reports which would help in estimating the price of the gas."

NO CONTRACTS SIGNED

No contracts by distributing companies have been signed, said Mr. Weir, and any discussions on price would probably not be held until after a hearing on the proposed trans-Canada line opens in Calgary next Monday.

Union Gas is prepared to build a line from Chatham almost to Toronto if Alberta gas comes east, he said.

Church Service Marks Education Week

MILLBROOK (ENS)—The annual church service marking education week, which members of the Home and School Association attend in a body was held Sunday evening in St. Thomas' Anglican church.

Mrs. B. B. Dawson, the president, was in attendance. Scripture lessons were read by the two vice-presidents, Mrs. M. E. Hobbs and Mrs. Homer Ouellette.

In his sermon the second in a series on "Men who crucify Christ" the Rev. L. R. Pocock said there were many men in the world today like Pilate. They too are cynical and sarcastic asking, "What is truth?"

"There lies more faith in honest doubt than in all creeds" he said. "Any sentence of any creed is stronger than a whole library of skeptical books."

Hymns and prayers were chosen in keeping with the theme of education.

Destroyer Huron Returns To Halifax

HALIFAX (CP) — Destroyer Huron, veteran of two wars, returns to Halifax Wednesday after 11 months of Korean duty, her second such stint.

Under Cmdr. T. C. Pullen of Oakville, Huron is the fifth Canadian navy ship to circumnavigate the world, having come home via the Middle East.

Lieut. Bill Howe of Sudbury was granted special permission to make the trip home from Korea aboard Huron. He previously had sailed from Vancouver to Korea so the return trip makes his dream complete.

No Crown Witness Bogs Down Court

Because the key Crown witnes failed to appear in court a careless driving charge against Orville H. Eddington of 733 Bethune St. bogged down shortly after getting under way in Magistrate's court Monday.

The charge was laid as a result of an accident on Park Hill Road between Bethune and Aylmer Sts. February 26.

Const. Bert Howden testified as to police details of the accident but it then developed that the driver of the other car, Thomas A. Lister, 677 Aylmer St. had not been called.

Says Kingsley Fired 5 Shots At Messenger

BARRIE (CP)—A 20-year-old Toronto youth testified today that it was William S. Kingsley, 19, who fired the revolver shots that killed a Toronto brokerage messenger on a rural road last Oct. 29.

Ian Robertson, jointly accused with Kingsley in the murder of 57-year-old Fred (Scotty) Cameron, told an Ontario Supreme Court jury today that Kingsley fired all five shots which killed Cameron.

Previously Kingsley had pesified that they both particlpated in the shooting of Cameron.

Robertson, who once broke into tears and had to be given a glass of water, told the court he and Kingsley had gone out in Robertson's father's car on the night of Oct. 29 with Cameron. The car stalled near Stroud.

He testified that Kingsley came up to Robertson and, referring to Cameron, said "The old —— is getting pretty chummy, let's leave him."

FIGHT STARTED

He said that when they tried to leave, Cameron dragged Robertson from the driver's seat and they began to fight.

"The next thing I knew there were several shots," he said.

"You say that Steve (Kingsley) fired all the shots?" he asked.

"Yes sir," replied Robertson.

Mr. Borin: "Now you know that isn't the truth; are you insisting it is?"

Robertson: "Yes, most emphatically."

Robertson said he had not gone to the police about the shooting because "I was too scared to think of it; I did not go to them later because I did not think they would believe me."

13 Policemen Being Suspended

DETROIT (AP) — Thirteen Detroit policemen were suspended today, and prosecutor Gerald K. O'Brien quickly requested a grand jury investigation on grounds they had accepted "gifts and money" from gambling operators.

Mayor Albert Cobo said the police department had movies of some suspended patrolmen taking money from suspected numbers racket operators and acting as bet pickup men for them.

The department charged none of the men with any specific misdeed. But police superintendent Edward Morgan said cases against them would be prepared and submitted to the police trial board today.

Bethany District Schools Do Well In Festival

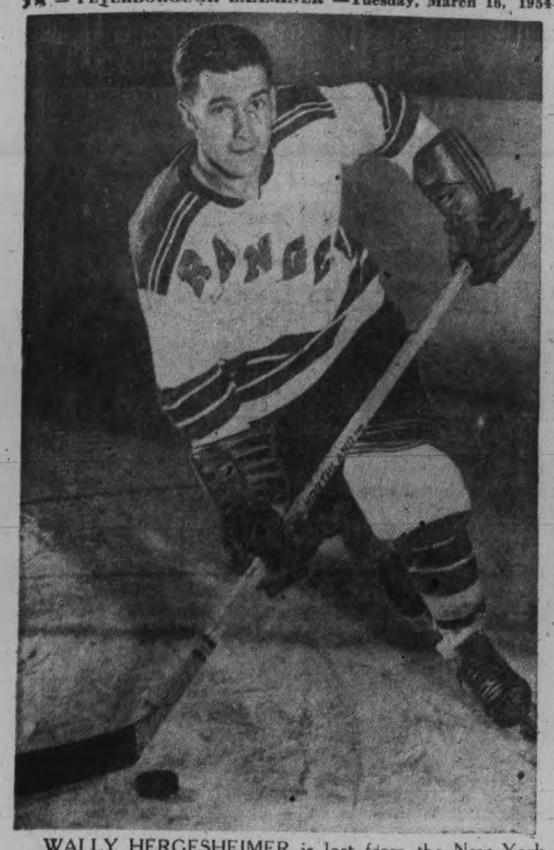
BETHANY (ENS) — Bethany schools made a good showing in the Kiwanis Musical Festival held in Peterborough last week. Fallis' school (teacher, Miss Patricia McBean) took first place in class 120, unison chorus, open to country schools. They rated 81 marks. In this same grouping Bethany school (teacher, Mrs. Mary Wright) received 76 marks, with Galloway's school (teacher, Mrs. Laura Rowan) and Lifford school (teacher, Miss Dorothy Mann) also receiving honorable mention.

In class 121, unison chorus, Galloway's, Lifford and Fallis' schools were again near the top. In class 123, two-part chorus for rural schools, Fallis' school received 80 marks. In class 129, boy's solo, "The Big Red Bus," Murray Henderson of Bethany was placed second, with 81 marks (first place was 82). Much credit goes to Mr. James Gay of Bethany, who is the music instructor for each of the above schools.

Found Not Guilty Of Dangerous Driving

WHITBY, Ont. (CP)—Cameron McLeod, 29, of North Bay was found not guilty of a charge of dangerous driving in magistrate's court today.

The charge was laid after an accident Oct. 10, 1953 on Highway 401, west of here, in which a truck, driven by McLeod, collided with the rear of an automobile driven by Mrs. Barbara Parsons, Toronto.



Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hill of Sydney, N. S., and Wendy Parsons, daughter of the driver, passengers in the car, were killed in the accident.

Committee Refuses Hespeler Appeal

TORONTO (CP) — Application by the town of Hespeler to withdraw from Waterloo county and become a separate municipality was rejected today by the Ontario legislature's private bills committee.

In moving that the private bill presented by R. M. Myers (PC—Waterloo South) be not reported to the legislature, J. N. Allan (PC—Haldimand-Norfolk) said it was not the duty of the committee to interfere with government legislation setting up the county system of government.

"If it is felt the legislation is improper then representations should be made to have it changed."

WALLY HERGESHEIMER is lost from the New York Rangers line-up for the remainder of the season as the high-scoring winger broke his leg in a recent game against Boston Bruins. The game proved to hurt the Rangers doubly as the Bruins also won the game and all but eliminated the Blue-Shirts for the Stanley Cup playoffs.

Campaign Drive To Bring Peters Fails

BOSTON (AP)—The fund-raising drive to bring Jim Peters from England for the famed Boston Athletic Association marathon race April 19 has met with scant success.

Trainer Johnny Semple, a Scotsman and former marathoner, started the move to bring the talented Briton across the Atlantic, but only four contributors have dug into their pocket books.

Peters, 34, ran the two fastest marathons—26 miles 385 yards—in history last year, and word has been received from Peters' trainer, Bert Johnston, that they're ready to travel—if the finances turn up.

OTHERS PAY

In previous years, New Englanders of Finnish and Swedish extraction have kicked in to pay the travelling expenses of marathoners from their old countries. There hasn't been an English-speaking winner since Canada's Gerry Cote of St. Hyacinthe, Que., won in 1948.

Peters won the Chiswick marathon in England last June in 2:18:40, then followed up in October with a terrific 2:18:34 effort in Finland.

Driver Fined On Lesser Charge

Robert W. Faiers, acquitted of a charge of dangerous driving, was convicted on a lesser charge of driving without due care and attention in magistrate's court Mon-

Faiers was charged on [illegible] counts as a result of an accident on the highway near Lakefield last Labor Day. He suffered serious injury in the accident, and his uncle, John Faiers, sitting in the rear left seat, was killed.

Convicting Faiers on the lesser charge, Magistrate W. R. Philp said that two independent witnesses (Lloyd Fawns and Eric Bryan) had testified that Faiers was on the wrong side of the road at the time of impact. The magistrate saw "no reason to disbelieve" this evidence. He said it was corroborated by photographs taken later, although he acknowledged that photographs were of little value in themselves as evidence.

Evidence of George Labarre, driver of the other vehicle, was "of little value." But, said Mr. Philp, Labarre's evidence was not essential to convicting Faiers on a careless driving charge.

The magistrate was not impressed with the evidence of defence witness Harold Ralph. He said that Ralph, sitting in the front seat of Faiers' car beside the driver, was in a poor position to judge the relative position of the car on the road.

On the other hand Magistrate Philp did not feel that Crown Attorney John Bradshaw had proved that Faiers was travelling at a dangerously excessive rate of speed. "Forty to 45 is dangerous in some circumstances, but this was not an outstandingly sharp curve."

Faiers was fined $45, and $7.50 court costs.

Male Singers, Musicians With Top Marks At Festival

The girls had to take a back seat at the Kiwanis Music Festival Monday night as two male voices earned their owners 86 points apiece. A male pianist also was awarded the 86-point accolade, so it was a good night all round for the men.

A lusty young man from Lindsay, William Perry, used a beautiful tenor voice to do better than justice to the Celeste Aida aria from Verdi's famed Egyptian opera. Said adjudicator Ronald Biggs. "This singer has a most artistic voice. He has excellent intonation, probably for this reason, and has caught the feeling of the aria very well."

Basso Francis Taylor, of Lindsay, quite a youthful performer pleased adjudicator Biggs' critical ear with a rendition of a Mozart aria of his own choosing. This is a "great test" for any singer and Mr. Taylor put a "great deal of fervency into his rendition." He showed "great vocal control for so young a singer."

David Donaldson, one of only four Peterborough artists performing Monday, reminded Mr. Biggs of Vladimir de Pachman, as he played Chopin's Waltz in B Minor (Op 69 No. 2). Mr. Donaldson's work was "very musical and very imaginative" and did more than justice to the man "who wrote better for the piano than any other composer ever."

Mr. Donaldson managed to avoid the danger, always present in relatively simple pieces of "pulling them about too much" and "overdoing the romance of the waltz."

CLOSE COMPETITION

Four candidates competed in this class, two of them closely trailing winner Donaldson. Eliz- [illegible] revealed "real understanding" of the piece although she had "some trouble" with her left hand movements. Miss Fulton scored 85 while a Peterborough lass, Elizabeth Evans, though nervous, earned 84 points for "a very sensitive performance." James Lawless, of Grafton, was given 78 points.

This piano solo class was for pianists under 18 years.

Returning again to the male soloists, we find little to choose between the three. Baritone John Moore, of Reaboro, was only one point behind Messers. Taylor and Perry with another Verdi selection which got better all the time. Mr. Biggs felt that there was not enough passion and tragedy in Mr. Moore's singing, but praised a "very good performance."

Largest number of entrants on Monday performed in the girls' duet class for those under 21. The piece was "The Lord Is My Shepherd" and there was a wide range of musicianship shown.

Best pair, in the view of adjudicator Frank Odell, who concentrated on the female entrants, was a duo from Campbellford, Gaele Meyers and Barbara Fox. Mr. Odell liked this pair's "simplicity of style" as well as their "very good balance." He criticized them for a different and wrong interpretation of the piece, but gave the girls 83 marks.

SHOW PROMISE

Although he tried to avoid singling out individuals from the various pairs, Mr. Odell submerged this urge long enough to pay particular tribute to the "exceptional promise" of one of the girls (he didn't say which) in the Port Hope duet. This team, Carolyn and Doris Baulch, were "very rich" at times, although their voices were not as "compelling" as they might have been.

Shirley and Beverley Moore, of Lindsay, third with 81, "went well together" though their pace was too fast. Margaret Wilkinson and Marilyn Scott, of Oakwood, and Ruth Kingsborough and Sheila Goard tied for fourth with 78.

A double trio from Campbellford performed well enough to win 82 marks in a class in which they were the only entrants. But this group was too nervous to have the "necessary sparkle" for their selection, "Little Star in the Sky."

All the girl soloists collected at least 80 marks for their efforts from adjudicator Odell, though there was a tremendous range in talent.

The contralto class required rendition of Saint-Saens' Samson and Delilah piece, "My Heart At Thy Sweet Voice." Sadly, Mr. Odell declared that he could not imagine any Samson pushing over any temples for these Delilahs.

But for all the criticism, Mr. Odell came through with 85 for Joan Andrews, of Peterborough, and 84 for Joy Nesbitt, of Lindsay. Miss Andrews' rendition was "well-planned" but needed "more imagination." Miss Nesbitt's breath-control, the adjudicator felt, was not all it might be. Neither singer was as "operatic" as she should have been.

Soprano Gaele Meyers, of Campbellford, who also performed in the duets, won praise for her "pleasing, strong and secure voice" and some criticism for a lack of flexibility. With 85 points, she edged Donna Hopkins, of Fenelon Falls, who, though she had "good intonation," was not quite on top of the piece. Miss Hopkins was given 83.

ONE ENTRANT

There was only one entrant in the mezzo-soprano opera class, Barbara Fox, of Campbellford. Miss Fox, who performed with Gaele Meyers in the duets, needed "to make up her mind just how [illegible] is insecure and variable." She was given 80 points. Mezzo Margaret MacMillan, of Campbellford, singing in another class, lacked "full control" and so took only 75 with the difficult Flower Song from Gounod's "Faust."

Pianist Maxwell Clark, of Peterborough, had some difficulty with "the greatest formalist of all the composers." Ronald Biggs said that Mr. Clark's judgments were not always sound in handling the meticulous dynamics which Mozart's Fantasia from his Sonata in C Minor demands. In giving Mr. Clark 80 marks, the adjudicator suggested that the pianist sometimes mistook slight stresses for fortes, especially in the first adagio of this piece.

Violinist Florence Brotherwood, of Columbus, was given 78 points for her rendition of "Tambourin" by Gossec. Mr. Biggs felt that she was a very competent violinist who was having an off-night.

Landy Decides To Enter Games n B.C.

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Three athletes who have flirted with the mythical four-minute mile will compete in the British Empire Games at Vancouver this summer. It promises to be the highlight event of the July 30-Aug. 7 games.

The "dream" race was made official Monday when Australian selectors at Sydney named world-famous John Landy for the games. His entry means he will run against Roger Bannister, Britain's brightest hope for the four-minute mile, and New Zealand's Murray Halberg who flashed into prominence with a 4:04.4 clocking Feb. 13 in Auckland.

HOPES DIMMED

Hopes that the games might bring together the British Empire's four great milers were dimmed last month when Gordon Pirie of Britain said he would pass up the games. He figured the long journey to Vancouver would tire him for the European games in Switzerland in late August, but there still is a possibility he may be talked into going to Vancouver.

Heats in the mile classic at Vancouver are scheduled for Tuesday, Aug. 5 with the final two days later. On their performances the "big three" and, if Pirie changes his mind, the "big four," are considered a cinch to meet in the final.

Police Probed Four Accidents

A car owned by Evelyn and Cora Bailey, and driven by Miss Cora Bailey, of 310 London St., was in collision with a car owned and driven by Howard C. Allison, of 11 Anne St., at the corner of Rubidge and Dublin Sts. The Allison car received about $45 damage. PC William H. Scott investigated.

Constable Harold Andrew investigated two accidents, both resulting in an estimated $75 damage. One was at the corner of King and Margaret St., when a collision occurred between cars driven by Donald De Sproule, of 1308 Monaghan Rd., and Archibald Ballantine, of 553 King St.

The other accident was at the corner of George and Sherbrooke Sts. between cars driven by Thomas Hatley, of 157 Hart Ave., and Frederick J. Redpath, of 265 Romaine St.

A bus owned by John L. Robertson, and driven by Maxwell J. Hutchison, of Bridgenorth, was scraped slightly by one of the Ivan Fletcher buses at the corner of Murray and George Sts. The Robertson bus was said to be standing at the corner when the Fletcher bus began a left-hand turn. Damage was estimated at $35 to the Robertson bus. PC Dennis Smith investigated.

DELAWARE VICTORY—Dave Douglas, left, and Ed (Porky) Oliver, both of whom hail from Wilmington, Del., huddle after Douglas won $6,000 first prize in Houston Open and Oliver finished in third-place tie with Cary Middlecoff, looking on.

Red Sullivan Still Leads Scoring Race In AHL

NEW YORK (CP) — Lady Luck [illegible] Sullivan, Monday [illegible] Bear centre, last week scored eight points, although he missed one game because of injuries, to continue his AHL scoring leadership with 112 points on 30 goals and 82 assists.

Sullivan's 112 points equals the third best American Hockey League mark, scored by Sid Smith in 1948-49. The second best total is 113, credited to Ab Demarco in the 1950-51 season.

Jacques Plante still led the goaltenders although he is with Montreal Canadiens on emergency duty. His record with Buffalo was 2.69 on 148 goals in 55 games. If Plante is not back in Buffalo before the end of the season he will not be eligible for the goaltender award or all-star team.

Larry Cahan of Pittsburgh Hornets clinched the questionable distinction of leader in penalties for the season. He had 165 minutes in the penalty box on 65 minor sentences, five majors and a 10-minute misconduct.

Marmora Tops Vandorf In OHA Intermediate Series

MARMORA (ENS)—Ten minutes overtime was required for Marmora to capture their third win in a row against Vandorf at the Marmora arena on Saturday evening to the tune of 5-4. The winning goal came from the stick of the burly Lavender on an assist from Jones who, while unable to score on three neat rushes, got three assists altogether in the exciting game. Both teams with fine goalies guarding their citadels played such a strenuous game that the issue was in doubt until 7.21 was reached in the overtime. Although Vandorf pulled their goalie with 30 seconds to go they found the homesters stubbornly holding on to the lead. The Marmora captain "Stubby" Trumble was outstanding as scorer with two goals and an assist. McGinnis, Broughton and Ash turned in good games for the losers. The feature drew an attendance of 400. The fourth game of this four out of seven OHA Intermediate "C" series is arranged to be played in Newmarket on Tuesday evening.

Parent Education Theme At Warsaw

WARSAW (ENS)—The Warsaw Home and School Association held their March meeting in the school Monday evening with an attendance of 14, including two visitors, Mrs. Harold Payne was in charge in the absence of Mrs. Sherwood Payne.

The treasurer reported a balance of $92.63 including $86.62 proceeds of carnival.

The guest speaker, Mr. Dyson, gave a talk on parent education. Mrs. Harold Payne gave the speaker a vote of thanks.

No Action Taken On Fluoridation Plan

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—No action will be taken this year on a proposal to fluoridate city water to help prevent tooth decay, city council decided Monday night.

The public utilities commission said it would cost more than $55,000, including the cost of equipment, materials, labor and installation.

City board of health had recommended immediate action on the project "since this board is convinced fluoridation is definitely beneficial as a public health measure."

Dean McGregor

MARMORA (ENS) — The funeral of R. A. Dean McGregor took place on Monday afternoon leaving the residence of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Vansickle, for St. Andrew's United church, Marmora, where the pastor, the Rev. K. J. Crawford, BA, BD, officiated. Burial was made in Union cemetery, Colborne.

Pallbearers were Pat Inglis, Gordon Rutherford and Alex Rutherford, of Colborne, and Percy Carman, Carl Bird and Robert Kennedy, of Marmora township.

Mr. McGregor, who was in his 74th year, had been in poor health for some months. He was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert McGregor, of Colborne, while Mrs. McGregor, who survives, is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Walker, also of Colborne, her maiden name being Ethel Walker. They moved to Cordova about 40 years ago but came to reside with their daughter and her husband in Marmora when Mr. McGregor's health became impaired.

Mr. McGregor farmed for the major portion of his life. He was also a blacksmith for a period, chiefly when No. 7 Highway was constructed through Marmora. Being of a friendly and jovial disposition, he won for himself the friendship of a wide circle of acquaintances. He was fond of music and played the fiddle in his early years. He was an adherent of the Methodist church and later the United church. He is survived by his wife, six sons, Neil, Castleton; Earl and Donald, Westpoint; George and John, Marmora township, and Lawrence of South Porcupine; and three daughters, Mrs. Eldon Vansickle (Laura), Marmora; Mrs. Ward McInroy (Isabel), Bonarlaw, and Miss Mary McGregor, Reg. N., Western Hospital, Toronto.

Zoo Founder Dies

TURIN, Italy (AP) — Italy's "king of big game traders," Augusto Molinar, was drowned Monday in the Dora river. He was 84. Molinar, an internationally known trader of wild beasts, also founded Milan's zoo. "I started with a canary bird," he used to say.

PROMISING ROOKIE—Camille Henry, forward with New York Rangers of the National Hockey League, is among the top contenders for the rookie-of-the-year award in the NHL. Henry, one of the lightest players in the NHL considering his height, had 24 goals and 15 assists in 64 games. He scored four goals in the first two periods when the Rangers defeated Detroit Red Wings 5-2 at Detroit. Henry played with Quebec Citadelle Juniors of the Quebec League last year.—(CP Photo).

Drew Urges Party Seek Young Voters

OTTAWA (CP) — Progressive Conservative leader Drew Monday night advised young party members to seek support among those who will cast their first votes in the next general election.

"Within your ranks may rest the decision of the next general election," Mr. Drew told a dinner meeting of the Young Progressive Conservative Association at the conclusion of its annual meeting.

He asked the association to gain the support of those still too young to qualify as voters. By the next election, 500,000 young persons would come of voting age. Life of the present parliament expires in 1958.

Remember When—

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Babe Dye of Toronto won the National Hockey League scoring championship 31 years ago today with a total for the shorter schedule of 26 goals and 11 assists for 37 points. The Babe took it again two years later, in 1925, with 38 goals and six assists for 44 points.

Sees West Ties Lasting

GLASGOW (AP)—Norway's Foreign Minister Halvard Lange predicted Monday night that the close association of Atlantic powers will continue after the cold war is over. He described the defensive alliance of the United States and Canada and the countries of western Europe as "a decisive turning point" in the history of the Western world. He addressed the English-Speaking Union here.

Marmora News

Mr. Dennis Flynn and Mr. Eugene McCormick, of Peterborough, visited Mrs. Philip Flynn on Sunday.

Mr. Eddie Lavender spent the weekend at his home in Glanmae.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. George Lummiss, of Madoc, in the Havelock Nursing Home on Friday, March 12.

Senate Building Invaded

WASHINGTON (AP) — Capitol police reported Monday that safecrackers invaded the Senate office building during the week-end and stole $250 to $700. A safe in the basement office of John T. Chambers, chief of the service department for the building, was opened by unhinging the door. Records are being checked to determine the exact amount of the loot.

Said Active At 133

STOCKHOLM (Reuters) — The oldest woman in Poland, Jozefa Stankiewicz, celebrated her 133rd birthday Monday according to the Warsaw paper Wieczorny. She still carries water from the well at Miastkowie village in the Garwolin district, the paper, received in Sweden, said.

Commission Will Examine Manitoba's Liquor Laws

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Manitoba legislature was told Monday night that a five-man commission will examine the province's liquor laws and their effects to see if the laws need changing.

Attorney-General Ivan Schultz said the commission will investigate bootlegging and methods of control, treatment and rehabilitation of problem drinkers, methods and hours of liquor sale, licensing outlets, and serving food and soft drinks with beer.

In the Alberta legislature, Highways Minister Gordon Taylor said construction will start this year on Alberta's first divided, four-lane highway—a multi-million-dollar expressway on a 30-mile stretch 40 miles north of Calgary on the Edmonton-Calgary highway.

Mr. Taylor, also Alberta's railways minister, said a 65-cents-a-ton federal government subsidy planned for western coal shipments to the east should help stabilize the province's sagging coal industry.

CONSIDER PENSIONS

Members of the Saskatchewan house are considering voting themselves life pensions, with the province matching contributions. Only one other province, Nova Scotia, now pays pensions but limits them to cabinet members.

The Saskatchewan scheme, announced by the CCF government Monday, provides for private member pensions to reach $600 a year after 10 years' service, rising to a maximum of $1,200 after 20 years. Cabinet members would get about $1,600 a year after 10 years, and a maximum of $3,000.

Retirement age is set at 55 years, and a member would have to serve at least 10 years to be eligible.

WOULD CHARGE FEE

In the Ontario house, C. E. Janes, Progressive Conservative member for Lambton East, recommended that a small fee be charged to enter provincial parks. He said the parks should be self-supporting.

In Nova Scotia, Agricultural Minister A. W. Mackenzie told the province's Liberal government possibility of establishing a sugar beet industry in the province was "somewhat remote." There were too many limitations to ensure economic operation, he said.

Green Ties And Sprigs Of Shamrock

15,000 Loyal Sons of Erin To Walk In Montreal Parade

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Green ties and sprigs of the ould shamrock will be worn by many Canadians as the feast of St. Patrick is celebrated Wednesday.

For the Irish themselves—there are roughly 1,500,000 of Irish descent in Canada—the day is essentially a religious observance followed by celebrations in honor of the great missionary who converted the Irish to Christianity in the fourth century, and became Ireland's patron saint.

Many other Canadians will become Irish for the day.

The biggest single celebration in Canada took place Sunday in Montreal where loyal sons of Erin marched through sleet, snow and wind along a four-mile route. The parade, traditionally held the Sunday before St. Patrick's day, was televised for the first time in its 123 years.

OLD LEGENDS

Over the years the legends of St. Patrick have developed varied forms, but many evidences remain in Ireland of his zeal as a missionary. He won converts by the thousands and established more than 360 churches. In AD 444 he established a church and monastery at Armagh which became the ecclesiastical capital of Ireland.

Legend has it that St. Patrick was probably born in England in AD 389, and died in 461. He was educated as a Christian but at 16 was captured by Irish raiders and sold into slavery. In Ireland in his youth, he became deeply religious, and then went to France and Britain to further his religious education.

Down cathedral at Saul in County Down stands on the spot where St. Patrick preached his first sermon after returning to Ireland in AD 432. Near Downpatrick are the ruins of Saul abbey, said to have been founded by the saint. Down cathedral, from where services are broadcast every St. Patrick's Day, has become dilapidated with age—the last major restoration was undertaken 160 years ago—but still shows some of the magnificent workmanship of past centuries.

The modern observances in the Republic of Ireland are a far cry from the ancient days of uproarious celebrations when carousing frequently led to battles with the shillelagh. But St. Patrick's memory remains undimmished with the years.

Sea Scouts Hike Into High Falls

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—Seventeen members of the Lakefield Sea Scouts went on a hike to High falls on Eel's Creek on Saturday afternoon. Their destination was inspired by an article written in his column by Nick Nickels, outdoor editor of The Examiner. This region was not unfamiliar to the troop as they had often gone by canoe, but this was their first hike there.

Transportation was provided by Stanley Burger and S. R. Henderson on Highway 28 to the home of Otis Northey and from there the patrol leaders went in on compass bearing and came out about 200 yards below Cardwell's falls. They then crossed the creek and went through the game preserved to High falls where they cooked their dinner.

The boys were particularly thrilled by the number of deer they saw and tracking conditions being perfect, they were able to see the favorite haunts and feeding places. All the scouts saw at least seven deer and some as many as 10.

Dan Dailey Waits More Than Year For Film Part

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Meet the most postponed actor in Hollywood —Dan Dailey.

The lanky hoofer hasn't acted in a picture since early last year, although he has been slated to reach the cameras time and again.

"It all started last May when I was supposed to start 'There's no Busines Like Show Business' with Ethel Merman, Walter Langl, who was going to direct the picture, fell ill and it was postponed a month. His condition didn't improve, and the studio wanted him to direct the film. So it was postponed indefinitely.

"One day I show up for work in 'Pink Tights,' which I was to make with Marilyn Monroe and Frank Sinatra. Frank had already been working a week. I appeared and waited for two hours. No Marilyn. I was told to go home."

After sitting around for weeks waiting for Marilyn to fill those pink tights, Dan was pulled out of the cast and assigned to the restarted "Show Business." Now it looks as though he's really going to work.

PAID WHILE AT PLAY

Dan has no complaints about his plight. He has collected his weekly cheque of a few thousand dollars and done the things he likes best—riding his horses and skiing.

He has completed his resolve to read the "100 greatest books."

About this self-education chore, he said: "I swore I would do it, and I did. Some of the books were easy reading like 'War and [illegible] were tossed [illegible] Kant's 'Critique of Pure Reason' was the hardest. I got through it, but it was like reading the telephone book."

Dan is one of the few players remaining at 20th Century-Fox. His deal runs until next fall, and he has no plans after that. Unlike some actors who are not entertainers, he can afford to be independent. Says he:

"Whenever I get into a beef with the studio, I always tell them, 'I can throw down my hat on any street corner in the world and make enough to eat on.'"

30 Candidates Pass First Aid

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—Two St. John Ambulance first aid courses, held in the village, concluded with examinations in which 30 adults out of a class of 32 were successful and 16 out of a class of 22 in the junior division. This is considered an unusually high average.

Lectures were given by Dr. H. E. Gastle, MOH, and evaminations were conducted by Dr. L. J. Calvert, superintendent of the Peterborough [illegible] of the same corps.

Sponsored by the recreation committee, the classes were held in Memorial hall and the examinations at the public school.

On March 31 the certificates will be presented at a social evening in the hall and at this time the draw will be made for the $50.00 bond on which tickets have been sold by the group committee of the Guides. Films will also be shown.

Orders Messengers Break Elevator Rule

OTTAWA (CP) — An opposition senator says he will order messengers doing his errands to break a rule against riding the elevator closest to the Senate chamber in the Parliament buildings.

Senator R. B. Horner (PC—Saskatchewan) said it was most ridiculous for the Senate's internal economy committee to bar Senate char staff and messengers from the elevator.

"I do not have a man Friday to run my personal errands and any time it is necessary for me to call a messenger I will instruct [illegible] my office."

Higher Costs Hitting Crime

OTTAWA (CP)—Even crime has been hit by higher costs.

Stanley Knowles (CCF — Winnipeg North Centre) suggested Monday night that perhaps it is due to the government allowing inflation to grow that magistrate's jurisdiction has been widened to include thefts of less than $50. Previously they could rule on thefts of less than $25.

However, magistrate's jurisdiction last was set a number of years ago and it was generally agreed that an article worth $25 at that time now should be worth $50. In 1892 magistrates could rule on cases involving theft of $10 or less.

Plan New Stamp With Whooping Crane

OTTAWA (CP)—The post office department is considering issuing a stamp depicting the whooping crane in flight but it probably won't be issued until early next year or in 1956.

J. R. Carpenter, superintendent of the postage stamp division, said Monday it was impossible to issue such a stamp this year. He said the schedule for issuing stamps is made up many months in advance.

It is considered by naturalists as a one-in-a-million shot.

Supporters of a whooper stamp feel it would be a good way of publicizing the bird while boosting efforts to keep the rare species from becoming extinct.

Streamline Service

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Windsor residents may soon be able to dial the same phone number to report a fire, robbery or blocked sewer. Board of control Monday authorized investigation of the possibility of establishing a central switchboard for city hall, fire and police departments. Mayor Arthur Reaume said the plan would help streamline city services.

Senator McCarthy To Speak In Toronto

WASHINGTON (CP) — Senator Joseph McCarthy will speak in Toronto April 20, his office disclosed Monday night.

The Wisconsin Republican's office declined to give details as to where the senator would speak or who would sponsor the speech.

Seek Brother

MONTREAL (CP) — The police department's missing persons bureau said Monday they are trying to reach the brother of a 25-year-old Ontario woman who is believed to be suffering from amnesia. Police said the woman had been working at a convalescent home in Erindale, near Toronto, but left last week. She was found early Monday wandering aimlessly about Windsor Station in Montreal. Papers in her purse showed she is married. Through a telephone call to the Ontario town police were informed of the woman's maiden name and were told the brother is in the RCAF.

Wants Cigarettes Specially Treated

OTTAWA (CP)—Parliament was urged Monday to take steps to prevent fires being started by burning cigarettes.

Stanley Knowles (CCF—Winnipeg North Centre) said in the Commons one method would be to require tobacco companies to treat cigarettes with chemical which would extinguish the cigarette when not being smoked.

This was the second time Mr. Knowles has raised the question at this Parliament. He said during consideration of the Criminal Code revision that he plans to return to the subject again this session.

A non-smoker, Mr. Knowles said he has the support of many smokers for his suggestion. It wasn't a form of "blue law" but a sensible way to cut the tremendous loss of life and property from fires started by burning cigarettes.

IN FESTIVAL—Frances Hyland, 25, of Regina has been signed to appear opposite James Mason in the Stratford, Ont., Shakespearian Festival this summer. The blonde Canadian girl was signed by producer Tyrone Guthrie after he saw her at Edinburgh in Christopher Fry's new play, "The Dark Is Light Enough". Miss Hyland will play Isabella in "Measure for Measure" at Stratford. She went to London to study at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art four years ago and has been busy ever since. Her trip to Stratford will be her first to Canada since moving to Britain.—(CP Photo).

Plan Joint Study Of Sewage Pollution

OTTAWA (CP)—A joint study of sewage pollution of the Ottawa river will be pushed by the federal district commission, responsible for development of the national capital area.

The commission Monday decided to ask Ottawa and Hull to arrange through the provincial health departments of Ontario and Quebec a meeting of technical officers at provincial, federal and municipal levels.

The idea stemmed from a request from the municipality of South Hull for information on installation of a sewage disposal plant which would use the Ottawa river as the sewage outlet for a housing project.

Would Fine People Littering Farm Fields

TORONTO (CP) — Harry Nixon (L—Brant) said Monday that persons who litter farmers' fields with rubbish after picnics should be subject to fines.

He said in the legislature that penalties for littering ditches with garbage from picnics should be widened to include littering of farmers' fields.

He was speaking during discussion of amendments to the Highway Traffic Act.

Still On Job

BRANTFORD, (CP) — Charles Bonney, 64, has been a blacksmith for half a century and says he feels good for another 20 years. He came from England in 1920 and worked at Theodore, Sask., for 20 years before coming to this Ontario city.

Individuals Not To Buy Gas Franchises

Mr. Crozier told the Ontario legislature's sub-committee on gas that complaints have been received on certain individuals who have been trying to purchase the franchises.

To grant such a franchise, a community must have the approval of the ratepayers.

"If they don't know anything about the individuals seeking the franchise, they may find out the new fuel board will not be able to approve their deal."

Announce Candidate For PC Presidency

OTTAWA (CP)—Gordon Churchill, 53, of Winnipeg announced Monday he will stand as a candidate for the presidency of the Progressive Conservative Association of Canada.

Mr. Churchill, a PC member of Parliament for Winnipeg South Centre, claimed the support of a majority of party's 49 MPs.

His announcement assures a contest for the presidency, which will be decided tomorrow. George Hees, 43-year-old MP for Toronto Broadview, already has announced he will stand.

Soccer Draw

LONDON (AP) — West Bromwich Albion, leader of English Soccer League Division I, today was drawn to meet giant-killing Port Vale in the Football association cup semi-final March 27.

In the other semi-final, Leicester or Preston will play Bolton Wanderers or Sheffield Wednesday.

Port Vale is only the second third division team to reach the semi-final in the 82 years of FA cup competition. Millwall did it in 1937. No third division team has reached the final.

Partick Thistle or Motherwell vs Celtic at Hampden park March 27.

Aberdeen vs Rangers at Hampden park April 10.

Hurls Truck Into Path Of Freight

Side Ripped Off Fast Diesel Coach West of Toronto

TORONTO —(CP)— The Detroit-to-Toronto Dayliner diesel train was wrecked today in a collision just west of Toronto. A Galt district man was killed and six other persons were injured.

Canadian Pacific Railway spokesmen said the Dayliner, nearing the end of its 4½-hour morning run, hit a cement truck at a protected level-crossing at nearby Dixie and knocked it [illegible] from the opposite direction. Officials said wigwag warning signals at the crossing were operating.

The side was ripped off one coach of the Dayliner, a self-propelled two-car train.

AGED MAN KILLED

Innjured were Keith Rowntree, CPR division engineer at London; William Palmer, Toronto, engineer of the freight train; George Paquette, London, engineer of the diesel car who suffered shock, bruises and minor injuries; A. C. Becker, 86, of Roseville in the Galt district, a passenger on the Dayliner; and E. Nichol of London, trainman.

The Dayliner for the last several weeks has been running from Detroit to Toronto in the morning and returning to Detroit at night. Each of its cars cost $186,000.

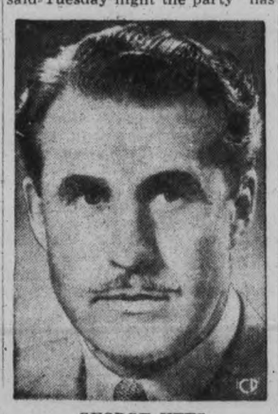
WILL USE STEAM

Railway officials said the service will continue with steam-powered equipment for the present.

About 35 passengers boarded the Dayliner at Galt today. Many of them were farmers travelling to a rural insurance convention in Toronto.

The Galt passengers included Allan Holmes, publisher of The Evening Reporter, and R. E. (Bob) Cowan, 83, who has been associated with the South Waterloo Agricultural Society for more than 60 years and has served 44 years as its secretary. They were unhurt.

The crossing is south of the Dundas highway in a residential area a few miles west of Toronto.



Not Seeing Things

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)— A four-foot alligator was found Tuesday night walking nonchalantly down the aisle of a drug store at the busiest corner in Oklahoma City. Two youths took the reptile to police headquarters but no owner or any explanation could be found on how the alligator got into the drugstore. After the reptile lashed out with its tail at police, it was taken to the zoo.

Hees Elected President Of Conservatives

OTTAWA (CP)—Seven months after the last national election, [illegible] Conservative party has set its sights on the next one.

Its leader, Hon. George Drew, said Tuesday night the party "has struck its tents and is once more on the march."

He told the annual dinner of the Progressive Conservative Association of Canada that results of last summer's election fell "far short of our hopes."

However, a "great majority" of Canadians had not voted for the government. The Conservative party's job was to "press forward with logical arguments and with organization, which will bring to the support of our candidates in the next election a majority of people who believe in the two-party system as the one guarantee of democracy."

NEW PRESIDENT

The same theme was stressed by the new president of the party association, George Hees of Toronto, following his election.

Mr. Hees, 43-year-old member of Parliament for Toronto Broadview, pledged himself "to revitalize our organization from coast to coast."

He told a press conference his goal is to help bring the party "up to fighting pitch" in three years, when the next election might be expected.

Life of the present Parliament expires in 1958, but the practice has been to call elections about a year before the five-year limit on the term of MPs.

Mr. Hees was elected to a two-year term as president over Gordon Churchill, 53-year-old MP for Winnipeg South Centre. Figures on the vote were not announced, but it was understood Mr. Hees had a good-sized majority.

He succeeds George Nowlan of Wolfville, N.S., MP for Digby-Anapolis-Kings, who has been

Canada-U.S. Agree Not To Upset Marketing Set-Up

WASHINGTON (CP)—Canada and the United States have agreed "not to interfere with normal commercial marketings" in disposing of agricultural surpluses overseas. In a joint communique by the Canada-United States economic and trade committee the countries stated: "It is their settled intention that any extraordinary measures that might be adopted to reduce surpluses should result in greater consumption and should augment, and not displace, normal quantities of agricultural products entering into world trade.

The cabinet ministers, four from each country, who met at Tuesday's committee session, recognized that "great damage" might be done to Canadian and American business if surpluses [illegible] disposed of "without regard to the impact of normal trade."

The ministers reaffirmed that the policy of their governments is to consult with interested countries in disposing of these surpluses.

In the 600-word communique the ministers agreed that while many encouraging economic developments have taken place in the world, the recovery of economic health has not progressed equally in all countries.

FLEXIBLE SYSTEM

"What is needed, it was concluded, is the creation of a more flexible system of trade and payments throughout the world which would offer greater resilience to changing circumstances."

The ministers concluded that it is up to those countries which have inconvertible currencies to decide "when and under what circumstances they might wish to make them convertible."

This appeared to be an indication that Canada and the U.S. feel Britain must make the first move in making sterling freely interchangeable with the dollar.

But Canada and the U.S. "expressed a willingness to do their part" helping to establish broader trade.

At a press conference Tuesday night Canadian Trade Minister C. D. Howe described the session, to be followed by another conference in Ottawa in six months, as "a great day."

RECOMMENDATION 'GOOD'

He said Canadian ministers received a review of the trade-expanding proposals which the U.S. administration will place before

Ontario Board To Control Natural Gas

TORONTO (CP)—Distribution of [illegible] gas from natural fields will be controlled by an Ontario fuel board proposed in a new act introduced in the legislature Tuesday.

Attorney-General Porter, in introducing the bill, said the board was proposed as the result of a study by a committee headed by himself of the problems of building up a market and distributing Alberta gas on its arrival, probably in 1957.

"It is not the intention of this government to enter directly into any phase of the distribution of gas. Nevertheless there is need for regulation of many aspects of the distribution. . . .

"It is anticipated that in many cases municipalities will wish to grant franchises for the distribution of gas within their boundaries. In some cases perhaps a municipal distribution system will be preferred. The bill is designed to give protection as to rates and other matters involved in the distribution. . . ."

CONTROL ALL GAS

Mr. Porter said the fuel board would consist of three to five members. Outside the house, he said he did not know yet who would make up the board.

It will have some power regarding other fuels such as coal and coke, but its main concern will be with natural gas. The powers conferred by certain other existing statutes will be transferred to the new board.

"The board will have power to control the distribution of natural gas within the province whether it comes from our own sources of supply or elsewhere. It will have power to make orders dealing with emergent situations."

U.S. Offering Medical Aid To 23 Fishermen

TOKYO (AP)—The United States today offered top-flight medical aid to 23 Japanese fishermen burned and blistered by radioactive ashes from a super-secret U.S. nuclear test in the Pacific.

The U.S. ambassador to Tokyo, John Allison, also proposed a joint Japanese-American investigation of the March 1 incident in the Bikini-Eniwetok test region.

Only one sailor was considered in dangerous condition when their boat arrived Sunday, but all now are in hospital. Three were added today to the "serious" list, but doctors said they expect all 23 will live.

WERE 80 MILES AWAY

The intensity of the burns—which caused their skins to blacken and their hair to fall out—and their story of the blast stirred speculation that the March 1 test may have been a thermonuclear—probably hydrogen — explosion. The crew's report indicated they were about 80 miles from the blast centre.

The U.S. embassy said a team of three American and three Japanese doctors associated with the atomic bomb casualty commission in atom-bombed Hiroshima will treat the victims.

Kyodo news agency said the Japanese foreign office intends to take up the matter officially, and will ask compensation for the victims.

Blast Surprises A-Scientists

NEW YORK (AP)—Time magazine today reports that the latest American thermonuclear explosion went off in the Pacific March 1 with a blast probably 500 times greater than the Hiroshima atomic bomb.

The force of the explosion, Time says, completely surprised atomic at the United States proving grounds in the Marshall Islands.

Twenty-eight U. S observers and 236 island natives, thought to have been evacuated to a safe distance, were showered with radioactive particles, Time reports. Their exposure was 10 times greater than the usual safety limit, but the U. S. atomic energy commission announced there had been no burns.

Time, which gives no source for its information, says calculation of the blast force is still incomplete but was so great that the AEC was forced to reclassify a test of Nov. 1, 1952, as a "misfire."

President Of Spring Show Awarded Oats Championship

President James T. Brown, Newcastle, was awarded the championship in oats at the Central Ontario Spring Show which opened at Morrow Park this morning. He won that honor with a Larain entry.

The other championships announced at noon today were: Winter Wheat: Murray Holtby, Port Perry on the Dawbul variety. Barley: Garnet Rickard, Bowmanville, on Barboff. Small seeds: Wm. Curle, Campbellford, on his red clover. Potatoes: Milton Weatherilt of Bethany, on Sebago.

The judging was completed at the noon hour, extending in time considerably longer than was expected.

The larger volume of seed shown at this year's show involved the judges in considerably more work than at the 1953 show.

DURHAM WINNERS

Durham seed growers were again prominent in the prize awards. Roy McHolm of Port Hope, son of the former president Mel McHolm, was first in the soy bean class with the new Hardome variety. Clarence Mann of Smith township was second in the large class of winter wheat exhibitors.

Edgar Bowman of Plainville and Heber Down of Brooklin showed the only Dawson's Golden Chaff in wheat.

Results listed today were:

St. Laurent May Report To House On Thursday

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent may report to Parliament Thursday on his 11-country world tour. He is scheduled to arrive back in the capital at 9:30 p.m. tonight in the RCAF aircraft in which he left for his "bridge-building" mission Feb. 4.

Trade Minister Howe, No. 2 man in the cabinet, is expected back from Washington in time to greet Mr. St. Laurent.

Also on hand to welcome home the Prime Minister will be Mrs. St. Laurent, who returned Tuesday from their home in Quebc City, other members of the cabinet, the diplomatic corps, members of Parliament and other members of Mr. St. Laurent's family. The airport will be open to the general public.

WORKS ON REPORT

Mr. St. Laurent will have had four days to prepare his report to Parliament on his trip. He said before he left that he hoped to build a bridge of understanding between Western and Asian democracies.

He mentioned that a major point of call would be India, and he spent a week there.

It was not known definitely whether Mr. St. Laurent would make his report to Parliament Thursday, but it was believed likely. However, the report might be postponed until next week, giving him an opportunity to take a brief rest and spend more time preparing it.

The opposition parties have made it plain that the points they want the prime minister to discuss particularly are:

1. Recognition of Communist China.
2. The Commonwealth attitude on the "retaliate instantly" speech of John Foster Dulles, United States secretary of state.
3. French ratification of the European Defence Community.
4. Surplus Canadian farm products for India and Pakistan.
5. U.S. arms aid for Pakistan.

Police Department Has Pupil Headache

KITCHENER (CP) — School boards may have enrolment problems but pity the Kitchener police department.

It's safe-driving school isn't slated to open until April 6 but it has 600 would-be students.

First of its kind in Canada, the school was aimed at traffic violators but scores of "volunteer" pupils have appeared.

Drivers in a score of fleets will be taking the course, including taxi firms and the reserve army.

BULLETIN

ST. JOHN'S Nfld. (CP)—The sealing vessel Newfoundlander sank today in the Gulf of St. Lawrence with her cargo of nearly 7,000 seals. Her 65 crew members escaped uninjured.

Nixon Demands Something Be Done About It

TORONTO (CP). — Liberal financial critic Harry Nixon told the legislature Tuesday that if Ontario liquor is all the government says it is, then something should be done about it—and the government should do it.

The Brant member, speaking in the budget debate, recalled Health Minister Phillips had said Ontario liquors contained up to 10 per cent "deadly poison" fusel oils which should be siphoned off.

He suggested the government should do the siphoning, submitting that by the time a liquor-buyer took off four ounces of fusel oil from the top of the bottle and 10 ounces of water from the bottom, he wasn't getting much for his $5.

Premier Frost assured Mr. Nixon Health Minister Phillips had been in error about the fusel oil content. He said Ontario liquor was up to standard and Mr. Phillips would be making a statement shortly to make this clear.

Street Loses Irish Flavor

MONTREAL (CP) — City hall changed the name of a Montreal suburban street from Kelly to Henri Bourassa and precipitated a minor international incident in this cosmopolitan city.

Frank Hanley, chairman of the city executive committee, Tuesday night rose to defend the rights of his Irish forefathers — and erstwhile Kelly street.

Mr. Kelly said the name was changed last year without consulting the Kellys "who still live there today" or the city's Irish population.

Councillor Hanley said he could not understand the change. He would ask for an immediate report "by way of explanation and apology."

Young Mother Dies Of Burns

PARRY SOUND (CP) — Mrs. Kenneth Greer, 24, severely burned in a fire that destroyed her home March 10 and killed her two young children, died today.

She never knew that the blaze took the lives of the children, Nancy, 2½, and Kim, 10 months.

Her husband was flown from Hornepayne to Parry Sound the day of the fire. He was with her until just before she died.

Doctors attributed her death to toxic poisons set up in her system by the burns.

Seventy-five per cent of her body was burned and doctors had expressed little hope she would survive. She showed improvement during the last few days, then suffered a relapse Tuesday night.

Police Follow New Clue Murdered Girl Seen In Taxi

WINDSOR (CP)—Ontario provincial police were following up a new clue today in the slaying of Fern Haskell of Woodstock—a report the 21-year-old redhead was seen in a taxi in Hamilton shortly before midnight Friday.

Police said the taxi took Miss Henkell to the intersection of highways 2 and 8 just west of Hamilton and she told the driver she planned to hitch-hike to Windsor.

This strengthened a police theory the young woman was the victim of a motorist who gave her a lift. Her battered, partly-nude body was found in a water-filled ditch on a lonely concession road 15 miles southeast of here.

The latest clue as to the woman's movements fits in well with the coroner's report that death had occurred from 12 to 18 hours before the body was discovered Saturday afternoon.

SEEN IN BLACK CAR

Police have established that Miss Henkell was seen in Tilbury at 2:30 p. m. Thursday and was observed leaving that town in a black automobile. She had announced she was on her way to Windsor to get a trunk she had left there in 1951.

Meanwhile, Inspector Lou Needham and Cpl. Bill Gilbert of the [illegible] day night for the Hamilton-Woodstock area on an undisclosed mission.

U.S. President Stands Behind Him

Eisenhower Has Full Confidence In Stevens' Integrity

WASHINGTON (AP)— President Eisenhower said today he has full confidence in the honor and integrity of Army Secretary Stevens and stands behind him.

His statement was in response to press conference questions about the controversy between Stevens and Senator Joseph McCarthy (Rep. Wis.).

If he didn't have confidence in Stevens' integrity, the president said, Stevens wouldn't be holding the job he does.

Eisenhower said it may turn out that Stevens has made some mistakes, but he added that so far as the secretary's integrity and honor are concerned he stands behind Stevens.

The question of who is telling the truth looms as the central issue for the developing Senate inquiry into the row between McCarthy and his chief counsel, Roy Cohn, on the one hand and army officials on the other.

All the principals are expected to be called to testify under oath when the inquiry gets under way, probably late next week.

McCarthy said today he was willing to let army lawyers cross-examine him.

PRESSURE ALLEGED

"The army should be entitled to have a lawyer cross-examine me and all adverse witnesses," McCarthy said in an interview.

McCarthy has agreed to stand aside as chairman while the subcommittee looks into army charges that McCarthy and Cohn tried to apply improper pressure to get special treatment for G. David Schine, a former unpaid subcommittee consultant who now is an army private.

To be investigated at the same time are McCarthy's and Cohn's counter-charges that Stevens and John G. Adams, the army's general counsel, tried to "blackmail" them in an effort to ward off a sub-committee investigation of alleged Communists in army ranks.

See French Winning Big Victory

Believe Red Losses May Reach 12,000 Casualties

By LARRY ALLEN

HANOI, Indo-China (AP)—French Union defenders of Dien Bien Phu, cutting down attack after attack, appeared today to be well on the road to a big victory over the Communist-led Vietminh.

Rebel artillery opened another bombardment in the five-day battle for the strategic plain in the mountains of northwest Indo-China and it may be the prelude to another mass infantry attack tonight. Key French positions were the targets

But French guns responded and the attacks so far—according to a conservative French army estimate—have cost the rebels 3,000 killed and an estimated 9,000 wounded.

The French garrison was outnumbered about 4-to-1 at the outset Friday. It has suffered losses described as appreciable, but is receiving reinforcements by air.

It is too early to say the victory has been won. But there was more than a good chance that the Vietminh were not going to succeed in smashing this French stronghold.

GATEWAY TO CHINA

Dien Bien Phu is the provisional capital of the Thais, who moved [illegible] ital of Lai Chau to the rebels last fall, and a gateway to both Laos and the Red China border area adjoining northwest Viet Nam.

Dien Bien Phu is not a fortress in the conventional sense—most of its defences are below ground behind mazes of barbed wire. But it is a heavily fortified area from which the French are swatting the rebels like flies.

TAKE ADVANTAGE OF IT

The French took advantage of a momentary enemy withdrawal to parachute in a fresh battalion of reinforcements. Tanks and infantry sallied forth from unthreatened defence positions to counter-attack the enemy in encircling movements.

The French said the Vietminh continued to suffer heavy losses as Dien Bien Phu braced for a possible all-out rebel drive to overrun the fortress by sheer weight of numbers.

REBELS PULL BACK

The rebels, badly mauled after four days of suicidal attempts to take the four-by-six-mile plain, its command post and two air strips, pulled back momentarily in a heavy rain Tuesday after driving to within half a mile of the centre of the fortress. Then they resumed their assaults from the hills ringing the plain.

Under clearing skies today, planes managed to soar over virtually unchallenged to drop in the reinforcements. A few carrying supplies were able to land their cargoes and load up with wounded soldiers despite continued bombardment of the airstrips. Fighters and bombers meanwhile poured rockets, bombs and machine-gun fire into enemy positions surrounding the fortress.

The French expressed complete confidence that they can continue to hurl back with withering curtains of heavy fire-power the wave after wave of screaming rebels sent into the biggest battle of the seven-year-old war.

The French gave no figures of their own casualties, but said their losses have been "appreciable."

McCarthy Speaks On April 20

TORONTO (CP) — Senator Joseph McCarthy will speak here April 20 at the invitation of a group of citizens who feel he should have a chance to tell Canadians of his Communist-hunting operations.

John Hladun, a former Communist now an anti-Communist lecturer said Tuesday night he extended a personal invitation to the junior Republican senator from Wisconsin.

[illegible] during his expenses to [illegible] here but he is not asking a fee," Hladun said.

Earlier Mayor Lamport said he would refuse to extend a civic welcome to McCarthy.

"There is no political implication in this affair at all," Hladun said. "We just think Senator McCarthy is entitled to fair play from Canadians."

Citizens backing the visit are putting up $1,750 required for the use of Maple Leaf Gardens. The public will pay from $1 to $2.50 admission.

Troops, Planes Catch Terrorists

NAIROBI (Reuters)—Troops, dogs and two RAF bombers Tuesday night caught up with 20 Mau Mau terrorists who last night hacked to death an elderly British couple at a coffee farm 25 miles northeast of Nairobi.

At least one member of the murder gang was killed, and several others wounded as they sprang out of thick undergrowth and ran toward an African school. The land and air forces had hunted through the day for the Africans before flushing them out of their hideout in the Fort Hall Reserve north of the murder scene.

Two Men Run For Liberal Leadership

TORONTO (CP) — Leadership of the Liberal party in Ontario will be contested by two present members of the legislature when the party holds its annual convention April 8-9 in Toronto.

Farquhar Oliver, who now leads the seven-man Liberal bloc in the legislature, and Albert Wren, Liberal-Labor member for Kenora, both indicated to a meeting of the Eglinton Liberal Association Tuesday night that they will allow their names to stand for the leadership. No other candidates have been announced.

Though Mr. Wren is listed as a Liberal-Labor member, he generally supports the Liberals.

Mr. Oliver, who represents Grey South, told the meeting that he was "happier today with the prospects of the Liberal party than I have been in a long time."

OLIVER CONFIDENT

Mentioning irregularities in the Ontario highways department, Mr. Oliver said the Liberals had succeeded finally in having Premier Frost appoint a select committee of the house to investigate. He was confident that Liberal hopes for an election victory will grow with government mistakes he felt the investigation would reveal.

He said "irregularities will be revealed to such an extent that the people of Ontario will overthrow the kind of government and administration they have had in the past number of years."

Mr. Wren was not quite so confident. He said the Liberal opposition in the legislature is constantly embarrassed because it never seems sure of party policy.

He felt the Frost government would be ousted only if the Ontario Liberal party "will move in an individual manner to accomplish that fact."

"There is every possibility there will be an election in the summer or fall," he said, "for when the revelations come out about the highways department they are not going to please the government of Ontario and they will please the people of Ontario even less.

"I can assure you a turnover will take place in the north. I see no reason why it shouldn't also take place in southern Ontario."

These recommendations are based on the findings of the presidential foreign trade commission headed by U.S. industrialist Clarence Randall. The commission proposed that U.S. tariffs be cut by 15 per cent over the next three years, entangled American customs procedure be simplified and that the U.S. reciprocal trade agreements act be extended for another three years. The act expires next June.

Howe and Douglas Abbott, Canada's finance minister and a member of the joint committee, met Canadian correspondents after the meeting.

On food-disposal, Abbott said, the committee concluded that Canada-U.S. "interests are not conflicting."

Howe added that "neither country will do anything that will hurt the other."

TO CONSULT ON GRAINS

The U.S., with a big pile-up of wheat and other surpluses, has embarked on several programs to sell these products overseas for local or "blocked" currencies, or give them away under defence "package" deals. President Eisenhower recently proposed a new three-year $1,000,000,000-plan to provide overseas countries with American food.

This program has not been worked out in detail, and Howe indicated that the U.S. will consult with Canada before implementing it. The consultation, he said, likely will be "done over the telephone."

Canada has large stocks of grain, particularly wheat, and the fear in some Canadian quarters is that the U.S. may, by her disposal programs, injure overseas markets for Canadian products. Canada insists on dollars as payments for her grain.

Saved From Jail Term By Surrendering

LINDSAY (ENS) — Harold Greer, 23, of Wolsey St., was fined $100 and $25 costs when he appeared before magistrate R. I. Moore, in Lindsay magistrate's court today, charged with leaving the scene of an accident.

Ernest Bell, 67, of Lindsay, suffered severe head cuts, concussion and a fractured pelvis said Dr. J. C. Arnold, as a result of the accident February 27. Greer surrendered himself to police the next day upon learning that his car had been involved.

Magistrate Moore in imposing the fine said that Greer's surrender was the only factor that prevented a jail sentence.

Denies Railroading New Dairy Act

TORONTO (CP) — Acting agriculture minister Goodfellow denied today the provincial government was attempting to "railroad" the new Dairy Industry Act through the Ontario legislature.

Replying to a question put by R. M. Myers (PC — Waterloo North) during a meeting of the legislature's agriculture committee, Mr. Goodfellow said every person has had "ample opportunity" to study the bill.

"The government was motivated by the best intentions to get the bill before the committee after first reading in order to have the opportunity of representations to be made . . . we are not trying to railroad the bill through."

Protestant Group Dislikes TV Plan

LONDON (AP) — A Protestant religious group protested today to the BBC over plans to televise the canonization of Pope Piux X from the Vatican next June church of Rome, grounded on an outdated mediaeval superstition, and as such should not be broadcast in a Protestant country," the Protestant Truth Society said.

Irish Forget Election On St. Pat's Day

By JAMES F. KING

DUBLIN (AP) — St. Patrick's Day came to the Irish republic today on the brink of a general election, but the politicalHy-minded Irish, who like to be different, forgot politics.

Even that old fighter for Irish freedom, Prime Minister Eamon de Valera, was away in London for the "blessing of the shamrock" among the Britons who once condemned him to death.

And any Irishman who has whooped it up in south Boston or along New York's third avenue would get almost homesick for a March 17 among the Irish-Americans, as there's no "drowning the shamrock" here. All bars in the republic are closed on St. Patrick's Day.

And for uttering a "begorra" it's the back of my hand to you—comedian stuff in the new republic is frowned upon.

INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT

The emerald isle of many farms celebrates instead with a parade showing off tremendous strides in industrial development. Few politicians even get in the marching.

Some preliminary campaign blasts have been fired, however, for the election set for May 18.

De Valera, still a formidable campaigner even though 71 and nearly blind, decided to go to the people after his Fianna Fail party suffered setbacks in by-elections to fill vacancies in the Dail (Parliament).

Fundamentally, there is little difference in the outlook of Ireland's political parties. All are on common ground in pushing for more industries and in seeking to incorporate the six northern counties which still are part of the United Kingdom.

TEST OF STRENGTH

The test of strength will be between de Valera and the Fine Gaelers led by John Costello, 63-year-old lawyer who was prime minister in 1948-51 in a coalition government.

Present distributions of seats in the 147-man parliament gives Fianna Fail 69, Fine Gael 45, Labor 14, Farmers seven, Independent nine and Republicans two for a total of 146. The speaker is the 147th man.

But on St. Patrick's Day—no politics.

Why, after lining up to get their shamrocks and attending mass, the whole army was given the off.

Toronto Prices Mixed In Moderate Trading

TORONTO (CP)—Prices were mixed in moderate early afternoon stock market trading today.

Golds and western oils were stronger, base metals and uraniums slipped and industrials were steady.

Third-hour volume was 1,838,000 shares.

Western oils were led by Canadian Devonian, up 70 cents to 2.65 with a volume of more than 525,000 shares. Canada Southern and Peace River were also strong.

Industrial gains and losses were balanced. Papers, utilities, foods, constructions, financial institutions and liquors were higher. Steels, refining oils, manufactures, textiles and motors slipped.

Base metals were down. Consolidated Smelters and International Nickel slipped 25 cents while Falconbridge added the same. Juniors and Manitouwadge - area issues showed little change.

Uraniums and Bathurst - area base metals slipped.

Golds were slightly stronger as seniors advanced slightly. Juniors were steady and holding companies remained slightly stronger.

A unanimous vote of confidence was given Mr. Drew shortly after the meeting opened.

NO OPPOSITION

Mr. Nowlan, the chairman, told reporters later there was no opposition to the motion of confidence proposed by Murdoch A. MacPherson, Regina lawyer, and seconded by Wilfrid Dufresne, MP for Quebec West.

Today's meeting concentrates on party policies in an all-day study of various resolutions submitted by constituency organizations.

At Tuesday night's dinner, Mr. Drew charged that Liberal "centralization" policies threaten the survival of Canada's federal system.

He said the two-party system is "the only safe system for democracy." The Conservative meeting was discussing more than the future of the party—it was discussing "the future of democracy itself."

Mr. Hees said he plans to visit each province at least once a year to develop the party's organization.

Hydro Employees Reject Offer, Still Deadlocked

LINDSAY (ENS)—Employees of the Lindsay Hydro Electric Commission turned down the commission's offer of a 12½ per cent wage increase, and left their contract negotiations still deadlocked after a four and one half hour meeting between the entire commission and representatives of the National Union of Public Service Employees, Tuesday night.

The commission's proposals, to counter the union proposals submitted two weeks ago, were based on recognition of local 31 of the national union as bargaining agents for Lindsay employees and provided for a signed agreement to that effect.

Features of the agreement included (1) a 12½ per cent wage scale increase, (2) a reduction from 45 to 42½ hours a week (3) supplying of work gloves, and (4) an increase of stand-by pay from $1 to $1.40 for night trouble men; 50 to 70 cents for sub-station operators. The commission had previously offered an increase in accumulative sick pay benefits from nine to 12 weeks.

WANT 25 PER CENT

The union representatives stuck to their demand for a 25 per cent wage increase, to bring local rates up to those of the Ontario Hydro scale. The union also is demanding a closed shop, which the commission refuses to grant.

Commission spokesman, manager J. L. Lightbody, said the commission has offered the union as much as its dares considering the consumers served. Also, that the commission has given the employees exactly what they struck for in December, union recognition.

Commission spokesmen were R. A. Cozens and Mr. Lightbody. Union spokesmen were Frank Kitchen and S. J. Little of the N. U. of P.S.E., with employee representatives Earl Crimmons and William Hunter.

Union men were not available for comment, today.

On Way To Ottawa

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent took off today for Ottawa on the final leg of his world tour. The pilot did not file an expected time of arrival. The flight will be nonstop. Takeoff time was 9:09 a.m. (12:09 p.m. EST).

Indian Ground Lures Copper Prospectors

GERALDTON, Ont. (CP) — A place from which ancient Indians departed for their happy hunting grounds has become a happy hunting grounds for Ontario copper prospectors.

Skeletons found on the edge of the lake, 35 miles south of Geraldton, between Manitouwadge and Big Duck lakes, are dated by the rotting, muzzle - loading guns found with them, but arrow heads also found there go back as far as the flint age.

Most of the ground around the lake has been staked and prospectors now are starting to stake the lake itself hoping to find the free copper from which the Indians beat out their arrow heads.

Killalo was a common stopping place for Indians on cross country journeys and is believed to have been the scene of many skirmishes between tribes.

Trade Policies Under Attack

OTTAWA (CP)—The Progressive Conservative party today attacked government trade policies and said the cabinet has refused to take action to relieve unemployment.

A party statement said the numbers of jobless will be higher than normal this year despite an expected spring upswing in employment.

"The Conservative party deplores the attitude of this federal government which has steadfastly refused to consider the plight of the wage earners of Canada, and condemns the apparent intention of its ministers to take no steps to correct a grievous situation," the statement said.

[illegible] the loss of curtailment of export markets for food and other primary products.

Recovery and expansion of lost markets in Canada and abroad was "a first objective of Conservative policy."

U.S. Dollar At Discount

MONTREAL (CP) — The U. S. dollar was at a discount of 2 23-32 per cent in terms of Canadian funds at noon today. Tuesday's noon rate was 97 5-32 cents. Pound sterling $2.73⅞, against $2.73½.

Sees No Radical Change In U.S. Military Program

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) —President Eisenhower said today any president ought to be impeached or even hanged who did not act immediately if the country were attacked by an aggressor.

The president told his press conference the "new look" military program represents the best efforts to use modern weapons and to conserve manpower in any war that might break out.

He said there was no radical departure from accepted military principles but rather an effort to combine scientific developments, geographical factors and other advances in a modern military machine.

The president defended the position taken by State Secretary Dulles Tuesday that it would not be necessary for the chief executive to consult Congress in advance before acting to meet an attack.

Eisenhower said nobody could foresee every possible condition that might arise. He said he was not backing away from the statement he made last week that the United States will not be carried into war without the approval of Congress.

Self-preservation requires quick reaction, he said.

Eisenhower discussed the military situation one day after the first official confirmation that the United States has a usable hydrogen bomb.

Nixon Criticizes Ontario For Borrowing

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario government was criticized Tuesday for borrowing "hundreds of millions of dollars" on the New York markets.

Hon. Harry Nixon (L—Brant), opening the budget debate in the Ontario legislature warned the government that there "will be a day of reckoning when the payment has to be made in U.S. funds.

"Just now Canadian currency is at a premium. But the day is going to come when the money is going the other way in repayment and we will find that the rate of exchange will go the other way—maybe 10 per cent against us, maybe 15 or 16 or even as high as 24 per cent."

He said if the bonds were sold in Ontario and Canada the province would find itself in a safer and sounder position.

MOVES AMENDMENT

He moved an amendment to the motion that the house resolve itself into committee of supply to consider the estimates, by adding that the house "does not approve the policy of the government of borrowing hundreds of millions of dollars from the United States repayable as to the principal and interest in U.S. funds."

The opposition member suggested the government consider supplementary assistance to federal old-age pensioners and urged an early completion of the hydro power conversion program.

The house also resumed the debate on consideration of the report of the select committee on reform institutions.

W. M. Nickle (PC — Kingston) called for an amendment to the Liquor Control Act providing that a person convicted three times in one year for intoxication be given an indefinite sentence to allow him time to be treated in a hospital. He also urged an amendment to the Criminal Code, giving the Ontario parole board authority to free inmates who are considered eligible for parole.

Tom Pryde (PC—Huron) lauded the industrial programs at Guelph reformatory. Dr. S. F. Leavine (PC—Waterloo-North) urged increased medical treatment in reformatories and J. S. Dempsey (PC—Renfrew South) criticized large companies that refused to give former prisoners work.

The legislature will not sit today, out of respect for G. C. MacOdrum (PC—Leeds) who died Monday. Many members left to attend the funeral in Brockville today.

350 Unionists Pick Wrong Day To Lobby

TORONTO (CP)—It was a case of "when they got there the cupboard was—practically—bare" for 350 unionists from all over Ontario who invaded Queen's Park today for a lobbying session on the check-off and unemployment questions.

The great majority of members of the Ontario legislature were either attending the funeral in Brockville of C. G. MacOdrum (PC—Leeds) who died sudenly Monday, or in committee sessions.

The lobbying unionists spent most of the morning wandering through the corridors of the legislative buildings, pinning down a stray member or two. They failed to spot Attorney-General Porter who walked down a corridor crowded with unionists and disappeared into the cabinet ministers dining room.

Premier Frost was in Brockville,

MEET TWO LIBERALS

The lobbyists did catch up to Opposition leader Farquhar Oliver and Albert Wren (Lib-Lab—Kenora) who both voiced support for their arguments.

The delegation included 24 representatives of northern locals of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) in the Timmins area and representatives from the Ottawa valley, Fort William, Port Arthur and other centres.

Mr. Oliver agreed that there was in fact check-off legislation cover- was entitled to the same consideration. Mr. Wren said he endorsed voluntary revocable check-off but not voluntary check-off of union dues.

11 Killed On Bus

JERUSALEM (AP)—An official Israeli source said 11 Israelis, including several children and two soldiers, were killed in a bus attacked by a group of Arabs today.

Two soldiers and two women were reported to have survived.

ENNISMORE IRISH FOLK AT "THE CROSS" will celebrate St. Patrick's Day on the 19th this year with a concert at the hall that will lack old-time shinnanigans. Today will be as quiet as usual at the cross-roads stores (upper left photo) but abustle with concert decoration projects at the 25-pupil school taught by Miss Anne Sullivan (lower left photo). Former days and ways will be related wittily by township patriarch William Harrington, 89, (upper right photo) to any visitors who may call at his country home. The Rev. Patrick Joseph Lynch is the spiritual leader of 100 Irish families who attend St. Martin's church. (Examiner Staff Photos)

No Shortage of Real Irish Around Cross of Ennismore

By NICK (PADDY) NICKELS

ENNISMORE, March 17—"There are more 'Irishmen' on the 17th of March than on any other day of the year," quipped Father Patrick Joseph Lynch of Ennismore settlement on Wednesday.

He leaned his large frame back in the chair in the study of St. Martin's rectory and smiled silently for a moment. His silent inference meant that that situation just did not exist at "The Cross." There,—90 per cent of the population—and in the township roundabout—were of the third generation of people from the Ould Sod. They are proud of it.

The phone book on his cluttered desk listed Irish folk innumerable. There are Bricks, Cadigans, Cavanaghs, Conways, Corkerys, Croughs, Foleys, Gannons, Giffords, Harringtons, Hennessys, Hicksons, Killens, Kyles, McAuliffes and Moloneys. There were Murphys, O'Connors, O'Donoghues, Scollards, Shannahans and Sullivans, Tierneys, Twomeys and Youngs.

It is hard to understand why there are no O'Haras but surely they were represented in the first of the 297 souls who arrived at the newly-surveyed section of Upper Canada in 1826. On the maps it was then called the Gore of Emily but the homesick Irishmen soon changed that; they called it Ennismore and divil a man there has been since that has had the nerve to suggest that they change it.

LARGE FAMILY

Father Lynch suggested that we should pay a call on William Harrington, the patriarch of all Ennismore men and we did just that.

Mr. Harrington was alone in his small bright cottage when we arrived. He jumped up sprightly from a couch beside the window and arranged kitchen chairs for us with a grand air of Irish hospitality.

We wanted to know something of the old days?

"Indeed, you have come to the right man," said he without any false modesty whatsoever.

He will be 89 years old in A-prile, Mr. Harrington told us, and could eat sleep, see, hear and think as well as when he was a gaffer of 20. He was one of those rare delights dear to all reporters' hearts, an interviewee both locquacious and witty where a person is hard put to scribble notes fast enough as they poured from his nimble mind.

He told of the days when his family of 13 struggled in the forests of Ennismore township, carving small plots from the woods, cutting, burning timber and pulling stumps. He told of 26 years in the shanties where all the men in the township were obliged to work in winter for a paltry $15 a month for their families. He told of the spring log drives, of log jams when the river hog would yell,

"Jump into her, me bhoys she's billin' but she wasn't scald ye.'"

He also told us of his family life, of his four sons and three daughters, 34 grandchildren and 32 great-grandchildren and of his wife, the former Elizabeth Scollard, who died three years ago.

Mr. Harrington attributed his longevity to the fact that he never drank and that he was too slow to run or fight and therefore had to be agreeable. His greatest passion is playing euchre and he crowed to us about a sweeping win he had made last Sunday.

"And made 20 cents, too," he beamed.

Back at "The Cross" the 25 children were pouring out of the red brick separate schoolhouse. They had shamrock cutouts in their hands which they had made to decorate the hall for a St. Patrick's party on Friday evening.

Store merchants Joe Sullivan and his rival, Mrs. Ambrose Crough were deluged by youngsters buying penny candies before the cold west wind bowled them to their homes.

There was nothing green in the village, not even the rusty-looking sweeping fir trees around the church. But the people of "The Cross" chuckled and thought that perhaps the Irishmen at Douro settlement might be green with envy since their community was not picked out for the district's St. Patrick's Day locale.

In fact, like all true Irishmen, they hoped it might make the "Doura" people fightin' mad. It would add zest to The Day.

Can prayer help? Can it heal?

SCIENCE AND HEALTH

with Key to the Scriptures by MARY BAKER EDDY

The Christian Science textbook has answered this question for a thankful multitude. They are finding, and proving in their lives, that this remarkable book brings healing power to their prayers.

In a way that seems miraculous only until understood, Science and Health shows plainly how Christ Jesus did his mighty works, and how to "go and do likewise" as he commanded. It is restoring Christian healing to religion. On Wednesday evenings the Christian Science branch churches in this city, and elsewhere throughout most of the world, hold meetings open to all which include testimonies of healing from the congregation.

Science and Health may be read, borrowed, or purchased at any Christian Science Reading Room. Or send $3 and a copy will be mailed postpaid.

Admits Assault Cobourg Youth Under Curfew

COBOURG (ENS) — William Gallagher, 17-year-old Cobourg youth who pleaded guilty to assault causing actual bodily harm to Roy West of Plainville, was remanded out of custody until May 17.

Evidence of West was that Gallagher struck him late Sunday night without any reason. He said he had not been talking to him or involved in any dispute. West had two black eyes and a bruised face when he appeared in court to give evidence.

Magistrate R. B. Baxter declared hoodlum behaviour was not to be tolerated. He told the accused that during the remand period he must stay away from companions who might get him into trouble, and he must be off the streets by nine each night, except on Saturday when he must be in by six.

Except for going to church, Gallagher was told that he had to keep off the streets all day on Sunday. He was also ordered to abstain from alcohol.

Lands 331-Pound Marlin

WELLINGTON, N. Z. (Reuters) Harold Hopkins of California has claimed a world record at the Bay of Islands here for landing a 331-pound striped marlin with a light tackle after a five-hour struggle. Hopkins, whose tackle had a breaking strain of only 18 pounds, travelled 14 miles in his launc while playing the fish.

Blitz Campaign Tops Target

LAKEFIELD (ENS) — Village branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society conducted a blitz collection drive for two hours on Tuesday evening and went over the objective target of $1,000 by $234 No returns were received or reported from outlying districts but drive executives say they see no reason why the drive will not top the 1953 figure, $1,541.

Working under chairman Albert G. Buchanan, 36 canvassers made short work of collecting. All of them reported courteous reception by citizens with their contributions ready. They gathered at the Memorial Hall with their collections later in the evening and were served with refreshments by Mrs. Albert O'Donnell, Mrs. Hugh Ketchum and committee members.

Defends A-Bombers

LONDON (Reuters) — George Ward, undersecretary for air, Tuesday night rejected suggestions that Britain should leave bombing in a future war to the United States and not spend money on an atom-bomber force. Britain is not building an atom-bomber force for prestige reasons, he told the House of Commons during a debate on the air force budget. She had a significant contribution to make because of the "vast experience of the Royal Air Force in strategic and tactical bombing techniques."

Graham Proves Popular In U.K.

LONDON (Reuters) — Evangelist Billy Graham Tuesday became the first minister to preach in St. Stephen's Walbrook here since German fire bombs partially destroyed it in May, 1941.

His invitation to preach at the church was one indication of the success of his three-month crusade in London which opened two weeks ago.

Although no pews have yet been installed in the church, in the business section of London, 2,000 office workers stood to hear Graham. As many more were unable to get in.

TO BE REDEDICATED

St. Stephen's, designed by the 17th century architect Sir Christopher Wren and considered his finest work after St. Paul's Cathedral, will be rededicated by the Bishop of London March 29.

Graham told his congregation, many wearing the black coats and striped pants of the traditional business man, that Christ had the answer to every basic problem of mankind.

At Harringay arena Tuesday night, Graham again had a capacity audience of 12,000, bring his total since March 1 to 195,000. "Decisions for Christ" numbered 279, making his total conversions 4,295.

Charge Hastings Man With Break-in

COBOURG (ENS) — Kenneth Clarke of Hastings elected trial by judge when he appeared on a charge of breaking and entering the premises of Fred Morrow in Hastings, March 9.

Crown Attorney Harry Deyman told the court that Clarke's election to trial by judge came as a surprise. He had all the Crown witnesses on hand.

Clarke told the magistrate he wanted time to secure counsel. The case was adjourned to next Monday.

Pupils Provide Program For Rotary

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Campbellford high school pupils provided the program at the Rotary club this week, when members of the Students' Council took over the meeting.

President-elect W. M. McComb handed the gavel over to Miss Joan McCulloch at the start of the meeting. Paul Hendricks, vice-president of the Students' Council, took charge of the program. Darlene Johnston gave a short talk on Barbara Ann Scott and told of some of the difficulties this Canadian girl had to overcome in her rise to fame.

The Grade 12 band, comprising Mary Ann Moran, Bob Cowell, Jim Loucks, Ronald Pierce, Jack Collette and David Thompson, played several numbers. Geyle Meyers sang two solos. Dances by Harriet and Janet Houlihan completed the musical portion of the program.

E. E. Darling, principal of the school, and Miss McCulloch thanked the Rotarians for their hospitality.

The visit of the high school students to the Rotary club is an annual affair.

Public Speaking Winners Announced

CAMPBELLFORD — (ENS) — Winners of the Dr. Harold Horkins Memorial Prize for public speaking have been announced by E. E. Darling, principal of the Campbellford High School. Pupils of grade IX contested the scholarship on Friday. Winners were as follows: First, Darlene Johnston, $25; second, Sylvia Grills, $15; Helen Holmes and Lorraine Hinds tied for third place and won $5 each.

Mr. Darling paid tribute to the splendid work of the pupils in preparing and delivering their speeches. Judges were the Rev. Dr. D. M. Smith, the Rev. A. E. Toombs and the Rev. Gordon Whitehorne.

Palace Opening Denied

LONDON (Reuters) — Buckingham Palace officials today denied a rumor that the palace is to be opened to the public for a fee. "There are no plans whatsoever for this sort of thing," a spokesman said.

Driver Fined $10

COBOURG (ENS) — Malcolm Laver of Warkworth was found guilty of careless driving as a result of an accident which occurred in Haldimand township February 22. He was fined $10 and costs.

Peterborough, Lindsay Share Honors At Music Festival

Although entries in the Kiwanis music festival were chiefly out-of-towners, Tuesday evening, Peterborough talent has been creating a great deal of entertainment throughout the festival, particularly the choirs, church and school, which performed Saturday night.

At Queen Mary's Tuesday night, Miss Elizabeth Ann Lapp and Miss Elizabeth Evans, both of Peterborough walked off with first and third place respectively in the only piano class with their interpretations of Bach. The Oriano Trio, of Toronto, edged out the George St. United group by two points, although both gave performances in the 80 per cent bracket.

LINDSAY WINNERS

Lindsay talent outweighed all the rest however with three contestants placing first, two with 85 per cent and the other with 86 per cent. Joy Nesbitt, of Lindsay shared honors with Miss Lapp for the top spot; the former a contralto and the latter a pianist. Jean Perry, soprano, and Francis Taylor, bass, both of Lindsay, were congratulated on their individual performances. Mr. Taylor was especially recommended as "talent that should go far," by adjudicator Frank Odell. He was in stiff competition with the other bass contestant, John Moore of Reaboro, who scored an 83.

A 12-year-old soprano, Marlene Harvey, of Cobourg, became rather excited upon learning she had placed first in her class some time after the adjudication had been given.

Class 29, soprano, Through Toronto, 85.

Class 12, ladies' trio, All Through the Night (Anderson). 1, Oriana Trio, 82; 2, George St. United church, 80.

Class 32, Contralto, But the Lord is Mindful of His own (Mendelssohn). 1, Joy Nesbitt, Lindsay, 86; 2, Elenor Calder, Norman, 81; 3, Christine Mitchell, Toronto, 80.

Two Cars Collide In Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Two cars collided on Bridge St. east about 5:30 p.m. Tuesday, suffering about $80 damage. A car driven by Robert E. Lee, 29, of RR 5 Campbellford, pulled out from the curb on the north side of the street and came into collision with a westbound vehicle driven by William A. Hogle, 54, of Campbellford.

Libel Award $250,000

CHICAGO (AP)—A jury Tuesday night awarded $250,000 damages to a Pennsylvania antique dealer who had accused a Chicago publisher of libelling him. John H. Chamberlain of Delaware Water Gap, Pa., charged in his suit against the Lightner Publishing Corp. that his professional reputation was damaged by an article in the May, 1949, issue of Hobbies magazine, published by Lightner. The suit alleged the article represented Chamberlain's antiques as reproductions rather than originals.

Industrial Assessments

In common with residential and business properties, industrial properties in the city were reassessed last year and the valuations generally raised. Some of them are being appealed. For instance, the Outboard Marine Company's total assessment was set at $647,840. The company lodged an appeal, but before it was argued in the Court of Revision, an agreement between the Assessment Commissioner and the Company was reached, whereby the assessment was reduced by $49,730—a reduction of a little more than seven per cent.

* * *

The major industrial appeal is now before the Court of Revision. It is the major one because it involves the largest plant in Peterborough and the one bearing the biggest industrial assessment. What happens to industrial assessments is important to the citizens as well as to the companies, because (before they reached the Court of Revision) industrial assessments represented sixteen per cent. of the total evaluations of all property assessments. The Canadian General Electric Company's assessment totalled $4,500,000 in the unrevised rolls.

* * *

Industries have as much right of appeal as private citizens, and should have. It is perhaps to be expected that a company which has had its properties revalued from $2,500,000 to $4,500,000 should lodge an appeal; municipal taxes on such an assessment increase operating costs. The appeal of the CGE is a complicated one, since the company claims that the whole procedure of the reassessment has not been authorized in law.

* * *

In former days when towns and cities were clamouring for industries, companies could seek and get especially low assessments, or fixed assessments, in return for the favour they showed by setting up their plants in the municipality and thus providing work and taxes. This practice has been discontinued, and it is in fact illegal for any municipality to grant assessment favours. On the other hand, a municipality should not consider an industry a sugar-daddy to the community, and either over-assess it or over-tax it. One function of an Assessment Commissioner is to try to ensure that all parties are treated fairly. The Commissioner is in an independent position; although he is paid by the municipality, the City Council has no authority over his decisions. A further check to ensure that assessments are made without fear or favour is the Court of Revision.

* * *

The long process of completing and revising this year's assessment rolls is unusual because of the complete reassessment made last year, and the numerous appeals. The drawing up of the city budget and striking the tax rate has thus been difficult for the Council. However, difficulties have been surmounted and the assessment rolls should be completely ready in a few weeks, providing, of course, that legal tangles over the industrial assessments do not lead to long litigation.

Dawson's Golden Chaff Gave Place

the growing season one sees the same fields with the same crops—hay, oats, fall wheat, corn, potatoes; the seasons change and renew themselves, yet the immemorial crops seem to remain the same. But they are not the same to an experienced, inquiring eye, for there are as many quiet revolutions in crops as there are revolving seasons and years. The Red Fife wheat nurtured in Peterborough County in the last century is not the wheat grown today; and its successor Marquis has itself been changed and improved, though in its time Marquis wheat was the gold of the Prairies.

So there is change, always change, and none more than in the fields of this district. For years Peterborough farmers were attached to Dawson's Golden Chaff. This wheat strain served them well. At the Central Ontario Spring Show now being held at the Exhibition Ground, there is hardly a grain of Dawson's Golden Chaff to be seen. After the war farmers discovered (through the helpful guidance of cerealists) a wheat named Cornell. Instead of fields of Dawson's Golden Chaff, there were fields of Cornell. This improved seed has now been replaced by such strains as Daubul, and edging into Daubul's field at the Spring Show is a new comer from New York State called Genesee.

As with wheat, so with other grains and small seeds. The old gives way to the new, simple strains to highly developed ones, and here, there, and everywhere about the country there is constant experimentation, there are test plots, and each year improved seeds are put on the market. They are distributed through such seed fairs as the Central Ontario Spring Show here in Peterborough this week, in which farmers of nine countries are contributing and viewing and learning. And really, the first purpose of this Fair is to demonstrate new and improved seeds, to encourage their growing, that the farmers may get more income out of their work through better, heavier and healthier crops.

Farmers of this district are among the keenest cerealists in the Province. One could name many names, but let us cite Mr. Robert Armstrong of Cavan, who in Toronto not long ago received the prize for the highest score in the 50-bushel Wheat Club of Ontario. Mr. Armstrong is himself President of the Peterborough Crop Improvement Association.

There is constancy in nature, but the most constant element is change; and when human nature takes an experimental hand through its desire to improve, even the fields of golden corn are different from what grew in the valleys of Lebanon two thousand years ago. In the valleys of Peterborough two years ago there was Cornell; this summer there is likely to be Daubul. No, the crops are not the same, and therein is one of the explanations of human achievement.

Are You Happy, Or Merely Cagey?

The Gallup Poll has been asking [illegible] would you say that you are very happy, fairly happy, or not very happy?" It appears, if Dr. Gallup may be trusted, that less than two out of every five Canadians is very happy; about half the population is fairly happy; one in ten is downright miserable. Three per cent. don't know, presumably because the word happy is unfamiliar to them.

If Dr. Gallup had asked our advice (which, for some queer reason, he never does) we would have told him that his question was wrongly phrased for the Canadian ear. Canadians may in some cases be happy, but they are all extremely cagey. They hate to commit themselves on a matter of importance. They are also extremely superstitious. Not, we hasten to say, in a picturesque, unbuttoned manner; they do not see fairies, or wear charms against the Evil Eye. But they are superstitious in the good old Puritan way. A true Canadian feels that if he ever gave voice to the statement that he was happy, Nemesis, or the Norns, or Brooding Destiny would very quickly see that the bank, in which his savings were stored, failed; that his wife burned everything she cooked for three months; that cavities would appear in his teeth; that he would be transferred to a new job with half-pay for double work; or that some calamity would befall him which would effectively quench his happiness.

Say to a Canadian, "It's a fine day," and his eyes will swerve quickly from right to left before he nods, noncommitally, just in case Somebody might be listening, and would turn on the rain to douse his enjoyment. Say to him, "Your daughter is a beauty and your son is a fine lad", and he will quickly tell you all their faults, in order to avert some Lurking Evil from his children. A Canadian is a cagey fellow; he is not ready to run any risks by grinning in the face of Destiny.

To ask Canadians if they are happy is to waste breath. Only the most daring—those most unbalanced by hubris, the insane pride which the Greeks feared—will ever admit to happiness. But ask them how things are with them and they will say "Oh, not so bad". That is their exultant cry of happiness. With most of us things aren't so bad.

Many months ago we commented on the unfairness of our judicial system as regards the payment of fines. An offender who can easily raise $200 for a fine does not have to accept the alternative of a jail or prison term; a person without such means, though he is guilty of exactly the same offence, has to go to jail, suffer the ignominy of having been a jail-bird and also the loss of earning time which he could less well afford than the other fellow. In effect, therefore, this is one law for the rich, another for the poor.

We are heartily in favour of payment of fines by instalment, so that the offender without enough money in his pocket can pay his fine out of weekly earnings, a little at a time. It is good that spokesmen for both the C.C.F. and the Conservative party have commended the instalment plan to the Government and have argued for it in Parliament. We are glad to note that the Minister of Justice is willing to acept their suggested change. The Criminal Code is under revision. This would be a sensible change, and remove what is now an inequality in the operation of the law.

IN QUEENSLAND

Implacable Sunlight

By PATRICK O'DONOVAN

AT NINE in the evening this town is very quiet. A wind that smells of space comes down the main street. The shop lights are on, shining above the rows of coloured plates, the pies in tins, the chemical soaps and the picture books about the British Royal Family. There is a little shouting from the small wooden public house, and a few men are standing idly round the shop that sells newspapers and fruit. But the wide road disappears into the darkness within a hundred yards in either direction.

✧ ✧ ✧

THIS is an Australian town that Queen Elizabeth and her little travelling court will not visit. It is called Beaudesert, named after the great house in Staffordshire, in England, by a pioneer in 1845. And it is in Queensland.

✧ ✧ ✧

EVEN in Australia, Queensland has a remarkable reputation. It is a place of implacable sunlight, of floods and droughts and bushfires, and vast areas are desert or jungle. It tends to be a toss-up between prosperity and poverty. Yet it is treated with rough but real respect, because it offers a hard and independent life and a great freedom from the ordinary cares of cities. These are things that touch hearts here.

✧ ✧ ✧

AUSTRALIA is the one tropical country in the world that was settled without the help of native labour. Sugar cane in Queensland is cut by White workers, and for three months' pay they can afford to idle the rest of the year. Were it not for the expense of labour, the State could produce a wealth of tropical produce.

✧ ✧ ✧

BUT it is not that sort of place. The bus that runs each day to and from Brisbane carries passengers who are unmistakably British in origin. Mostly they are women going to shop [illegible] they can cram into a single day and their aching feet can tolerate. They are carefully dressed. Their hats are prodigious, daunting erections of felt and straw and stiff ribbon that look as if they were built to last a lifetime. Yesterday, when I was in the bus they quietly discussed the Queen the whole way. And there were children from high-school already poring over their home work as the bus raced through the rich coastal plain that looked like England with the heat turned on.

✧ ✧ ✧

AT FIRST, though, Beaudesert has an unmistakably tropical air. Most of its houses are wooden, built on stilts, with deep verandahs and shaded windows. They are like the colonial bungalows around Singapore. They are very plain and tidy inside; they smell of good pine-wood; they have a wealth of wedding photographs on shelves and pictures of castles and of English flowers on the wall. It is not homesickness that accounts for this: these houses are irrevocably Australian.

✧ ✧ ✧

TWO THOUSAND people live in Beaudesert. There are some six thousand more in the shire that surrounds it. Old class distinctions have almost disappeared, although respectability is now a social necessity. But society has still the bewildering complexity of a small town in England.

✧ ✧ ✧

TAKE the churches. In Beaudesert there are churches for Anglicans, Roman Catholics, Methodists, Baptists, Lutherans, the Salvation Army and Seventh Day Adventists. There are no organised Presbyterians, but there is a congregation of Christadelphians. There are also all the social observances which, with an almost tribal rigidity, the Anglo-Saxon races establish as soon as they have their women around them—bridge and whist, church socials, dances, races, cattle shows and picnics.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT IS an early-rising, swift-living place, where young men stream past on bicycles and many small dairy farms support both farmers and farm owners—for farms are often worked by tenants on a share basis. But late in the evening, and by the light of shop windows, the stranger can see an unfamiliar thing. Standing alone and often in shadow there a few slender black-faced men and boys in shabby clothes. They walk with graceful economy of movement. Their faces slope outwards down to their chins. They have heavy noses and massive mouths, and they never seem to look middle-aged. There is a sadness about them. These are half-cast aborigines from a race that lived in unbelievable isolation until the Europeans arrived. In Beaudesert a dozen families of them live in shacks down by the creek. They are not much liked.

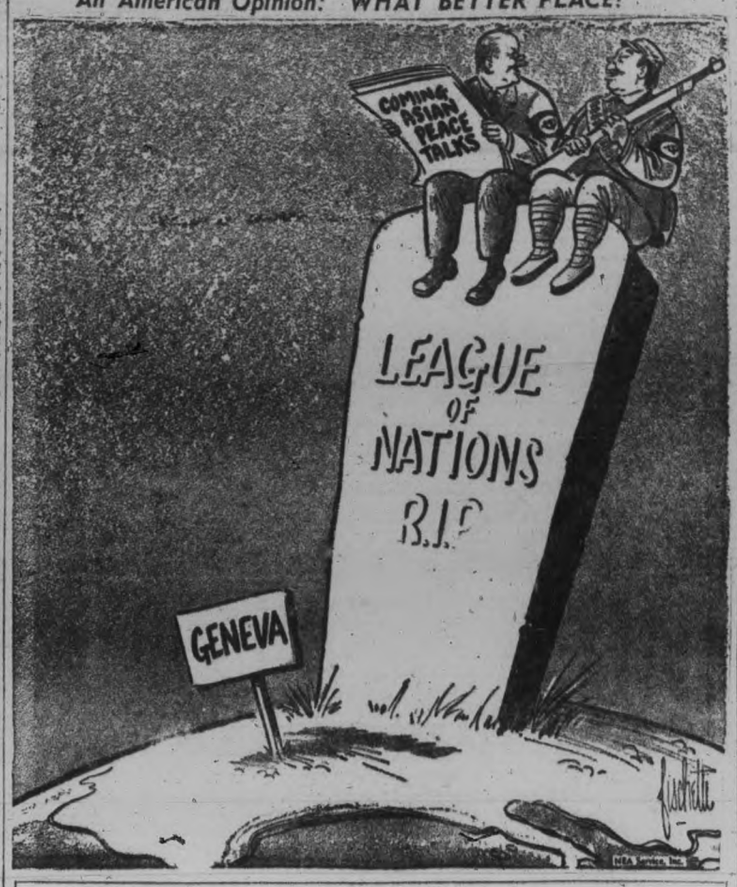
✧ ✧ ✧

IT IS TRUE that being technically half-caste they have equal political rights [illegible] shops and cinemas. But people say they are lazy and dishonest, are often in petty trouble with the police, will not save money, become content as soon as they are no longer hungry. If you feed a hired labourer at midday he'll bring his whole family. They are completely set apart. Someone said to me: "Only the lower types of Whites make friends with them." People say they take an unfair advantage of any show of kindness.

✧ ✧ ✧

THERE they stand in the street. There was a boy peering round a pillar at posters advertising a film called "Quo Vadis". There was a young man leaning against the back of a truck looking at the ground, and an old man in a filthy hat walking quickly out into the darkness. Their faces were quite without expression. They are the residue of a past that has little to do with the present. I was told it is wrong to pity them.

✧ ✧ ✧



VERY SOON they had gone, and the street was quite empty. The shop lights went out. Trucks drove past very quickly, and some youths were singing in the back. There was the sound of music from somewhere in the darkness. A dog barking. It felt like a camp on the edge of a great plain.

SUSPICIOUS TYPE

"Why did you give your lodger notice?"

"Well, I am not one to suspect people and do not distrust them, but when a man always hangs his hat over the keyhole there is something mysterious."

An American Opinion: "WHAT BETTER PLACE?"

The World's Most Beautiful Mountain

By O. M. GREEN

IT seems singularly unbecoming that a sacred mountain should be the subject of litiga[illegible] the world's loveliest mountain, has been the centre of a decorous dispute as to whether the top of it belongs to the Japanese Government or to monks of Sengen shrine. This dispute has at last ended in favour of the State.

Even Everest has not been more familiarised to the West than Fujiyama, whose perfectly shaped snow-capped cone, mirrored in the Pakone lake, has travelled all over the world in thousands of Japanese paintings and articles of porcelain and damascene.

One's first view Fuji may be perhaps on the voyage from Yokohama to Kobe, rising serene and faultless high above the surrounding mountain ranges against the pale misty blue sky which adds a peculiar glamour to the Japanese landscape. But if one had never seen Fuji again, that first impression could never be forgotten.

Prosaically speaking Fuji is a self-made mountain, piled up by its once furious eruptions of ashes and lava. In its worst outburst 250 years ago it burried the streets of Yedo (now called Tokyo) six inches deep in ash.

But the subterranean forces seem to have moved away south-eastwards. Nearby there are abundant hot springs and especially the terrifying gorge of Ojigoku (Big Hell, in English) where one must tread warily because the earth is a mere crust, striking hot through one's shoes from the fire and brimstone below. But only a rare puff of steam from Fuji's crater recalls what it once was.

But one volcano can well be spared, es[illegible] is made so perfect a work of art. There are fifty volcanoes in Japan always more or less active, serving as vents which, like the 1,500 small earthquake shocks each year, are a guarantee to the Japanese against a great disaster like the earthquake of 1923, when half Tokyo and Yokohama were wrecked. It is when there have been no earth tremours for several days that the Japanese look pale and anxious.

No feat of mountaineering is necessary to climb the 12,000 feet to the top of Fuji, only determination and strong boots. The first 1,500 feet are all cultivated. Then comes a belt of moorland, then forest. The last third of the climb is over ashes and scoriae very trying to the feet and against the lassitude caused by rarified air. It is quite possible to go up and down in a day, though it is better (if you can keep warm) to sleep in the rude resthouse at the top and see the ineffable splendour of the sunrise.

This is the goal of the thousands of Buddhist pilgrims who through the summer months tramp from all over Japan to Fuji clad in thin whit cotton shorts and vest, straw sandals, huge flapping hats, and with no luggage but a staff and a sleeping-mat slung over their backs. Sometimes a desperate pair of lovers will leap to death from the cliffs of the crater. But Asama, which is always active, is more generally favoured by suicides. In the main the devotion of the pilgrims and the sanctity and the beauty of Fujiyama are undisturbed by tragedy.

35,000,000 Pounds Of Butter

(OTTAWA JOURNAL)

GOVERNMENT spokesmen in the Commons have been inclined to minimize the seriousness of the growing butter surplus in this country, but official figures now released indicate millions of pounds more butter on hand, and in prospect, than we are likely to need under present circumstances. The prospect is that on May 17, opening of a new production year, the surplus butter in the hands of the Government will amount to about 35 million pounds. This will be considerably larger than in any year since price support started.

Not only is there little chance that this surplus butter will be needed at home, but the chances of export sales are slight. The same is true of United States surpluses, the huge stocks in government storage there being a cause of worry to Canada and to every other country which produces and sells butter on the world market. What is feared is a give-away or dumping program which could disrupt world markets.

Yet on a per capita basis today government owned stocks of butter in Canada are about twice as large as are those owned by the U. S. Government.

Price support in Canada in the case of butter, has had its good and bad features. For the consumer it has had the effect of levelling off prices throughout the year, instead of Winter peaks and Summer bargains. It protected the producer at a time he faced the stiffest kind of price competition from imported substitutes. On the whole it has resulted in fair and even consumer prices.

But a carry-over of the size Canada is now accumulating can be very troublesome and costly, as our particular kind of butter is not readily sold in world markets. Yet with some 43 per cent. of all milk produced in Canada going into butter its price and control is of paramount concern to all milk producers, and any drastic drop in price would have disastrous effects on the standards of living and buying power of several hundred thousand dairy farmers in this country. That would soon be reflected in the over-all economy and in employment.

Bible Message

(From The Authorized Version)

Wherefore the Lord said, Forasmuch as this people draw near me with their mouth, and with their lips do honour me, but have removed their heart far from me, and their fear toward me is taught by the precept of men: therefore behold, I will proceed to do a marvellous work among this people, even a marvellous work and a wonder: for the wisdom of their wise men shall perish, and the understanding of the prudent men shall be hid . . . Surely your turning of this upside down shall be esteemed as the potter's clay: for shall the work say of him that made it, He made me not? or shall the thing framed say of him that framed it, He had no understanding? (Isa. 29:13, 14, 16.)

✧ ✧ ✧

O the depth of the riches both of the wis[illegible] of God! how unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out! . . . For of him, and through him, and to him, are all things: to whom be glory for ever. Amen. (Rom. 11:33, 36.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Ye are the salt of the earth: but if the salt have lost his savour, wherewith shall it be salted? it is thenceforth good for nothing, but to be cast out, and to be trodden under foot of men. Ye are the light of the world. A city that is set on an hill cannot be hid. (Matt. 5:13, 14.)

✧ ✧ ✧

And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the called according to his purpose. (Rom. 8:28.)

SAINT PATRICK'S LIFE

By REV. A. W. SMITH, S. Th. Omemee

Now Patrick is the patron saint
Of Ireland, we all know;
But Patrick never was a saint,
Nor Irish born, oh no!

That is, a saint was never made,
Nor canonized by Rome;
Of Irish birth no claim is laid,
For England was his home.

And yet, he is the patron saint
Of Ireland, Em'rald isle;
Of that there is not one complaint,
He makes the Irish smile.

Northamptonshire, near Daventry,
Was born in three sev'n three;
Became a Bishop, Armagh See,
And died in four six three.

When but a youth was carried off,
To land on Ireland's shore;
To tend the cattle he did scoff,
But turned to God once more.

He then escaped to Southern France,
And trained there till a Priest;
Then back to Ireland he did glance,
And heard their call at least.

A Missionary he would be,
And tend these other sheep;
He'd build a church, and school, thought he,
The tender lambs He'd keep.

He built some monasteries too,
To train men for the task;
To teach and preach, be loyal, true
To Christ, that's all he'd ask.

A Bishop was Saint Patrick made,
One day by Pope at Rome;
His work for Christ he'd never trade,
Now Ireland was his home.

And so good Patrick lived and died,
Christ was his life, truth, way;
All Irish keep Saint Patrick's tide,

FATHER AND SON received a traditional Hawaiian welcome when they arrived in Honolulu. For the Prime Minister, the honors were conferred by Acting Governor Farrant L. Turner, while Jean Paul St. Laurent received greetings of a little more romantic nature, tendered by Hawaii's poster girl, Mae Beimes. The Prime Minister stopped in Honolulu on the last stage of his journey around the world, and is expected back in Ottawa at 9:30 p.m. today.

Couple Observe 50th Anniversary

FENELLA (ENS)—Mr. and Mrs. George Harvie, of Fenella district celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on Tuesday, March 9, in the Fenella community hall. They were "At Home" to 175 friends, relatives and neighbors.

Mrs. Harvie is the former Jessie Elder, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Elder and her husband the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Harvie of Haldimand township. The couple have farmed in the district all their married life, and have one son, Enos, who resides with them.

Shirley Ferguson and Jean Elder presented tap dancing numbers and during the remainder of the evening, guests were given the opportunity to dance.

Miss Ferguson read an address conveying good wishes from the couple's relatives and Lois Carew presented them with an electric clock. A purse of money from friends and neighbors was presented by Bruce Merriot.

Mrs. Gordon Jewell read a short address conveying congratulations and good wishes from the members of the Women's Institute of which Mrs. Harvie is a life member. Mrs. W. H. Sandercock presented an electric table lamp, a gift from the Society. Some lovely baskets of daffodils were presented from Dr. and Mrs. F. Blackwell, Cobourg, and Mr. and Mrs. Love, Toronto. Roses were sent from Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Elder, Owen Sound.

Congratulations were received from Dr. F. H. Robertson, M.P., Ottawa, and the Hon. W. A Goodfellow minister of welfare, Toronto. Messages were also received from Saskatchewan, Michigan, Rochester, Hamilton, Peterborough and Cobourg.

Queen's Bills Higher For Fuel And Gas

LONDON (Reuters) — The Queen's fuel, gas, electricity and water bills will be higher this coming fiscal year — about £3,500 higher.

Government estimates today reckoned the royal fuel bills, plus unspecified "household articles," would cost the taxpayers £51,000.

An increased expenditure of £8,700 on the royal palaces to £505,000 was forecast. The Queen's personal accommodations are allowed £33,000.

Dies Five Months After Office Attack

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Margaret [illegible] She was found lying in a pool of blood Oct. 25 in the office where she worked at Chesley.

Chesley police chief Jerry Chatterlay said the woman was bleeding heavily from a head cut when she was found by her employer, T. W. Henry, a broker. It has not been determined whether she was attacked or fell.

Speed Replacement After Fire Damage

OTTAWA (CP)—The government Tuesday night introduced a bill to speed replacement of government property [illegible] by fire.

William Benedickson (L—Kenora Rainy River), parliamentary assistant to Finance Minister Abbott, said under the measure a $3,000,000 fund will be established from which money can be used for the replacements which are required "urgently and immediately."

At present, property lost, destroyed or damaged by fire can be replaced only through parliamentary votes or by special votes of the finance department. In some cases, there might be delays of 12 months, pending parliamentary approval for the replacements.

Gagnon Retires After 30 Years As Quebec Newspaper Director

QUEBEC (CP) — Retirement of [illegible] director of the board of the company publishing the daily newspapers Le Soleil and L'Evenement-Journal, was announced today.

The announcement was made by Le Soleil Ltee. in a front-page statement tracing highlights in the career of one of Canada's most prominent publishing executives who was associated with the founders of The Canadian Press, Canada's national news-gathering co-operative.

The brief statement said:

"The newspaper Le Soleil announces retirement after 41 years of service of its director-general at a time when newspapers in Quebec [illegible] Gagnon was on the board of directors for 30 years and held the posts of president and vice-president.

EX-CP PRESIDENT

"He is a former president of The Canadian Press of which he is honorary life member and a former president of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association.

"Before entering Le Soleil in 1913, Mr. Gagnon directed La Tribune of Sherbrooke. He had earlier entered newspaper work at La Presse of Montreal."

The 70-year-old Montreal-born newspaper executive, distinguished by thick white hair, his dark clothes and cane, was associated throughout most of his career with Senator Jacob Nicol, owner and publisher of La Tribune who purchased controlling interests in Le Soleil in 1929.

Appointed manager of Le Soleil [illegible] became the confidant and friend of Quebec Liberal premiers Sir Lomer Gouin, Alexandre Taschereau and Hon. Adelard Godbout, and the intimate of many federal and provincial political figures.

He quickly rose from manager of Le Soleil to the post of managing director, vice-president, director-general and president, a post he held until 1952 when he was succeeded by Col. Oscar Gilbert of Quebec who purchased control of Le Soleil from Senator Nicol in 1948.

Mr. Gagnon at that time resumed his post as vice-president while retaining the title of director-general until now.

DIRECTOR 25 YEARS

Mr. Gagnon was a director of The Canadian Press more than 25 years, retiring in 1943. He was president of the national news co-operative from 1933-35 and thereafter [illegible]

A member of [illegible] Laval University council of trustees, he was awarded an honorary degree of doctor of law in 1949. He was for 14 years honorary lieutenant-colonel of the Regiment de Levis.

During the First World War he promoted cultural relations with France and his activities were recognized by his appointment as Officier d'Academie, Officier d'Instruction Publique and Knight of the Legion by the French Government.

He was made an officer of the Legion of Honor in 1934 during a convention of the French-language press of North America on the occasion of the 400th anniversary of the landing of Jacques Cartier at Gaspe.

KEPT IN TOUCH

He is also knight commander of the Order of St. Gregory the Great, a papal honor, and commander of the English Venerable Order of St [illegible] of Jerusalem.

Although [illegible] throughout his career with leaders of state and church, he was in touch frequently with employees in the five-storey building which houses the morning daily L'Evenement-Journal and the evening Le Soleil.

Asked how he could carry on so many activities, apparently leaving himself no time for recreation, he replied:

"I get my recreation from one job by working at another."

RELIEF PROMISED

For Arthritic and Rheumatic Pain

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—Discovery of an entirely new method of relieving pain has been announced here. Science has now developed a cream that acts in a new way to bring relief from arthritic, rheumatic and muscular aches and pains. Sold under the brand name "InfraRUB", this new odourless and greaseless cream relieves these pains without the need of pills and other internal medicines.

InfraRUB does not merely set up a surface irritation but penetrates deep down into sore muscles and joints. This permits fresh oxygen-rich blood to flow freely through afflicted areas and actually helps drive away the pain-causing congestion and pressure.

Another feature of InfraRUB that appeals to so many people is its ease of application. No long and painful rubbing is necessary as InfraRUB penetrates in a few seconds and vanishes with a moment's light massage.

InfraRUB leaves no oily film or pungent objectionable odour on the skin. Users find they are able to put on clothing in complete safety immediately after application.

Written medical reports on the success of this new help for patients suffering from rheumatic and arthritic pains and general muscular aches and pains have been prepared, based on hundreds of cases in British and French hospitals. InfraRUB users claim almost immediate relief from rheumatic and arthritic pains, sore muscles and joints.

Now for the first time, InfraRUB can be obtained without a prescription from your local drug store for only $1.39. InfraRUB is guaranteed to give hours and hours of comforting relief from arthritic, rheumatic and muscular aches and pains or your money will be refunded in full.

Government To Continue Gold Assistance

OTTAWA (CP)—The government will continue emergency gold mining assistance through 1954.

However, Mines Minister Prudham told the Commons Tuesday it hopes the mines can do without federal financial assistance after Dec. 31, 1954.

"It is the government's hope that this extension will enable the gold mines to continue their operations so that eventually they may be able to carry on without this emergency assistance," he said. "It has always been the government's intention that this assistance should be only of a temporary nature."

Mr. Prudham introduced legislation to continue operations of the Emergency Gold Mining Assistance Act through 1954. The act provides financial assistance to the mines under a complicated formula to offset high costs of production.

Mr. Prudham estimated that emergency assistance would cost the taxpayers about $15,000,000 for 1953. Payments for the first nine months of the year totalled $8,257,112, and the total paid since the plan was inaugurated amounted to $61,362,672.

During the last few years gold mines had been squeezed between rising production costs and the mint's price for gold fixed at $35 an ounce in U.S. funds. They also had been adversely affected by the increased value of the Canadian dollar in terms of the American dollar.

The legislation would help the mines plan their operations for 1954 with a greater degree of certainty.

The Progressive Conservative, CCF and Social Credit parties supported the measure.

Rodney Adamson (PC — York West) urged a return to the gold standard, stating this would result in an increased price for gold. However, Social Credit leader Solon Low said Canada's economy is not suited to a gold standard monetary system.

INVESTIGATION URGED

Joseph W. Noseworthy (CCF—York South) urged the government to establish a committee or a commission to investigate the gold mining industry and recommend measures to improve its position in the economy.

"The gold mine strike may be over," he said. "The trouble is not over. Unless some serious steps are taken to improve the position of the workers we will have a repetition of the trouble experienced this winter."

Mr. Prudham said the legislation will help the gold mining industry to plan their operations for 1954 with a greater degree of certainty.

A mine selling on the open market is not eligible for emergency assistance. Only one mine had elected to sell on the open market in 1954 compared with five in 1953, and 13 in 1952. A total of 56 mines applied for assistance in 1953.

Mr. Prudham said emergency assistance to mines for the first nine months of 1953 totalled $8,257,112, and that payments for the year would amount to about $15,000,000. The total paid under the act amounted to $61,362,672.

Mr. Adamson said Canada should establish a free gold market irrespective of the attitude of the U.S.

"The same arguments that were used against the freeing of the Canadian dollar are used against the establishment of a free gold market. It was said that we could not free the Canadian dollar because of the international financiers, the U.S. bankers and the terrific size of our southern neighbor.

"We did it with the result that our currency has become, in terms of other currencies, the premier [illegible] in the world. Having the Canadian dollar, I contend that we can follow the same course in the case of gold."

Fourth Liners And Mounts Reach The Bush Loop Finals

MILLBROOK (ENS)—Faced with the elimination in the Bush [illegible] Corners' ranks were at the Fire Hall, where the first game was 11-7 for Legion No. 11 over Fire Hall No. 10 in the 9th frame and No. 11, by winning every one of the last three ends with aces, won 14-7. The second game was tied four times; then No. 11 scored a deuce to win a close one by a 9-8 score. Post Office No. 14 won the first game over Orphans No. 8 by scoring a single in the final frame to break a 7-7 tie into 8-7 win. The second game was 9-4 for No. 14 with four ends to go. And the Posties scored in all of those four frames to win 15-4.

The match between leaders and second place teams, namely Legion No. 9 and Fire Hall No. 4, resulted in a split with No. 4 winning the first 21-5 and No. 9 taking the second 19-10. Legion No. 1 defaulted to Legion No. 5 due to a mix-up on the board at the Legion. Skips please note: The board is divided into different days, so please put your reservation for a game down under the designated day.

DOUBLES DRAW

Wednesday, March 17, Doubles Draw. 7.00 p.m.—Team No. 19, (Campbell and Cain) vs. Team 31, (Hicks and Lundy); Team No. 20, (Fitzgerald and Fraser) vs Team 22, (Bromley and Metcalf) and at 8.30 p.m.—Team No. 25 (Cummings and Moyes) vs. Team No. 3, (Lord and Harrison); Team No. 24, (Pooly and Wilson) vs Team No. 9, (Honuor and Gracie).

The results of last weeks doubles were: Team No. 2 defaulted to Team No. 7; Team No. 4 won the first game 10-6, the second and the final and deciding game also went to No. 6 (McMullen and McPhee) by a 7-5 score which was won by the latter team by scoring a deuce in the last frame to break up a deadlock game. No 30 (Wilson and Steadman), coming from behind in the first game to take the last two ends, won 7-5 and then went on to eliminate No. 17 in two straight by a 7-2 score. Team No. 15 (Roberts and Joyes) eliminated No. 8 in two straight games by scores 10-5 and 7-3.

The Doubles Draw Wednesday, March 24 is at seven p.m.: Dionne and Amyotte vs Weaver and Nicholls, and Robinson and Ralston vs Pilling and Gimblett; at 8.30 p.m.: Read and McLean vs Holden and Hopgood and Starr and Findlay vs Vollans and Crough.

FIRST ROUND

President Cup Draw, first round: Lawn Boys No. 2 vs L.O.L. No. 12; Post Office No. 14 vs Legion No. 5; Fire Hall No. 10 vs Glens No. 6; Legion No. 1 vs Fire Hall No. 4; Legion No. 9 vs Red Patch No. 13; Legion No. 3 vs. Legion No. 7.

These games are to be arranged between skips and should be played on neutral grounds unless both skips agree otherwise. Games consist of eight ends. In cast of a tie at the eighth end, two extra ends will be played until a winner is declared. This is an elimination competition and team winning the first two games moves into the next round. Skips should pick a referee for their games. These games should be played at once so that second, third and final rounds may be concluded by April 30.

Apprentices Take First Of Cage Set

Apprentices downed the Orphans 45-17 at the YM last night to open their points-to-count YMCA House Basketball League semi-finals, the second game being there next Tuesday. Winner of this set goes in against Test in the loop finals.

Apprentices took a 10-3 lead in the first quarter last evening, built it up to a 15-9 margin at the half, and were leading 21-11 going into the third when they finished strong to take a 28-point lead.

Hempstead and Thompson counted 10 points each for the victors, Trimm and Kingston getting eight each, Hurle five and Ouellette four. For the Orphans, Jamieson accounted for five points, Fell, Fowler and Killen having three apiece, Walks two and Powers one.

Ex-Baseball Star George Grantham Dies

Since retiring from baseball in 1934, Grantham had been associated with a department store here. During his career as a major-leaguer he played with Chicago Cubs, Pittsburgh Pirates, Cincinnati Reds and New York Giants.

G. Doherty Leads

G. Doherty had high single of 371 and W. Boon top three of 862 in the Major Bowling League this week. Patterson led teams with 3574 and Clapper's had a single of 1303. The 7-0 wins went to Revenoors, UEW, Patterson, Clements, Hewitt and Curtis over Lock, Edwards, D & W, Sherbrooke, Wonder and E & B; the 5-2 victories were taken by Crowley, Plaza, Bartley and Clapper over Burtol, Godson, Silents and Boucher. A 4-3 split went to Selkirk against Sea-Horses.

[illegible] J. Goodson (316) 701, J. Platt 775, C. Signorotti 746, H. Tone 735, O. Taylor 714, W. Boon a 363 single, H. Roberts 721, W. Miller 820, E. Guppy 719, R. Bennett (302) 827, W. Stanbury (301) 738, G. Pagett 703, R. Mongraw 717, G. Doherty 785 and a 337 single by D. Pilling.

Fourth Liners And Mounts Reach The Bush Loop Finals

—but not ingloriously. Fourth Liners toppled Scott's Corners in the first game and the Mt. Pleasant Mountaineers came out on top in their tangle with Millbrook. This throws the perennial rivals together in the finals. Although trailing 5-1 at game's end the Highwaymen weren't outclassed by the Liners but they did turn in a rather disappointing performance. At the three-minute mark, Alberico put them in the lead with their only counter of the evening but from then on Hubbeard in an outstanding effort looked after everything tossed, or too often, slithered at him.

The Hutchison-McDowell-Walling trio kept Heen under fire and he turned in a nice game in limiting them to four goals. Agnew picked up the fifth when Fallis put him in the clear with a pass-out from behind his own net which caught the Corners defense out of position.

Penalties were faily well prinkled throughout the game and referee Perry McIntosh had Agnew, McDowell, Seabrook, Minnie and Dunn viewing the finish of the game from the penalty box. These were the principal performers in a sociable donnybrook.

Scott's Corners: Heen, Conroy, Galley, Alberico, Harris, Stevens, Seabrooke, R. Dunn, Minnie, Craig, Dawson, Little, Larockue, E. Dunn.

Fourth Line: Hubbard, Fallis, Thompson, Agnew, E. Hutchison, Walling, Friar, Olan, A. Hutchison, McDowell.

Referees — Perry McIntosh, Lindsay; Reg. Ermunds, Bethany.

MADE FINALS

Mt. Pleasant moved into the finals with a 7-4 verdict over the Brooks. It was Gary "The Comet" Carr who administered the coup de grace to Millbrook in their semi-final game. With the score tied midway through the third period Carr took charge and rammed in three goals in as neat a chapeau caper (hat trick is so dated) as seen this season. Ginn, the only member of Millbrook's high scoring line who has shown his stuff in this series in goal getting, put his teammates off to a good start on a solo effort at the three minute mark.

Armstrong the old smoothie, of the Mountaineers, got that one back four minutes later. Ginn again put his team into a short lived lead but Carr and Parker combined to notch the equalizer. Armstrong rolled in another and Fox and Carr built the lead to two goals but Smith and Handley knotted it in the third period. The show was then taken over by Carr [illegible] with Armstrong and K. Bryan assisting. Perry McIntosh and Reg. Edmunds handled both the games in fine style.

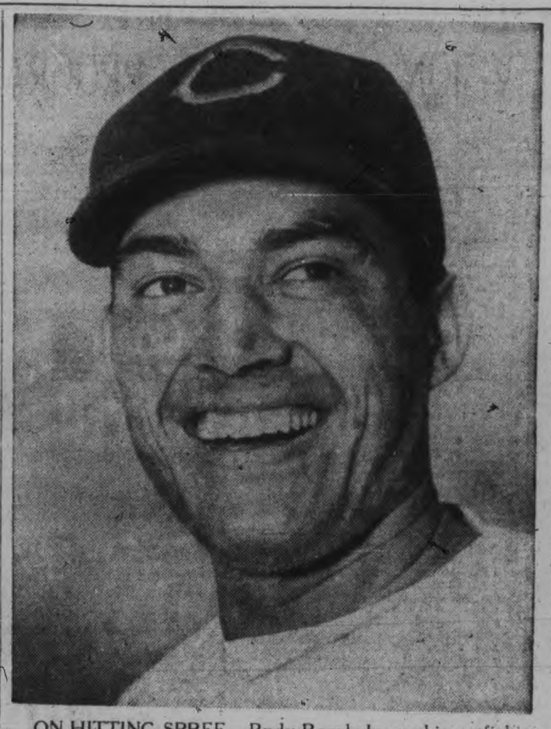
Marmora Gets OHA Series From Vandorf



MARMORA (ENS) — Marmora were victors over Vandorf at Newmarket on Tuesday evening, winning by the score of 10-7. This puts them into the next round of OHA intermediate "C" as they captured the series by four wins in a row.

The team has achieved the highest in local hockey history having won on four consecutive week nights with Sunday in between against stiff opposition. They will await with interest the news as to their next OHA intermediate "C" rivals.

City Carpetball

The schedule for the week of March 22 is: Legion No. 7 vs Fire Hall No. 4; Orphans No. 8 vs Legion No. 9; Lawn Boys No. 2 vs. L.O.L. No. 12; Red Patch No. 13 vs Legion No. 1; Fire Hall No. 10 vs Legion No. 3; Legion No. 5 vs Legion No. 11; Glens No. 6 vs Post Office No. 14.

The results of last week's play: The first game went to Legion No. 3 by a 12-7 score over Red Patch No. 13, when they captured the last three ends with singles. No. 3 were leading in the second game 9-5 but No. 13 finishing strong, won 13-9. Glens No. 6 walked away with the first game 17-4 over Lawn Boys No. 2. The second one was much closer when No. 2 emerged the winner by 15-11. At the Orange Hall, Legion No. 7 won the first from L.O.L. No. 12 by a 9-7 score. The second game was the Orangemen's all the way and they won 16-3. The closest fought battle of the week was at the Fire Hall, where the first game was 11-7 for Legion No. 11 over Fire Hall No. 10 in the 9th frame and No. 11, by winning every one of the last three ends with aces, won 14-7. The second game was tied four times; then No. 11 scored a deuce to win a close one by a 9-8 score. Post Office No. 14 won the first game over Orphans No. 8 by scoring a single in the final frame to break a 7-7 tie into 8-7 win. The second game was 9-4 for No. 14 with four ends to go. And the Posties scored in all of those four frames to win 15-4.

ON HITTING SPREE—Rudy Regalado, rookie outfielder with the Cleveland Indians, is the talk of the exhibition major league circuit these days. Up from Indianapolis, Regalado is hitting at a .590 clip and has four homers and 11 runs batted in for 22 times at bat.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

On this 17th of Ireland, the Shamrocks are indeed blooming up this way. Pat Doherty's local midget pucksters are preparing for provincial semi-finals [illegible] Civic [illegible] series, points to count, to put a team into OMHA midget "A" finals against a Toronto or a Western Ontario squad. Return joust of the semi-final windup set will find the local police-sponsored Shamrocks in the Limestone City at three this Saturday after luncheon. Pretty much the same squad won the Ontario bantam "A" finals last spirng, stepping up to a midget rating this puck semester. The local lads deserve lots of support from here in.

* * * * * *

Prexy Eddie O'Toole of the puck Petes is a pleased Irishman, too, today as his club journeys to Kingston to open senior "B" group finals against Oshawa Truckmen. Return tilt here Saturday night, the set being best-of-seven. Winner will go into Ontario semi-finals, no doubt. Yeah, Eddie and other executive members like Tom Casey, Ed Foley, Baz Phelan, Ed Riley and the rest will be rooting hard for players Bill McMaster, Jack Donlevy, Keith Montgomery, Bill Crowley Denny Peterson, Eddie O'Redmond, Ted Collins and those other Irishers on the classy crew, which of course includes some Scots, etc., all combining to ice a strong Canadian club. They'll need to be strong in this league final scramble, and that's for for sure.

* * * * * *

Leading Clubs In Final

Oshawa Truckmen led the loop at the end of the schedule and, indeed, roosted atop the heap most of the long season. They erased Kingston Goodyears four games to one in semi-finals and by convincing scores. They scored 193 goals in seasonal play to 189 by Petes and had but 171 against to Petes' 189. Standing finished with Oshawa in front by half a game over Petes, Orillia being third and K's fourth. Class told in semi-finals, the top two teams meeting in the finals. Let's trust history doesn't repeat to find Truckies nudging out the TPT-ers in the big sawoffs ahead. Oshawa will be more rested for the set but Petes might be hotter after their sizzling series just finished with the rugged Orillia Pontiacs.

* * * * * *

The Truckmen have a smooth outfit, a first-rate goalie and an experienced defence. Fast forwards on all lines who go good both ways, being an exceptionally good passing team. Seldom resort to rough stuff, but parade a lot of polish in every encounter. But the Petes, too, have class and have held their own with 'em in seasonal play. In the Oshawa lineup are such smart pucksters as Les Colvin, Harry Sinden, Don McBeth, Jerry Scott, George Samoleno, Jed Wilson, Fred Etcher, Doug Williams, Maxie Yourth, Bill Berwick, Frank Hooper, Bob Holden, Red Peters and playing coach Ernie Dickens, former pro ace. Better set Saturday night aside for the opening clash here of the group finals.

Arranging Those Dates

Manager Jim Ellis of the Petes was in touch yesterday with Wren Blair of Oshawa and they worked out the playoff schedule, if it goes the seven games. Truckmen will play all "home" games in Kingston unless the crowd falls off considerably, in which case they may work one or two later tilts in Cobourg or somewhere else. It's there tonight and back here Saturday. Petes go away next Monday, are at home Thursday and away again the following Saturday. Then back at Civic on Monday, March 29, with the final listed probably for the Limestone City on Tuesday, March 30. That's putting it out pretty late for the winner to proceed into provincial senior "B" playdowns. A skating carnival here a week Friday and Saturday necessitated some juggling for hockey dates.

[illegible] (he could be an irisher) who writes in our Weekend edition, also has a column in the Montreal Star. He had this jovial item in it the other day: "Chicago, in deference to their Black Hawk label, iced a full-blooded Indian from the Blackfeet Tribe on Saturday night. His name, Fred Sasakamoose. He's a junior from Moose Jaw. It would have been really too, too much if he'd come from nearby Saskatoon—imagine, Saskamoose from Saskatoon, Saskatchewan! For song writers, yes; for hockey writers, no. A rinkside insists that, on his first appearance (lined up with George Gee and Bill Mosienko), Doug Harvey of Canadiens yacked: 'How!' Saskamoose, dead-panned, came back: 'Me no Howe. He play for Detroit'."

Horse Races On Grass Latest U.S. Rage

By JOHN CHANDLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Horse races on grass courses, a new spectator sport, are the latest rage at major tracks in the United States.

There are several reasons for all the excitement. Shipment of horses by plane has proved safe. U.S. racegoers are seeing equine stars from overseas more than at any period in the history of the sport.

Rich U.S. turf course stakes are an attraction for the runners from other lands, but it will work the other way. Alfred Vanderbilt is talking about flying the sensational Native Dancer to England for races this year.

Foreign horses are used to racing on grass and have shown to a disadvantage when raced on dirt tracks because flying sand and stones often sting their faces.

Grass racing is not new in the United States. Hialeah at Miami revived turf racing in 1932, first since the early 1900s at the old Sheepshead Bay course in Brooklyn. Arlington and Washington Park in Chicago also have pioneered a return to the turf.

NOT A STEEPLCHASE

Now at least 14 of the greatest tracks have or are planning such races. These races are not to be confused with steeplechase races as conducted for many years at Belmont, Pimlico, Aqueduct, Delaware Park and elsewhere.

As a rule, major grass stakes are longer than the usual U.S. dirt [illegible] six furlongs, or more [illegible] quarters of a mile. The race is over in a minute and 10 or so seconds.

Most of the turf stakes are from a mile and an eighth up to a mile and a half. The crowd not only sees a race that lasts around 2½ minutes, but watches the horses pass in front of the stands a couple of times.

Such racing has its limitations. Too many races cannot be held on the turf, or the pounding of hoofs soon would ruin the courses.

WIFE'S BENEDICTION

Blessings on thee, little man—
You look like a curling fan,
With your happy smiling face,
'Neath a Tam o'Shanter's grace;
With the medals on your chest
Telling of your skill and zest,
Shouting from a throat that's hoarse
(Just a little cold, of course)
Blessings on thee, little boy!

Strong thou art—in spite of cold
Curlers must be brove and bold.
Let the others have their games—
Sports of varied breed and names—
Thou has one beyond all price,
All it needs is tons of ICE.

Hie-de-ho, the weather's freezing,
Pretty soon you'll be a-sneezing.
Oh, what games you curlers play,
With what joy you greet each day.
Health is yours, in spite of rules,
Sick or well, you curl like fools.

Morning, evening and afternoon,
Next day cannot come too soon.
Try an "inwick" then a "raise,"
Sweeping, shouting in a haze;
Watch the "Skipper," draw the port,
Wave his broom and then cavort.

Watch the "mate" pay perfect stones,
Watch him miss and hear his groans;
See how smashing shots can scatter
All the stones with din and clatter.
Play the game with smoke and shout
Every man's a darn good scout.

Every shot is "fine," well played,
Nerves are never taut or frayed.
Run and sweep and shout and roar:
That's the game—no one gets sore.
Every man's a curler brave,
Slap him on the back and rave;
Never was a sport so fine,
Everyone's a Valentine!

Arm in arm you shout and sway,
Blessings on thee, little boy!
Cheerily then, my little man,
Play as only curlers can;
Though you may not always win,
Smile, because it ain't no sin.

Every day shall lead you through
Plays that haunt and torture you;
But each night, in blankets deep,
Play them over, in your sleep.
All too soon the season goes—
(With the cold that's in your nose).

Springtime's warmth soon melts the ice,
Then the curling ain't so nice;
Dispositions ain't so good,
Nothing works just as it should.
But there's the job you still hold—
(If the business isn't sold).
Back to it and family;
Meet the wife—remember me?
Ah, that all could know such joy.
....Oh, pfui, little boy!

Open Basketball Final

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Nortown Tri-Bells and Sault Ste. Marie (Ont.) Gunners open their best-of-three Ontario senior basketball final here Friday. Second game will be played Saturday and the third, if necessary, Sunday.

It is the third time in four years that the same two teams are meeting in the final. For Paul Thomas, Tri-Bell coach, it is the fourth year in playoff competition. He was a Nortown player in the 1950-51 series. The next year he was a playing coach with Tillsonburg and last year he coached Nortowns. His team won all three series.

Irish Trample St. Catharines 5-2 With Full Line-Up

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Toronto St. Michael's College Majors had a full line-up for the first time in a month Tuesday night. Maybe that accounts for the outcome of their game with St. Catharines TeePees in St. Catharines [illegible] the fields, and [illegible] beaten [illegible] with two goals. Singles were by Jim Logan, Ed Servin and Lee Duff. Barry Cullen and Hank Ciesla counted for St. Catharines.

In Toronto the Greenshirts took the lead first. But Marlboros tied the score before the first period ended and went ahead 3-1 in the second. They counted their final goal in the last period before Kitchener wound up the game's scoring.

Paul Knox sparked the Irish attack in the TeePees in Toronto Sunday in the schedule's final game, turned the tables on St. Catharines as the playoffs started. The Collegians scored a 5-2 victory to take a 1-0 lead in the best-of-seven semi-final. Next game is in Toronto Sunday.

In the other playoff game, this one a quarter-final between Toronto Marlboros and Kitchener-Waterloo Greenshirts in Toronto, Marlboros took a 4-2 victory. The win gave the Dukes a 1-0 jump in the best-f-five set. The next game is scheduled for Kitchener Thursday.

St. Michael's, who finished fourth in the regular schedule, were in front all the way over the favored TeePees. St. Catharines, who finished first, tied the score twice before fading away.

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

The National Hockey League race is over. Next week the four surviving teams plunge into the classic of the steel blades, the battle for the Stanley Cup, and the world championship of what has come to be Canada's national game. Literally millions of people on both sides of the border will either watch, in the rinks of four cities, or on their television sets, or will listen to the radio'ed accounts of these stirring battles.

The border-line that separates the two great nations of this continent is forgotten as the Stanley Cup battles rage. Since 1914, when the Pacific Coast League included a team from Portland, Oregon, professional hockey has been international in its scope, played in the spirit of sport by good and friendly neighbors. It was in 1916 that the first professional international Stanley Cup [illegible] came east. Each of the invaders wore daily a fresh rosebud taken from a great basket. But the rosebuds weren't enough, and Montreal Canadiens, the oldest team in professional hockey, won the first international Cup series.

It was inevitable that, sooner or later, the Stanley Cup must go to the United States. And the first team south of the border to take the prized emblem out of Canada was Seattle Metropolitans, who in 1917 had won the championship of a Pacific Coast League in which, as hockey's popularity gripped the west, three Aemrican teams were competing, and only one Canadian entrant remained. Canadiens, again champions of the east, journeyed west, and lost the title. And so the Cup, for the first time, left Canada.

1919 was a year of tragedy in Stanley Cup annals. For after Canadiens and Seattle each had won two games, the series, played on the Pacific Coast, was abandoned. Practically all players on both teams were stricken with the deadly 'flu then raging, and stout-hearted Joe Hall, a star defenceman with the Habitants, died in a Seattle hospital.

That was the only unfinished series since the trophy became the prize for superiority among professional players. We spoke of the possibility of surprises. Many of these have dotted Cup history. Perhaps the most stunning of these came 16 years ago, in the spring of 1938, when the Chicago Black Hawks raced through to the title.

The Hawks, managed by Bill Stewart, only American-born pilot ever to achieve a Stanley Cup triumph, had finished sixth in the points standing of an 8-club league. They had scored the least goals of any team. Only one club had been scored on more frequently. They had won only 14 games of 48. But in the Cup series, they knocked out Canadiens and New York Americans, and in a stormy final, took three out of four from Toronto Leafs.

That's the drama of the Cup finals—the chance that the underdog will suddenly show his teeth.

Wings Take Slump Bow 4-2 To Boston Bruins

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Are Detroit Red Wings dying? Will it be the same as last year? Those were a couple of questions being kicked around the National Hockey League today after the Detroiters, one of the greatest teams in big-league history, dropped a 4-2 loss to Boston Bruins Tuesday night.

The Red Wing loss, in itself, wasn't too bad. But the fact that it was their third straight defeat, something that hadn't happened all season, gave indications they could end up in the Stanley Cup discards like last year when the Bruins beat them in the semi-finals.

The loss also put the skids on goalkeeper Terry Sawchuk's bid for his third straight Vezina trophy.

The Bruins made sure of a play-off berth and left New York Rangers no hope of catching them in the stretch run. The league's 70-game schedule ends this week-end.

It was the only game of the night and the victory was Boston's fifth consecutive, equalling the longest mark of the season achieved twice by the Wings. The Bruins now have gone nine games without a defeat.

NEVER IN TROUBLE

The Bruins were never in trouble. They scored once in the first period, twice in the second and then were outscored 2-1 in the final. Centre Milt Schmidt started them in the first session with the 225th goal of his big-time career. The others were scored by Leo Labine, Johnny Peirson and Dave Creighton. Johnny Wilson and Alex Delvecchio tallied the Detroit goals.

Sawchuk now has 2 goals against him. Harry Lumley of Toronto Maple Leafs in the goaltending race. He has 122 goals against him. Each has three games to go and the trophy and $1,000 goes to the winner.

Only one game is scheduled for tonight. Montreal Canadiens, in second place with a one-point edge take on the third-place Maple Leafs at Toronto.

Announce Draw For Basketball Quarter Finals

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—The Friday night draw for quarter finals of the all-Ontario high school basketball final was announced Tuesday by Charles V. Box, secretary of the Ontario Federation of Secondary School Athletic Associations.

Winner of the two-day tourney will take home the Toronto Telegram Trophy which was won in the last three years by Niagara Falls Collegiate. It will be held in Windsor Friday and Saturday.

There will be four games in two gymnasiums Friday night. The winners will meet in two sudden-death semi-finals Saturday afternoon and the final and the consolation final will go in a doubleheader Saturday night.

SCHEDULE OUTLINED

Central Commerce, Toronto Secondary Schools Association champions will meet Sault Ste. Marie Collegiate, NOSSA champs, in one game Friday. Hamilton Central Collegiate, district champions, will play Windsor Patterson, WOSSA champs, in the second half of the doubleheader.

Etobicoke high school, Toronto District Secondary Schools Association champions, will meet Niagara Falls Collegiate, COSSA champions, in the first game of another doubleheader. Kingston Collegiate, EOSSA champs, will meet Windsor Kennedy, WOSSA runners-up, in the second game.

2 Skiers Home After Tourneys

OTTAWA (CP) — Skiers Anne Heggtveit and Art Tommy returned home Tuesday night after competing for the last two months in tournaments in Europe that included the world ski championships at Are, Sweden.

Anne, a petite 15-year-old who chalked up an impressive record abroad that included winning the ladies' giant slalom race at Norway's Holmenkollen ski festival, said the competition was "good experience" and that she definitely planned to continue competitive skiing.

Tommy, 19-year-old competitor who made the best Canadian showing in the world championships, said "people in Europe were very nice" and that the Canadians had made a lot of friends.

Chalk Up 29 Wins Without Single Loss

MEAFORD (CP)—The 3,500 residents of this little town on Nottawasaga bay are boasting loudly these days about their hockey team.

The Meaford Knights, an Ontario Hockey Association Intermediate A team, have chalked up 29 straight victories this season without a loss.

It is the first time in 15 years this Georgian bay district town has had an intermediate.

Manager Gord Johnston attributes the Knights' success to team spirit. He said one player had donned snowshoes and walked five miles to get to a game when roads were blocked.

Coached by Charlie Macdonald, 22-year-old former American League player, the team has four sets of brothers.

Rideau River Claims Lives Of 2 Children

OTTAWA (CP) — The Rideau river claimed the lives of two Ottawa toddlers in separate mishaps Tuesday.

A set of footprints in the melting snow told the story of what happened to Raymond Butchers, four-year-old son of Mrs. Jean Butchers. The lad walked too close to open water on an ice ledge, which gave way beneath him.

Less than a quarter-mile downstream, Ronnie Trudeau, 3, tobogganed down a slope at the river's edge. He slid across 15 feet of ice into open water.

WAITKUS WAIVED, SOLD

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP)—Philadelphia Phillies, though hard up for hitting strength and reserves, have disposed of first baseman Ed Waitkus for cash. The 33-year-old Waitkus went to Baltimore Orioles of the American League.

Bob Carpenter, Phillies' owner, closed the deal at the National Leaguers' training base with general manager Art Ehlers of the Orioles. The announcement said Waitkus was sold for more than the $10,000 waiver figure—believed to be around $13,000.

While it has been rumored for some time that the Phillies would drop either Waitkus or Earl Torgeson, the club's other first baseman, the fact that no trade was involved came as a surprise. Most baseball men believe Carpenter wanted to trade one of his first sackers for much needed infield strength or a long ball hitter.

Waitkus was tickled pink over the deal. He said: "I hate to leave the Phillies but this presents such a better opportunity. I just can't go on sitting on the bench. It upset me so badly last year that I jumped the team. At least I know I'll be able to play with the Oriole."

His career almost ended in June, 1949, when he was shot by Ruth Steinhagen, a Chicago girl, in a Chicago hotel. He didn't play the rest of that season and Miss Steinhagen later was committed to a mental home.

Waitkus made a fine comeback in 1950, hitting .284 as the Phillies won the National League pennant. In 1951, he dropped to .257, but came back to hit .289 in 1952.

BONUS BABY HURT

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Harvey Kuenn, Detroit Tigers' $55,000 bonus shortstop who was the American League's 1953 rookie of the year, suffered a badly bruised wrist Tuesday in an exhibition game.

Dr. R. A. Thompson, physician for Detroit Lions football club who happened to be on hand, made the preliminary examination and said it looked like "a bad bruise."

The speedy shortstop is expected to be out of action only a few days if there's no break.

Brigade Wives Land

SOUTHAMPTON (CP) — Sixty-seven wives and 76 children arrived today aboard the liner Sumaria from Canada and left almost immediately to join their husbands and fathers with the 1st Canadian Infantry Brigade Group, stationed in the Soest, Westphalia, area of Germany. The group is the largest yet in the program to bring dependents to the Canadian forces in Europe. Also aboard were one officer and 76 men bound for Soest as replacements.

REPLACEMENT — Jacques Plante was recalled by Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League when regular goalie Gerry McNeil was injured. Plante formerly played with the senior Montreal Royals before signing with the Canadiens more than a year ago. He was sent to Buffalo of the American Hockey League and came back to help out in the Stanley Cup series a year ago, when Canadiens won the cup. He was recalled this season when McNeil was injured. In 14 games Plante had four shutouts. His goals-against average for the 14 games was 1.54, best mark of any regular NHL goalie.—(CP Photo)

Barons Rout Hornets 8-3

CLEVELAND (CP)—Sparked by two goals each from Eddie Olson, Ed Reigle and Jack Stoddard, Cleveland Barons routed Pittsburgh Hornets 8-3 in an American Hockey League game Tuesday night to tighten their hold on third place.

The victory, fourth straight for the Barons, gave them an edge of 1½ games over Pittsburgh in the third-place tussle. The clubs meet again tonight.

Defenceman Fred Shero's 20th goal of the season began the scoring for the winners. Jackie Gordon made it 2-0 seconds later.

TORONTO (CP)—Final statistics for the 1953-54 season, released by the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A league, showed that Brian Cullen of St. Catharines TeePees won the scoring championship by 40 points.

Cullen, the 175-pound centre from Ottawa who set both a total-points record and a record for goals, played in all 59 games this year. It was his third and last season with the TeePees and he didn't miss a game in the three years. This year he scored 68 goals—three more than George Armstrong, now with Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League. Armstrong's total was later tied by Lou Jankowski, now with the NHL Chicago Black Hawks.

In addition to his 68 goals Cullen also picked up 93 assists for a total of 161 points. His linemate Hugh Barlow was second in the scoring parade with 121 points on 48 goals and 73 assists. Barry Cullen, Brian's brother and the third man on the line, was fifth with 62 goals and 45 assists for 107 points. It was Barry's first season in the league.

Bob Attersley of Guelph Biltmores was third with 116 points and Jim Robertson of Barrie Flyers was fourth with 114 points.

While the TeePees were the highest-scoring club with 328 goals, of which 178, more than half, were notched by the Cullen-Barlow-Cullen line, the second-place Toronto Marlboros were the best defensive team. Opposing snipers could score only 160 goals against the Dukes and Johnny Albani, who played 29 games for Marlboros was the league's top netminder, with an average of 2.48 goals a game scored against him.

Bob Senior, who was in the Marlboro nets for 28 games, was next best with a 2.87 goals-against average.

Find Accent On Youth For Shakespeare

STRATFORD - ON - AVON, Eng. (CP)—The Shakespeare summer season opened Tuesday night with a new "accent on youth," but the experiment drew only faint applause from British critics.

For the first time in five seasons producer Anthony Quayle has discarded sure-fire star names and is relying on promising young unknowns to draw in the crowds at the bard's birthplace.

Othello was picked as the opener.

"The experiment must be given a fair chance to justify itself," The Times' critic said. "All that can be said at the moment is that it has not made a propitious beginning."

The Daily Telegraph critic complained that the production was "lacking in music and subtlety and ended by being just good enough to miss real quality."

Other papers were equally tepid.

AVERAGE AGE 23

Quayle, nearly 40, played the title role and was the oldest member of the cast.

Players with an average age of 23 will have major roles in A Midsummer Night's Dream, Troilus and Cressida, Romeo and Juliet, and The Taming of the Shrew as well as Othello.

They will follow in the footsteps of contemporary stars like Sir John Gielgud, Diana Wynyard, Michael Redgrave and Peggy Ashcroft.

Even without a star-studded drawing card, advance reservations were up slightly from 1953.

Envoy Urging Trade Renewal

TORONTO (CP) — Ambassador Dmitri S. Chuvakhin of Russia said Tuesday night trade between Canada and the Soviet would help Canada "sell off the surplus of some commodities" and "would undoubtedly increase employment."

Addressing a meeting of the Canadian-Soviet Friendship Society he [illegible] between the two countries indicate that both sides want to restore Soviet-Canadian trade.

PATROL CORRIDORS

More than 15 RCMP and other police officers and Russian embassy staff members patrolled corridors in the hotel and kept watch from behind balcony curtains while Mr. Chuvakhin spoke.

He said Russia could buy Canadian meat, fresh butter, leather, equipment for the wood industry and electrical equipment.

"We could satisfy the Canadian demand for manganese and chrome ores, oil products, furs, matches, caviar, various wines and vodka products."

Parking Meter Take Exceeds First 2 Months Of Last Year

The city's revenues from parking meters are continuing to grow.

In the first two months of this year, motorists dropped a total of $5,040.33 in the meters on Peterborough's streets, compared with $4,703.89 during the same period last year, $4,216.78 in 1952 and $3,867.54 in 1951.

Last month's receipts were the highest for any February on record. The months' total was $2,[illegible], compared with $1,909.45 in February, 1953, $2,243.25 in 1952 and $1,734.98 in 1951.

Increased use of the city square parking lot was also indicated by a jump in last month's total receipts over February last year. Receipts last month were $1,331.89, compared with $1,044.04 in the same month last year. Since meters were first installed on the parking lot on July 21, 1951, receipts have totalled $36,706.66.

Last month was also a hard one for parking violators. Parking ticket receipts at the city clerk's office were $855 ,compared with $775 in February, 1953, $421 in 1952 and $356 in 1951. There were 293 parking tickets issued in the city square parking lot last month.

In his monthly report to city council, city clerk E. A .Outram reported total receipts of $6,986.93 in his department last month, of which $446.45 was from business licences, $195 from parking stickers, $885 from parking tickets, $110 from marriage licences, $250 room money $2,674.76 from street parking meters, $1,[illegible] city square parking meters and $1,078.08 in police court receipts.

Total fines and fees collected in police court amounted to $1,286.83, of which the city received $305.31, the provincial treasurer $302.12, the justice of the peace $140, witnesses $50, court reporter $13.75 and bail bonds $5.

There were 218 cases disposed of, with 157 convictions and 61 withdrawals. Of the total convictions, 84 were parking violations, 36 under the Highway Traffic Act and 32 under the Criminal Code.

Bride Describes Being Shot

NEWMARKET (CP)—A 17-year-old blonde bride Tuesday described in court how she was shot Oct. 17 in the kitchen of her farm house in nearby Queensville.

Mrs. Mary Ann Chapman, an expectant mother, was testifying at the preliminary hearing of an attempted murder charge against her husband, Bruce, 23.

Charges [illegible] trial [illegible] bail set at $10,000.

Mrs. Chapman, who [illegible] interpreter the German-born girl told a magistrate's court that she "heard a shot" and felt the bullet enter her right side. She said she then went outside the house in time to see her husband driving off in his truck "at a fast rate."

She said she and Mr. Chapman were married in August.

"We were always happy and never had any quarrels," she said. "I loved my husband and believed he loved me and I can't think of any reason why such a thing should happen."

HUGH L. KENNEDY, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kennedy of Peterborough who has been appointed vice-president and general manager of the all-Canadian L. E. Waterman Pen Co. Mr. Kennedy father was for six years managing editor of The Examiner.

Russ Envoy Pleased By Congratulations

TORONTO (CP) — Ambassador Dmitri S. Chuvakhin of Russia Tuesday night laughed and clapped his hands when congratulated on the Soviet's victory over Canada in the world hockey championships earlier this month.

President Dyson Carter of the Canadian-Soviet Friendship Society, which honored Mr. Chuvakhin at a banquet, said defeat of the Toronto East Yorks was "a shock to our national pride."

"I offer to you our hearty congratulations. And I am quite confident that next year the Soviet people will be congratulating our team."

Later, Mr. Chuvakhin said the Soviet people "are deeply convinced that such matches as the hockey match between Canada and the Soviet teams in Sweden contributed to the mutual understanding among the people of our two countries."

Council Hears Relief Appeal

SUDBURY (CP)—An appeal for cash relief, city-financed housing, an increase in unemployment insurance benefits [illegible] in the working period required to get insurance benefits was heard Tuesday night by city council.

The proposals were made by a delegation of 60 unemployed, led by Aldrice Leger of suburban McKim township. Only about half the delegation consisted of city residents.

The delegation represented the Sudbury and District Unemployed Association, council was told, but questions as to why and when it was formed were not answered. Leger said the president was present, but he could not speak English. Leger listed himself as secretary.

Council took no action on the delegation's requests, stating that no advance brief had been received for study. Only one member of council, controller Stan Racicot, an official of the Mine Mill and Smelter Workers Union, admitted knowing the brief was to be presented.

Four-Lane Highway Planned In Stormont

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario Highways Minister Doucett said Tuesday night that his department has tentative plans for building a 35-mile, four-lane highway through the eastern Ontario counties of Dundas, Stormont and Glengarry. He said that the highway, which would be built when the St. Lawrence power project is finished, would run beside the relocated railway tracks.

Mr. Doucett was speaking on a panel discussion on the power project. The discussion was held by the St. Patrick Riding Progressive Conservative Association.

24 Britons Dismissed

LONDON (Reuters) — Twenty-four British civil servants have been dismissed on security grounds, Richard Butler, chancellor of the exchequer, told the House of Commons Tuesday. Seventeen of them were in industrial branches and seven in non-industrial. Another 72 had been transferred to other duties.

Train Strikes Car, 2 Killed

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Elmer David Jamieson, 30, and his 16-year-old sister, Shirley, were killed Tuesday night when their auto was struck by a speeding passenger train at a level crossing at the city's eastern limits. The car was torn to pieces.

The train crew said the car did not change speed as it approached the crossing. It was struck broadside by a Canadian Pacific Railway passenger train travelling about 65 miles an hour, police said.

The dismembered bodies were tossed along the railway right-of-way. Parts of the car were spread for hundreds of feet.

Says Opposition Now Sectional Groups

PORT CREDIT (CP)—Immigration Minister Harris said Tuesday night the opposition within Parliament is breaking into sectional groups because they have failed to make a national appeal.

"We have three groups of opposition—one almost wholly representative of Ontario, another of Saskatchewan and the third of Alberta."

Mr. Harris made the statements at a meeting in support of A. J. C. O'Marra, Liberal candidate in Monday's federal by-election for Peel.

Takes Wrong Medicine Burns His Throat

LISTOWEL (CP)—John King, 80, is in hospital here today recovering from a burned throat caused by failing eyesight.

Mr. King got up in the night to take a dose of salts for his cold. He opened a tin, put 1½ teaspoons in a glass of water and drank it.

The tin contained caustic soda used for cleaning drains. He was given emergency treatment and rushed to hospital. Doctors said the general effect of the caustic soda will not be known for a few days.

First, you'll discover new and wonderful visibility. You have a clear, close-in view of the road ahead over the lower Plymouth hood. Driving is safer and much more enjoyable.

Try how easily a Plymouth handles—there's an amazing difference. Drive it around curves and feel it actually cling to the road. No outward sway—no sense of strain of "holding" your car.

You've an extra value, too, in peace of mind. Plymouth Safety Rim Wheels, exclusive with Chrysler products, afford extra protection in case of sudden tire failure, because the Safety-Rim feature holds the deflated tire on the wheel while you make a straighter, safer stop.

Then, the steering wheel is below eye-level. You look over the wheel—not through it. Plymouth Chair-High Seats let you all up comfortably so you see all round [illegible] lower seats.

The Plymouth Balanced Ride using Oriflow shock absorbers, has been widely accepted, but [illegible] eliminates pitch, roll and bounce . . . how it smooths out the roughest roads, makes pavements feel level as a table-top.

You have all-time protection of constant-speed [illegible] slow down when you climb a hill or accelerate to pass as you've seen vacuum-operated wipers do.

You have balanced braking. Plymouth has two brake cylinders in each front wheel brake where extra braking effort is required—not just one like most other cars. Cyclebond rivetless brake-linings last much longer—no rivets to score brake drums—greater surface contact area for more efficient braking effort.

To these safety features add other Plymouth values . . . outstanding Plymouth styling . . . beautiful two-tone interiors and gem-bright baked enamel body colours . . . durable Chrysler engineering that saves you money.

If you like the extra ease of Power Steering*—remember, Plymouth's Full-Time Power Steering is on the job all the time, from the moment your engine starts.

BARRACKS TOWN—This is ... of the town of Labrieville that was built within the last year to house some of the 4,000 men working on the giant Bersimis hydro project in northeastern Quebec. When the $225,000,000 project with 1,200,000 horsepower is completed in 1961, it will be second in power output only to the 1,500,000 horsepower installation at Kitimat, B.C. Workers live and eat in these barracks-like buildings within a few miles of the great dam they are building.—(CP Photo).

Quebec Wilderness Project Will Produce 1,200,000 h.p.

By BERTRAND THIBEAULT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LABRIEVILLE, Que. (CP)—The town of Labrieville has risen within a year from a nameless parcel of Quebec wilderness north of the St. Lawrence river to become the nerve centre of a vast hydro-electric project.

Where surveyors pitched their tents only a short time ago will rise a huge power plant. Scheduled for completion in 1961 at a cost of $225,000,000 the Bersimis river power project will produce 1,200,000 horsepower—second only in Canada only to the 1,500,000-horsepower project now under construction at Kitimat, B.C.

The real geographic name of the river to be harnessed, one of the most important of those flowing into the St. Lawrence from the highlands of northeastern Quebec, is Betsiamites. The people of the region, however, have named it the Bersimis because of a small stream with the same name which runs nearby. The usage has become general.

4,000 WORKERS

Started in 1952, the gigantic project 250 miles north of Quebec city employs some 4,000 men.

Machinery, building materials, all had to be shipped from Montreal, 300 miles up the St. Lawrence, to Forestville. From there it was trucked through 97 miles of bushland.

The Quebec hydro-electric commission, in charge of the project, has granted contracts to six construction companies.

At Lac Casse, or Broken lake, 12 miles west of here, almost 1,000 men are excavating for a dam 250 feet high. A hill will form the centre section of the 2,500-foot-long dam with concrete barriers stretching out like wings on either side.

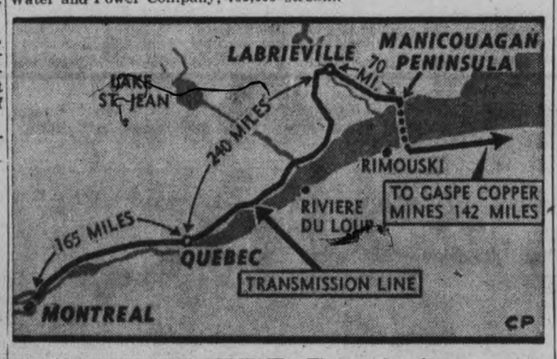
The dam will hold back an estimated 539,000,000,000 cubic feet of water and will flood 300,000 square miles of forest-covered land. Mountains will become small islands [illegible]

A pulp and paper company has undertaken to salvage as many of the trees as possible.

EIGHT-MILE TUNNEL

The dam will back water into a tunnel almost eight miles long to a subterranean power house built under a mountain. Some 1,600 feet of the 31-foot-wide tunnel have already been dug. Work on the tunnel is expected to be complete in 1955.

When the power plant is in operation, the electricity will be divided in three ways. Some 400,000 horsepower will be sold to Shawinigan Water and Power Company, 700,000 will go to Montreal and 100,000 to the copper mines in the Gaspe peninsula.



Gaspe's power will be carried to Manicouagan peninsula, 85 miles southeast of here. From a transformer station on the north shore of the St. Lawrence it will be carried under the river in a cable 21 miles long to Les Boules, 40 miles east of Rimouski. Another 154 miles of transmission line will carry it to Murdochville in Gaspe.

WORK NIGHT AND DAY

[illegible] on to two 10-hour shifts. At the Lac Casse excavation, work is in three eight-hour shifts. Night work goes on under powerful outdoor lights.

Mechanical drills and explosives are the main tools for excavating rock and soil from the tunnel. Four 2,500-pound charges of dynamite are fired daily and men are evacuated from the tunnel a half-hour before each blast.

When completed, 6,000,000 cubic yards of rock will have been moved, an entire mountain practically levelled and a raging torrent will have been turned into a gentle stream.

HYDRO DEVELOPMENT—Thousands of construction men are working in the wilds of northeastern Quebec to harness the Bersimis river. When their work is finished, Quebec will have the second largest hydro installation in Canada. This map shows how power from the Bersimis development will be carried to Montreal's industrial area and across the St. Lawrence river to the copper mines of Gaspe. —(CP Photo).

Average Irishman Weds at 40 Can't Afford to Marry Earlier

By MILTON MARMOR

DUBLIN (AP) — St. Patrick's Day, 1954, finds the Republic of Ireland at a crossroads.

The government of Prime Minister Eamon de Valera wants to change the historic forces which for 100 years have bled the land of its youth. It wants to modernize and industrialize the "ould sod."

In 1841 there were 5,111,000 people in Ireland. By 1901 the population had shrunk to 3,221,000. Now there is 2,960,000 in the Republic of Ireland.

In the last five years, while the population increased slightly, 120,000 Irish emigrated. Why?

Rightly or wrongly, large numbers of Irish consider life hard. They seek in other lands more comforts, more luxuries, more opportunities and a future free of the gnawing fear of unemployment.

And they seek an earlier chance to marry. Ireland is unique in the world in late marriages. The average man weds at 40; the woman at 29. They can't afford to marry earlier. More than one out of four Irish women never find a husband —even though Ireland is a country with the rare proportion of more men than women.

CAUSE IS ECONOMIC

The reason Ireland, a country of large families, became a land of bachelors and old maids is basically economic. On the farm, the custom is for the eldest son to get the property. Younger sons and daughters must leave if they intend to wed. Two-thirds of the farms cover 30 acres or less and there is no room for another family on the small holdings.

So they go to the cities. There, industries are not yet developed enough to absorb the influx. The next step is to emigrate.

The government's answer is a campaign to develop an export market and to bring in capital investment for new or enlarged industries. Another proposed solution is to electrify the farmlands to make the countryside modern, and life less rugged.

Drive out past Dublin airport. Overhead, the newest of passenger airliners of the turboprop class, the Viscount, is coming in for a practice landing. It will go on regular passenger service next month for Irish Air Lines (Aer Lingus).

The four-engine plane swoops low over the granite, thatched-roof farmhouse where the Carberry family has lived for at least 300 years. Here, on about 70 acres, the Carberrys keep cattle and sheep and do some tillage.

Monica Carberry, a widowed mother of six, shyly welcomes strangers inside her two-storey home. A few months ago electricity reached Mrs. Carberry's home.

"It's a marvelous improvement," she said simply. "We seemed to have been left out of it. It was a case of a bit of a job to get them (the government) to do it, I think."

Ireland eats well. The per capita calory intake ranks sixth in the world. The meat consumption per capita is fourth after the United States, Canada and France.

The government is working hard to do something about housing. New projects are going up around Dublin.

Premier de Valera's deputy, Sean Lemass, is pushing the industrialization drive. Lemass is viewed by some observers as a realistic leader who looks forward instead of backward at Irish history.

In a half-hour interview he did not once mention partition, perhaps the most popular conversation piece in the republic. As everyone must know, Ireland wants the six northern counties which are now part of the United Kingdom. They are the industrial areas of which Belfast is the capital.

Lemass said, "Our economy is sound but it is sound at too low a level . . . There is no denying our unemployment situation is serious.

"We are at the industrial crossroads. The crisis point has been reached. We must begin to break out of the home market and get [illegible] sales.

The immediate hope to crash the dollar market, says Lemass, is the development of specialty products. An example, small at the moment, is the air shipment by a Dublin fishery of Dublin bay prawns to smart restaurants in New York and Paris.

It is not a matter of days or years before the results will show, Lemass feels. "It will take a generation."

COLD MUTTON—These shepherds from New Cumnock, Scotland, have lost their sheep, but they differ from little Bo-Peep, as they know where to find them. During a recent blizzard, the sheep were lost under a snow drift. One shepherd burrows his way into the snow to reach the sheep, while his companion holds his legs. They found the sheep half frozen, but still alive.

Rule Leslie Won't Get $8,000 Interest From Will

TORONTO (CP) — Lt.-Col. Edward Murray Dalziel McNaughton, 32, who changed his family name to Leslie to qualify as a beneficiary under his aunt's will, will not get the interest of about $8,000 which accumulated before a trust fund was set up.

Chief Justice J. C. McRuer, asked to interpret the will of the late Ann Gertrude St. John Leslie of Kingston, also ruled that Mrs. Leslie's Cadillac limousine was not included in property willed to the [illegible]

Leslie, a son of Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, Second World War Canadian Army commander and now chairman of the Canadian section of the International Joint Commission, changed his name last April 27.

Mrs. Leslie, who died May 19, 1952, willed the income on $250,000 and her family home at Kingston to Col. Leslie providing he would perpetuate the Leslie name.

Chief Justice McRuer said interest did not accumulate in Col. Leslie's favor pending fulfilment of the condition. The trust fund was not set up by the trustees until the name was changed.

DISTRIBUTE RESIDUE

The chief justice also ruled that accumulated income of any amount left after $10,000 legacies are provided for the Kingston General Hospital and Hotel Dieu Hospital, Kingston, will be divided among [illegible]

If there is not sufficient residue, what is left will be divided in equal proportions between the two hospitals, Chief Justice McRuer said.

The main residual beneficiaries are: Mrs. Leslie McNaughton Sykes and Mrs. Christina McNaughton McDougall, both of Rockcliffe Park, Ottawa; Capt. Leslie Addington, Colne, Wiltshire, England, and Capt. G. L. Cooper, Sudbury, Suffolk, England.

Ask Lawson Hold Inquest

TORONTO (CP) — Dr. Smirle Lawson, chief coroner for Ontario Tuesday was ordered to take charge of an inquest into the death of Mrs. Harold Knox, 22-year-old mother of three children who died in the Port Colborne hospital March 8.

Orders for Dr. Lawson to take charge of the inquest were issued by the attorney-general's department.

Mrs. Knox died while receiving a blood transfusion at the hospital following the birth of her third child the day before.

NO INQUEST DECIDED

Mrs. Knox was under the care of Dr. E. A. Mackenzie, Jr. His father, coroner Dr. E. A. Mackenzie, Sr., had previously decided that no inquest would be necessary but one was later ordered by T. F. Forestell, Welland county crown attorney.

The inquest was to be conducted by Dr. Grant N. Black but Tuesday the attorney general's department ordered Dr. Lawson to preside.

Urge Legislature To Enforce Oleo Regulations

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Prince Edward Island's Liberal government was told Tuesday that it should either enforce regulations prohibiting sale of margarine or permit sale and manufacture of the butter substitute in the province.

Harvey Douglas, a Liberal, said some of the raw materials used in the manufacture of margarine would be supplied within the province, where the main industry is agriculture.

In Alberta, Premier E. C. Manning said a greater percentage of provincial towns have water and sewer systems than have towns in "old established" provinces such as Ontario and Quebec.

The premier charged the opposition was "misleading and inaccurate" in criticism of the Social Credit government's treatment of municipalities.

Mines Minister M. A. Patterson of Nova Scotia told the legislature that the province's coal industry is in "critical condition."

PRODUCTION DECLINE

Mr. Patterson reported a production drop of 117,000 tons for 1953 and urged a "firm federal coal policy" to help the industry.

Premier D. L. Campbell told the Manitoba legislature he had "no doubt at all" that expenditures earmarked for hydro-electric power development will assure industries intending to settle in the province a "firm power load."

He made the statement while the legislature was considering capital supply estimates for the Manitoba power commission and the Manitoba hydro-electric board.

OLDEST WOMAN TO FLY—Teodolina Fornari of Milan, made her last wish in life and that was to fly. The Reggio aero club obliged and an ambulance was hired to bring the bedridden old woman from the poor house where she lives to the airport, she is pictured being lifted into the plane. After the flight Mrs. Fornari said "sorry if wasn't one of those jets." (Federal Newsphoto)

Paramount Duty Of Women In Home—Queen

BRISBANE, Australia (CP)—Woman's paramount duty always will be "in the home" the Queen told representatives of women's organizations at the City Hall here today.

The Queen said: "To an ever-increasing degree since the war, and no doubt because of it, the influence of women is being extended beyond the home.

"This is right because there is a great deal that women can do in many spheres of public life, not only in the arts and in medicine and in education, but also in commerce and in the business of government.

"Indeed I do not think that there is any field of human activity in which the influence of woman cannot be joined profitably to man, for the two are complementary and together create a balanced attitude to life and its problems.

PARAMOUNT DUTY

"But woman's paramount duty will always be in the home and towards the family where virtues that make for human welfare and happiness have their origin.

"It is there that women are not only most useful but also find their truest fulfilment."

The Queen asked that 160 bouquets of tropical flowers presented to her by women's organizations here should go to hospitals in Brisbane.

More than 2,500 women crowded the City Hall to hear the Queen speak.

Big Appetites

MINEHEAD, Eng. (CP)—Nora Heals, secretary of the publicity association in this Somerset town, warned hotels and boarding houses that when rationing ends in Britain this summer visitors "will expect unstinted food and a wide choice in menus."

Conservatives May Drop 'Progressive'

OTTAWA (CP)—It's the Conservative party, Opposition Leader George Drew said Tuesday night. The party adopted the designation "Progdessive Conservative" in 1942 at the insistence of John Bracken, former Manitoba coalition premier, gave way to Mr. Drew in 1948.

For a year or more, Mr. Drew and other party spokesmen have been talking of their group as the "Conservatives." But there had been no official change in the party tag.

Tuesday night, in an address prepared for delivery at a banquet of the party's national association, Mr. Drew made a statement on the name. And in his text the word "progressive" always carried a small "p."

CHANGE MOOTED

Several proposals to drop the word "progressive" from the title have been made by constituency associations and the question may be discussed today at the party's annual meeting. If the meeting accepts the proposals, its decision would go as a recommendation to the newly elected executive. A top party official said such a decision probably would be adopted officially.

Mr. Drew's text read:

"There has been some discussion about the name of our party. It now is 100 years since Sir John Macdonald said that there should be formed in Canada a progressive Conservative party. As long ago as 1854, the founder of our present party emphasized the progressive aspect of true Conservative principles.

"For long years, it was officially known as the Liberal-Conservative party. I seldom heard any speaker on the platform describe it by that double-barrelled name. The correct name of the party in Britain is the Unionist and Conservative party. I have never heard any speaker describe it by that double-barrelled name there.

"Our party is the Conservative party. It is progressive. It is liberal in the best meaning of that word. It is democratic. . . ."

ALWAYS CONSERVATIVE

In the body of his 3,000-word speech, Mr. Drew referred 15 times to his party in various ways. He invariably called it "Conservative."

In delivering his speech, Mr. Drew added that Sir John had written that the name should be the progressive Conservative party but the name was not then officially adopted.

"Whatever the official name may be, the name of our party is the Conservative party. . . the name Conservative is a good name in every way."

Used Picket Law End Romantic Aims

TORONTO (CP)—A section of the Criminal Code normally used for dealing with strike pickets, was used Tuesday to end the romantic aims of a 19-year-old Toronto girl.

Police said that for two years she had forced her attentions on Vitelli until it began to have "a general effect on his life."

But Tuesday Barbara promised that she would not bother Frank any more.

And she was put on probation for a year to leave him strictly alone.

OBITUARY

RALPH G. KILBON

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—Word has been received in the village of the death of Ralph G. Kilbon, formerly of Lakefield and Bailieboro, who died on Friday, March 12, at the residence of his sister, Mrs. William Wood, Neshanic Station, N.J., after an attack of coronary thrombosis. Mr. Kilbon was 61.

Born at Melrose, Mass., he graduated from the college now know as the University of Massachusetts, as a civil engineer. In 1937 he came to Lakefield from New York city to take an active part in the original development of the nepheline syenite deposit at Blue Mountain. In 1947 he retired and moved to Bailieboro. In recent years he has made his home with his sister in New Jersey.

Park St. Church To Hold Musicale

The choir of Park Street Baptist church is holding a Musicale in the church auditorium next Wednesday evening, and Adam Hawley, their director, has arranged a program of high calibre. Guest musicians will be Dorothy Goldie soprano; Hester Carson, contralto and Charles Allen, organist. Of special interest will be the trios of Mrs. Goldie, Mrs. Carson, and Mr. Hawley, bass. The trio music is both secular and sacred.

Park Street choir opens the program with a group of three anthems, one Bach, two Handel, and sings another group midway (Stainer and Handel) and closes with three secular choruses—an arrangement of Sibelius' 'Finlandia', a work by Sir Edward Elgar, and "Come Loyal Hearts" by the Canadian church composer Whitehead.

Charles Allen is accompanying and also playing an organ group.

Duets and Solos by Mrs. Goldie and Mrs. Carson make up other groups in this imposing program.

The public is invited.

Found Not Guilty Of Two Charges

Defence counsel Trevor Clarke won a motion for dismissal of a dangerous driving charge against his client, Thomas R. Sedgwick of Burleigh Falls. A second charge of careless driving was dismissed by magistrate W. R. Philp after defence presented evidence.

Both charges were laid by the Ontario Provincial Police as a result of an accident on Highway 28 near the drive-in theatre on January 30. In the accident the driver of one of the cars involved, an undertaker from Lakefield, Donald Hendren, suffered injuries to his leg and still

At worst, said Mr. Clarke, his client was guilty of nothing worse than applying his brakes when this might have not been the wisest thing to do. When Sedgewick applied his brakes in a blinding snow-squall in an atempt to avoid hitting a slowing car in front of him, he skidded to the left and headed for the west ditch.

"Why should we have to present a defence when they haven't even made out a charge." This was Mr. Clarke's retort to Crown Attorney Bradshaw's suggestion that the court is entitled to draw "reasonable inferences" from the fact that Sedgewick was on the wrong side of the road.

The careless driving charge was dismissed after both Sedgewick and his wife testified that the car in front of them, driven by Jules Windover car when they entered the in the accident was "either stopped or almost stopped."

Both testified that visibility was poor, that they lost sight of the Winover car when they entered the snow-squall, and saw him again only when they were almost on top of him.

Skidding into the wrong side of the highway Sedgewick, heading north, was in collision with a southbound car driven by Donald Hendren. Hendren then headed for his wrong side and was in collision with another northbound car driven by Lt.-Col. Leonard Ritza of Hamilton.

Norm Wood led this week in the Peterborough Archery Club scoring with 422 points of a possible 540. He was followed by: Walter Wood with 392 points, Orville Grant 386, Rolly Brier 360, Marj. Dollack 337, Mrs. N. Wood 336, Herb Pullyblank 315, Mrs. O. Grant 310 and Warren Taylor 300.

ATTEND CONFERENCE

Delegates from the Children's Aid Society will be attending the International Conference of Social Work in Toronto this June. This is the first time this conference has been held in Canada; last year it was in Madras, India. It will be [illegible] nadian Conference, to which the society also hopes to send delegates.

CORONATION SCHOOL HELPS

During the Penny-a-Day drive in the city schools the pupils of Coronation public school on the Warsaw Rd. in Douro township were not officially asked to take part. However, the pupils held their own canvass and turned in to the Red Cross and Community Fund on Tuesday $7.60 thus bringing the total for the drive to $772.60.

TWO CHIMNEY FIRES

Two chimney fire calls and a false alarm were answered Tuesday afternoon by the fire department. The first chimney fire was at 12:36 p.m. at William Hewitt's home, 698 McKellar St., where one handpump was used. The second was 2:14 p.m. at Frank Millard's home, 718 Cameron St., where two handpumps were used. Then at 3:50 p.m. somebody pulled the fire alarm box at Simcoe and Queen Sts., apparently for a prank.

AIRSTRIP PLEASES PILOT

American pilot Clair Wertz, of Clinton Machine Company, landed and took off from Skyboro airstrip when he landed officials in Peterborough to do business with resident company manager Ralph Weekes. Flying a Beechcraft four-place ship between company plants in Clinton, Mich., and Maquoketa, Iowa, Wertz hopes to make Peterborough a regular airstop. Officials with the plane said that their company might soon purchase a light twin-engine plane to service the Peterborough warehouse with parts by air.

EVENING FOR PARENTS

The 1954 annual meeting of the Children's Aid Society will be built around the society's foster-parents, the board of directors decided Tuesday. Instead of the regular dinner evening, there will be an evening meeting designed to make foster-parents feel more a part of the Society. More changes in the Society's functions and policies are expected when a report is received from T. T. Rodger, chairman of a committee to probe the Society's present policies and make recommendations, if needed, for new ones.

INCREASING BIRTH RATE

Peterborough's birth rate showed an increase over the death rate last month, compared with February a year ago; but the figures show a higher total of deaths so far this year than during the same period in 1953. There were 156 births and 40 deaths last month, compared with 122 births and 45 deaths in February, 1953. Totals to the end of February show 289 births and 96 deaths so far this year, compared with 276 births and 86 deaths during the same period in [illegible]

Rebuilt Plant Produces First Boat

Back In Production Just Eleven Months After Lakefield Fire

Almost 11 months to the day following the disastrous fire of the Lakefield Boat Company on the night of April 14, 1953, the company, in a brand-new plant, rolled the first boat model off their production lines on Tuesday.

The new factory building was erected after rubble of the old fire had been cleared away. Insurance claims from the loss of the old plant provided most of the money. However, to buy further equipment and establish a working reserve of capital, a $50,000 bond issue is soon to be launched in the district. It will be steered by the village industrial committee which has set May 31 as deadline for sales.

The new building is L-shaped. The main plant facing Queen St., measures 142 by 64 feet and the paint shop adjoining it at right-angles is 25 feet by 130 feet. The latter meets the old hockey rink which the company acquired some years ago for storage purposes and which was not destroyed in last year's fire. The boiler house is a separate building within the factory yard and a main-floor showroom with offices above flank the Queen St. side.

USED SMALLER PLANT

Boat production which has been carried on under great difficulty [illegible] the railway station has been employing [illegible] These men have now moved into the new plant and management says they hope to increase their numbers within a few months to 40. Some former employees will be taken back and new apprentices employed.

President and general manager of the new plant will be Paul Richer with his brother, Dorius, as secretary and works manager. Miss Madeline Allen of Lakefield is a director and another director will be appointed by the bondholders. The Richer brothers are buying control of the company from Mrs. R. T. Bell, widow of the founder of the original company. Paul Richer said that plans call for the manufacture of 25 types of boats and production, according to their sizes, will be from 30 to 50 units a week.

New Legislation To Help Children

Re-organization of child laws in Ontario, and the merger of the three statutes under which the Children's Aid Society of Peterborough operates, should prove of great benefit to all children, Miss Rachael A. D. Young, told a meeting of the Society at City Hall Tuesday.

Miss Young was particularly interested in legislation charging a criminal offence when money illegally changes hands in adoption of babies. Previously, those engaged in the baby-adoption racket could only be charged with falsification of birth records. A fine of up to $2,000 or three years in prison will now follow conviction on the new charge.

Miss Young also commented on reduction of the wardship age from 21 to 18, and new legislation which will make it a criminal offence to leave children under 10 unattended for an unreasonable period of time. The inattention charge will carry with it a fine of $100 for the first offense and $200 or two years for subsequent offences.

MONTHLY REPORT

Reporting on the February work of the society, Miss Young said that there were, on Feb. 28, seven children in the children's home, 74 in boarding homes, 13 in free or wage homes, 54 placed for adoption and nine others. Some of the others are in the St. Vincent's Orphanage but wards of the Society.

Four children made wards during the month, were placed in foster homes. In one case, seven [illegible] required to place the [illegible] homes, to h[illegible] these ready and wait[illegible] is, however, usually no su[illegible]

Drive May Fail To Raise Needed $100,000

Although executives are adopting a hopeful attitude, receipts so far in the Red Cross and Community Chest drive indicate that Peterborough's contributions this year are going to fall far short of expectations.

At noon today total receipts were $59,664.37. The fund hopes to raise $100,000 by Friday, and although many cards have not been returned yet, it is highly probable that city organizations will have to be content with a smaller financial budget this year.

Special names: $15,650; industrial, $31,310.070; retail, $7,232.42; women's $4,698.65; penny collections, $772.60.

At the same time during the campaign last year Peterborough donations totalled $71,869.39. Last year the total objective was $90,000. The chances of getting even the same amount this year are doubtful.

Blazing Carbide Threatens Plant

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—A small fire, believed to have been set by schoolchildren, was brought under control at 4 p.m. on Tuesday when a large can of carbide was found burning beside the alfalfa-processing plant owned by Eimer Aldred on Concession St.

Some schoolchildren reported the burning carbide to Frank Pearson of Ermatinger St., who rushed to the scene and kicked the can from the doorless building. Not knowing the nature of the smouldering material, he tried to put it out with water and snow which just made the carbide blaze more. The fire department was called and put out the burning material with a foamite solution. Its timely arrival and fighting tactics saved the plant from destruction.

Buy Canadian Goods, Help Unemployment—Bengough

The Canadian public should insist that Canadian industries buy Canadian-made goods and give preference to other Canadian firms when awarding business contracts.

That's one way to help solve [illegible] this country, Percy Bengough, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, told a meeting of the Peterborough Personnel Association on Tuesday night.

Mr. Bengough is a tall, heavily-built man who was born in England and still has a slight accent. He has been in the trade union movement for 47 years and he has been president of 585,000-member TLC—the largest trade union group in Canada—since 1943.

He is on a two-day visit to Peterborough. Tuesday night he spoke at the Kawartha Club to an audience of more than 80 members of the Peterborough Personnel Association and other business executives interested in labor-management problems. Tonight he will speak to an audience of AFL unionists at the Empress Hotel.

The TLC leader spoke for more than an hour without notes. Afterwards the audience were formed into groups of six or eight and thought up questions for him to answer.

SEVERAL TOPICS

His address was "The aims of Canada's Trade Unionists" and he dealt at varying length with a wide range of topics—including the history of the TLC, Canada's economy, and the attitude of the TLC toward Communism.

But the theme that persisted through his address was: what can be done about unemployment. He suggested changes in legislation that would have to be undertaken by the federal government, and also changes in business practices and thinking.

From time to time, after posing a difficult question, he said: "I don't know the answers. I'd like to hear what you fellows think."

He said he had recently sparked off a controversy by saying there were more than 500,000 unemployed in Canada. Government officials replied with statistics of their own, halving this figure.

"I only wish I'd been wrong," was his wry comment.

As a preliminary to eliminating unemployment he suggested the government find out why there is a lack of jobs. It isn't just a seasonal matter. Last year good weather persisted until late in the fall but layoffs went on in the building trades just the same.

FULL EMPLOYMENT

To maintain their standard of living Canadians must have full employment—keeping their mines and mills humming to produce goods for both the domestic and foreign markets. But what can Canadians do when faced w[illegible] can put a pair of shoes on the market in Canada for 48 cents, almost as good as the Canadian manufacturer can do for $2.25.

Children's Aid Get More Staff

The personnel committee of the Children's Aid Society has been given power to act in adding to the staff of hard-pressed society superintendent Miss Rachael A. D. Young. One and possibly more social workers will be added to the staff of four this year.

Next addition to the Children's Aid Society staff will be Miss Mary Elizabeth Bark, a physical and occupational therapy graduate from Toronto. Miss Bark, who has a brother practising law in this city, is expected to join the staff in April.

Although the superintendents of most children's aid societies are able to concentrate on the supervisory aspects of their chores, Miss Young told a society meeting at City Hall Tuesday, that she was carrying an average case load of 50. The ideal, said Miss Young, is 35 to 40 cases per worker, with the supervisor as free as possible for other duties.

HIGH TURNOVER

Since there are more social service jobs than there are workers, the turnover at the Peterborough Children's Aid is high. Miss Young must spend much of her time breaking in one new worker after another. The society felt that this problem might be partially relieved if there were enough staff so that one resignation would not dislocate the organization.

Answering a question from the floor Miss Young said that it would be easier to train two new workers at the same time, rather than two or more separately. This is because some aspects of social work can be learned in groups.

3,300 Owners Of Cars Walk?

There are going to be quite a number of pedestrians around Peterborough in the next few days. A total of 3,300 car owners have not yet made their duty call at the chamber of commerce office to renew their registrations and today, at least at midnight tonight, is the last occasion on which blue plates may adorn the cars.

So if you have not got a pair of those new white ones then "Shank's Mare" is going to be [illegible] squash.

Loblaw Fire Loss Estimated At $412,000

Fire Chief Sid Sorrie's official estimate of the total loss in the February 11 fire which destroyed the Loblaw building on George St. is $412,000.

Estimated loss of the building was $212,000. Loss of contents of the Loblaw supermarket was estimated at $180,000, contents of the Superior Propane store at $20,000, and of the Western tire and Auto store at $12,000.

This was by far the bulk of the total fire loss during February. The fire department answered 38 alarms last month, of which four were actual fires resulting in material damage to property.

VOLUNTEERS DRILL

In his monthly report to city council, Chief Sorrie reported that drills and lectures were carried out at the central station, two drills held for volunteers at the Bellevue St. station, and four civil defence lectures given.

There were 761 fire inspections carried out during the month, four by Chief Sorrie and 757 by inspectors, including 30 re-inspections.

Fire prevention films were shown by Inspector Vic Barrie to the CGE Industrial Accident Association, the civil defence fire auxiliary, and the J. K. Hughes Ltd. employees. The last-mentioned were also given a talk and demonstration of fire extinguishers.

DIES IN HOSPITAL—Herbert J. McCannan for many years real estate manager in Peterborough and prominent citizen in civic and church affairs who died in hospital today in his 75th year.

No Ban In Peterborough

Newer Drugs Have Replaced Most Uses Of Boracic Acid

The seemingly sudden alarm spreading through the North American continent regarding the use of boracic acid, has evidently not caused Peterborough's two hospitals to ban its use, as has been the case in many other medical institutions.

Newspaper reports in both the United States and Canada have drawn an alarming picture with statements by medical authorities attributing many child deaths to ignorant use of boracic acid in children's and maternity wards. These statements have been supported by the reported fact that the acid actually has very little healing power under the illuminating evidence of recent high level tests.

Authorities at St. Joseph's and the Civic hospitals said today that the use of boracic acid had not been banned here. However, for some time doctors had been aware of doubts of its safe use. This, combined with the alternative use of newer and better drugs, had resulted in very little use of boracic acid in the wards.

Both hospitals reported no knowledge of any fatal, or otherwise, poisoning to children through boracic acid and it was felt that doctors fully realized the doubts expressed and were therefore playing safe.

Except for the last week in February, when things "got really warm," attendances have been apathetic.

T. J. Carley Attacks CGE Appeal, Grills Adamson

T. J. Carley, QC, attacked the substance of the Canadian General Electric Company's assessment appeal root and branch in the court of revision this morning.

Acting for the first time in the hearing as counsel for the city's assessment department, Mr. Carley, in the course of a gruelling and methodical cross-examination of CGE's local manager of accounting, Stanley Adamson, said the city was not trying to argue whether the methods used by the Charles Warnock Co. of Hamilton were right or not.

"If the system is wrong, that would get the appelant nowhere in this court," Mr. Carley charged. "All that they can do is appeal on the basis that their assessment was excessive."

Fred Parkinson, QC., counsel for CGE, charged that the methods used by the Warnock company were not in accordance with the requirements of the assessment act, when the hearing got under way a week ago. Today's session was the first since then.

When the hearing resumed at 10 a.m. today, Mr. Parkinson concluded his examination in chief of Mr. Adamson, who produced a bundle, two inches thick, of photostated copies of the Warnock company's work sheets. He had prepared the copies at the request of the court.

CONTAINED ERRORS

Mr. Adamson gave evidence that six of the sheets contained errors, increasing the total assessment by a total of $8,816 in four cases and decreasing it my a total of $9,340 in the two other [illegible] These errors were in addition to a major error given in evidence last week of $214,975.

"This is no part of my case," said Mr. Parkinson, when Mr. Carley questioned Mr. Adamson as to errors which had resulted in decreases of the CGE assessment.

"I hope he's not asking for the benefit of some errors without suffering the penalty of others," Mr. Carley said.

"Oh yes we are," said Mr. Parkinson.

"I'm glad to know he takes that attitude," Mr. Carley said.

"It's not part of my appeal," said the CGE counsel.

After the complete list of sheets had been gone over, Mr. Adamson said the errors were those found by a mathematical re-check of the figures.

"To check the physical dimensions would take a number of competent people probably several months. We're not prepared to do that," Mr. Adamson said.

"We're reserving that as part of our appeal," Mr. Parkinson answered. "But we are saying that the methods used were not according to the provisions of the assessment act."

Mr. Carley began his cross-examination by asking Mr. Adamson to tell the court, by means of checking the photostat copies of the Warnock company's work sheets, how many buildings had been erected by CGE since 1940, with the exception of buildings acquired from the War Assets Corp.

Mart Kenney To Headline Grandstand Acts

Canada's top dance band, Mart Kenney and his Western Gentlemen will appear as feature attraction at the Peterborough exhibition grandstand show to be held in August of this year.

Mart Kenney, with more return engagements to his credit than any other band in Canada, will appear in Peterborough as part of an extensive tour and should provide plenty of zip to this year's show. An added feature will be Conklin's midway, which has earned credit as being one of the Dominion's best.

Mart Kenney had his own band when he was 20, and although still a relatively young man, he is now considered a veteran in the entertainment world. With engagements in Canada's biggest and best tourist resorts and with many international radio networks, his band has gained continued re[illegible]

With these attractions, and an [illegible] other entertainment, the show this year should encourage record attendances.

1 Dead, 3 Hurt In Collision Of Two Cars

GUELPH (CP) — One woman was killed and three other persons injured in a two-car collision four miles east of Arthur Tuesday.

Mrs. Alvin Morrow, 34, of Tara, died in hospital here three hours after the crash.

Mrs. Eva Clements, 49, of Chesley, suffered a fractured pelvis, fractured right arm and other injuries. Her condition is not regarded as critical.

Corporal Charles Hunter of the Ontario provincial police said the dead woman was a passenger in a car driven by Mrs. Clements, which was in a broadside collision with a car driven by Thomas Robson, 25, of the RCAF station at Clinton.

Robson and his wife were thrown from their car and both suffered lacerations.

It is believed the Clements car went out of control on the slushy highway.

RCAF Schools Tour Britain

LONDON (CP)—Three Canadian schools are flying around Britain.

They are the three Lancaster bombers used for training as part of the RCAF's specialist navigation course. The huge planes, similar to those which did work horse duty for the RCAF and RAF over Europe during the war, dropped down at a British field near Shrewsbury, Shropshire, after a 12-hour, 2,500-mile flight from Somerset, P.E.I., March 7.

They are roaming Britain touring six RAF stations and the Royal aeronautical establishment at [illegible] nine students, an eight lieutenants, and their instructors, led by Wing Cmdr. Harry A. Forbes of Tatamagouche, N.S., planned to visit aircraft plants and the colonial survey office.

On March 23 they head back for Canadian via the Azores.

Near the end of April they'll take part in a nine-day navigational exercise in the Arctic to complete their nine-month course.

Fear Licence Fee To Increase Poaching

TORONTO (CP)—The Union Rod and Gun Club of Oshawa Tuesday claimed that the proposed $1 resident licence for anglers would increase poaching.

In a letter to the legislature's fish and game committee signed by Garnet Knight, the club urged that any additional revenues needed should be obtained, not from a resident licence, but from increased taxes, on pulp and paper and mining firms which derived their profits from natural resources.

No action was taken on the letter.

Make It Illegal Park Cars On Lawns

TORONTO (CP) — Legislation making it illegal for motorists to park their cars on lawns was introduced in the legislature Tuesday.

In introducing an act to amend the Petty Trespass Act, Attorney-General Porter said the legislation was designed for municipalities, such as Toronto, that receive complaints from residents living adjacent to football stadiums and ball parks whose lawns are damaged by parked cars.

Under the legislation a maximum fine of $10 would be imposed.

Visits Lodge

MARMORA (ENS) — District Deputy Grand Master, Stanley Bateman of Thomasburg officially visited Springbrook Lodge 429, IOOF, on Tuesday evening and gave an address. He was accompanied by Bro. Frank Foster, N.G., of Thomasburg Lodge, who also spoke, as did Bros. Howard Martin and Arthur Brady of Madoc.

Yoshida Tour Extensive

TOKYO (AP)—Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida plans to visit England, France, West Germany, Italy, India and the United States this year. Japan's ambassador to London, Sunichi Matsumoto, told of the plans after a visit to Yoshida's home today. He said Yoshida probably will leave in mid-May.

CORRALLED—The combined efforts of Montreal policemen and volunteers ended with the capture of this errant cow, safely blanketed and snubbed to a fence. No one knows for sure how the animal escaped from a farmer's truck while being driven to the slaughterhouse but all agree it put up a bold struggle for life and freedom. One policeman narrowly escaped being gored when the excited animal charged pursuers at one stage of the chase. Capture came swiftly, however, and the drive to the abattoir resumed.

No. 1 Commando Seeks To Clear Record Blot

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Bert (Yank) Levy, Canadian-born master of the "quick, quiet kill" who once taught Allied soldiers the art of commando warfare, asked the Pennsylvania pardon board Tuesday to remove "the [illegible] hold-up conviction 27 years ago.

Harley Rubinshon, Philadelphia lawyer who carried Levy's plea to the state pardon board, said the 57-year-old soldier of fortune is crippled by arthritis.

"Yank Levy is a penniless, helplessly crippled man who wants nothing more than to wipe out the only real blot on his record that he might live, his few remaining years in peace," Rubinshon told the board.

Levy, a native of Windsor, Ont., attracted wide attention in the 1940s as an active instructor in guerrilla tactics for both the British and United States armies. A book he wrote still is considered one of the most authoritative manuals on the subject.

Recalling that Levy fought as a free-lance in Palestine, Jordan, Mexico, Nicaragua, and Spain, Rubinshon said:

"This man never asked for decorations or medals from the countries he served so valiantly. Yank never screamed 'the world owes me a living.' Yank comes here before the board with bowed head to ask that you forgive him for his one trespass against his fellow man."

CONSIDER APPEAL

The board took the appeal for a pardon under advisement.

Levy now is confined to the Los Angeles county social worker's report stated his principal aim [illegible] a clean record.

Back in 1927 Philadelphia police arrested five men and a woman on charges that they were responsible for a series of hold-ups. Levy and the others were brought to trial. He was convicted and sentenced to a 25-to-50-year sentence. He served six years and then was deported to Canada. From there he moved to Spain and the life of a guerrilla.

On the strength of his record in Spain, the British government hired him to teach his art to members of the home guard. Then the U.S. used him as its first instructor at a school for guerrilla warfare.

Scientists Producing Special Water Pistol

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Scientists have created a "water pistol" capable of shooting a tiny stream of liquid with such speed that it can penetrate four inches of flesh.

The University of California at Los Angeles disclosed Monday that the device may some day be used to shoot medicine into internal organs and tumors.

The instrument shoots a stream at 1¾ times the speed of sound by the explosion of a nitrosoguanidine, which is detonated by a small heating element in the device.

Police Chief Welcomes Ban On Spring Knives

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto police chief John Chisholm Tuesday welcomed amendment of the Criminal Code to make spring knives illegal but regretted the government had not also banned Malayan throwing knives and sling shots.

He said that in March last year his department, with the Ontario Provincial Police and RCMP support, asked the federal customs and excise division to ban the import of the knives and sling shots from the U.S.

The customs branch did not agree, he said.

Parrot Saves Child

LENTINI, Sicily (Reuters)—The Marletta family's pet parrot got the credit today for saving the life of their daughter, Palma, who had dashed into the road in front of a truck. The parrot flew from its perch and fluttered in front of the driver's windshield, forcing him to stop only a few feet from the three-year-old child.

Eisenhower Has Chance To Ease Doubts Over Military 'New Look'

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower had a chance today to step into the lead of a Republican drive to dispel doubts expressed by Allies abroad and Democrats at home about the United States military "new look."

His opportunity, at a press conference, came just a day after the first official confirmation that the U.S. has a hydrogen bomb.

A chorus of administration voices have said the "new look" doesn't mean the U. S. has no strategy except the kind that would touch off a third world war, but instead, it can continue to meet comparatively minor threats in a variety of ways.

State Secretary Dulles, Admiral Arthur W. Radford, Senator William F. Knowland (Rep. Calif.), leader for his party in the Senate, and representative W. Sterling Cole, chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Commission, spoke out in different fields Tuesday.

Most of the criticism of the "new look" has appeared to assume that it involves putting all U.S. chips on "massive retaliation", presumably with nuclear weapons, while cutting down the size of conventional ground forces.

SEE DILEMMA

The critics ask: How can the U.S. order such retaliation against a vital Communist centre without starting a third world war? And if it has no alternate plan will it be forced in any situation to let the Communists get away with aggression, or touch off the dreaded atomic war?

Cole said on a television program that the U.S. has the hydrogen bomb and can deliver it anywhere in the world.

He added that is it a "fair assumption" that Russia, too, has the H-bomb.

Knowland told a Philadelphia audience Tuesday night that the [illegible] "alternatives" to meet any Communist move.

Dulles told a press conference that the key to the new military program lies in keeping the Communists off balance.

He said the best means to deter aggression would be a combination of local defence forces on the scene backed by the mobile power to hit back hard.

MUST WATCH STEP

Dulles said the Free World "must not put itself in a position where the only response open to it is general war."

Radford, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, undertook to justify before a Senate appropriations sub-committee the reduction in ground forces that Democrats have criticised by saying that plans are in hand to expand Allied ground forces, including those in West Germany.

The administration response took into account the assertion of L.B. Pearson, Canadian external affairs minister, that Canada and other North Atlantic Treaty Organization members would expect to be consulted before any retaliatory attacks were ordered.

Pearson said he found this statement "very reassuring."

Ask Women To End Hunger Strike

CAIRO (Reuters) — President Mohammed Naguib today urged Mrs. Doria Shafik and her "Daughters of the Nile!" to end their hunger strike for women's votes and "resort to the proper channels."

The president told reporters after a cabinet meeting: "I do not know why they are hunger-striking. Have they submitted an official demand to me and been neglected?"

"If they wish to advertise themselves let them continue their hunger strike, but if they wish to serve the feminist cause let them call off the strike and resort to the proper channels."

Doctors attending Mrs. Shafik and her eight supporters said today—sixth day of the demonstration—that they were "considerably weaker." They have been nourished only by fruit juices and water and by injections of glucose.

Mrs. Shafik indicated she will continue to fast despite a threat of police action.

The proprietors of the Cairo Press Club, where the women are staging their demonstration, have stated that unless they get out police will be called to oust them.

"Let them come," commented Mrs. Shafik.

Fish Merchants Cut Prices By 50 Per Cent

TOKYO (Reuters) — Tokyo fish merchants today slashed their prices by as much as 50 per cent to recover some of the business lost when radioactive fish were found on their stalls Tuesday.

The fish came from a vessel which was [illegible] radiation — was from an American atomic test in the Pacific.

But the market opened again today after scientists, armed with radiation-sensitive geiger counters, gave it a clean bill of health.

Raid Nerve Centre Of Red Activities

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt (Reuters) Police here have raided the premises of what they consider to be the nerve centre for Communist activities in the Middle East.

They acted on information that a central Communist organization of seven men and two women, all of Greek nationality, had been formed to spread Communist principles among Greeks in Egypt and generally to control all Communist activities in Middle East countries.

The raid was made Monday.

All nine members of the cell were arrested, and coded documents in the form of love letters in Greek were seized, police said

73 Jr. Farmers To Compete In Seed Judging

Of the 73 Junior Farmers from nine Central Ontario counties who were due at the market hall this morning at 10 o'clock for seed judging competitions, only two were late.

They were from Peterborough county, presumably of shortest motoring distance.

One of the Hastings county young men was Bob Burkett, of Sidney Junior Farmers, whose home is four miles east of Frankford. He was recently one of the 31 delegates from the province to the International 4-H Club Congress in Chicago.

"One of the memories that will remain with me was the Conrad Hilton Hotel where we stayed—3,000 rooms all with outside windows, bath and other conveniences. You couldn't help but wonder at the organization behind it.

[illegible] the United States were about an average age of 15 years, somewhat younger than you would expect at a similar convention in Ontario.

"Everything was scheduled in a round of daily affairs at which we all gathered at breakfast, lunch and dinner, guests of many of the big companies who are interested in the 4-H Clubs of the U.S.

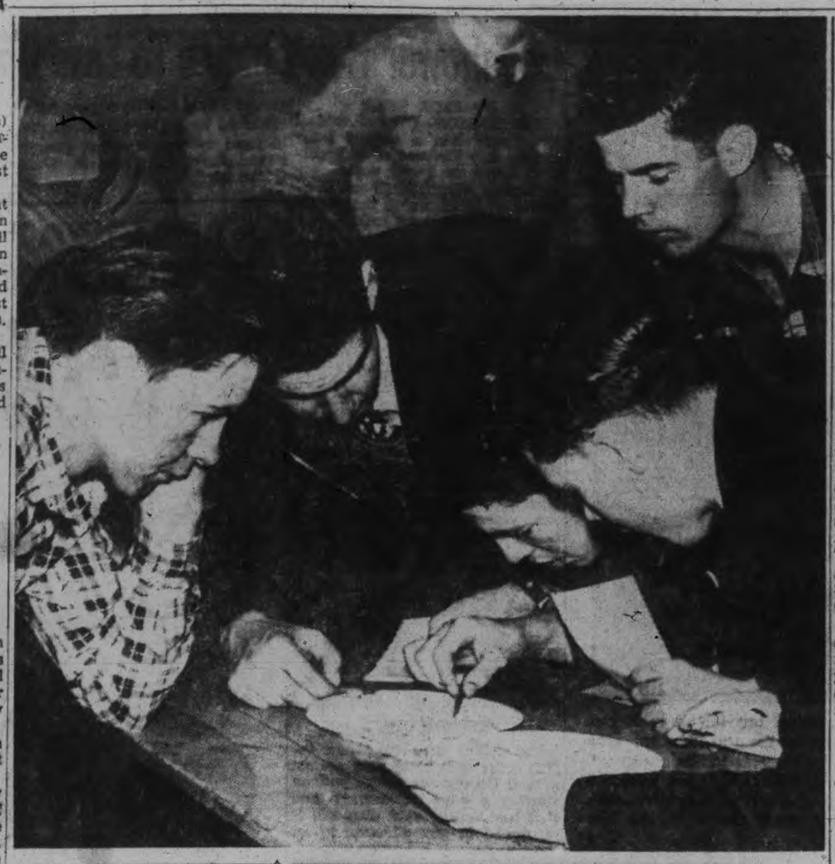
FELT AT HOME

"We felt at home among them, and made many contacts in the discussion periods and around the hotel, especially at the end of the day. Tickets were provided for places that we could probably never get into except with that 4-H Club crowd. If any boy or girl from our counties gets a chance to make the trip another year, I'd advise them not to pass up the opportunity."

John Dawson of the federal department of agriculture was in charge of the judging competition at the market hall. The boys were from Ontario county on the west to Frontenac on the east, all the way from Uxbridge to Kingston.

Assisting Mr. Dawson was Lynn Fair, agricultural representative in Ontario county, and the judges of the competition were: Dr. D. N. Huntley head of the field husbandry department, OAC, in charge of the weed seeds section; Ross Sibbitt of the Canada Department, and Doug Parks of Kemptville Agricultural School, in charge of red clover; [illegible] Dick Groom, of the Ontario Department, barley and Ken Fallis, Ontario Dept., oats.

Samples of the weed, grain and clover seeds were provided for identification and judging.



The boys were expected to complete their morning chore in time for lunch as guests of the Central Ontario Spring Show executive at the Empress Hotel.

London Newspaper Lauds Pearson Talk

LONDON (CP) — The Star says editorially today that L. B. Pearson's Washington address Monday "can do nothing but good in the integration of strength among the Atlantic powers" and praises the Canadian external affairs minister as one of the Commonwealth's outstanding statesmen.

The Evening News, a Conservative newspaper, terms Pearson's address "wise words as well as brave."

73 YOUTHS from six counties took part today in the Junior Farmers seed judging contest at the market hall as the Central Ontario Spring Show opened. Bruce Hill (left, top) and Doug Alvis, Ontario county, (right, at back) join a group looking over trays of seeds. Meanwhile down at the exhibition grounds seed judging started where grower Wes Wilson of Omemee (right) discusses winter wheat seed with Robert Armstrong of Ida, a past president of the show. 3 Servicemen Wounded At Suez

CAIRO (Reuters) — Egyptian terrorists have wounded three more British service men in the Suez canal zone, bringing the total British casualties in the last 24 hours to two dead and five wounded, it was announced today.

Latest victims were two army signalmen, raked with automatic fire while they were returning to camp in the Fayid area, and an airman attacked by a terrorist armed with a pole while riding a bicycle in the area.

Meanwhile, prospects of a resumption of negotiations between Britain and Egypt on the future of the canal zone base remained confused.

DENY MAKING MOVE

Salah Salem, minister of national guidance, said today Egypt is not seeking to resume the deadlocked discussions. An earlier denial was made by the deputy premier, Lt.-Col. Abdul Gamal Nasser.

In London Tuesday the foreign office said that Egyptian authorities had made approaches aimed at getting the Anglo-Egyptian talks resumed.

The conference broke down last October over the terms under which Britain would withdraw from the base.

Gov't Candidates Get 99 Per Cent Vote

MOSCOW (AP)—The newspaper Izvestia today said government candidates in Sunday's election for a new Soviet parliament got more than 99 per cent of the 120,000,000 votes cast.

The official government newspaper said 99.98 of the eligible voters cast ballots. The government candidates were the only ones running.

Queen Prank

HUDDERSFIELD, England (CP) Police made inquiries about the figure of a tall, good-looking "girl" found hanging in the town hall porch. Unless a tailor comes forward to claim a lost dummy, the "body" will be disposed of.

Not Sure Of Policy, Liberals Embarrassed

TORONTO (CP) — Albert Wren, Liberal-Labor member of the Ontario legislature for Kenora and a candidate for the Liberal leadership, said Tuesday night that the Liberal opposition in the provincial house is constantly embarrassed because it is never sure of party policy.

He told a meeting of the Eglinton Liberal Association that "one of the prime difficulties facing the Liberal Opposition is that we have been trying to maintain party force without knowing precisely what Liberal policy might be."

He said if the executive could formulate a firm policy during the party convention here April 8-9 no labor man would vote CCF after hearing the Liberal story.

Church Board Wants Recognize Red China

TORONTO (CP) — The United Church's board of evangelism and social service today reaffirmed its belief Canada should recognize Communist China if and when China accepts the conditions of the United Nations charter. It first made the suggestion in 1952.

In a letter to External Affairs Minister Pearson, the board said prospects of improved trade relations with China, better treatment of missionaries and the hope of further relaxation of East-West tension depend on a realistic approach to Canada's relationship to China's 400,000,000 people.

The church said it does not approve all the methods and beliefs of the present Chinese government, but commended Prime Minister St. Laurent for his recent speeches on the topic.

The prime minister was quoted during his world tour as saying he thinks Canada must eventually consider recognition of China's Communist government.

Mrs. M. E. Clifford

Pallbearers at the funeral on Tuesday of Mrs. Mary Fleda Clifford from the Kaye funeral home were: E. Long, J. Bateson, R. Goodfellow, K. Downey, W. Trotter, J. Dougherty.

The service was conducted by Rev. H. G. Douglas of Knox United church. Burial was at Little Lake cemetery.

Violated Terms Of Parole Jailed 2 Months

Daniel Greniss, 17, formerly of 951 Ford Ave., received a two month jail sentence for violating parole terms, in magistrate's court, today. He was given a suspended sentence last July on three charges; one involving more than $25 and consequently indictable.

In court last week, probation officer John R. Twigg testified that Greniss had made his last weekly report on January 11. He said he had condoned parole violations allegedly made by the accused last summer, before Greniss went to work in Toronto. Twigg denied having given any guarantee that the accused did not have to report to the parole officer until he found a job.

Defence counsel James Lillico asked for leniency from the court in consideration of Greniss' youth, but considering the past offences the court levied the two month term.

Asks Canada Send Middle East Wheat

MONTREAL (CP) — Brig. O. Quilliam, British authority on the Middle East, Tuesday urged Canada to send some of her surplus wheat to the people of that area "who can't help themselves."

Addressing a Montreal service club, he said this country should ship wheat to the "half-starved" people of the Middle East [illegible] since we can't sell it and it is only rotting in our storage bins."

Spuds For Bossy

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP) — Experiments at the federal experimental farm here have proved that potatoes can replace turnips in the food ration for cows. Farm superintendent R. C. Parent said that where the farmer formerly used two pounds of turnips for each 100 pounds of the animal's weight, he needs only one pound of potatoes.

Canadians In Line In Korea Keep In Fighting Trim Ready For Any Emergency

Canadian Press Staff Writer

IN KOREA (CP)—Stark realism marks the training of the Black Watch guarding a section of the Canadian 25th Brigade's line in Korea, but this snappy battalion also takes time for spit, polish and ceremonial.

With battalions of the Royal Canadian and Royal 22nd Regiments, the 2nd battalion, the Royal Highlanders of Canada (Black Watch) form the advance guard along the demilitarized zone separating North and South Korea.

The RCR and the Royal 22nd are soon to be relieved by the Queen's Own Rifles and the 4th Canadian Guards. The Black Watch has been in Korea only since October.

REALISTIC TRAINING

"The urgency of our training which has to be carried out with practical realism makes the men as keen as mustard and its no comparison at all to training in a non-operational theatre at home," said Lt.-Col. Richard M. Ross of Montreal and Ottawa, commander of the unit.

Col. Ross at 44 is ram-rod straight. He had previously commanded the Cameron Highlanders of Ottawa in European action. His new command, whose depot is at Aldershot, N.S., is made up of men from several highland battalions, mostly the North Nova Scotia Highlanders, the Seaforth Highlanders, the 48th Highlanders, Canadian Scottish and of course the Black Watch.

"They go out at night with their faces blackened, wearing balaclavas and with their equipment tied so it won't rattle. And they're prepared to shoot at any infiltration they meet coming from across the no-man's land of the zone.

"This possible emergency gives a purpose to the whole program and because we're actually on guard against any infilatration, our troops are on their toes and in fighting trim right now," he added.

EMERGENCY DRILL

Another part of the battalion's training is rehearsal of the role they'll take if the Chinese violate the armistice. "We can do it now with our eyes closed," the colonel declared.

The spit and polish came in when the regiment is off operational duty. To foster pride and tidiness is an important necessity. A shave a day is mandatory except for men of the pioneer company who, by tradition, can wear long beards.

The colonel, an authority on military dress and ceremonial, hopes to have a representative pioneer soon attired in the traditional white leather apron and carrying the symbolic ax in parade.

Twice weekly the battalion observes a ceremonial quarter-guard ceremony at which the pipes and drums under Pipe Maj. Duncan Rankine, a Scot from Ottawa, play the traditional and regimental airs.

QUITE COSMOPOLITAN

Like the other battalions in the line, the Black Watch has nearly 100 Korean troops integrated in the various companies for training. They look odd with their Balmorals, but the colonel said it isn't so unusual for the old Montreal unit which for years has had a big proportion of French - speaking troops.

"I guess we're about the biggest mixture in the brigade,' he added. "We have Gaelic-speaking Scots, English, French, Koreans and even a Pole and a Norwegian."

A tour of the battalion showed Sgt. Ken Montogano of Ottawa and Windsor busy keeping a record of the sighted movements of Chinese troops across the demilitarized zone. A company under Capt. Harry Harkes of Toronto was drilling in mortars. This company includes Sgt. Sandy Young, a mustached giant from Toronto, who's probably the only NCO in the Canadian Army with a Cambridge degree.

Another company was doing an operational patrol of the border area under Maj. Gordon Donaldson of Calgary. A third company, under Maj. David Dodge of Winnipeg, had finished watching some training films and had gone to work on a fieldcraft exercise. In this company is Cpl. Jack Kirkvaag of Huntsville, Ont., who ran a weekly paper at Burks Falls and Sundridge, Ont., and is just starting one for the battalion.

Capt. Hugh Power, a former Gurkha officer now living at Lancaster, N.B., was drilling the quarter-guard for its duties that day. Sgt. Art Chipman of Port Alberni, B.C., a former prisoner of war in Germany, was making sure of the spit and polish.

POLISH SNIPER

One of the battalions' snipers is back in territory not too unfamiliar to him. Pte. Ed Bucki, 32-year-old Pole from Vancouver, spent two hitches as a Russian war prisoner in Mongolia, which he says is something like Korea.

Bucki was a Polish cavalryman when he was captured by the Russians in 1939. He was packed off to a Mongolia slave-labor camp. He escaped after four months but was recaptured.

He escaped again in 1941 and finally made his way to Iran where he reported to the British for service with the Polish Army Corps.

Bucki accepted the Canadian invitation to take up farm work after the Polish Corps disbanded. After a hitch as a civilian he decided to go back to the army.

"And here I am almost back where I started in 1941," he said.

The biggest kick Bucki gets out of his exploit was the day he sat down in Israel and wrote the Russian camp commandant that he was free and happy.

"He had told me after my first escape that I'd never make it again—I hope he got my letter."

COLORFUL CAREER — Pte. Ed. Bucki, 32-year-old Pole, of Vancouver, now with the Black Watch Battalion guarding a section of the Canadian 25th Brigade's line in Kores, has had a colorful career. A Polish cavalryman, he was captured in 1939 and sent to a Mongolian slave labor camp by the Russians, escaped twice and served with the Polish army corps in the Second World War. He came to Canada after the war and joined the Canadian army. —(CP from National Defence).

Death Penalty Restrictions Being Asked

OTTAWA (CP)—A young criminal lawyer says if the death penalty is retained restrictions against its use should be provided.

Arthur Maloney, 34, of Toronto, told the Commons-Senate committee on capital punishment Tuesday that in his 11 years' experience at the Ontario bar, hanging has served no useful purpose.

He said the death penalty should be abolished because it is not the only effective deterrent against capital crimes. It was a deterrent to murder, but no more so than life imprisonment.

To tighten application of the death penalty, Mr. Maloney suggested that Canada consider using some of the recommendations made some years ago by a British royal commission on capital punishment.

SHIFT RESPONSIBILITY

These included that no one under 21 should be executed, that he death sentence be passed on to the jury and that the "sphere of abnormality" among murderers be widened.

Mr. Maloney indicated he supported wider limits to the plea of insanity as a defence method. Where doubts existed as to the sanity of an accused, the penalty should not be death.

Capital punishment could be retained as long as it is the only effective deterrent to murder. In his experience and study of the situation in countries where capital punishment has been abolished that was not the case.

"My suggestion is that if that is the case the death penalty should be abolished," he said.

Equal Chance For Provinces

OTTAWA (CP)—A Liberal and a CCF member of the Commons Tuesday agreed all provinces should have an equal chance of participating in federal-provincial vocational training plans, regardless of their financial status.

Clarie Gillis (CCF—Cape Breton South) and Francis T. Fairey (L—Victoria, B.C.) said provinces now have unequal opportunities of participating in joint plans in which the federal government contributes half the cost.

They spoke during debate on a government bill to amend the Vocational Training Co-Ordination Act, largely to provide for training of disabled citizens.

The legislation was given second reading—approval in principle—and was referred to the standing committee on industrial relations for detailed study.

Little Girl Finds Missing $1,411 Roll

WINNIPEG (CP)—After much thoughtful study the little girl went up to the grocer with a bag of candy and a couple of cheap toys.

He wrapped the purchases and the four year old asked hesitantly: "Is that enough mister?"

The grocer's eyes popped.

She had put down a roll that would choke a horse—$1,411. There were 14 $100 bills and 11 $1 bills.

The tot and two young boys who were with her said they had found the money on the street.

Police went to the spot and found another $100 bill and a woman revealed that the four-year-old son of a friend had also found a $100 bill.

An elderly man later reported he had lost the money and it will be returned to him, said police, who didn't release any names.

Bill Will Protect Workmen In Sewers

TORONTO (CP) — A bill designed to protect workmen in sewer excavations was introduced in the legislature Tuesday.

Labor Minister Daley, in presenting the Trench Excavators' Protection Act, said the legislation was designed to prevent possible death from workmen buried by collapsing walls. It would make it compulsory that trenches be timbered and shored and an inspection system be inaugurated by municipalities. The bill would also prohibit the employment of persons under 16 in trenches.

Track Star Dies

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Gordon Stanley Sadler, 64, a track and field star for 30 years, died in hospital here Monday night. In 1912 he was chosen to represent Canada in a championship meet in Montreal. For many years he took part in the annual Thanksgiving relay races between Niagara Falls and St. Catharines.

Solon Low Approves Bill For Special Gas Company

OTTAWA (CP)—Solon Low, Social Credit leader, Tuesday gave approval—with reservations—to a bill to incorporate a company that would pipe natural gas from the United States to the Toronto market.

Mr. Low said in the Commons he agrees with Trade Minister Howe that the legislation should protect the interests of Trans-Canada Pipelines, a larger company which is to bring Alberta natural gas into Ontario and Quebec.

The Social Credit leader—whose party forms the Alberta government which has a big stake in the cross-country line—spoke during debate on a measure to incorporate Niagara Gas Transmission, Ltd. The company wants to build a $7,000,000 line to carry natural gas from the U.S. to Toronto.

The bill received second reading — approval in principle—and now goes to a House committee for study. Last week, Mr. Howe suggested the committee tack on a clause that the bill not come into force until Niagara has worked out an agreement with Trans-Canada.

Niagara is a subsidiary of Consumers' Gas Company of Toronto, formed for the building of the proposed border-Toronto pipeline.

✧ ✧ ✧

Mr. and Mrs. Francis P. O'Brien of Douro were in London, Ontario, to attend the reception of their daughter Bernadette who received the Holy Habit of the Sisters of the Precious Blood on Saturday morning, and took the religious name of Sister Mary Loretta. They were accompanied by their son and daughter, Mr. Joseph and Miss Francis O'Brien of Douro, and Mr. and Mrs. Martin O'Brien of 567 McKellar Street.

✧ ✧ ✧

St. John's Anglican Women's Club members and friends spent a very enjoyable evening Tuesday at the home of Mrs. O. Dawson, 658 Bethune Street. There were 26 guests playing euchre and the prize-winners were Mrs. L. Parton, first, Mrs. Fern Hayes, second, and Mrs. Alice Davis, consolation. The door prize was drawn by Mrs. A. Armstrong and won by Mrs. M. Groombridge who is the eldest member of the club at 86 years. Lunch was served with Mrs. J. F. Chase, Mrs. A. Davis and Mrs. T. Buck assisting the hostess.

At the Irish Tea held by Sacred Heart P-TA on Sunday afternoon, tea pourers included Mrs. M. Armitage and Mrs. J. Moher.

Friends of Mrs. F. J. Leether of 504 Chamberlain Street will be pleased to know that she is now home from the Civic Hospital.

✧ ✧ ✧

✧ ✧ ✧

Mrs. J. P. Andress of 833 George Street N., will quietly celebrate her 93rd birthday this Thursday, March 18th.

✧ ✧ ✧

Decorations for the dance on April 2nd were started by the Kappa Y Club girls at their meeting after school on Tuesday. It was announced by Nancy Ball, in absence of the president, that Mrs. W. J. Gilling will speak to the club next week, and all members were urged to attend on this occasion.

✧ ✧ ✧

St. James' YPU weekly meeting Tuesday opened with recreation led by Frank Lundy and Ron Collins. Worship service was conducted by Miss Dorlas Waite and Miss Pat Watson. Ron Sargent gave the announcements. The group separated into four groups to plan for next month's meetings. A clean-up campaign and re-arranging the YPU room concluded the evening.

✧ ✧ ✧

Residents of the Anson House were delightfully entertained on Tuesday evening with a two-hour musical program presented by the Searles string orchestra. Two selections on the program "Swanee River" and "Bless This House" were compiled for the [illegible] the cellist of the evening. Twelve year old Bobby Searles played a violin solo and Mrs. Cecil Searles sang several numbers.

✧ ✧ ✧

Crystal Jobe is entertaining today at a St. Patrick's Day birthday party, on the occasion of her 8th birthday. Her cake and the decorations in her home are all in green and white, of course. Her guests are Mary Lynn Meiklejohn, Helen Burns, Barbara, Donna and Shirley Hess, Susan Wellman, Karen Ross, Douglas Wellman, Jackie Moore and her brother Billie. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. Jobe of 132 Maude Street.

✧ ✧ ✧

Mrs. Hurrell Dodds opened her home on Engleburn Avenue Monday evening to Legion Ladies, Auxiliary members and friends for a military euchre party. Eight tables were filled. The prizes were won by Mrs. J. Mackness, Mrs. A. White, Mrs. M. Drysdale and Mrs. W. J. Weir. There were also two travelling prizes which finally went to Mrs. A. Pilling and Mrs. R. Ritchie. President Mrs. G. C. Stevens thanked the hostess and Mrs. C. S. Windsor, who was in charge of the refreshments.

✧ ✧ ✧

Official delegates to the Young Progressive Conservative Association convention, in Ottawa on Sunday and Monday, from the Peterborough branch were president Richard Batten and social convener Mrs. Wm. Phillips. Also attending were Mr. Phillips, Miss Shirley Potts, Miss June Fraser, Miss Jessie Johnston and Jack Ackerman. The ladies were entertained at tea Sunday afternoon by Mrs. George Drew and all were guests of Mr. Drew for dinner on Monday.

MARY PICKFORD, and her husband, Buddy Rogers behind her, are greeted by President Juan Peron, left, of Argentina, as they arrive for the International Film Festival at Mar Del Plata in Argentina.

This Friday afternoon the Women's Art Association will present a lecture by Mr. J. Austin Floyd, MLA, who has a master's [illegible] from the School of Design of Harvard University, and is a lecturer in landscape design at the School of Architecture, University of Toronto. He is also an assistant director of the City of Toronto Planning Board. His topic will be "The creation of gardens to be lived in rather than to be looked at as a picture" which is the present day philosophy in landscape design.

Finalize Banquet Plans

The Alumnae of the Civic Hospital School of Nursing met Tuesday evening in the nurses' residence with new president Mrs. Gordon Wainwright presiding. She was appointed the delegate to the RNAO convention at Toronto which takes place in April. The annual vesper church service is to be on May 9th and the church selected will be announced later. Final plans for the annual banquet were made and this will be on May 20 at the Empress hotel with Professor Isabel Laird, psychologist, from Queen's University, as the speaker. Following business, the nurses enjoyed St. Patrick's Day games and fortune telling by Mrs. Phyllis Kingdon. Refreshments were convened by Mrs. A. Logan.

Need Extra Money For Milk

At a meeting of the Welfare League of Peterborough on Monday afternoon it was decided to hold a rummage sale on Saturday March 27, at Miles Auction Rooms, with Mrs. J. A. Dewart and Mrs. W. R. L. Blackwell convening. It is found necessary to raise money at this time because a greater amount of milk and cod liver oil has been supplied to needy families this winter. It was reported that two quarts of milk had been going daily to 10 families. The cod liver oil is distributed through the Public Health Department. The league will again this year sponsor the sale of Summer Theatre tickets and arrangements for this will be made at the next meeting. President Miss Lahring Parsons presided for the business. Mrs. Clare Collins was hostess for the meeting at her home on Water Street West.

Have Talk On Flowers

The WA of Grace United church met Tuesday evening in the church with a good attendance. Mrs. F. Sanders and her group were in charge of the program. Mrs. J. Ainslie opened with scripture reading. Theme was "The Way of the Cross", given by Mrs. D. Montgomery, and followed by prayer. Mrs. Sanders introduced the speaker, Mrs. Florence Spencley, who spoke first of the satisfaction derived from working with flowers and compared the art of floral arangements with that of other arts. "In blending colors co-ordination and harmony must exist to make them succesful," she said. She outlined the various times in their development when flowers should be cut to make them last longer, and demonstrated various floral arrangements such as corsages, nosegays, rose bowl, and table centrepiece. Mrs. W. Hargreaves thanked Mrs. Spencley.

Mrs. J. Waldie presided for the business. Mrs. W. Gerow reported on the YWCA dinner at which she and Mrs. B. Hooey represented the WA. Mrs. J. Lucas brought a report from the committee formed to find ways of raising funds to finance the project for the year to aid the drive against polio. It was decided to hold a fashion show in the fall. Mrs. Gerow, convener of the rummage sale to be held Saturday, March 20 at 10 o'clock in Gibbons and Knox old store on George Street, urged the ladies to gather donations.

Wise selections makes it possible to pick up little prints and cottons that should be able to see service now and right through the warm weather. One such is blue silk all-over garden print, the bodice subtly draped to a low V neckline, with draped sleeves. Pellon-lined skirt is draped to a fly-away panel in back.

Thankoffering Held By St. Paul's Auxiliary

St. Paul's Evening Auxiliary of the WMS met Monday in the guild room for the spring thankoffering. All WMS groups of the church were represented. President Miss Marjory Nesbitt was in the chair. The period of devotions was conducted by Mrs. Mabel Smith with Mrs. Vern Read presiding at the piano.

Mrs. Charles Holmes was guest soloist, and pleasingly presented two lovely numbers, "Art Thou the Christ" from "The Seven Words of the Cross," and "Life's Lovely Things." She was accompanied by Mr. Walter Morrow.

Miss Verna Johnston introduced the speaker, the Rev. Gilbert Smith, minister of St. Giles' congregation in the south end of the city. He took as his theme the word "Others."

He asked if people today thought of their obligation in the missionary field as an act of charity, as something nice to be doing, or as an obligation to their God. He pointed out God's instructions were, and still are, "to proclaim the Gospel to all—therefore we should feel it an obligation or debt to God himself to spread the gospel story throughout of the world."

Mr. Smith was thanked by Miss Margaret Reid. A pleasant social hour followed.

Bring Clothing For Overseas To Trinty Meeting

Articles of babies' and children's clothing for overseas relief were brought to the meeting of Trinity Afternoon Auxiliary on Tuesday in the church parlour. Mrs. J. N. Perry, supply secretary, reported these will be shipped shortly. President Mrs. A. Wade read the aims and objects of the Woman's Missionary Society, following which devotional exercises using the theme "The Church, an image of the Kingdom," were taken by Mrs. T. B. McFadden and Mrs. N. Andrew.

Mrs. G. W. Powell, Mrs. W. T. Edmondson and Mrs. A. B. Cunningham gave a vivid presentation of three chapters of the study book on Africa. It was stated that one of the miracles of today is that there are any African Christians at all. An even greater miracle is that for the past 50 years the Christian church in Africa has had the greatest mass growth of any church on any continent.

There was included a quotation from an underground Dutch newspaper which said "one of the miracles of the years is the discovery by so many that the church is the conscience of the nation." It was also quoted: "Religion is like a nail—the harder you hit it, the deeper it goes into the wood."

There was also food for thought in the description of some conditions under which the Evangelical church members worship in Latin America, and it was stated that this southern continent has many needs but none so urgent as its need for the cleansing power that is in the gospel of Jesus Christ.

Closing exercises were conducted after business reports by the president and a social half hour was then enjoyed, with lunch served by Mrs. Powell and assistants.

Give Your Meals A Saucy Lift

"Saucily served," even the most prosaic food becomes a dish of artistry and glamor. Both the flavor and appearance of foods are greatly enhanced when served with the right sauce. A good sauce is smooth, glossy to the eye and appealing to the taste. Although there are exceptions, it should be thin enough to flow readily but thick enough not to soak into the food. Seasoning and flavoring are used cautiously but should be strong enough to make the sauce distinctive. It is important that the sauce should compliment the food and because of this acid food should be served with a bland sauce while a bland food needs a sauce which will give it character. Rich foods are best served with [illegible] sauce.

Most vegetables blend well with a mild flavored sauce or one with a little more character, such as a cheese or mustard sauce.

A sauce with a piquant tang gives pleasing contrast in flavor to most meats. On stewed or baked fruits or fruit jellies, custard sauce is good.

Cream sauce, sometimes called white sauce, may be of a thin, medium or thick consistency, depending on the amount of thickener used. The thin sauce is used as a base for cream soups; medium for pudding sauces, creamed vegetables and meats and the thick as a binder in croquettes and soufles.

For cream soups, add pureed or chopped vegetables or strained tomatoes to the thin sauce to make an appetizing and nourishing dish. An endless variety of luncheon or supper dishes to be served on toast or as a casserole may be prepared by adding hard-cooked eggs, mushrooms, vegetables, chopped cooked meats or poultry to the basic medium sauce. When using cream sauce as a topping for vegetables, add a little chopped parsley or grated cheese for extra color and flavor.

IODE Doings

57th REGIMENT CHAPTER

The 57th Regiment Chapter, IODE, met in the officers' mess at the Armouries.

Mrs. G. H. Moore, child and family affairs convener, asked for five members to sew a quilt to be sent to Korea. Flannelette is to be purchased for children's pyjamas.

An appeal for blood donors for the local Red Cross blood bank was made. Also for volunteer drivers for the school for retarded children.

A rummage sale was planned for April 3 in the Orange Hall, Brock St. Mrs. E. Graham and Mrs. C. Heintzman will be in charge.

It was decided to sell tickets on two framed hand paintings, the draw to be made at the Remembrance Day tea.

Mrs. Newman was appointed delegate to the Provincial IODE convention in Hamilton in April.

Empire and world affairs convener, Mrs. M. E. Clarke, read an interesting story about "The Arctic."

Valuable Hints For Home Cooking Lenten Fish Dishes

Some hints on cooking fish could hardly come amiss in lenten season. These will apply whether you prefer broiling, baking, poaching, stewing or frying any kind of fish.

You can combat the odors of pan frying fish at home by observing three easy rules. First, cook fish last, after everything else is ready to serve. Second, cook it fast; overcooking is the greatest single factor in spoiling fish. Third, serve it at once, while it's still juicy, crisp, and hot.

When poaching fish, choose a skillet yon can also serve it in. This removes the main hazard in poaching — the problem of the fillets' breaking when they're moved from pan to platter. Soft fish, such as flounder, Boston sole, ocean perch, haddock, and cod, especially should be served in the skillet.

After you've added the liquids to the fillets for poaching, cover them with a circle of waxed (or buttered white) paper with a small hole in the centre. (The hole allows the steam to escape). By using the paper, you can thoroughly cook the fillets without drowning the in liquid. When the fillets are done, you won't have to boil down the liquid.

FOR BOILING

There are two new and very persuasive reasons for broiling fish. Both virtually eliminate the cleanup problem.

One is a new platter in which you can both broil and serve. It's made of special broiler-oven glass or aluminum, and it comes in convenient sizes. (To clean ,soak it in warm water and dishwashing powder or liquid. Whisk off stubborn brown bits with steel wool soap pad). The other reason is aluminum foil. Line your [illegible] foil is done, roll up the foil and thrown it away. This simplifies the broiler-pan washing job. You can also bake and serve with the broiler-oven-glass platter or luminum foil.

When broiling fish for two people, use those special little broiler pans, with racks, that you can wash in a flash after using.

Streamline your broiling, by doing the whole main course — fish, vegetable, and garnish— together. Just arrange fish and all ingredients on the broiler pan and start cooking.

If you're baking a whole fish, use the trick of placing it on a bed of parsley sprigs, celery leaves, or a mixture of chopped celery, parsley, and onion. This adds flavor and helps to prevent sticking.

Supper Circle Meets At Trinity

Trinity Supper Circle met Monday night and had as guest Mrs. W. R. Young, secretary for Mission Circles in the Peterborough Presbyterial, who commended the girls on their work.

A St. Patrick's supper was enjoyed with Miss Joan Lynch's group convening. The table was lighted with green tapers and had a centrepiece of shamrocks and snowdrops. A business period took place, with president Mrs. S. Thomas presiding.

Mrs. K. Lee read a letter from the missionary for prayer, Miss Ann Copithorne in Angola, Africa. A report of the number of books from Presbyterial that have been read and of the subscriptions received for the United Church Observer was given by Miss Georgina MacMorran. It was decided the girls will make monthly visits and take an Observer to a shut-in during the year.

Devotional period opened with Miss Marion Oddie reading an article on Christian stewardship. Scripture was read by Mrs. J. Owen. A chapter from the study book read by Miss Joan Lynch, pointed out the work of the United Church port worker and how Canadians can be friends to the immigrant. A letter from Miss Eileen Ratz, port worker in Halifax, thanking the circle for a gift, was read by Miss Jean MacMorran.

A skit on the Youth Caravan was given by Miss Phyllis Holmes, Dorothy Woodcock, Hazel Moncrief and Mrs. Owen taking part. This showed the work that is carried on in vacation schools for children in the teaching of Bible sories and crafts.

HIS SPIRIT'S NOT BROKEN—Joe Diehl has been confined to a Cleveland, Ohio, hospital for more than 28 years, but he hasn't let time go to waste. He has a basement cubbyhole where he spends his time repairing scissors, blood pressure instruments and other hospital equipment. Diehl has been in the hospital since 1925, when he fell from a tree and broke his back in three places.

Widow Finds Love Rekindle Sets Her Cap At Ex-Spouse

DEAR MISS DIX: I was married when very young to my childhood sweetheart. We dearly loved each other, but I guess neither of us was mature enough for marital responsibilities. Constant bickering led eventually to a divorce and remarraige for both of us. My second husband died recently, and I began to yearn for my first love. Apparently his second marriage hasn't been too happy, and I'm sure we could both go back over the years and recapture the happiness we so foolishly threw away. There were no children from either of my marriages; he has a son from his second. I know his love for me has never died, though he hasn't said anything to that effect. Do you think I should take steps to win him back?

FIGMENT OF HER IMAGINATION

ANSWER: Are you a grown woman, a child who believes in fairy tales of the "they lived happily ever after" type, or a devotee of the soap opera school?

At any rate, you're anything but a realist, though you certainly must be old enough to face life. You don't have one shred of evidence on which to base your assumption that this former husband still loves you, and would give up anything to resume an adolescent idyl. Your ex-husband seems to have made a good marriage, with which he is completely satisfied. Your presumption that he loves you still is a figment of your imagination.

Your second marriage appears to have been quite successful but widowhood has left you desperately lonely. In a search for love and companionship you've harked back to your early love. Well, lady, he's just not for you now. You need solace, companionship, but don't disrupt another woman's home to get them. Living in a world of fantasy, spiked with sour grapes, won't solve your problem. You have entered a new phase of life; give it a meaning of its own. Get a job, go to church make an effort to meet people, help those even more unfortunate than yourself—and they should not be hard to find. Give up all thougth of your old love; don't even attempt to see him.

DEAR MISS DIX: I've been married 18 years and have five children. I'm still young enough to go out once in a while and have fun, but my husband can think of nothing but his business. He works in a store, and while it's true that has a splendid chance for advancement, I sometimes wonder if it's worth it. He works long hours, then comes home so tired he can do nothing but read the paper awhile and go to sleep. I'm so lonely sometimes I could scream. Would it do any good if I told him how I felt?

LILY.

ANSWER: I doubt it, although it might win you an evening of [illegible] must bear in mind that he isn't working for himself, but to be able to give you and the children things you need. To feed, clothe and educate five children is a big responsibility, which your man feels comes before pleasure. Try to convince him that a little outside recreation would be good for him, too.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: The sweetheart of my husband's high-school days has moved back into our town. Unknown to me, he took her out two or three times — then I found it out. He assures me that the dates were harmless— that they talked only of their days at school, but I don't believe him. Could he go out with another woman and love me?

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER:-Of course he could. In fact, meeting this old flame probably gave him a better appreciation of you. Stop worrying about the incident. If he had been more certain of your faith in him, he might have told you of the first date.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Bringing Up Baby

Hints Collected by Mrs. Dan Gerber (Mother of 5)

Young children's eating habits are, to say the least, unconventional. But it doesn't pay to fret about it. When baby grabs and dabs at food it's reassuring to remember that, in spite of the mess, baby's learning hand-to-mouth coordination in his own way.

• • •

Easy does it! Don't make baby eat everything down to the last crumb. A child's appetite is usually a good guide to the amount of food he needs. Little appetites do vary from day to day, even as yours and mine.

• • •

Variety review. Appetite interest can usually be kept alive if you serve baby a variety of foods. Knowing the importance of variety, Gerber's offer 23 Strained Foods . . . including Fruits, Vegetables, Meat-Soups, Desserts, and Orange Juice. All have the special, smooth consistency that feels good on delicate tongues . . . all have the true-flavor, true-color goodness little ones find so appealing.

• • •

HONEY-LEMON BEETS

1 container Gerber's Strained Beets
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1½ teaspoons honey
¼ teaspoon salt.

Combine ingredients, heat and serve.

• • •

Temperature tip. To give baby's delicate woolens longer life, always wash in lukewarm (never hot) water. It's the heat that causes shrinkage, and detergents work just as well in tepid water.

Baby spoon special! This heavy silver plated Baby Spoon is in famous Winthrop design, regular $1.25 value. It's yours for only 25¢ plus one box top from any of the five famous Gerber Baby Cereals. Just send to: Mrs. Dan Gerber, Box 17, Toronto 18, Canada.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Shoulder Veal Recipes For Pressure-Cooking

All the blarney isn't in Ireland thank goodness. A pat on the back, a word of praise to someone who may be discouraged, could be the difference between success and failure. Learn a lesson from St. Pat, today and make your corner of the green eath cheerier.

In yesterday's column was a sweetl etter from a Dutch-Canadian reader who asked for more recipes for pressure cooker.

I often give you a menu on Wednesdays and think, since there are plenty of our readers who use pressure cookers, I will make today's menu up of pressure cooked food.

I have chosen shoulder veal for our meat, butc huck beef could be substituted if you wish. While I have given you a pressure cooked dessert too it would not be very practical to have both of these pressure-cooked foods at the same meal. After you have prepared if you don't want to be jumping up during dinner to watch a pressure gauge. You may decide to serve the veal one day and the dessert the next.

Veal, Country Style
Cole Slaw with Parsley
Steamed Apple Pudding
Lemon Spice Sauce
Coffee

Three pounds veal shoulder cut in 1-inch cubes, 2 tablespoons fat, ½ teaspoon paprika, 4 whole black peppercorns or ½ teaspoon pepper, 2 medium onions, 4 carrots, halved, 4 medium potatoes, halved, 1 can cream of mushroom soup (undiluted), ¼ cup water. Put fat in hot pressure cooker and brown the veal pieces all over in it. Add all remaining ingredients having prepared the vegetables by peeling or paring and cutting. Lock cover in position. When steady flow of steam emerges from vent, close valve, and after gauge registers 15 pounds pressure, cook 15 minutes at this temperature. Release all steam to reducep ressure before removing cover.

NOTE: Above recipe may be used withoutp ressure cooker, but time must be increased to 2 hours at boiling point, and water increased to 2 cups.

Four to six cooking apples (Spys are ideal), cinnamon or cloves or nutmeg, 1 cup flour, one-third cup sugar, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons butter, ½ cup milk. Wipe, quarter, core, pare and slice apples into buttered baking dish (metal, heatproof glass, earthenware—even tin cans). Sprinkle apples with desired spice but not more than ½ teaspoon if cloves are used, then sprinkle with the sugar. The remaining ingredients are mixed as for baking powder biscuit: sift flour, baking powder and salt together; cut in butter until fine, then quickly stir in milk. Roll out to fitb owl and place over apples. Cover tightly with id, or 3 thicknesses of wax paper, or parchment paper or foil, tied on. Put 3 cups water in cooker. Stand pudding on rack that is tall enough to prevent water touching pudding dish. Steam with cover on but gauge off and valve open for 10 minues, then close valve bring pressure up to 15 pounds and pressure cook for 10 minutes.

LEMON SPICE CAKES

One-half cup sugar, 1 cup boiling water, 1 tablespoon cornstarch, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1½ tablespoons lemon juice, 1 teaspoon finely grated lemon rind, ½ teaspoon mutmeg, shake of salt. Mix sugar and cornstarch and salt, stir in water gradually until thick. Place over boiling water and cook 15 minutes, covered, stirring occasionally. Add all remaining ingredients and heat through.

Manager Convicted Of Manslaughter

ROUYN, Que. (CP) — Rolland Dumont, 37-year-old Rouyn theatre manager, was convicted Tuesday night of manslaughter in the fatal shooting last October of 53-year-old Albert Belisle, Val d'Or district farmer.

Dumont was tried for murder. He claimed in his defence that Belisle tried to rob him.

The jury deliberated 21 hours. It returned to the courtroom to receive [illegible] from Judge Eugene Marquis of the Quebec Superior Court on the distinction between murder and manslaughter.

Belisle was found in a ditch Oct. 14, shot four times. He died in hospital a week later.

T. J. Carley Attacks

Mr. Adamson listed 25 buildings or additions to buildings giving the purpose for which each was used, as shown on the Warnock sheets. He said the information had been supplied to the Warnock company by a CGE representative and he had no reason to doubt its accuracy.

SUSPECT MAJOR ERROR

"But I have reason to suspect there is a major error here which I am undertaking to verify," Mr. Adamson said. He had checked the sheets for mathematical accuracy and in some instances had made measurements to check the physical measurements.

"Can we go further and say that you have checked the work sheets as to the type of construction and materials user?" Mr. Carley asked.

"Most of my checking has been mathematical," Mr. Adamson said. "To check the physical properties would take a number of competent men five or six months. I have made cursory examinations where I thought they were seriously in error."

"But from your own knowledge you have no complaint to make as to the type of construction material shown on these sheets," Mr. Carley persisted.

"I am complaining bitterly as to the entries on those sheets," Mr. Adamson said. "It's my opinion that these men used guess work."

"You don't seem to consider it unfair to do your own guessing," Mr. Carley said. "I think you were unfair in saying there were innumerable errors."

Mr. Adamson said his evidence had been there were "numerous" errors, which Mr. Harstone said was the word he had in his notes.

COST SCHEDULES

Mr. Carley then asked Mr. Adamson if he could produce cost schedules of the buildings he had enumerated them. Mr. Adamson said he would do so if required by the court.

Producing three applications for building permits, Mr. Carley asked Mr. Adamson if he agreed with the estimates of costs shown.

Mr. Adamson said his company had a record of the purchase price of the buildings acquired from War Assets but he thought the actual cost schedules were in the files of the department of munitions and supply in Ottawa. He admitted that the building permits were taken out by CGE on behalf of the Crown.

He said the estimated cost on the building permit was only a guess.

"You haven't been hesitant in guessing on the work of the Warnock company," Mr. Carley said. "You mean to say you didn't go into the cost of the buildings in appealing your assessment?"

"I am making certain investigations at the present time with which I intend to go deeper."

Mr. Carley produced a building permit for one of the buildings not purchased from War Assets and asked Mr. Adamson if the estimated cost was accurate.

"This is the first time I have seen that sheet and I would need time to say whether or not the estimate is accurate," Mr. Adamson said.

"I'm asking for records of the costs of all buildings erected since 1940, including heating, plumbing, wiring and sprinkling system," Mr. Carley said.

The hearing was to resume at 1:30 p.m. today.

Jury Considers Verdict For Two Youths

BARRIE (CP) — An Ontario Supreme Court jury retired today to consider the case of two Toronto youths charged with murdering a 59-year-old messenger and then was called back to hear elaboration by the defence.

The jury retired after a 40-minute charge by Mr. Justice H. A. Aylen, presiding at the eight-day trial of Ian Robertson, 20, and William Kingsley, 19. They are accused of shooting Fred (Scotty) Cameron and tossing his body into a ditch in the Barrie area last Oct. 29.

His lordship told the jurors they must consider murder first and "consider manslaughter at all only if the evidence does not prove murder."

He warned the jurors there was a danger "in a case such as this of prejudice of some human action affecting the judgment."

ASK JURY RETURN

Shortly after the jury had retired G. D. Finlayson, counsel for Robertson, and Norman Borins, counsel for Kingsley, asked that the jurors return to the courtroom to hear an elaboration by the defence on some points of the case.

Mr. Justice Aylen termed it a "long, difficult and unpleasant case."

The Toronto youths have given conflicting evidence of what occurred on the night of Oct. 29 when they went for a ride with Cameron in Robertson's father's automobile. Kingsley has testified they both participated in the shooting, while Robertson maintained Kingsley fired all five shots into Cameron.

Cameron, a Toronto brokerage messenger and sex pervert, was found with five bullet wounds near here. He had been shot in the head and chest, his pockets were empty and his body dumped in a ditch. Robertson and Kingsley were arrested about a month after the crime.

G. D. Finlayson, counsel for Robertson, asked the jury to find his client not guilty. Norman Borins, counsel for Kingsley, said "the most my client can be convicted of is manslaughter." Mr. Thompson declared that the accused acted in "concert for the purpose of getting money from Cameron."

STATEMENT REPUDIATED

The highlight of Tuesday's proceedings was a repudiation by Robertson, the husband of an 18-year-old girl, of a statement he made to police Nov. 25, when he was arrested and in which he said both he and Kingsley participated in the shooting.

He told the court he had not fired a shot; that Kingsley had fired the five.

Mr. Finlayson told the all-male jury: "If you convict Robertson of murder you are convicting a man who never fired a shot."

Robertson cried in the witness box. Kingsley was impassive, as he has been since the trial started.

When Robertson denied any part in the shooting, Mr. Thompson and Mr. Borins said he was betraying his one-time friend and companion.

Mr. Borins asked: "You say Steve (Kingsley) fired all the shots?"

"Yes," replied Robertson.

Mr. Borins: "Is that the truth? You know it is not. You say Kingsley fired two shots into Cameron's chest, one into his neck, another into his back and one into his forehead, all at once?"

Robertson: "Yes."

It was a physical impossibility, Mr. Borins said, for a youth as short as Kingsley to fire these shots particularly the shot into Cameron's head which travelled downwards.

TOOK PART

Kingsley had said earlier in the trial that he and Robertson took part in the shooting after Cameron made homosexual advances and a struggle started.

Mr. Borins said the homosexual practices carried on by Cameron with Kingsley since the latter was 15 years old were "filthy, degrading acts of a weak mind. The filthy acts of a sex pervert were responsible for this tragedy."

Buy Canadian

Another: A western Canadian cement company had recently stockpiled a large quantity of cement because of lack of demand. Then a consignment of cement, made in East Germany, arrived, selling at a cheaper rate. Layoffs in the Canadian firm were the result.

A British Columbia industrialist recently made a speech saying what a good thing it was for international trade when an English firm got the contract for laying a five-inch power cable between Vancouver Island and the mainland.

The English firm did the job for $1,000,000 less than a Canadian competitor. Comparable wage rates for skilled men in the electrical industry in England and Canada were respectively 53 cents an hour and $1.60 an hour.

No doubt England needs Canadian dollars, said Mr. Bengough. But it doesn't follow that the English will use the money made on the B.C. project by purchasing B.C. lumber and B.C. salmon. In fact they may buy lumber cheaper from Sweden and salmon cheaper from the Soviet Union.

USE IT HERE

Perhaps we should keep the money in Canada and only permit the English to use it on purchasing Canadian products, he suggested.

The CPR are getting ships built on the Tyne in England rather than in Canadian shipyards. And the merchant marine, built up during the war, has been sold to countries such as Peru and the Soviet Union.

"International importing and exporting may be compared to a two-way street, but we sure want to know what's coming back . . . If it's going to throw our people out of work, we're against it.

"I'm beginning to think the main thing we're importing is unemployment," said Mr. Bengough.

"It's a wonderful thing if you say in Japan and Hong Kong, to our standard. But how long is it going to take? A hundred years?

Canadians shouldn't forget the necessity of self-preservation, said Mr. Bengough.

"I'm not one of those who says Canada is going to the bow-wows . . . I think there'll be a high employment figure next year but it's going to be late in the season."

Public works are one thing that can be undertaken to take up the slack in employmnt. But even here times have changed because of the introduction of more and more power machinery.

Take, for example, the $21,000,000 Canso causeway between Cape Breton Island and the mainland. Only 150 men are working on it, said Mr. Bengough. And they are mainly operators of heavy power shovels and bulldozers.

40,000 IN DEFENCE

Forty thousand people are now doing defence work, he said. And there are about another 40,000 in the armed forces. What will happen to them when they are no longer needed? Are they going to be added to the list of unemployed?

"We are now losing 4,000,000 working hours a day. This is not just a passing irritation. It is a serious situation."

The trade union leader said that management and labor go together "like hame and eggs". "It's an objective of the labor movement to see that our people get reasonably full employment. We want business to be prosperous; if money doesn't go into the employer's till it doesn't go into the worker's pay envelope."

The textile industry is on its "last legs," he said. It's doubtful if the Indians and other Asiatic people will buy manufactured cotton goods from Canada. They will make it themselves.

He agreed with one speaker who suggested that anti-dumping laws should be used against cheap foreign competition. Both the textile industry and the merchant maxine had been "scuttled," he said.

Somewhere there has to be a balance between allowing unrestricted foreign competition from cheap labor sources ("importing unemployment") and economic nationalism ("making a living by taking in our own washing").

REVENUE FROM INDUSTRY

"Finance Minister Abbott should remember this," said Mr. Bengough. "Eighty-two per cent of Abbott's taxes come from industry. Not from the farmers . . . but from the people who are now taking the rap and may be going to take a bigger one. . . . We've got to do something about it."

One of the TLC's recommendations for easing the hardships of unemployment are amendments to the Unemployment Insurance Act. They propose higher benefits and a reduction in the number of waiting days.

In the question-and-answer period there was considerable discussion on tariffs and cheap foreign competition, particularly as they affect the textile industry in Canada.

Mr. Bengough repeated a suggestion he had previously made [illegible] committee of trade unionists and employers, plus government representatives and experts, to examine the whole problem of trade and tariffs and how they affect Canadian employment.

He was introduced by John Sparrow and thanked by Clarence Corbett, who also presented him with an alarm clock on behalf of the Peterborough Personnel Association. Stuart James, president, was chairman of the meeting.

HEEL PLATE STARTS FIRE

A flash fire, touched off by a spark from a workmen's heel, flared up at 3:50 p.m. Tuesday at Tilco Ltd., 475 Parkhill Rd. The workman, wearing steel plates on his heels, was in the lacquer department when a spark ignited some fumes in a dip tank. Immediately the sprinkler system came on, automatically alerting the fire department. Tilco employees finished the blaze with two extinguishers.

THE FLOOD

A section of the 12-inch watermain under Mark St., between Sophia and James, burst about 6 a.m. today. The water, unable to break through the hard street surface, welled into the west ditch and onto the front of properties owned by W. J. Hepburn, R. H. Brawn and Jim Hum. Owners of the first two lots say they think the excessive amount of water under pressure has undermined their lawns and flowers but Mr. Hum only reported some water in his cellar. Workmen are busy clearing up the mess and preparing to make repairs to the main.

Charge Reduced Driver Fined

A charge of drunk driving was reduced to impaired driving by megistrate W. R. Philp, but cost Raymond J. Smith, 31, of Wilcox Lake $50 and $2.50 costs, today.

Smith was arrested early March 10 by Sgt. Andre Dalton and PC Ed Patterson on George St., shortly after the officers noticed Smith's truck make a left-hand turn off Charlotte on to George St. Sgt. Dalton testified that, while following Smith's truck up George St., he noticed the vehicle cross the imaginary centre line twice. When he talked to Smith at the Hunter St. corner, after Smith had parked the truck, "his breath smelled strongly of beer", and he seemed unable to understand things easily.

Both Smith and his brother, who had been with him all evening, admitted having two quarts of beer at the Legion between 9:30 p.m. and shortly after 11:00 p.m. They said they had only worked in Peterborough about a month and were unfamiliar with most of the streets. They said they had worked on an average of four nights a week on construction as well as days, and that this was the first time they had gone out together for a drink.

They had made a wrong turn after leaving the Legion and "got lost for a while". Any deviation in the driving on George St., was because we were looking for an open restuarant," said Smith's brother. Defence counsel, Trevor Clarke, suggested this would be normal, and as there was no oncoming traffic, there was no question of danger.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw intimated that Smith would have spoken with a slight lisp as he was not wearing a partial denture plate, and that his background might account for a certain amount of excitability, and [illegible] incomprehension [illegible] by the police.

Both men said they had been playing shuffleboard and had not been influenced by the beer they consumed.

No Suspicion Of Foul Play

CHESLEY (CP) — Police chief G. L. Chatterley said today there was no suspicion of foul play in the death of Margaret Spence, 32, who was found lying injured in a pool of blood in a Chesley office where she worked Oct. 25 and who died Tuesday in hospital at London, Ont.

The chief said a post - mortem examination will be held today to determine the cause of death. He said he doubts an inquest will be held.

When she was found by her employer, broker T. W. Henry, she was bleeding severely from a head cut.

Authorities said then they did not know whether she was injured in a fall or had been struck by somone. She never recovered sufficiently to tell what happened.

She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Spence of Tara, six miles north of this community 20 miles south of Owen Sound. She had worked here for seven years.

Fined On Liquor Counts

Merrell Mackie, 58, of 376 Stewart St., was fined a total of $25 in magistrate's court today, when he pleaded guilty to drunkenness and possession of liquor on McDonnel St., Tuesday.

Jack Benny May Give Up Radio Show

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Filmland follow-ups:

Now that he has married off his daughter, Jack Benny is getting back to work to pay off the wedding bills. (I think the Benny vault can handle them, however.)

Benny, one of the few big stars to keep up with radio, says he might give up his radio show next season. "I like my present rate of doing a TV show every three weeks," he told me, "but my sponsor wants me to do more. If I do, I don't see how I can continue in radio."

This summer Jack plans to take his vaudeville show on tour, and has also considered doing "Seven Year Itch" on the stage.

"It's a demanding role and would require me to be on-stage all the time. It presents a challenge I've never done a legitimate show before. It might open up a whole new field for me."

So Jack is looking to new fields at the age of 60. One thing he is not considering: A return to films. "That I don't need," said the comic, perhaps recalling that horn blowing at midnight. . . .

LIKE OLD CLASSICS

Harold Lloyd is still mulling the return of some of his old classics like "The Freshman" and "Welcome Danger," which are as funny today as they were when released.

"But I have certain problems," the bespectacled comedian said. "We have had test showings and the younger people love the pictures, once they are exposed to them. The problem is how to get them into the theatres.

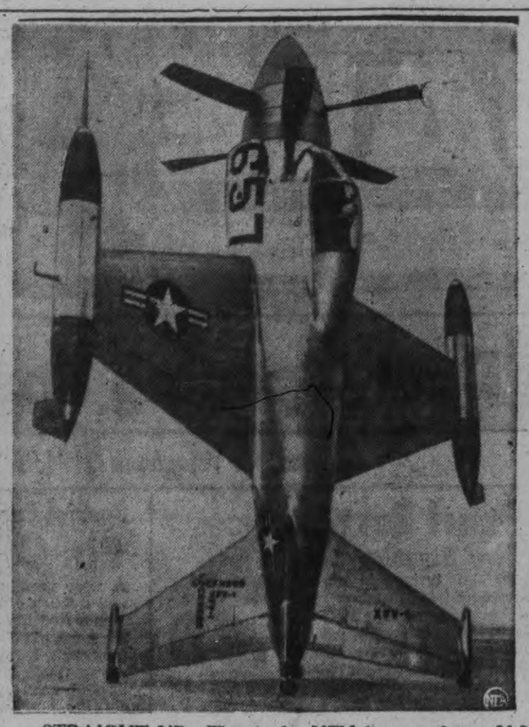
"Anybody under 24 doesn't know what a gas rationing card is. And the kids under 24 make up the bulk of the movie audience."

NOT IN TOWN

Frank Sinatra says he doubts if he will be in town for the Oscar event, in which he's favored to win the supporting actor's award for his work in "From Here to Eternity."

"I am a saloon singer," he says modestly; "I've gotta go where the work is." I'll wager he'll arrange to be here, however.

Incidentally, Frank was up to his old tricks at a recent party, telling off a newspaper man for something that had been printed. He should take a lesson from the crooning master, Bing Crosby. Recently a press agent showed Bing a clipping concerning his TV plans.



"Nice story," Bing nodded.

"Is it true?" the flack asked.

"Nope," Bing replied, sauntering on his way.

Pioneer Celebrates

TRAVERSE BAY, Man. (CP)—Mrs. George Thomas, content to stick close to her rocking chair after an adventurous life as the wife of a fur trader, celebrated her 106th birthday here Monday. Until about a year ago, Mrs. Thomas, the widow of a Hudson's Bay Company factor at Churchill and Moose Factory, walked regularly to a store three miles away for food and supplies.

STRAIGHT UP—This is the XFV-1, one of two U.S. experimental fighter planes which can take off and land vertically and thus need neither runways nor carrier decks to operate. The XFV-1, built by Lockheed, and Consolidated Vultee's XFY-1 are experimental forerunners of types that could revolutionize certain tactical operations. Both are powered by 5500-horsepower gas turbine engines which drive two contra-rotating propellers. The pilot sits in a cockpit that rotates so that he is always upright.

Cape Breton May Become Producer Of Good Metals

SYDNEY, N.S. (CP) — Rocky Cape Breton Island, which has been known as a producer of coal, may fast be developing into a first-rate source of high grade metals.

The Mineral Exploration Corporation has reported that the Meat Cove region in the northern part of the island shows "distinct promise" of becoming an important base metals field.

Cape Breton Metals Ltd., a subsidiary of the corporation, holds exclusive prospecting rights over most of the northern half of Cape Breton, an estimated 1,000,000 acres. Company geologists have reported 14 metal finds of various sizes and these now are being probed further by ground parties striking out through the rugged bush country and mountainous landscape.

LIST METALS LOCATED

The company lists copper, zinc, lead, silver, golds and germanium, in admittedly small quantities, as the metals so far located.

Norman Vincent, Mining Exploration's president, has estimated it will take three years to explore adequately the mineral-rich areas of the island. Surveys and charting must be completed before production can begin.

There have been no estimates of how much the area possibly could yield of the metals discovered so far.

Officials say the Meat Cove district is by far the most promising. Intense sulphide mineralization has been found in three distinct sections with a regional strike length of 6,000 feet. Exploratory drilling

Lesser discoveries have been made near Cheticamp and the Rocky and Clyburn Brook districts of Cape Breton island. Near Clyburn Brook, an airborne scintillometer test has disclosed uranium.

Senator Opposes Housing Legislation

OTTAWA (CP)—Senator John T. Haig Tuesday opposed the government's new housing legislation permitting chartered banks to make loans on real estate.

"I am opposed to this legislation, lock, stock and barrel," the Progressive Conservative leader in the Senate declared. It will bring "trouble, trouble, trouble."

However, the bill was approved in principle and sent to committee for further study. It has already passed the Commons. Senator Haig was the only opponent.

Senators Cyrille Vaillancourt (L—Quebec), Gordon Isnor (L—Nova Scotia), John Kinley (L—Nova Scotia) and G. P. Burchill (L—New Brunswick) supported the bill.

RAF Officer Mum

TORONTO (CP) — Viscount Portal, marshal of the Royal Air Force, arrived here Tuesday night but declined to comment on the purpose of his three-day visit.

Show Pictures Of Victim As Evidence

CALGARY (CP) — Police photographs showing Pte. Robert Bilow of Winchester, Ont., after he was fatally shot in a washroom at Currie barracks here were produced in court Tuesday.

Charged with murder in the service rifle slaying Jan. 5 of the 21-year-old soldier is Pte. Walter Cierpisz, 17, of Windsor, Ont. Both were members of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry.

Throughout the morning session, the accused's mother, Mrs. Anna Cierpisz, was in attendance. She was not permitted to sit in court Monday as she was scheduled to give evidence.

The court waived the rule Tuesday, however, when crown prosecutor L. A. Justason submitted that her presence "would have no material effect on the course of the trial."

Dressed in a dark fur coat and a brown hat, she sat slightly to the right and behind the prisoner's dock. She leaned forward attentively as exhibits were shown, but otherwise betrayed no emotion.

Cierpisz sat in the box in an indifferent attitude.

Siamese Cat Tries Hand At Life In Wilds

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Donnerafle Dun Robin—a pedigreed siamese cat who answers only to the name of Sandy—is back home today after 11 cold weeks on Pelee island in Lake Erie where he lived off field mice and wild birds.

The ordeal knocked his weight down from 11 pounds to less than four and the tips of his ears were frozen off.

Sandy escaped at Christmas when his owners, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Hosack, took him with them on a visit to relatives on the island. Dogs chased him into the woods and Mrs. Hosack searched for a week in vain. Before she left for home, she offered a $10 reward for Sandy.

Residents said they saw Sandy several times stalking food but he fled when they approached. Early this week, Mrs. Douglas McCormick of Pelee island heard a noise in her chicken house and found Sandy.

Returned home, the cat has been eating royally on roast beef and gravy and "everything in the house," said Mrs. Hosack.

200 Police On Guard After Threat

Lodge, Other Officials Threatened By Puerto Ricans

NEW YORK (AP)—A cryptic state department warning that Puerto Rican Nationalists planned to kill "important" persons, including Henry Cabot Lodge, United States ambassador to the United Nations, sent 200 extra city police on special guard duty early today.

Although Lodge was the only [illegible] were rushed to residences of prominent national, state and local officials.

The FBI had no comment on the alert. Further information from the state department was not immediately available.

Governor Thomas E. Dewey, in town for the St. Patrick's Day parade, left his Roosevelt Hotel apartment late Wednesday night for his farm home in Pawling, N.Y.

SPECIAL PROTECTION

The guard at Gracie Mansion, official home of Mayor Robert F. Wagner, was increased.

The homes of several federal judges and other officials got special protection on the strength of supplementary police orders dealing with public officials residing on Manhattan's west side. Among them is Representative Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., (Dem. Lib. N. Y.).

The shooting of five congressmen on the floor of the House of Representatives in Washington more than two weeks ago touched off an intensive hunt here for fanatic Puerto Rican Nationalists.

AND EVERYWHERE the children go the dogs are sure to follow—even if it means going to school. The little Marys, Jacks and Jills at the Woodview school, in Otonabee township, haven't little lambs for pets but they have dogs. And the dogs do go to school. Whenever they can, the family pooches enter the school along with their masters for classes. Laddie, a collie, perches beside his masters (Phil and Frank Manley) on one of his rare occasions inside the school. Usually the pets wait outside all day to play and romp with their pals after the 4 p.m. bell. —(Examiner Staff Photo)

Ontario Men Held In Bunker

UN Command Protested Capture At Liaison Meeting

PANMUNJOM —(AP)— The Communists today released two Canadian soldiers after holding them overnight in a bunker, an Allied spokesman announced.

The Canadians are Pte. Douglas Grant Phillips, son of Robert Phillips, of Kitchener, and Pte. [illegible] Percey, of Toronto.

The Canadians, members of the Black Watch Regiment, were picked up apparently in the south half of the demilitarized zone where they were conducting a routine police patrol. The Communists said the two were in the Communist half of the zone.

NOT SERIOUS

(In Ottawa, Canadian authorities said they had received preliminary notification of the reported seizure, but a high official said he didn't think the incident could be considered serious.

(The Ottawa official said it was probable that the soldiers were lost in bad weather.)

The UN said the Canadians were seized Wednesday and kept for several hours on the Red side of the truce line before being marched north.

The Reds confirmed the capture, saying the soldiers had "crossed the military demarcation line in ONTARIO MEN

UNDER ATTACK— "Unbelievable" Communist artillery cut off Dien Bien Phu's two airports and its besieged 10,000-man French garrison fighting against odds of four to one. French commanders concede their losses are appreciable, but [illegible] new attack.

Rebel Artillery Pours Shells On French Port

By LARRY ALLEN

HANOI, Indo-China (AP)—Chinese-supplied Vietminh guns pumped thousands of shells into Dien Bien Phu early today, apparently in preparation for another desperate assault on the bristling French fortress in northwest Indo-China.

Despite the heavy rebel barrages, the French continued to fly in and out of Dien Bien Phu, evacuating the wounded and parachuting fresh troops and war material into the heart of the fortress.

Throughout Wednesday, the Vietminh steered shy of further rushes toward the barbed-wire entanglements and bunkers protecting the French command post in the centre.

The French, in the five days of battle so far, claim to have killed an estimated 3,000 Vietminh and wounded 9,000 others, casualties equivalent to a full division.

LOSSES "APPRECIABLE

The French made ready for more furious assaults with the possibility that Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap, Communist commander of the Vietminh army, would shortly try to crush French resistance by throwing in all of the 36,000 troops it is estimated he has left in the hills and jungles around Dien Bien Phu.

French Army spokesmen were calmly confident today that the strong fortress, exclusively built up by airlifts, would be able to hurl back anything the enemy offered.

HIDE IN HOLLOW TREE

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Three men who earlier eluded police by hiding in a hollow tree near Lucan after fleeing from a car police said was stolen were captured at noon today.

Chances Of War Receding St. Laurent Says

OTTAWA (CP)—A weary Prime Minister St. Laurent came home from his world tour Wednesday night with encouraging words. He told a press conference soon after his arrival that he has "more confidence that the cold war is not going to be converted into a hot war."

Mrs. St. Laurent watched the prime minister's drawn face anxiously as he told reporters that he had been "in some pretty hot spots and cooler spots." He had never been pessimistic about world peace and he did not expect another global war within his lifetime at least.

Protocol flew away with the chill wind sweeping [illegible] official public joined in a tumultuous welcome. As soon as the prime minister came down the ramp, the crowd of about 1,000 started pushing and shoving to get a chance to wring Mr. St. Laurent's hand.

Cabinet ministers and photographers were jostled aside by the throng in the melee which swarmed around the prime minister as soon as he stepped from the aircraft ramp.

There were cries of "Hi, Louie" from the crowd and Mr. St. Laurent shook hands warmly with any outstretched hand.

MOVED BY WELCOME

Obviously moved by the welcome the 72-year-old prime minister stood at the top of the ramp as the RCAF band played "O Canada." Then he came down the ramp, kissed Mrs. St. Laurent and draped the lei around her neck. The band swung into "The Girl I Left Behind Me."

Trade Minister Howe was the official greeter. But his words weren't heard by the throng. The man carrying the microphone was inundated as the crowd surged forward. Opposition Leader Drew had the same fate. It was minutes before he was able to get close

Bandits Lost In Big Store, Then Surrender

[illegible] (CP) — Two bandits [illegible] held up Hearn's before it opened Wednesday, then got hopelessly lost in the block-square department store. They finally surrendered 10 minutes later in confused despair with $11,452 in loot.

It was a comedy of errors from start to finish. Alarm bells jangled when they shouldn't, cops popped up where they weren't expected, and the bandits turned blindly amid a sea of showcases like little boys in a carnival maze of mirrors.

The pair overlooked $19,000 in cash. And they forgot how to reach the service entrance where they had come in—the only unlocked door in the Bronx department store at that time in the morning.

In the end the two bandits wandered forlornly along a main aisle until they were spotted by special policeman Edward Willett, who shouted at them:

"You better give yourselves up. You can't get out of here."

"Okay," they replied.

They identified themselves as Jerry Feller, 21, and William Filner, 19, both of the Bronx.

The bandits' chore was made no easier by a clumsy cleaning woman, who accidentally touched off a burglar alarm minutes before the holdup. The false alarm brought Willett to the store in time to join in the capture.

MPs Unaware Of Parliament Library Fire

OTTAWA (CP) — Parliament's old library wing caught fire a second time in as many years Wednesday. But unlike the 1952 blaze this one caused only minor damage.

Firemen blamed an electrical short circuit for the fire in the copper-sheathed dome of the stone wing which still is being reconstructed inside from the August, 1952, fire. A similar reason was given for the $1,000,000 blaze two years ago.

The flames were extinguished with portable fire extinguishers before they did any damage in the lath and woodwork about 40 feet above the library floor. Firemen said if it hadn't been caught quickly flames could have swept through the exposed lathwork.

MEMBERS UNAWARE

Both the Commons and Senate were sitting at the time but apparently went unaware of the blaze. Two fire trucks arrived and a small crowd gathered outside the wing. Occupants of offices on the north side of the centre block watched from their windows.

The library wing is the only part of the centre block of buildings saved in the worst of three fires on Parliament Hill—that in 1917. Circular in shape and built in Gothic style it overlooks the Ottawa river.

The two most recent fires both started in the same general area—the dome. However, Wednesday's blaze was about 20 feet below where fire broke out in 1952.

2 Youths Found Guilty Of Manslaughter At Barrie

BARRIE (CP)—Two youths accused of the murder of 57-year-old Fred Cameron have been found not guilty of murder but guilty of manslaughter. They will be sentenced Friday.

An Ontario Supreme Court jury returned the verdict on Wednesday night against Ian Robertson, 20, husband of a 17-year-old girl, and William Kingsley, 19. Both are from Toronto.

The all-male jury deliberated 8½ hours.

The eight-day trial was laden with conflicting evidence and denials of statements the accused were alleged to have made to police.

Cameron, a Toronto brokerage messenger, was shot five times and his body dumped into a ditch near here Oct. 29. Robertson and Kingsley said he was a homosexual.

LONG, DIFFICULT CASE

The accused showed no emotion when the jury foreman announced the verdict. Said Mr. Justice H.A. Aylen:

"This has been a long and difficult case and I feel that you have done your utmost. I feel you have carefully considered all the evidence and the conclusion you have reached is what you think is honestly the proper conclusion.

"I don't think it is for me to comment on your verdict because it is your verdict and not mine."

At the trial Kingsley and Robertson accused each other of firing one or more of the five shots that hit Cameron, a former Scottish professional soccer player for St. Mirren of Paisley. A police statement read in court said Kingsley admitted firing the last shot but that Robertson had fired the others.

Police said Kingsley admitted in statements after his arrest that robbery was the motive. During the trials, the youths said Cameron was shot in a struggle when they resisted his homosexual advances.

23 Cars Derailed Near North Bay

KENNEY (CP) — Wrecking crews worked through the night to clear the wreckage of 23 cars of a northbound Ontario Northland Railway freight train derailed near here Wednesday night.

No one was injured in the derailment near this community 49 miles north of North Bay.

Tracks were ripped up for 1,200 feet. Derailed cars tumbled into the brush beside the right of way. The derailment was attributed to a defective truck assembly on a coal car.

A. Freeman, general manager of the ONR, said the line would probably be re-opened sometimes after 6 p.m. tonight.

Meanwhile passengers are being transhipped by bus between North Bay and Temagami, 23 miles north of here, after the cancellation of scheduled runs of freight and passenger trains.

The derailed cars were on the end of a freight bound from North Bay to Englhart.

Quick Fire Destroys Largest Lighthouse

GLASGOW (Reuters) — The Skerryvore lighthouse which guards the Atlantic approaches to the rock-strewn coast of Scotland was destroyed by fire and abandoned Wednesday.

The lighthouse, largest in the world, was consumed by flames fed by exploding signal shells and rockets while its three keepers crouched on a narrow ledge praying the 158-foot tower would not collapse on them.

They were rescued after a 12-hour ordeal by a lightship sent to investigate Wednesday night when it was noticed that the famous light was in darkness for the first time in 110 years.

The three keepers, picked up uninjured, said they did not know how the fire began. They fought the flames with extinguishers but it quickly got out of control.

500 Drivers Get Summonses

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto and suburban police today issued summonses to more than 500 motorists and impounded 150 cars in a crackdown on motorists still driving with 1953 plates.

In three Toronto municipalities, traffic officers forced motorists to park their cars on the roadway and take trains or buses to work. They were warned that they could not pick up their cars until they had obtained new licence plates.

Police said they were suprised by the number of motorists caught with old plates.

Police in Hamilton stopped 28 motorists without new plates before 8 a.m. They said charges are being laid.

The deadline for obtaining 1954 plates was midnight Wednesday.

New Mexico Dust Darkening Ontario

WINNIPEG (CP) — Dust from New Mexico and other southwest states tinged the skies of northwestern Ontario today but a gradual clearing was in progress in Manitoba.

The dust crossed the border Wednesday, drifting northeastward in a high-altitude current. Pilots returning from northern Manitoba reported the haze extended 280 miles north of Winnipeg by late afternoon.

The weather office said that the haze was "quite a bit thinner" today with a northerly flow sweeping the skies clean.

22,000 Soldiers Choose Freedom

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) The United States formally reported today to the United Nations that some 22,000 former soldiers of the North Korean and Chinese Communist armies have chosen "freedom from Communist tyranny" and have been released from prisoner of war status.

The formal report was submitted by the U. S. mission to the UN, acting for the UN command in Korea. The prisoners were released Jan. 23 but the American document was the first complete and official account received here of the action.

The report said the prisoners had "freely chosen not to return to Communist control." It declared:

"Their release vindicated the UN command's stand for the humanitarian principle that prisoners should not be forced against their will to return to their countries of origin and reaffirmed the legal principle that prisoners-of-war have the right to seek political asylum. Given real opportunity of free choice, these former prisoners were able to resist the tactics of coercion and subterfuge used against them by the Communist command at every opportunity. They chose freedom over Communist tyranny."

Forest Hill Pupils Have TV-Fatigue

TORONTO (CP) — School children in the Forest Hill residential district watch television an average of 20 hours a week and suffer from "TV-fatigue," the medical director of Forest Hill schools said Wednesday night.

Long hours of weekend TV watching turn Monday school work into a waste of time, Dr. John J. Slavens told a home and school club.

Passage Caves In

CAIRO (Reuters)—The roof of a subterranean passage in a newly-discovered pyramid at Sakkara caved in today burying a number of workrs in the debris.

The stepped pyramid, about 16 miles south of Cairo, was never finished, but the base was uncovered from the sands in recent excavations.

Radiation Specialists Treat 23 Fishermen

TOKYO (AP) — A Japanese-American team of radiation specialists today began treating 23 Japanese fishermen showered with radioactive debris from history's mightiest man-made explosion in the Marshall islands March 1.

The six doctors from the atom bomb casualty commission at Hiroshima—first city hit by an A-bomb—worked today with four sailors still in serious condition in hospital here.

Public furore continued at a high pitch. Spokesmen for the fishing industry were quoted by Kyodo news service as saying the industry had been dealt a "near-fatal blow" by discovery that some fish from the radioactive boat had been sold. Tuna were begging in many markets, and prices skidded.

Has Tiff With Skunk Joe, Business Suffer

It cost him $400 in business, a case of tomato juice, fumigating expenses and much loss of face.

Five nights ago he woke up and sniffed. A skunk was burrowing in the side of his grocery store.

He chased it away, but not all of it.

Now customers won't come near the store. Fumigators can't get things back to normal. The family bathes in tomaco juice. And dry cleaners refuse to work on the clothes.

Second Train Wreck Victim May Die

TORONTO (CP)—Keith Rowntree of London, Ont., today remained in "very serious" condition from injuries suffered in a level-crossing accident Wednesday.

John A. Gillespie, 73, Ayr, was killed in the collision of the Canadian Pacific Railway's fast Dayliner, a concrete-mixing truck and a 40-car freight train carrying dynamite.

Rowntree, CPR divisional engineer, was the most severely injured of the eight hurt in the smashup just west of Toronto. Mr. Gillespie was a passenger in the self-propelled two-car Dayliner which operates between Toronto and Detroit.

Although not a member of the Dayliner crew, Rowntree was riding in the cab of the sleek diesel-powered unit, railway officials said.

Rowntree was admitted to hospital with abdominal, leg and chest injuries.

OTHER INJURY REPORTS

Albert Becker, 82, of Ayr, who was sitting in the first diesel car opposite the Galt district insurance executive who was killed, was reported in fair condition today with head injuries.

The others injured, including trainer Gordon Sutton of Oakville, engineer George Paquette, conductor W. R. Nichols of London, trainman Ed Nichol of London and freight engineer William Palmer, 49, of Toronto, spent a good night.

The diesel cars smashed into the heavy cement truck at the Dixie level-crossing, tossed it just clear of the oncoming freight train on the opposite tracks and then, in turn, was sideswiped by the freight.

Two freight cars contained explosives. The door of one was torn off by the Dayliner which was partly derailed.

Witnesses said the diesel was travelling 65 or 70 miles an hour as it approached the crossing. They said the wigwag warning signal and the crossing bell were operating.

THREE-WAY CRASH—Wreckage of a cement truck is strewn on the rail line at Dixie, just west of Toronto where a three-way crash involved the truck, a Toronto-to-Detroit train (inset) and a freight train. A Galt district man was killed and six other persons were injured. A Canadian Pacific Railway spokesman said the train hit the cement truck at a protected level-crossing and hurled the truck into the path of the freight. —(CP Photo)

Spirit Willing—But Too Many People

Juliet Disappoints 400 Ghost-Hunters

By DON BESS

HOLYWELL, England (Reuters) Just after midnight Wednesday, 400 ghost-hunters waited tensely in the ancient Ferry Boat Inn for a glimpse of Juliet Tewslie, 19, who hanged herself here in 1050 because a young woodcutter jilted her.

At the bar, seven psychic research workers fiddled with the latest ghost-catching gadgets. But the only spirits to materialize were the ones in the bottles.

Juliet's spirit was willing, but her ectoplasm was weak.

Anthony Cornell of the Society for Psychic Research insisted she had made a date with him for just after midnight, and he gave the folks some tense moments. He set up a ouija board—a gadget with letters of the alphabet around its edges. Four believers put their fingers on a wine glass, and, lo, the glass moved to letters, spelling out answers allegedly from the great beyond.

ARITHMETIC FAULTY

If Juliet was manipulating the glass, it is clear that she flunked arithmetic back in 1050.

"When did you die?" Cornell asked the girl.

"In 552," she said.

When Cornell asked, "Would you like to be reburied in sacred ground, instead of under the inn?" Juliet firmly said no.

At five minutes to one, Cornell said, "Now do try to materialize for the folks."

"Oh, certainly," Juliet said, brightly. "But could we please put out the lights?"

JOYOUS ANTICIPATION

Everybody shuddered happily in the darkness. After five minutes, the wine glass on the ouija board spelled out, in effect, this communique:

"I'm trying, but I just can't seem to get into shape tonight."

Cornell and his aides draped a white sheet invitingly over a chair and bathed it in ultra violet rays.

Still no Juliet.

At 1:45 a. m. Cornell sadly confessed that it had been a "weak contact." "Too many people in the room," he said.

The ghost hunters went home disappointed. Not so the barkeeper. He couldn't remember such a good night for business.

Law Change Eases Bank Objections

Helps To Remove Obstacles In Housing Plan

OTTAWA (CP)— Proposed regulations under the government's new housing legislation will meet part of the chartered banks objections to acting as mortgage lenders, a Senate committee was told Wednesday.

D. B. Mansur, president of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, said the chartered banks will be able to carry a mortgage which falls into arrears and later collect 98 per cent of the amount loaned plus a maximum of 18 months interest owing.

He added that the proposed regulations will provide that the chartered banks need only elect within 30 days whether to collect the insurance on a foreclosed mortgage. It had been suggested that the usually-lengthy legal proceedings involved in foreclosure must be completed in that time limit.

PARTLY HELP

Following Mr. Mansur's explanation of the foreclosure provisions in the new housing bill, T. H. Atkinson, general manager of the Royal Bank of Canada, said they partly meet the bank's objections. However, the over-all objection to taking foreclosure action and in that way damage the banks' position with the public remained.

The bill, already passed by the Commons, was [illegible] unanimously by the Senate banking committee. It is expected that the committee's final passage through the upper chamber is expected today.

Twin Takes Turn For Worse

PETERSBURG, Ind. (AP)—The weaker of the Hartley twins, born three months ago with two heads and four arms attached to a single torso, took a sudden turn for the worse Wednesday night and the family doctor said the babies might have to be taken to hospital.

Dr. Joseph W. Elbert, who has paid out of his own pocket for oxygen administered to the left twin, said the baby boys would be brought to Indianapolis Riley Hospital today if the ailing half hadn't improved by then.

Dr. Elbert began administering oxygen Tuesday to Daniel Kay.

The twins, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Hartley, have been at home for several weeks.

Remand 5 Employees On Highway Charges

FORT WILLIAM (CP)—Five former Ontario department of highways employees facing charges of fraud and conspiracy will be remanded another two weeks when they appear in magistrate's court here Thursday or Friday, crown attorney P. V. Ibbotson said Wednesday.

The five are facing charges as a result of alleged irregularities discovered at the department's Fort William division last October.

Mr. Ibbotson said the further postponement is being granted because C. L. Dubin of Toronto, special crown prosecutor in the case, now is busy with another case at Ottawa.

Official forecasts issued by the Dominion public weather office in Toronto at 9:30 a.m.

Synopsis:

This morning, central Ontario sits in a calm between two vast storms, one situated near Newfoundland and the other centred in Nebraska. Ahead of the western storm, warm, dry winds are sweeping dust from Texas and Oklahoma as far north as Lake Superior, while in the east, strong northerly winds are pushing cold air down across eastern Quebec and the Maritimes.

Ontario will be affected by the western disturbance tonight and Friday.

Regional forecasts valid until midnight Friday:

Lake Ontario, Niagara, Georgian bay, Haliburton and Kirkland Lake regions; Toronto, Hamilton, North Bay and Sudbury: Sunny today; cloudy and mild Friday; scattered showers Friday afternoon and evening; winds light today, southeast 20 Friday; low tonight and high Friday at Trenton and Muskoka 30 and 45, St. Catharines 35 and 45, Killaloe 15 and 40, Earlton 25 and 40, Toronto and Hamilton 35 and 50, Sudbury and North Bay 30 and 40. Summary for Friday. Showers.

Note Stock Market Trading Firmer

TORONTO (CP)—Early afternoon stock market trading was firmer and more active today.

Golds and uraniums were slightly lower but the other groups were ahead with western oils leading.

Volume was 1,687,000 shares.

Canadian Devonian was the oil leader as it added 20 cents and traded more than 300,000 shares. Slightly stronger were Peace River with a 35-cent increase, Calgary-and-Edmonton, Pacific and Fedor.

Industrials moved irregularly. Massey-Harris, Seagram's, Canadian Pacific and BA Oil were slightly stronger; Walkers, Dominion Steel, Algoma, Loblaws and Bell were off a little.

Base metal seniors were active. Waite Amulet was up 90 cents. Jniors were steady to a little higher and Manitouwadge-area issues were quiet.

Uraniums were at their lowest point in more than a month with Gunnar weak and others down. Bathurst-area issues were also weaker.

Golds were a little lower with all categories down.

Report MacMurray To Wed June Haver

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The Miami Daily News says today movie stars Fred MacMurray and June Haver are going to Kingston, Jamaica, to get married.

The newspaper in a copyrighted story quotes film actress Joan Fontaine as telling a Pan American World Airways official that MacMurray and Miss Haver left a northbound plane in Panama to go to Kingston.

"They are going to Kingston to get married," the official quoted Miss Fontaine as saying.

enough to shake the prime minister's hand.

Mr. St. Laurent, standing before television cameras and radio microphones, said he was happier than ever to be a Canadian. "We have not much to envy about the other nations," he said, speaking in French.

PARLIAMENTARY REPORT

He is scheduled to be in the Commons today to make a preliminary report on his trip, but he said it will take him some time to collect his thoughts before he can make a thorough report to the House.

Mr. St. Laurent said he might have used an "unfortunate" phrase in the Far East when he said China has the government it wants.

He explained that Canada cannot necessarily deal with the kind of government Canada wants but with the kind of government actually in control on the Chinese mainland. He reiterated that Canada has "to be realistic" about the problem of recognition because, whether Canada likes it or not, the Communists are the government of China.

Ottawa Plans To Investigate Loss Leaders

OTTAWA (CP) — Retail "loss leaders"—sold below cost to pull customers into a store—will be the subject of the first public inquiry by the restrictive trade practices commission.

The commission has had the loss leader question under inquiry in business for more than a year, and Wednesday it announced it will supplement its information with evidence taken openly.

The commission, which reports to parliament on matters involving alleged breaches of the Combines Investigation Act, said it hopes to open hearings here in early May. Hearings will be held in other cities, not yet designated.

The loss-leader practice has been prevalent in Canada for years. Most complaints of its opponents, it was understood, have involved the grocery, hardware and electrical appliance businesses.

CIGARETTES MENTIONED

A wide variety of articles is used as loss leaders. A particular one was mentioned in Parliament Wednesday when Justice Minister Garson said, in reply to a question concerning cigarettes, that sub-normal prices on them in some stores will be investigated.

The commission, set up in 1952 after a revision of the combines act, is departing from previous practice in holding public hearings. Normally, it receives the findings of T. D. MacDonald, director of investigation and research under the act, and rules on whether the act has been breached.

In this case, the commission said, Mr. MacDonald presented a statement of information after [illegible] to hear representations of the general upward rush [illegible] of trade.

ON ROUTINE DUTY

The UN said the two Canadians were on routine civil police duty in the Commonwealth division's part of the line. Military police on this job are termed civil police.

The Black Watch (the Royal Highlanders of Canada) hold the section along with the Royal Canadian Regiment and the Royal 22nd Regiment of Quebec. The Black Watch has been in Korea since October.

"Practical realism" was the key slogan in the training of the line-holding regiments, Lt.-Col. Richard M. Ross of Montreal and Ottawa said recently.

The two privates apparently found that out at first hand Wednesday.

The Black Watch has been putting out patrols which are "practically the real thing," officers said.

U.S. Dollar At Discount

MONTREAL (CP) — The U. S. dollar was at a discount of 2 13-16 per cent in terms of Canadian funds at noon today. Wednesday's noon rate was 97 9-32 cents. Pound sterling $2.73⅝, against $2.73⅞.

30 Engineers Face Dismissal

TORONTO (CP)—Thirty Canadian Pacific Railway engineers from Toronto, some of them with work records of from 30 to 40 years face dismissal Saturday because they have refused to pay union dues to two railway brotherhoods.

The men, former railway firemen promoted to engineers, said the total payment to the two unions would amount to $15.95 in some cases.

The men are members of the Queen City Lodge of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen and wish to retain their membership in this group to keep in force union insurance policies that range from $1,500 to $4,500. If they dropped their membership they would have to accept the cash surrender value of the policies.

They have refused to pay an additional $6 a month dues to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers as demanded in an agreement signed with the railway last January. The agreement requires all men working as engineers to pay dues to the engineers' union.

OBITUARIES

MRS. JAMES C. DIXON

Funeral services were held this afternoon for Mrs. James C. Dixon, the former Mary Etta Moffit who died at her home in Warkworth Tuesday.

Born in Brighton, Mrs. Dixon had lived in Warkworth with her husband since shortly after her marriage 52 years ago this June.

Although she had been in failing health for some time, Mrs. Dixon's last illness was short. She was in her mid-eighties.

Mrs. Dixon is survived by her husband, [illegible] health. She had no children and no close relatives except a niece in St. Thomas. She was the last of a large family of brothers and sisters.

The private funeral service was conducted by the Rev. A. L. Sisco. Pallbearers were neighbors of Mrs. Dixon — Bruce Burney, George Sykes, Harold Grant, David Evans, J. E. Edgar and William Bowen. Interment was in the Warkworth cemetery.

MRS. JOHN S. McGIFFIN

A former Peterborough resident, Mrs. John Stuart McGiffin, of Ottawa, died Wednesday in an Ottawa hospital. She had been in poor health for 11 years.

Mrs. McGiffin is the former Adelaide Viola Batten, daughter of Jennie Colvin and the late Richard Batten. She was born in Dummer township and was educated in Lakefield high school and North Bay normal school.

After graduating from normal school she taught in the kindergartens of Prince of Wales and King Edward schools.

Her husband, John Stuart McGiffin, is a federal employee. At one time in Peterborough he edited the Canadian Horticulturist. They moved with their family to Ottawa some 17 years ago.

Besides her husband, Mrs. McGiffin leaves three daughters, Kathleen of Galt, and Mary and Margaret of Ottawa; her mother, Mrs. Jennie Batten, two brothers Henry Batten of North Monaghan and Ernest Batten of Dummer, and four sisters. Mrs. V. A. Selkirk and Mrs. Edgar Spurway of Peterborough, Mrs. R. H. Pollock of Cleveland, Ohio, and Mrs. C. R. Nixon of Port Hope.

The funeral will be Friday afternoon at the Hulse & Playfair funeral home, Ottawa. Burial will be in Beachwood cemetery.

Full Security Precautions To Guard Queen's Life

LONDON (AP)—Britain today ordered fullest security precautions against any terrorist attack on the life of Queen Elizabeth during her state visit to disputed Gibraltar May 10-11.

Letters signed "Falange Espanola" and threatening death for the Queen if she sets foot on Gibraltar soil have been received by British political leaders and newspapers.

Special agents of Scotland Yard and military intelligence have hurried by air to the Rock to check on an estimated 8,000 Spaniards who cross the frontier daily from Spain to work on British installations.

Most of these workers are known to the authorities and have worked for the British for some time, official sources said. British security men have orders to investigate new employees.

MAY BE FROM CRANK

Scotland Yard is investigating the letters but has not yet determined whether they are from a crank or a desperado.

The letters, about 12 in all, were written in red ink and signed "Falange Espanola" — apparently intended to mean the Spanish fascist organization. They were posted in London in the last six days to a number of members of Parliament, including former prime minister Attlee, and at least two London newspapers.

THINK LETTERS HOAX

A Spanish embassy spokesman in London said: "We are quite certain that the letters are a hoax. If they were genuine, the signature would have been "Falange Espanola Tradicionalista y de Las Jons" (Labor Organization for Trade Unions in Spain).

"No Spaniard would have signed it 'Falange Espanola,' which is wrong."

Spain has protested against the Queen's visit to Gibraltar, claiming the rocky outpost guarding the entry to the Mediterranean is rightfully Spanish.

Scotland Yard also is investigating a letter threatening Lady Churchill, wife of the prime minister. It was received at 10 Downing street earlier this week.

POIGNANT FINAL SCENE in "Camille," being repeated by the touring London Theatre Company tonight at the Collegiate auditorium. Hilary Vernon is the heart-moving Marguerite, dying in the arms of her true love Armand (Charles Jarrott), mourned by her life-long suitor Gaston (Kevin Stoney) and her faithful maid Nanine (Barbara Byrne). The famous French drama "Camille" is given an exquisite performance by the large and talented company.

London Theatre Excells In Presentation Of 'Camille'

The London Theatre Company playing "Camille" at the Collegiate auditorium Wednesday evening demonstrated beyond any possibility of contradiction that it is the best travelling company seen in Peterborough in the last twenty years. Their production of the famous, pathetic French romance was exquisite, a joy to hear and behold. If you like good theatre and having a happy and tearful time at it, do not fail to see the London Theatre Company's "Camille" tonight.

"The Lady of the Camellias"! What a hosts of memories and gorgeous sentiments the whole title conjures up. Sarah Bernhardt. The gentleness of gas-light. The Victorian days when lovely ladies dying of consumption grew their heavenly wings even before the curtain fell. The theatre when Romance was real and tender and strong men wept unashamedly before the breaking heart of the elegant courtesan. And, moreover, the theatre when Love was not merely slick and villainy not merely sharp. The "Camille" of this London Theatre Company evokes such memories and enchants the audience.

BEAUTIFULLY DRESSED

It is beautifully dressed; well-staged and lit, considering that it is a travelling repertory. The ladies are young and personable, the men manly. And they know how to act and to create a mood. The creation was a little slow and forced in the first act Wednesday evening, owing to a local condition, but the drama soon took ousted ennui.

Anthony Newland's performance as the cruel Baron de Varville, the perverter of true love and destroyer of souls, was commanding. He has the right blend of staginess and realism for this period piece.

Hilary Vernon as Marguerite, the Lady of the Camellias, gave beautiful performance in appearance, voice and sentiment. Her [illegible] Byrne) was a sympathetic cameo; of the type but distinctively etched. The part of Olympe, the drunken flotsam of the Paris saloons, was a cour de force for Avis Lennard. (Her accent was right, too.)

FINE ENTERTAINMENT

The company is large and talented. You are assured of being pleasured by really fine entertainment, whether at their Camille" tonight, or on Friday and Saturday when the London Theatre Company presents a modern English comedy called "Spring Model." People who complain that there are few chances to see good professional theatre, should not miss this opportunity. The air throbs with drama.—T.J.A.

Young And Old Alike Caught Up In Squabbles Of "Family Upstairs"

By JACK FINN

For many who attended the first performance of "The Family Upstairs," presented by the St. Peter's CYO in that auditorium, Wednesday evening, the activities on stage must have mirrored their own actions and reactions in everyday life to a great extent.

Young and old alike seemed caught up in the squabbles, wisecracks and general manners of the Heller family and the not unfamiliar situations brought about by a "helpful" mother contriving to show her elder daughter off in the best light to a simple swain.

The motherly advice and criticism of the daughter, "and her past 21," in her single state, caused a certain amount of hesitancy and self-consciousness in the sweet young thing. So much so that when she finally received the word from ever loving, she decided not to tell mother "until I have time to think."

The mother, oblivious to the engagement, tried to accelerate the match by putting on airs, and after partially submerging father, younger son and daughter in a foreign state of grandeur unwittingly convinced the suitor of his inferiority. He being the stalwart youth that he was, informed the daughter that she was too good for him and departed, just before their planned boat ride, to the dismay of all.

Father takes the reins at this point, but also loses the trail, and the resolution is left in the hands of the young man who finally exerts his personality and wins out over all obstacles. At once mother mourns the loss of daughter, and father succumbs to eternal bafflement and cries that he is hungry.

The father and mother, Joe and Emma Heller, were convincingly played by Margaret Gorman and Neil O'Keefe, the play also directed by the latter. Margaret Hayes and Robert McCormick made a handsome young couple, easily accept-

Willie Heller, the poolroom kid with ambitions in the political field, was brought to life quite naturally by Lionel Johnson, and his theatrical young sister, Annabelle, played by Anne Cummings, satisfactorily annoyed the entire family with her piano studies and naive frankness. Shorter parts were successfully played by Lillian O'Neill, as Mrs. Grant, mother of the aspiring groom; John Davidson as he younger son, and Leona McGinty, as Miss Calahan, the seamstress.

An orchestra, under the direction of Anthony F. Seidel, played Irish selections between acts and was much appreciated by the audience which nearly filled the auditorium.

The production will continue Thursday and Friday evenings.

THINGS WERE HOPPING IN THE HELLER household Wednesday evening when mother's airs just about, but not quite, sent Charlie Grant, the suitor of the elder Heller girl, flying. Players in this season's St. Patrick's concert, sponsored by St. Peter's CYO, are, left to right: John Davidson as Herbert Grant, Lillian O'Neill as Mrs. Grant, Leona McGinty as Miss Calahan, Robert McCormick as Charles Grant, Margaret Hayes as Louise Heller, Margaret Gorman as Mrs. Emma Heller, Neil O'Keefe as Joe Heller (also director of the play), Anne Cummings as Annabelle Heller, and Lionel Johnson as Willis Heller.

277 Patients Under Care Of VON In Past 2 Months

The Victorian Order of Nurses served 192 new patients during January and February, chief nurse Miss Harriet McGeary reported to the VON board Wednesday. The total number of patients increased 20 to 277 over the same period in 1953.

Wednesday's meeting was the first since the annual meeting in February. Re-elected chairman P. J. Anglesey was in the chair. The following committee chairmen were appointed:

Finance, T. E. McKay; education and publicity, James B. Lillico; auxiliary, Mrs. J. V. Gallivan; nominating, Richard Raine; medical advisory (appointed by the Peterborough County Medical Association) Dr. W. R. MacLean; car committee, C. Archibald; extension, (to be appointed).

President Anglesey, Mr. Lillico and Mrs. Ruth Moldaver were named to attend the annual meeting of the national board of governors of the Victorian Order of Nurses in Ottawa in May. Mrs. Moldaver was also appointed representative to the Local Council of Women.

Landed Guided Missile After Test Flight

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—The Bell Aircraft Corp. today annouced that the use of an accurate electronic remote control system has made it possible to land a guided missile undamaged after a flight test.

The system has been used more than 1,200 times in testing the Regulus, a surface-to-surface missile developed by the Chance Vought Aircraft Co. for the United States Navy.

Bell said the navy credited the system with saving millions of dollars. The missile lands on a tricycle gear similar to that of a fighter plane. The control can be operated either from a ground station or a pilot plane.

Aids Diagnosis

TORONTO (CP) — The hospital admission x-ray program now used in 160 hospitals in Ontario has shown marked headway in the last few months both in detection of unsuspected tuberculosis, and of other chest diseases among patients, the Ontario health department reports. The chest x-ray test is given new patients as a matter of routine.

No Animal Emblems, Please!

The Ottawa Citizen expresses regret that Canadian political parties have no animal emblems comparable to the Republican elephant and the Democratic donkey in the U.S.A. It suggests that our Communists might adopt the mole (blind and burrowing), and the Social Crediters our own Canadian wonder, the Sidehill Gouger. Of the other parties it says:

Thus, for the Liberals, a tortoise might be appropriate. The tortoise has the reputation of longevity. Besides, it is never in a hurry.

Unless the (Progressive) Conservatives produce something more striking at their Ottawa conclave, the lemming should do very nicely for them. For the lemming is an animal supposedly addicted to the practice of mass self-destruction at intervals roughly corresponding to those of Canadian federal elections.

The two-party system is not so prominent here as in the U.S., so further symbols should have attention. The CCF could do worse than adopt the pheasant, which has a rough time surviving in this land largely because (it complains) many of its cherished eggs are stolen by other birds and animals.

This is a very small but we have a powerful argument to bring against the adoption of any such party totems. We point, more in sorrow than in anger, to American political cartooning.

* * *

With the exception of Canada, there is no country in the world where the art of political cartoon comment has fallen so low as in the U.S.A. The animals are responsible. American cartoonists have long since ceased to search for original or subtle ideas. We see dozens of American cartoons every week and they consist, in the main, of pictures of the Elephant kicking the Donkey or, alternatively, of the Donkey kicking the Elephant. Sometimes Uncle Sam (who is no more symbolic of a modern American than John Bull is of a modern Englishman) is depicted as an onlooker at this exchange of party pleasantries.

* * *

Political cartoons in Canada are very hard to find. There are less than half a dozen first-rate cartoonists in the country who offer political comment, and they are all in the employ of wealthy newspapers. The best of them, LaPalme, confines his work to Quebec politics. But if parties were to choose animal symbols, we should at once be overrun with pictures of tortoises kicking pheasants, lemmings kicking tortoises, and all the possible combinations of three ill-drawn creatures kicking each other.

* * *

Britain is particularly rich in first-rate political cartoonists. We wish a few of them would emigrate to Canada, and offer their pungent comment on our political scene. They can say more in a picture than we can, or dare, say in an editorial, and they can do it without kicks and without animals.

New Flares In Indo-China

The fierce battles launched this week by the Communist-led Vietminh forces in French Indo-China have hard-pressed the French troops. The strength of the attack—the first time guerrilla tactics have been replaced by a frontal battle—has more than military significance. It is obviously aimed at influencing political decisions in Geneva next month when France, Britain, the United States and Russia will confer on the Korean and far-eastern situation generally. The Russians insist that Red China be party to the conference. While there is no evidence of direct Chinese intervention in Indo-China now, this week's attack was obviously mounted with Chinese help.

It is a common tactic before a political conference on a warlike situation for one side or the other to show strength by a large attack, just to tell the conference ahead of time that it is in a strong arguing position. It was so with Allied attacks on Germany before the end of the war; it was done in Korea by both sides. Thus, paradoxical as it seems, there is an element of hope in the new fury in Indo-China. Can it be a prelude to an armistice of this war which is now in its eighth year?

The war in Indo-China has many of the ear-marks of the Korean war, although it is not the international affair, on the ground, that the Korean War became. The similarities are these: on the one side are native rebel forces Communist-led, supported indirectly or directly by the Red China government. On the other side are primarily European forces, trying to bolster a weak (and in the case of the Vietnamese) a weak-willed force. The French are bearing the brunt of the fighting in Indo-China. The Vietnamese are increasingly distrustful of French colonial intentions, although they are fighting beside the French against Communism. The Vietnamese are, it seems, ready to negotiate an armistice. So are the French, if they did not fear for the total loss of their influence.

At the root of the distrust between the French and the Vietnamese is the new, post-World War nationalism of natives in Asia as in Africa. The French Union now established in Indo-China gives only conditional independence to the Vietnamese, so the Vietnamese leaders think. The French have insisted that the three Associated States that make up Indo-China (of which Vietnam is one) must remain within the French Union if they are to expect French military aid against Communism. In this one hears American overtures, for the United States, the world leader against Communism, has been bearing 78 per cent. of the cost of the war in Indo-China.

As we mentioned above, there is hope of settlement even in the ferocity of the new attacks because they may be a prelude to a negotiated armistice. The rebel Vietminh leaders hope to influence political decisions at Geneva thereby. We expect that the French under General Navarre will launch their own big attack in order to hearten the French negotiators at Geneva. The Vietminh leaders merely got their sword-edged word in first.

The World With Him

A careful American observer of the Canadian scene has recently remarked this about Canada's participation in international affairs: "Foreign affairs are no longer dismissed in a brief, unchallenged annual statement by the minister in the House of Commons, but are vigorously and privately discussed. Canada is in the world to stay, and most Canadians don't regret it, although some wish they could go about their business of developing their country without the burdens imposed by world problems". It is because "Canada is in the world to stay" and that most of us do not regret it, that the whole country warmly welcomes back to his native land Prime Minister St. Laurent.

Because foreign affairs are important to Canada and Parliament is keenly aware of this, it is good that our Prime Minister should have seen the world for himself, and as Canada's chief minister of the Crown. Mr. St. Laurent brings back with him an experience of other lands which he could not have got from diplomatic pouches and a better knowledge of their leaders because he saw them in their own habitats. He has brought the world back with him.

Equally important, Mr. St. Laurent has, in this great air tour, brought Canada to the world. As has already been said, in Britain he personified Canada as a well-to-do son, in France as an interesting daughter, in Germany as a competent young technician, in Italy as an upstanding Christian country. In Pakistan and India he stood for the Canada which is a sympathetic and helpful Commonwealth brother. In Ceylon and Indonesia, now struggling to work out a system of good government, Mr. St. Laurent was the Canada of mature democracy. To Japan the Prime Minister represented Canada as a good trade prospect.

Wherever this distinguished son and leader of Canada went he took with him his own special qualities of mind and heart. It has been the most extensive tour any Canadian Prime Minister has undertaken while in office. Because of its timing, Mr. St. Laurent's abilities and personality, and the new significance of international relations to Canada and of Canada in them, it has been the most important tour a Canadian Prime Minister has ever made.

NOTES AND COMMENT

The chief reason why breathing through the nose is healthy is that it keeps the mouth shut.

A Dutchman has invented an automatic coconut picker. Presumably to replace the absent-minded, black-skinned coconut picker.

A happy pig, says a farm journal, has a curly tail. Perhaps, but we have seen pigs with curly tails who had the most unpleasant expression at the other end.

Uranium deposits have been found in the Bancroft—Bow Lake area, our local news pages report. Better stake down that cottage, folks.

The world's supply of oxygen cannot last more than another billion years. By that time we expect that some clever fellow will have found a substitute for it.

A poll of women assert that married men should wear something distinctive to indicate their condition. As if old clothes and a burdened expression were not enough!

We read of a woman who found a $10 bill, turned it over to the police, and shortly afterward discovered that it was her own money. Her difficulties in giving herself a proper reward leave us stunned.

LONDON LETTER

Flat Racing And Lunch

By KENNETH HARRIS

DRIVING over the south-east corner of Salisbury Plain yesterday, about an hour's fast run from London, I saw a string of race horses galloping across the short-grassed downs under a wintry sun. They were preparing for the opening of Britain's flat racing season on March 22, a season which goes on until early in November when steeple-chasing and hurdling begin.

Britain's flat racing opens with the Lincoln, a handicap race (i.e. horses are weighted according to age, sex and previous performance) over a mile for horses of all ages, run at the historic cathedral city of that name in the northern part of the East Midlands. It is often won by a horse of four or five years of age.

THE LINCOLN is not one of the five "classics". The classics are for three-year-old colts and fillies, carrying weight for age and sex. The One Thousand Guineas, for fillies carrying eight stone eleven pounds, is run at Newmarket, in the county of Suffolk, the headquarters of British flat racing, in late April or early May. The Two Thousand Guineas, also run over a mile, for colts carrying nine stone, is run at about the same time. The Oaks, for fillies carrying nine stone, is run in June, a day or two before or after the Derby, in which the colts carry the same weight, both races being run on the extremely testing up-and-down, left-handed-turning course, over a mile and a half, at Epsom a few miles south of London.

THERE is a long break and then colts and fillies take one another on over a mile and three-quarters and 132 yards at Doncaster, another historic town, in the North country. This is the St. Leger, and is run in September. Fillies often win the race—again getting a three pound allowance.

Under great handicap rulings from the Lincoln are the Cesarewitch, raced over two and a quarter miles at Newmarket in mid-October, the Cambridgeshire over 1⅛ miles at Newmarket in late October and the November Handicap, over 1½ miles at Manchester in mid-November. This race more or less ends the season.

FLAT RACING is much more popular than steeple-chasing, and its jockeys, owners and horses come in for much more attention.

Most of the £200 million-plus which Britain gambles on horses goes on "the flat." Part of its attraction, of course, is its association with the Royal Family—its nickname is "the Sport of Kings." King Edward VII adored racing— his horse once won the Derby— and his son and grandson, George V, and George VI, were enthusiasts too.

The present Queen's favorite recreation is racing. Last season she created a precedent, and knighted a jockey— Sir Gordon Richards. This year there is a distinct possibility that he will win the Derby for the Queen on her splendid colt, Landau.

✧ ✧ ✧

LETTERS published in the London Times are not just a feature of a great and influential newspaper: they are a British institution. What Hyde Park, the great open space in the middle of London, is to the soap-box orator agitator or crank with a fad to peddle, the Times correspondence columns are to the Members of Parliament, authors, scientists, scholars or ordinary citizens who have something to say which they feel is of public importance or interest.

"Tucker Report on Pensions"— about the findings of the top-level group which by Government appointment has inquired into the inequities of Britain's pension schemes. "Lord Hailey"— a letter saying it is high time that the services of this distinguished public servant, Governor of the Punjab, etc., were recognized by getting somebody to paint his portrait, and announcing that a fund to do so had now been opened. "Royal Air Force Pay" — self-explanatory. "King George VI Memorial Fund" — a letter complaining that these funds, meant to be spent on the welfare of the community as a whole, do not do enough for children under fourteen years of age.

✧ ✧ ✧

OTHER LETTERS are headed: 'Violence in Egypt," "Vegetarians and Food Rations," "Refugees" and "A Clerk in Holy Orders." There is the characteristic letter about birds, of the kind which is so often satirised in novels and plays. This one does not begin: "Yesterday, though it was late November, I heard the chuff-chuff warbling. Is not this a record?" This letter is headed "Netting Woodpigeons," and suggests that the invasion of continental woodpigeons which are ravaging our brussels sprouts might be dealt with by some form of "rocket net."

A HIGH-RANKING member of the town council of Newport, a port and industrial centre on the north coast of the Bristol Channel, has refused to lunch with the rest of his colleagues on the council. From now on, when council meetings adjourn for lunch he will eat, separately.

He is doing this as a protest against his colleagues' recent decision to limit the time spent in consuming the pre-lunch aperitif (provided at the council's expense) to fifteen minutes. This decision was made partly to save time, partly to save money.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE COUNCILLOR concerned, Mr. Tyack, a former Mayor of Newport, said he objected to this. "The cost only comes to a bottle of whisky and a few lemonades," he said. "If they're going to argue about that, I'm not going to eat with them. Today I'm going into the town for fish and chips, and in future I'll bring sandwiches. I'm not going to be dictated to about how long an interval I'm going to be given before I sit down to eat my lunch."

But some Britishers are clearly taking the business of cutting costs and increasing productivity very seriously indeed.

TALKING of cutting costs and increasing productivity, I read of two interesting examples today; five Carmelite nuns, whose knowledge of building comes entirely from books, are now engaged in constructing their own cloisters, chapel and choir at Presteigne, a village in mid-Wales. And in London the city's Transport Board has announced that by using a thinner lubricating oil it is saving £39,000 a year on the running of buses. (Copyright)

An American Opinion: "OOH LA LA!"

Aluminum Boom Predicted

By SUSAN STRANGE

A great increase in supplies of aluminium, doubling world output in between [illegible] Economic Commission for Europe (E. C. E.), in a report, 'Competition Between Steel and Aluminium," issued today (Thursday).

In this expansion the established industrial countries of Europe are likely to have little share. Whereas in the corresponding period of rapid expansion in steel production, from 1880 to 1910, the continent played a major part, the geographical trends in aluminium production will tend to concentrate new output "in countries in the great north, or in the tropics located far away from the centres of processing, fabrication and consumption."

The Kitimat project in British Columbia, which should produce five hundred thousand tons of aluminium by 1958-60—the largest plant now in production at Arvida, Quebec, produces three hundred and twenty thousand tons—and the Volta River scheme, on the Gold Coast, which should have a capacity of two hundred thousand tons by 1975, are typical of these trends.

The key in both cases is an abundant supply of cheap hydro-electric power, essential to the conversion of the oxide, alumina, into the metal aluminium.

Except for new plants planned by the United States, and by the Soviet Union in areas east of the Urals, the aluminium-producing projects of the future are all likely to require foreign financial help. Take the five-fold increase achieved by the Aluminium Company of Canada (Alcan) between 1940 and the wartime peak of 1943—a level which, after a post-war decline, was exceeded last year. This wartime increase, says the E. C. E. study, would not have been possible had not the British Government provided a loan of 55½ million dollars in return for a first option on the output for the first twenty years.

Similarly, the Kitimat project is being partly financed by the British Government. So is the Volta River scheme, where the Government is working in conjunction with private interests and the Government of the Gold Coast.

In Australia, a new combined alumina and reduction plant in Tasmania is being jointly financed by the Tasmanian and Commonwealth Governments.

The high degree of State participation in aluminium development is a result, suggests E. C. E., of the comparatively high capital cost of producing aluminium. This is ten times as high, per ton produced, as it is for steel, and a new plant takes six to eight years to build, against three to four in the case of a steelworks.

Another significant difference between steel and aluminium in world economy is that while more and more countries are importers of steel, the trend in aluminium is towards an international division of labour, separating the mining of the raw material (bauxite) and its conversion into alumina, the conversion of alumina into aluminium and the processing of aluminium ingots into goods.

Although the first two processes tend to be located in different countries (the alumina for Kitimat, for example, will come from Jamaica, via the Panama Canal), financial control is likely to lie with the big smelting companies—including Aluminium Ltd., of Canada (Alted, the holding company for Alcan), the British Aluminium Company, Ltd., the French Pechiney and Ugine companies, and the Governments concerned. Some eighty per cent. of world trade in aluminium is produced in smelters owned by Alted.

The E. C. E. study concludes that in spite of the rapid expansion planned in world output of aluminium, the steel industry is not likely to suffer greatly from competition by the other metal—though it may be forced by steel to adopt an imaginative approach to problems of market research into new uses for steel.

New Pacific Pattern

(Montreal Star)

Sir Douglas Copland, Australian High Commissioner to Canada, did well to emphasize the changed strategic pattern in the Pacific when he spoke here Monday night. Too many people fail to realize the shock to Australia when the great naval base in Singapore fell to Japan after only a short resistance in February, 1942. The event changed once and for all the old belief that the rest of the world could take for granted Britain's maintenance of the historic "life-line" through the Mediterranean, the Suez Canal, the ports of India, Singapore and so to the Far East and the Antipodes.

That life-line was the major security link of the geographically isolated Dominions—Australia and New Zealand. Without it, a whole new set of defence problems emerged. In the last war Japan occupied the Pacific Islands to Australia's northern threshold. Today, new states have sprung up: India, Burma, Pakistan, Indonesia. To these must be added Japan and China. These are now Australia's neighbours, and the future course of their policy remains unknown. Will they be friendly, aggressive or neutral?

Small wonder that, in such circumstances, Australia and New Zealand have joined in close defence arrangements with the United States, the only Pacific power of which they can feel quite sure. The long-range results of that treaty are not yet known. But it is already clear that it has replaced the historic strategic arrangements which governed Australia's early growth.

Bible Message

(From The Authorized Version)

Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen . . . Through faith we understand that the worlds were framed by the word of God, so that things which are seen were not made of things which do appear.

By faith Abel offered unto God a more excellent sacrifice than Cain, by which he obtained witness that he was righteous, God testifying of his gifts: and by it he being dead yet speaketh.

By faith Enoch was translated that he should not see death; and was not found, because God has translated him: for before his translation he had this testimony, that he pleased God . . .

By faith Abraham, when he was called to go out into a place which he should after receive for an inheritance, obeyed; and he went out, not knowing whither he went. By faith he sojourned in the land of promise, as in a strange country, dwelling in tabernacles with Isaac and Jacob, the heirs with him of the same promise: for he looked for a city which hath foundations, who builder and maker is God. (Heb. 11:1, 3-5, 8-10.)

Wherefore seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and let us run with patience the race that is set before us, looking unto Jesus the author and finisher of our faith; who for the joy that was set before him endured the cross, despising the shame, and is set down at the right hand of the throne of God. (Heb. 12:1, 2.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Lord, thou hast been our dwelling place in all generations . . . O satisfy us early with thy mercy; that we may rejoice and be glad all our days . . . And let the beauty of the Lord our God be upon us: and establish thou the work of our hands upon us; yea, the work of our hands establish thou it. (Ps. 90:1, 14, 17.)

Tremendous Cost

(Windsor Star)

Those who talk glibly of eliminating flooding of basements in Windsor, and all other citizens, as well, will be startled by the cost of a new sewerage system. It is $17,140,000 as estimated by a foremost firm of engineering consultants.

This sum is far more than the total of Windsor's present debenture debt. It is extremely doubtful if Windsor could sell now, or in the predictable future, any such amount of debentures; certainly not on any favorable terms.

Even if it could be done, it would sink the City back into a morass of debt from which we have been slowly but successfully emerging.

Measuring Stick

We could not have done that had we been producing just average crops. The average wheat harvest in Canada over a long period prior to 1951 was 375,000,000 bushels. It used to be 350,000,000 bushels.

Had we had average crops the past three years we would not have sold more than 325,000,000 bushels last year. The rest of an average crop would have been used on the farms as seed and feed and would never have got to market. Our actual sales were 200,000,000 bushels over the average figure.

That's the measuring stick to use in estimating our sales success.

Mayor Backs Police Taking Names

TORONTO (CP)—Mayor Lawrence Feick of Stratford told the Ontario labor relations board Wednesday that Stratford police had done their duty in taking names of Canadian Congress of Labor organizers who were distributing leaflets.

Mr. Feick, in addition to being mayor of Stratford, is personnel manager of Canadian Fabricated Products Limited at Stratford where CIO and Trades and Labor Congress Unions are in a jurisdictional dispute.

Mr. Feick, in testimony before the labor board, answered charges of the United Automobile Workers (CIO-CCL). He denied that he told his workers to join the AFL and not the CIO, that he telephoned workers demanding to know who attended CIO meetings, and that Stratford police had been used to "badger" CIO organizers handing out leaflets.

Mr. Feick said Stratford has a bylaw requiring a permit for pamphleteering.

If police interfered with distribution of CIO pamphlets, he said, "it was their duty to do it."

Suggests Legislature Session Be Extended

TORONTO (CP)—Len Hughes of North Bay Wednesday suggested that the legislature session be extended by one month and members' indemnity be doubled to make up for their extra work.

Mr. Hughes, president of the Northern Ontario Outfitters' Association, made the suggestion to the legislature's fish and game committee.

He said attendance at committee meetings was poor and suggested the longer session so members could give proper attention to committee work.

Tunnel Blasted Through Rock In 1,200,000 H.P. Project

By [illegible]

LABRIEVILLE, Que. (CP)—The [illegible] with the distant crunch of explosives from the mountains.

Red letters scrawled on a sign decorated with moose antlers proclaim the town of Labrieville capital of the $225,000,000 Bersimis river power project. The project, to be finished seven years from now, harnesses one of the most important of the rivers flowing into the St. Lawrence from the northeastern Quebec highlands.

This town 250 miles north of Quebec City is the administrative centre for the 4,000 workers on the widespread project. A few miles away dynamite crews blast through rock to dig an eight-mile tunnel that will carry water to generators producing 1,200,000 horsepower.

BUILT FOR WORKERS

Named after Msgr. N.-A. Labrie, Roman Catholic bishop of the gulf of St. Lawrence, and peopled now by a temporary population, Labrieville was built to house the workers who will man the power station when the Bersimis plan is finished.

The 2,000 inhabitants of the town, most of them workers, live in dormitories, eat in two huge cafeterias. Two thousand other workers at nearby camps have similar arrangements.

Scattered about the town are a church and presbytery, a hospital, a school for 50 pupils, Quebec hydro-electric commission administration buildings, a bank, tavern and three-cell jail, as well as private homes.

Menus for all camps are prepared a week in advance. Food is kept in cold-storage warehouses here.

HUGE FOOD SUPPLIES

One day's grocery list would stagger the average housewife. It includes 5,000 pounds of meat, 2,200 loaves of bread, 1,100 pies, 130 cakes, 600 dozen eggs, 500 pounds of butter, 250 bags of potatoes, 10 bags of vegetables and hundreds of cans of condensed milk.

Trucks make daily deliveries to the outlying cafeterias where main dishes are cooked. Bread and pastries are baked in Labrieville.

A French - language menu is posted daily in each cafeteria. For $10.50 a week a worker gets lodging and all the food he can eat.

The tavern is open for two hours in the afternoon and two in the evening. Beer costs 25 cents a small bottle. Workers queue up for two bottles of beer each. They can have more but must go back to the queue to be served.

At night, Labrieville's population is swelled by hundreds of workers from the other camps. There are hockey games between the camps, movies, amateur shows and wrestling.

BIG PAYROLL

On fortnightly pay-days as much as $1,000,000 in wages is deposited in the bank. Each worker's pay, less board and laundry, is put into his personal account and he gets a statement of his net earnings. He may withdraw any amount. The bank also forwards any allotment he may make to his family. A bank employee makes a weekly tour of the outlying camps.

Minimum wage at the project is $45 a week, or 90 cents an hour for unskilled labor. Carpenters and truck drivers earn about $1.20 an hour, and miners between $1.15 and $1.50.

The 12-bed hospital, staffed by two doctors and four nurses, has modern x-ray and operating rooms. There are first-aid units in each camp.

Besides the nurses, 60 other women work in the camps, mostly in offices and cafeterias. They live in a special camp supervised by Mrs. Georges Hamel of Quebec City.

Rev. C. E. Robitaille, parish priest who writes a religious column for the newspaper, makes it a point to eat every day with the workers in one of the cafeterias. Another priest, Rev. P. Gagne, has charge at Robertsonville, a smaller camp nearby.

Father Gagne celebrates mass in the cafeteria at Robertsonville because like all the outlying camps it will be dismantled once the project is finished. Only Labrieville has a permanent church.

Petes Tie Oshawa In Overtime Of Opening Game

Oshawa Truckmen and the TPT Petes opened their best-of-seven OHA senior "B" group semi-final series by tying 5-5 in overtime last night in Kingston. Going into the extra heat drawn at 4-all, the well-matched group finalists each potted one marker to leave the extra-winning game with a point apiece. The series resumes here Saturday night, with the third tilt back in Kingston on Monday.

A crowd of 2,151 paid fans viewed the speedy, clean and close playoff contest, the majority of the Kingston fans yelling for Oshawa—who ousted the Goodyears—but the Petes also drawing some vocal support from Limestone City hockey followers and from a number of fans who went from here.

BATTERED UP

As expected, the Petes were tired and a bit battered-up from their seven-game gruelling semi-final series with the rugged Orillia Pontiacs. They had trouble trying to keep pace in the first period with the well-rested Truckmen, who had ousted Kingston 4-1 in a clean semi-final set. Yet the scrappy TPT-ers fought back fiercely to keep in step with the speedy Oshawans the rest of the route and finish just as strongly.

Petes managed to yank out a 2-1 lead in the first frame, but were down 3-2 to end the second. They scored two in the third to Oshawa's one to send it into overtime, each squad then tallying once before the OHA time limit ran out. Just six penalties were handed out in the lively fray, four going to the battling Peterborough pack, and each side scored once when their opponents were short a man.

Petes came up with their usual fine positional play, nearly all of them being young and former junior "A" stars. They were real fast, passed smartly and were deadly around the enemy net. Yet, the Petes played on even terms with them, actually outhustling the Truckies to hold a territorial edge at times. Both sides missed grand chances and both goalies, Colvin and Donlevy, were brilliant to keep down the score. They made almost miraculous saves time and again, often on clean breakaways by rival forwards. Only real fight kept the tired Petes going toward the end, but the Oshawans were finding the pace pretty hot, too, towards the end of overtime.

LED THE SCORERS

Toodie Greenlaw tallied twice to lead the Jopling-Redmond crew, while Bill Crowley, Ed Redmond and Denny Peterson scored singles. Gus Leonard turned in two assists, single ones going to Redmond, Crowley, Bill McMaster, Chum Fryia and Doc Prentice.

Bob Thaler topped Truckmen with a pair of markers, as Ernie Dickens, Frank Hooper and Fred Etcher had one apiece. Sammy Samanski and Harry Sinden cashed in with two assists, while Jed Wilson, George Samolenko, Max Yourth and Don McBeth got one each. The latter was accidentally hit in the eye with a stick late in overtime and had to leave. Jerry Scott sat this one out with a knee injury.

The red-sweatered Truckmen struck early to count within a minute before the Petes got their ice legs. Etcher blinked the light on a standing, passing play in close with Samanski and Sinden, giving Donlevy no chance with the final shot. Oshawa continued to press most of this period, despite drives by Peterson, Belisle and later Montgomery, which tested Colvin. The Petes rallied somewhat better in the last half of the frame, and Greenlaw notched a nice one from Redmond and Leonard at close quarters, when Dickens cleared back to his stick. Etcher was serving an interference penalty at the time, and the Petes had ganged up. Etcher returned and Crowley was credited with a marker on a close-in stab, Ernie Dickens again helping the Petes when he pushed the puck past his goalie in trying to clear. It was plenty speedy toward the end as Truckmen drove in.

DONLEVY GOOD

Samanski was plainly robbed to start the middle heat and Oshawa pressed hard when Munro went over for hooking. Hill nearly got through on a breakaway, and Donlevy made several spectacular saves as they stood around him with short, sharp passes and sudden shots on the net. Munro returned and Belisle was winded for a space in the fast, even and clean going. Belisle returned in time to draw a kneeing penalty and Thaler took advantage to score the equalizer from Sinden and Samanski with a rising angle shot on good combination driving in on the cage. Belisle got back but Oshawa pressed again to keep Donlevy hopping. The Belisle-Prentice-Peterson line tested Colvin twice right inside but Truckmen tore back near the close to score a sizzler by Munro after Williams and Samolenko broke through the visitors' defence.

TIED THE GAME

Belisle had a good rush early in the third and Etcher was thefted at the other end of the rink. Then Redmond counted on a rebound with the goalie sprawling after a McMaster passup and a Crowley pass in close. The Leonard line was going good, but Etcher got through on a two-man breakaway and his shot hit the goal post. They drove right up once more and Thaler tallied on McBeth's corner passout to the crease edge, nobody covering the sniper. Montgomery was waved away for slashing and Donlevy gypped Etcher and then Samanski on almost impossible saves on his doorstep. Fryia came close, after Monty returned, with the Petes fighting furiously to stay in the game. The Leonard line made Colvin jump and then with less than two minutes to go Greenlaw sewed it up from Fryia and Leonard on a fine in-close combination, following some hard fighting by the trio to keep the disc moving inside the Oshawa area. Montgomery had a fine stab and Petes were pressing hard at the gong, Prentice and Hooper nearly tangling at the finish.

At 1.06 of the overtime session, Peterson put Petes one up from Prentice with a fast shot in close after McBeth fell to the ice to let him tramp by. Dickens got it back a minute later from Yourth with a hot screened shot as they ganged up. Collins and then Sinden went off for interference, but were back with no damage done. Petes pressed near the close, Fryia and then Crowley almost scoring the winner. But it ended up a draw as two tired teams skated off to the fans' cheers.

Teams:

Petes: Goal, Donlevy; defence, Redmond and McMaster; centre Leonard, Hill, Crowley, Collins, Belisle, Prentice, Peterson, Munro, Montgomery, Heffernan and Kirkwood.

Oshawa: Goal, Colvin; defence, Dickens and Sinden; centre, Samanski; wings, Thaler and Etcher; alts., Holden, Yourth, Wilson, Hooper, Samolenko, Berwick, McBeth and Peters.

Referees: A. Bellemer and K. Holmshaw.

BUSY NIGHT — Jack Dempsey had a busy night as the former world heavyweight boxing champion refereed the main wrestling bout at the Brock St. arena Wednesday night. He keeps a close eye (top left) on the tactics of Fred Atkins as he attempts to pin Tex McKenzie. He kept a good distance from the two as they thumped about the ring (top and middle right photos) but finally awarded the bout (lower right) to McKenzie on a disqualification.

Stewart Scores In Hamilton Win

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton Cubs scored three third-period goals to defeat Guelph Biltmores 4-2 Wednesday night and take a 1-0 lead in their best-of-five series in the Ontario Junior Hockey Association Junior A quarter-finals.

Joey Zorica scored twice in the last period, once in an empty net, after Murray Oliver, the Cubs' 16-year-old rookie from Junior B ranks, had tied the game early in the last period.

The teams play in Guelph Friday and in Hamilton again Saturday.

Gordon Nelson's Rink Wins Mixed Bonspiel

KEENE (ENS)—The final games of the mixed bonspiel were played in the Memorial Arena on Monday and Tuesday. This competition was started early in February, but due to unfavorable ice conditions had to be postponed. Twenty-two rinks comprised of members of the men's and ladies' curling clubs competed, with the following results: Winners of the trophy and first prize (rink with highest score for three games) 38 points, Gordon Nelson (skip), Marybelle Elmhirst, Arthur Elmhirst and Grace Nelson; runner-up, winning three games with 33 points, Wm. Wood (skip), Kathleen Godfrey, G. S. Taylor, Marjorie Shearer. Prizes for two games high score, David Kempt (skip), Addie Stewart, Harold Stillman and Alberta Stillman. High score for one game: Sam Comrie (skip), Irene Comrie, Frank Brown and Mildred Brown.

10 BLADES 10 CENTS

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

As spring moves onto the scene next week, there'll be a great old scramble on in the NHL and AHL with playoffs commencing. Top four teams in each pro puck loop go in semi-finals. We still like Detroit Red Wings, six times NHL champs, for the Stanley Cup in the major league, but no doubt there are many [illegible] with us. Buffalo took the AHL title, but we're hoping that Hershey will pick up the [illegible] account of Red Sullivan is their starry forward. A lot of extra lucre coming up, not only in playoffs but for the various awards voted each spring. Incidentally, Red in his recent scoring spurt registered 25 points and nine of the 10 games he played were on the road. Champs don't need home ice to star on.

Some guy phoned at four a.m. to remind us that Marmora puckists had not only won their first OHA intermediate "C" playdown series in four straight but were leading Havelock 3-0 in the northern TV finals. We appreciated this piece of news tremendously—at four in the morning. However, we promised to mention the fact that the next Havelock-Marmora playoff would be at Civic Arena here this Friday night. Havelock must win, or else. Quite a few local gees on the Havelock lineup which includes: Nicholls, Hannah, Wootton, Kane, Doris, Floyd, Doug and Fred Mortimer, Vitarelli, Brooks, Mason, Ruttan, Laing and Kelly. The Marmora bunch are: Killian, Gray, Leonard, Maynes, the Trumbles, Lavender, Jones, Mantle, Brooks, Brown, Darrah, Paraniuk, Loveless and Smith. Next OHA tilt has Waterford at Marmora this Saturday.

Ontario Semi-Final

Kingston midgets go against the Peterborough Shamrocks in the OMHA midget "A" semi-final series, first fray being here at eight tonight and return one in the Limestone City on Saturday aft. Goals to count, with the winner playing off in provincial finals shortly against either a Toronto or Western Ontario team. The other semi-final bracket hasn't been completed as yet. Pat Doherty has a fine bunch of boys with the Shamrocks, sponsored by the Police Athletic Association here, and if the lads get by Kingston they may well take the Ontario title. They did just that a year ago in bantam "A" play, but stepped up a peg this season. A dandy young puck squad.

* * * * * *

"The luck o' the Irish surely deserted me that time," Bill Crowley remarked immediately after the 5-5 overtime game ended last night in Kingston. He was referring to some barefaced robbery pulled on him by Goalie Colvin of Oshawa Truckmen when Bill almost broke the deadlock in the final minute of play. Yet, the Petes were lucky enough—and good enough—to earn that draw. It's certainly better than a loss to open the senior "B" group finals on the other fellow's ice. Petes were plenty tired from their long, hard series with Orillia and yet they played on even terms with the classy and rested Truckmen in the opener. A fine, fast and clean joust, with smart hockey served up from start to finish by the well-matched group finalists.

* * * * * *

Changed Puck Style

Second of the best-of-seven set will go here Saturday, rather than Friday, in order to give the Petes an extra day of rest. It should jam the joint. Petes have to play a different style of hockey against those former junior "A" stars from Oshawa than they did 'gainst the rugged Orillia Ponties. It's excellent hockey to view. Toodie Greenlaw, Bill Crowley, Ed Redmond and Gus Leonard were each in on two tallies for our side last night; while Sinden, Samanski and Thaler were top point-getters for Truckmen. Goaltending on both sides was brilliant in this opener. Each side scored once when the other team was short a man. Petes drew four of the six minor penalties. Yes, on the whole, the Petes did extra well in splitting the points to start the big series.

* * * * * *

Tex McKenzie won the main bout of the pro mat card at the Brock last p.m. when Jack Dempsey disqualified Fred Atkins after the rough Aussie had knocked Ref Sammy Gotter sprawling in a mixup. Little Sammy is no match for the heavyweight grapplers when they decided to push him around, but nobody even yet shoves the Manassa Mauler and gets away with it. The popular boxing ex-champ keeps in great shape and still packs that kayo punch in either mitt. Ike Eakins, who tried to help Atkins in the final tussle, won the semi-final o'er Ray Cernandas, whilst the prelim betwixt Earl McCready and Alan Garfield resulted in a draw. Crowd wasn't too big, puck playoffs here no doubt stealing the sports' spotlight just now. Dempsey renewed an old friendship at the ringside with Hugh Campbell between bouts.

Tex McKenzie Awarded Bout When Jack Dempsey Disqualifies Fred Atkins

Jack Dempsey still calls the tune. Three decades ago the tune was played by his fists as he became the world's heavyweight boxing champion. Wednesday night the tune was by mouth as he refereed the weekly wrestling at the Brock St. arena.

McKenzie's opponent, the tough Australian champion, Fred Atkins didn't like the tune. Neither did Ike Eakins, a blond-haired beauty who had won the second bout against Spain's Ramon Cernandas.

Atkins angrily stomped about the ring, loudly voicing his opinion of Dempsey's call and brushing against the former champion. But it was Eakins who threatened to punch Dempsey.

That's all Eakins did. The Manassa Mauler waved his huge mitt in Eakins' face. That was more than enough for the Kentucky wrestler.

All the while the enthusiasts booed their tune at the bad men and even rushed the two as they left the ring. But police enabled Atkins and Eakins to skip to the dressing-room with only their pride hurt.

Atkins who isn't the most popular of wrestlers in Peterborough didn't win any friends in the early minutes of the bout. He worked the tall, youthful McKenzie through his bag of tricks such as punching, hair-pulling, eye-rubbing and kicking.

TAKES FALL

After retaliating several times McKenzie succumbed and went down limp on all fours. He went limper as Atkins jumped him, threw on a roll hold and wheelbarrowed about the ring. McKenzie lost interest after the first roll and Atkins easily took the fall with a top spread.

Between falls, McKenzie must have taken boxing tips from the Mauler. For he bashed Atkins with lefts and rights. This Atkins didn't like and he jumped outside the ring, refusing to come in.

When Atkins agreed to return, he wished within seconds he hadn't. McKenzie jumped the Australian and in a fashion like bronco-busting took the second fall.

Atkins was in a bad frame of mind when he came out for the third fall. Despite the efforts of referee Sam Gotter (who alternated with Dempsey) Atkins kicked, roped and punched McKenzie into semi-consciousness.

Finally as Atkins proceeded to strangle the favorite in the corner, Gotter pried into Atkins' affair. He was rewarded with a resounding wallop which sent him sprawling across the ring, half out.

TO THE RESCUE

Eakins who went to Atkins' side in the final bout oddly enough was the crowd's favorite in the semi-final. The blond giant took several minutes of rough treatment from Ramon Cernandas and in that time Eakins' popularity poll soared.

Eventually Eakins responded with similar tactics. Cernandas wilted, was bear-hugged and brought down with a thud. There he was an easy fall for Eakins at the 11-minute mark.

The old veteran, Earl McCready, and England's Alan Garfield started the night off by wrestling to a 30-minute draw. Both treated each other in gentlemanly fashion, much to the crowd's disappointment but they did execute some good holds for those who appreciated them.

St. Mike's Cagers Defeat SPS Midgets

The Toronto midget OABA champions, St. Michael's College, easily defeated the St. Peter's High midgets 63-25 Wednesday in an exhibition game.

The College quintet, who represent Toronto in the championship tournament next week in Windsor, are strong favorites to win the Ontario title. They have height, speed and experience for their age.

The smaller Saints could do little against such height as St. Michael's Howlett who is six-foot three inches and only 14 years old. Their other height, Nevins and Delgado, were the top scorers with 12 and 10 points. Nolan was St. Peter's best with nine.

C. Tamblin Leads

M. Downer had high single of 273 and C. Tamblin top three of 636, including 202 and 239 games, in the Wednesday afternoon girls' bowling loop at Playfair. Dot Martin hit 223, 211 and 201 for 635. Whizz Bangs had an 876 game and 2457 total. Three points each were taken by Whizz Bangs, Happy Gang, Eager Beavers, Dinkies, Playfairs and Rockets over Wild Cats, Cisco Kids, Bombers, Terrors, Tornadoes and Ramblers.

Lumley Sensational As Leafs Edge Canadiens By 3-1

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Every time Harry Lumley kicks out a shot he gets that much closer to $1,000 and hockey's greatest goalkeeping honor. At the rate he was going Wednesday night, Lumley has a good chance of taking the Vezina trophy, awarded to the National Hockey League's top netminder and something that has eluded Harry in his 11-year career in the big time.

He was sensational as Toronto Maple Leafs took over second place with a 3-1 victory over the tough Montreal Canadiens. Harry turned back 22 Canadien shots.

That left Lumley two goals ahead of Terry Sawchuk of Detroit Red Wings, winer of the Vezina for the last two years and favored to take it again this season until Lumley caught fire.

NOT MUCH WORRY

Harry has been scored on 120 times in 68 games. He has two games to go and unless the Leaf defence falls apart he should have little to worry about. Sawchuk, on the other hand, has three games to go.

Lumley didn't have too much work Wednesday night. A Maple Leaf Garden crowd of 14,572, largest of the season in Toronto, saw Canadiens open the scoring early in the first period and then fall under the Leaf attacks.

GOALIE PULLED

Leafs tied it 1-1 before the first period was over and added single goals in the second and third periods. The last counter was fired into an empty net by Rudy Migay as Canadiens tried to tie it up.

Eric Nesterenko and Tod Sloan scored the other Leaf goals. Bernie Geoffrion tallied for Montreal.

Goalkeeper Jacques Plante handed 21 Leaf drives, 10 of them in the third period.

The Leafs' two points lifted them over Montreal into the second-place spot.

Only one game is scheduled for tonight. The Bruins meet the Red Wings in Detroit.

Clare Galvin of The Barclay Says

Our New Spring Fabrics Are A "Must" On Your "Look-See" List

SUCCESS STORY

Mort Gilhooley of Heart's Content
Believed in value for every cent.
At driving bargains he had no match,
And salesmen found him no easy catch.
"Remember," they would hear him holler,
"For fifty cents I expect a dollar!"
Yet Mortimer always looked so neat
At home, at work, or in the street.
His clothes seemed to fit him like his skin,
In finish and style as neat as a pin.
Prosperity rapidly came his way
And to anyone asking he'd always say:
"No matter what you may read in books
The world thinks a man's as-good as he looks.
So with clothes, I played it smart,
Shopped at The Barclay from the start.
With this motto as my guide—to success I rose.
If it's clothes that made the man
Then "Clare Galvin" made the clothes.

Dr. LaFlamme Noted Hockey Figure Dies

WOODSTOCK (CP)—Dr. William J. (Jerry) LaFlamme, a prominent figure in hockey for 35 years, died Wednesday. He was 65.

A native of Woodstock, he was a former coach of the old Montreal Maroons of the National Hockey League and Toronto St. Michael's College hockey teams. He was also a referee in the NHL.

During his years in hockey, Dr. LaFlamme coached several outstanding teams in amateur leagues. He won the Allan Cup at St. Michael's in 1909 and with Toronto Dentals in 1917. He was also prominent with Toronto Granites, Toronto Argonauts, and, late in his career, with London Mohawks of the Michigan-Ontario League.

TWO TITLES IN ROW

In the early 1930s he coached St. Michael's teams to two straight Memorial Cup and Canadian junior hockey championships. He coached such stars as Reggie Hamilton, Pep Kelly, Art Jackson, Bobby Bauer and Nick Metz into professional ranks.

Dr. LaFlamme was a dentist and lived here with his sister, She is the only survivor. He attended Woodstock collegiate and was graduated from the Ontario college of dentistry in 1911. He practised in Toronto until the First World War when he joined the army's dental corps.

Funeral arrangements are not complete.

Reds Trample Buffalo 5-4

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

League-leading Buffalo Bisons had their margin reduced to nine points Wednesday as fifth-place Providence Reds defeated the Bisons 5-4 in the American Hockey League.

Second-place Hershey held on to a one point lead over third-place Cleveland Barons. The Bears beat Syracuse Warriors 6-3 in Hershey.

In Pittsburgh, the Barons shut out the Hornets 3-0, moving five points ahead of the fourth-place Hornets.

Gerry Couture's goal less than three minutes before the end gave Providence their win over Buffalo. Ken Davies and Zellio Toppazzini tallied twice each for the Reds. Don Marshall scored two goals for Buffalo, Harry [illegible] and Hayden getting the others.

In Hershey, Dune Fisher scored three times for the Bears. Other Hershey marksmen were Skip Teal Murray Costello and Norm Corcoran. The Warriors' goals, all in a last-period rally, were by Hartley McLeod, Mike Narduzzi and Eric Pogue.

Olson To Get 40% Split Of Net Gate

CHICAGO (AP) — Middleweight champion Bobo Olson will get a 40-per-cent split of a net gate that may top $300,000 when he defends his title against welterweight king, Kid Gavilan, in Chicago Stadium April 2.

Olson and Gavilan today were to sign a formal contract for the 15-round bout.

Olson also will receive 40 per cent of a reported $100,000 television deal. The Chicago area, stretching as far as Milwaukee, will be blacked out. The fight otherwise will be televised nationally to home viewers.

Gavilan's share of the gate and TV proceeds will be 20 per cent.

Gavilan said he will return to New York today to continue training, returning to Chicago March 25. Olson was to open daily sparring drills at Chicago's Rainbow Arena.

Bea Ross Third In Bowling Event

Irene Atkinson, northern Ontario regional champion who held the lead in the ladies' singles division Monday, and Ruth Grant, Windsor, were eliminated in Wednesday's play.

In the men's singles division, Bill Hoult, Toronto East, continued to lead as he piled up a score of 1,373. Jim McKenzie, Kingston, is second with 1,319.

Sheffield Makes Cup Semi-Final

LONDON (Reuters) — Sheffield Wednesday reached the semi-final of the Football Association Cup by a 2-0 victory over Bolton Wanderers, runners-up in the knockout competition last year.

Sheffield Wednesday, which met Bolton in a sixth-round replay, now will meet either Preston North End or the second division's Leicester City. These two teams again drew Wednesday, finishing 2-2 after extra time.

West Bromwich Albion, fighting to win both the Cup and English League championship, was hit hard in a league game. London's lowly Chelsea downed the Albion 5-0 for the favorites' heaviest defeat this season and first in three months.

In Scotland, Motherwell reached the semi-final of the Scottish Football Association Cup with a 2-1 win over Partick Thistle in a fourth-round replay. Motherwell now will meet Celtic March 27.

Split 10-Round Decision For Johnson

CHICAGO (AP)—Harold Johnson No. 1 light-heavyweight contender, bounced up from a first-round knockdown to gain a split 10-round decision over ninth-ranked Paul Andrews at the Chicago Stadium Wednesday night.

Johnson, aiming for a summer shot at Archie Moore's 175-pound crown, had to turn on the pressure with right-hand blasts to gain his 12th straight victory and his 48th victory against five defeats.

Referee Frank Gilmer voted for Johnson 94-90 and judge John Bray called it for Philadelphia Harold 95-88, while judge Franklin McAdams saw it a 93-93 draw.

URGES LARGER TEAM

MELBOURNE (AP)—Australia will be undermining the British Empire Games if it does not send a larger team to Vancouver in July, William T. J. Uren, general manager of the Australian 1952 Olympic Games, says.

Uren, also a member of the organizing committee for the 1956 games in Melbourne, said:

"We are the champion nation of the British Empire. At Helsinki in 1952 Australia won six gold medals, while the rest of the Empire won six between them. Australia will be host nation for the Olympics in 1956, and unless it is prepared to spend money to send a larger team to Vancouver it cannnot expect other nations to send large teams to Australia.

"We are proposing to send a team of 38. We will have to do a lot better than that if the games are to be a success."

Plans are already being made in Australia to raise money to enlarge the team. The cost of sending an athlete from Australia is estimated at £550 (1,540).

FAVORITES UNCHALLENGED

LONDON (AP)—Irish Lizard and Coneyburrow remained the 9-1 co-favorites Wednesday night at a callover of odds on the Grand National Steeplechase to be raced at Aintree March 27.

The odds were quoted by bookmakers at the Victoria Club for the four-mile, 856-yards course with 30 jumps. Ranking just behind the two favorites was Royal Tan at 10-0, with Churchtown at 100-8 and Tudor Line, 100-7.

Other odds included Mont Tremblant, 100-6; Ordnance and Dominick's Bar, 25-1; Gentle Moya, 28-1; Queen's Taste, Sanperion and Whispering Steel, 33-1; and Southern Coup, 40-1. Odds on other horses in the field of 35 were not quoted.

HOME-BREWS SIGNED

WINNIPEG (CP) — Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Western Inter-Provincial Football Union have announced the signing of three more Canadian players, one a newcomer to 1954 contracts.

Defensive end Tom Harpley, 25, a former Toronto Argonaut and tackle Don Mazur, 21, both signed for their second season.

Sigurdur (Siggy) Paulson, 21-year-old 210-pound tackle or guard last year with the Weston Wildcats of the Manitoba-Saskatchewan Junior League, also signed with the Bombers.

INSURE B.E.G.

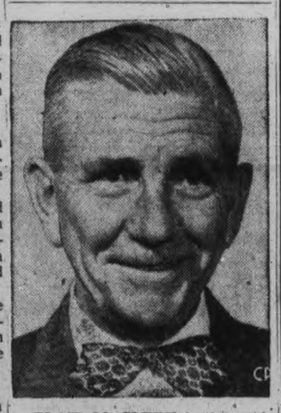
VANCOUVER (CP) — Only an earthquake can do financial damage to the 1954 British Empire Games here July 30-Aug. 7.

Executive members decided Wednesday to insure from loss an estimated $400,000 in gate receipts. Loss of revenue from such hazards as fire, windstorms and theft, will be insured.

But they turned down earthquake insurance without a tremor. Possibilities of a quake severe enough to cause loss at the game were deemed remote.

ESKIMO VETERAN SIGNS

EDMONTON (CP) — Veteran guard Frankie Morris has signed for his fifth season with Edmonton Eskimos, the Western Interprovincial Football Union club has announced. The 30-year-old Morris, former stalwart with Toronto Argonauts, was out the last half of the season with a broken ankle.



Canadian Team Has 2 Impressive Wins

ALDERSHOT, England (CP)—Two impressive victories Wednesday boosted a Canadian team into the finals of the British army basketball championship.

The 16-man Royal Canadian Horse Artillery team, stationed with the 1st Canadian Infantry Brigade group at Soest, Germany, tallied victories of 70-33 and 46-37 over British teams to gain the final round. They meet a Royal Electrical and Mechanical Engineers team today for the British Army United Kingdom-Northwest Europe championship.

Canada took the title for the first time last year with a team from the Royal Canadian Artillery, stationed with the 27th Infantry Brigade in Germany.

Young's Point Gets Win Over Warsaw

WARSAW (ENS)—The Warsaw Flyers, EPL champions, were defeated 10-7 by Young's Point in a fast hockey fray Tuesday night. Play was clean with but three penalties for the entire game. Young's Point has challenged Warsaw to a two-game duel, goals to count, claiming they are a better team. After Tuesday night's game spectators are beginning to wonder.

The scoring started early in the game when Len Lonsberry rapped the puck in at the 10-second mark; then Gary Darling took a pass from Len Lonsberry and banged it in. At 1.15 G. Darling passed the rubber to Smith who outsmarted Spencely. While B. Evans, of Young's Point, was serving a boarding penalty, Len Lonsberry, ably assisted by Gary Darling, slipped the puck in. E. Russell tallied when Hearn fed him the puck and made the score read 4-1 for the first period.

In the second, Griffen opened the scoring on a pass from Evans, McIsaac from Hearn put Young's Point back in the game and at 12.15 Russel from McIsaac tallied again. The period ended 5-4 for Warsaw after B. Shearer from Freeburn scored.

Griffen opened the scoring in the third. But Barcroft from Fawcett and McIsaac twice, Point got three quickies from Fadcett and McIsaac twice, assisted by Russel and Hearn. Barcroft and B. Shearer each scored and Stan Lonsberry from Mathews and H. Darling ended the scoring. Lineups:

Young's Point—Goal, Spencely; defence, Freeburn, McNaughton; Russells; alternates, Barcroft, C. Freeburn, A. Shearer, B. Shearer, B. Evans, Fawcett, Henry, K. Fawcett.

Warsaw — Goal, Wingett, defence, Watts, Payne; centre, L. Lonsberry; wings, G. Darling, Smith; alternates, Mathews, Clements, S. Lonsberry, Evans, Williams, Griffen, H. Darling, Crowe.

Referees, Romhanyi, Kingdon.

Next game is in Warsaw Friday night.

Alcoa Sets Record

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Aluminum Company of America set an all-time production record in 1953, turning out more than 116,000 tons. Alcoa, largest aluminum producer in the world, Wednesday said last year's production represented a 30-per-cent increase over 1952. Net profits of $48,848,094 in 1953 registered a $5,320,852 increase over the preceding year, the firm reported. Net income for each share of common stock amounted to $4.71 compared with $4.19 in 1952.

4 Men Sentenced To Jail For Horse-Switching Plot

By RANALD MacLURKIN

LONDON (Reuters)—Four men were sentenced to prison Wednesday for a horse-switch betting plot fit for the pen of the late Damon Runyon.

For five weeks, race track figures crowded the sombre Old Bailey courtroom to give their version of just what happened in a race at the Bath track last summer.

The judge took three days to sum up the evidence about an unknown but fleet horse being switched at the last moment for a slow nag.

One man was acquitted and the other defendants were sentenced to terms ranging from nine months to three years.

Convicted were:

Harry Kateley, 42-year-old London bookie, named the ringleader of the most sensational racing coup of the century. He was sentenced to three years.

Burly William Maurice Williams, 47, a professional gambler, and Gomer Charles, 46-year-old Welsh bookie, who were both jailed for two years.

Victor Dill, 56, retired army colonel, was sentenced to nine months.

Williams and Charles—the wealthiest of the convicted quartet—were also ordered to pay between them £4,500 towards the cost of their own prosecution.

All five had pleaded not guilty to conspiring to cheat the Bath Race Course Company in western England by runing a swift horse named Santa Amaro for a plodder named Francasal.

So ended the turf scandal which began one day last July when a horse, supposed to be Francasal, an unimpressive French nag, flashed past the winning post. Railbirds were surprised by the win because Francasal was never known for speed. Their suspicions were further aroused when race course police found that the phone cable linking the course with outside bookies had been deliberately cut just before the race.

The wire-cutting job kept the odds on Francasal high. Otherwise bookies would have reduced them, for Kateley, Williams and company had backed the horse heavily.

The conspirators had hoped to win about £60,000—but they never collected. Payment was suspended and Scotland Yard detectives were called in.

ing community in Canada are not too bright just at the moment. A heavy surplus of food lies dormant across the continent while much of Europe starves. Neither side is getting fat and while trade relations remain tangled the situation cannot show relative improvement.

This was the opinion of the Rev. W. A. Young, chaplain at the Ontario Agricultural College in Guelph, when he spoke to a large gathering of junior farmers at their spring show dinner held in the Empress Hotel Wednesday.

However, the chaplain, while denying any attempt to prophesy, said that the future would be better for the farmers. Every month Ontario's population stretched its seams to the tune of 14,000 new immigrants . . . another 14,000 mouths that had to be fed. The farmers would have to feed them.

Right now there was less actual acreage under production than formerly, continued the speaker. But, strange to say, production was up enormously —20 per cent in the last 10 years. However, the producer was having a difficult time because of poor marketing. Some farmers' incomes were down as much as 25 per cent from normal.

CALAMITY HOWLERS

"But, I haven't got any sympathy for these calamity howlers", he said. "These poor people who go around crying depression and . . . er . . . whatnot. They're just defeatists. That kind of talk and thinking is just what will bring about a depression".

Mr. Young bolstered the confidence of several hundred farmers, young and old, by painting a futuristic picture of abundant markets, steady prices and prosperity. To obtain all this, so he said, they must look to the future without fear.

"And that means without fear of fear", he added with emphasis.

So his advice was to build up for the future. In the future there would be increased markets to be on their toes to meet the great demand for foodstuffs.

"Every farmer will have to be on the ball when this demand has to be supplied. He will have to know more about more things than anyone else".

His advice to gain these ends was hard work and efficient preparation. Machinery must be ready and the rural population adequately educated.

Mr. Young was enthusiastic on the education angle. He gave the names of several well-known agricultural centres of learning and expressed the hope that young formers would try to take the opporunities of advancement that these places afforded. Education was the key to a brighter and better farming future.

ADJUSTMENT PERIOD

The uneasy period being experienced at the moment was merely a period of adjustment and perhaps a time when farmers might have to reverse their ideas. The nation had to learn how to market better its goods and it was necessary to take a long term view of things.

He told the gathering that it was especially the farmers' business and duty to prepare for the time when their products would be badly needed. He said that Canada enjoyed the highest standard of living in the world.

Before beginning his speech proper, Mr. Young unloaded from an evidently vast repertoire, about 11 amusing stories which "I think are fit to tell". They were received with gusto.

The speaker was introduced by agricultural representative Frank Patterson. Included among official guests were the Hon. Harold R. Scott and Mayor Norman Graham.

The bonspiel for Saturday has been changed from a 28-rink entry to a 14-rink competition. Each rink will play three 10-end games. Play begins at nine o'clock sharp and the bonspiel will conclude around six p.m.

At night (Saturday night, that is) at 7:30 o'clock the final games of the Sturgeon Trophy, primary and consolation events, will be held. The remaining five ices will be available for the regular mixed rink bonspiel. Refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the games.

On Wednesday, March 24, we play for the Ostrander Trophy: It's our last open bonspiel of the season. It was a dandy bonspiel last season, and the committee hopes that this year it will be as good or better.

Get up a rink and join the crowd. Give your entry to Fred Stenson or Ira Moore.

Plan Crackdown On Illegal Use Of Gasoline

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Alberta legislature plans to crack down on persons who use purple gasoline illegally.

Purple gasoline, made available mainly for farm vehicles, sells without the 10-cents-a-gallon Alberta tax residents pay on regular gasoline. It's illegal to use the purple fuel in automobiles and other vehicles.

Greater penalties are provided for in amendments to the province's Fuel Oil Tax Act given first reading Wednesday.

A $600-a-session pay increase for Alberta representatives was authorized in a bill given first reading. The bill increases members' sessional indemnities and expenses to $3,600.

In the Saskatchewan house, the CCF government approved the province's record $78,000,000 budget, but the 10-member Liberal opposition voted against it.

Veterans who settled in certain areas of northeastern Saskatchewan may get as much as $1,200 each for clearing and breaking land. Agriculture Minister I. C. Nollet said $600,000 will be paid out this year.

In the Manitoba house, Provincial Treasurer R. D. Turner forecast a $439,431 surplus for 1954 as he detailed the year's budget to the Liberal-Progressive government and Progressive Conservative opposition. Anticipated revenue was $57,322,450, nearly half in tax-rental payments from the federal government.

Mr. Turner said a new "low rate" tax will be put on producing oil wells this year that will give the government "approximately $30,000 in the first year." Mr. Turner said the tax will follow closely the pattern of the other western provinces.

In Nova Scotia, the Liberal government defeated a non-confidence motion of the Progressive Conservative opposition calling for more efforts on economic development.

Industries Minister Wilfred Dauphinee said the gross value of manufacturing had reached an all-time high and that the province had one of the best years in history.

Ask Ratepayers Meeting To Discuss New School

They reported the school was badly in need of repairs. The school board had been in touch with a contractor who would build a school for about $17,000. They asked council's permission to have debentures issued for the purpose.

After some discussion, council decided the South Cavan School Area board should call a meeting of ratepayers of the area to find out how they feel about the project.

Tax Collector A. V. Thorn reported $1,490.41 in taxes had been collected last month. Four properties on which taxes are due are to be put up for sale. It was also decided to extend the roll another month.

GRAVEL CONTRACT

Tenders for gravel were read in the presence of E. F. Marston, district engineer, and it was decided to give the contract to the R. A. Blythe Co., Toronto. Their offer was to crush and haul up to six miles at 73 cents a cubic yard, plus an additional seven cents a mile or fraction of a mile over six miles.

The company's representative, when called into the meeting, said the company would be ready to fulfill the contract whenever the road superintendent had the roads ready for gravelling.

Tenders on a ¾-ton pickup truck were read and, after considerable discussion, it was decided to accept the tender of A. Tinney and Son for $1,836.74.

CONCESSION ROAD

The failed portion of the 13th concession road was discussed and Reeve Lloyd Hooton reported on his interview with Mr. McInnis, chief municipal engineer. The council had asked for an 80 per cent subsidy on this stretch of road.

The department of highways was said not to have been in favor of using cedar or timber as fill but recommended gravel or clay. Mr. McInnis said he would contact the minister of highways and would let the council know later what he decided.

A motion by councillors Thorn and Kinsman that warble fly powder be bought from Delbert Olan carried. A motion by Councillor Cathcart and Deputy-Reeve McKnight that all cattle in the township should be sprayed as has been done in the last two years, and that Alvin Olan be engaged to do the spraying and L. H. Winslow.

Letters were read from the Hydro commission about contracts for wiring houses for A. H. Veals and J. H. Kinsman. A letter from the Ganaraska River Conservation Authority acknowledged a cheque for $300, the annual grant from Cavan council.

WEED SPRAYING

A letter from the department of botany asked for care in spraying roadside weeds so that the spray would not go on the adjoining fields and destroy plants. Harry Tully was again appointed weed inspector.

The clerk was asked to write to the Durham Junior Farmers, explaining that since a grant for 1953 had not been solicited, none had been sent. Council expresed regret that since the books for 1953 had been closed it would be impossible to pay a grant for last year. If the organization wanted a grant for 1954, they were asked to request it from the council.

Bounties for 60 foxes had been collected during the season which lasted from December, 1953, to Februray 28, 1954.

An invitation for the council, their ladies and the clerk to attend the Chamber of Commerce annual banquet in St. Andrew's church hall on March 26 was read.

Accounts totalling $2,358.83 were voted paid.

KILLED IN CRASH — Wing Cmdr. Frank H. Darragh, AFC, 33, of Regina was killed when his F-86 Sabre jet fighter crashed near its RCAF base at Baden Soellingen, Germany. A former executive assistant to the chief of the air staff, he was officer commanding 444 Squadron at the German base.—(CP from National Defence).

French Ship Refloated

HONOLULU (AP)—The French liner Tahitian, which ran aground at the entrance to Papeete harbor in Tahiti, was refloated last Saturday, a delayed dispatch to the Honolulu Star-Bulletin reported today. The report said inspection showed no damage to the 12,000-ton ship and she sailed with 300 passengers for France. Tugs refloated her at high tide.

Mrs. H. Wilford Again Heads Guides, Brownies

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—Mrs. Harold Wilford was hostess to the Lakefield and district association of Guides and Brownies for their annual meeting.

The work of the association was outlined by the chairman Mrs. Wilford, in her annual report. They had paid half the census and insurance for Leaders, Tawny Owls, Guides and Brownies and, where necessary, gave Leaders money for badges and stars. They also purchased belts, ties, berets, lanyards and whistles for the Tawny Owls, and suits for two of the leaders. Pike and trefoil crests for Guides were bought and they helped pay for the prizes and supper for the Guides and Brownie picnics.

Under their leadership a Mothers' Auxiliary was formed. They assisted at all church parades, field day and Remembrance Day parades.

When events took the girls out of town, transportation was arranged by the associatoin. They attended the Guide "hostess party" and "flying-up" ceremony.

BADGES ISSUED

Guide Captain Mrs. Eldon Jewell reported 28 Guide members; Mrs. Reg. Doubt, leader of the first Brownie pack, has 26 in her group and Mrs. T. E. M. Last, second Brownie pack leader, reported 18 in hers.

The draw for a $50 bond, on which the members have been selling tickets, will be made on Wednesday, March 31, in Memorial Hall when diplomas will be presented to [illegible] examinations held by the St. John's Ambulance Corps.

An election of officers resulted as follows: Chairman, Mrs. Harold Wilford; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. C. M. Serson; badge secretary, Mrs. J. O. Huddart. Other members of the association are Mrs. J. A. Arnott, Mrs. A. W. Newson, Mrs. G. Winder Smith, Mrs. A. C. Mackie, Mrs W. C. Grant, Mrs. G. E. Renwick and Mrs. K. Slater.

PC Member J. D. Nault Dies

OTTAWA (CP) — J. D. Nault, Progressive Conservative member of the Ontario legislature for Russell since 1948, died early today. He was 65.

Mr. Nault, in ill-health for some time, had missed the current session of the legislature because of heart trouble.

His death was the third among Progressive Conservative members of the legislature since the present session began. Funeral services were held Wednesday for C. Gordon MacOdrum, 46, member for Leeds who died Monday. On March 1, William B. Harvey, member for Nipissing, died in Toronto.

A native of Ottawa, Mr. Nault was first elected to the Ontario legislature in 1948 and was re-elected in 1951.

His death cut Progressive Conservative strength in the 90-seat house to 77. There are six Liberals, two CCF, one Liberal-Labor and one Communist Labor-Progressive. Three seats are vacant.

Mrs. Lewis Scriver

HASTINGS (ENS)—The funeral of Mrs. Lewis Scriver was held from the residence of her son, Clifford, to Trinity United church for service with the Rev. N. Cole officiating.

Born in Toronto, Mrs. Scriver was in her 72nd year. She was the daughter of the late Michael Tobin and his wife Sarah Hunter.

A resident of Hastings for the past 45 years, Mrs. Scriver's interests were her home and family. She was a member of Trinity United church, and an honorary member of Unit 458 of LOBA, which attended the funeral in a body and took part in the graveside service.

Predeceased by her husband, she is survived by her son, Clifford, granddaughter, Mrs. John E. Heard (Barbara), and one brother, Albert Tobin of Toronto.

Pallbearers were: W. W. Knight, H. Henry, James Montgomery, J. S. Stevenson, L. Brownell, George Rigby.

Flower bearers were: Sherman Scriver, A. L. Scriver, Cecil Scriver, J. M. Baker, W. J. McMillan, W. S. Fife, Guy Wellman, D. Beamish. Interment was in Trent Valley cemetery.

Mineral Rights Belong To Most Property Owners

Most private owners of land, generally also own the mines and minerals rights on their property, said Ontario provincial geologist Dr. M. E. Hurst on Wednesday evening. He was addressing members of the Peterborough branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada.

The avalanche of requests for information regarding the status of mineral rights on privately-owned properties has flooded the Ontario department of mines during the last few days. A number of locations in the more settled parts of Ontario have been reported to the department within the last few months.

During the past few years where summer sites have been purchased from the Department of Lands and Forests, in most cases, the minerals are reserved to the Crown. The Mining Act provides that no mining claim shall be staked out or recorded on any land which has been reserved or set apart by the Department of Lands and Forests for summer resort purposes, except where the Minister of Mines certifies in writing that in his opinion discovery of valuable mineral in place has been made. Since the recent rush of staking north of Peterborough, in Muskoka and Parry Sound districts, no such certification has been given by the Minister of Mines, nor would such certification be given unless a worthwhile discovery is proven to the satisfaction of the Minister.

Dr. Hurst pointed out to the members that as far back as May, 1913, legislation had been enacted which wiped out the reservation of minerals contained in patents issued prior to that date. Since 1913 the general policy has been to include mines and minerals in land grants.

He advised that anyone who wanted to reassure himself as to the status of mineral rights of his property may do so by writing to the department of mines and giving a description of his property.

The institute was chaired by Peterbrough branch chairman W. P. Watts.

...L MARRIED?—Mrs. Joan Scott Baker (above) told a New York Supreme Court that she is still married to Seth Baker, who wed Jack Benny's adopted daughter. Baker obtained a Virgin Islands divorce and Mrs. Baker went to court to seek a separation decree and a judgment naming her as Baker's wife.

ATOM VICTIM—Sanjiro Masuda, one of 23 Japanese fishermen reported to have suffered burns and other radiation injuries in the area of the Pacific where atomic tests were made, smokes a cigarette while waiting to be examined at a Tokyo hospital.

Western Tire Re-opens

Undaunted By Fire Two Partners Ready To Start Business Again

Peterborough has two young businessmen who are determined not to be daunted in the face of a pretty rough deal, even though it be termed an "act of God".

On the night of February 11, a $412,000 fire ravaged three city stores. One of them was Western Tire and Auto Store owned by Ralph Salmon and Bob Kennedy, who had been in business just 15 months. Although the flames spelt f-i-n-i-s for a while, the two partners have gathered together all available finances, insurance being a major contributor, and Friday they will open their business once more, this time at 431 George St., next to the Victoria and Grey building.

11-DAYS AS PARTNERS

Ralph Salmon started off the business with associate Ray Switzer in November, 1952. Bob Kennedy bought out Switzer's partnership just 11 days before the disaster.

Interviewed Wednesday the two partners said they hoped they would make out all right in their new premises. They had managed to build up a flourishing business at the former location and in a year had doubled their business.

COMPLETE NEW STOCK

Losing everything in the fire has meant having to completely restock all the tires, motor accessories and car parts that form their trade. They are both very anxious to get going again and hope that the temporary hold-up in business has not lost them too many customers.

Before starting out in his own business, Ralph Salmon was with Metropolitan Stores for 15 years, serving for some time as manager. For five years previous to buying into Western Tire, Bob Kennedy was employed by Peterborough Automotive.

70,000 People Bid Farewell To Queen

BRISBANE, Australia (AP) — Some 70,000 people lined the nine-mile route from the city to Brisbane airfield today to bid farewell to Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh after their nine-day visit to tropical Queensland.

The royal pair took off in their Constellation from the airfield for their longest flight of the Australian tour—more than 1,000 miles to Adelaide in South Australia.

They are stopping at Broken Hill, New South Wales' "silver city," on the way, to meet some of Australia's top industrialists and see the surface works of the huge zinc corporation mines.

24th Consecutive Victory For Durham County Junior Seedmen

Garnet Rickard Captures Seed Show Championship

The entries of Garnet Rickard of Bowmanville counted up the highest total score in the seed exhibits to give him the grand championship of the Central Ontario Spring Show at Exhibition Park. His prize, the major award, was a splendid silver tray, presented to him Wednesday night by F. C. Paterson, general manager of the Show.

Mr. Rickard also took home a smaller piece of silverware for winning the championship in the barley section. The other champions, sharing in the silver distribution, were: James T. Brown, Newcastle, RR 2, in oats; Murray Holtby, Port Perry, winter wheat; William Curle, Campbellford, red clover; Milton Weatherilt, Bethany, potatoes.

Durham county prominence in the show was further accentuated by the accomplishment of its 4-H Club in retaining the Agrico trophy for the third year in a row.

This was the 24th consecutive victory for Durham junior seedsmen in Central Ontario intercounty competition. The bulk of their string of wins extends back into the years when the show was the rotating Quinte District Seed Fair.

82 REGISTERED

Each of the nine counties was entitled to send ten boys to the seed judging Wednesday in the market hall. The total registration was 82. That was twenty-five more than last year.

The three juniors who won for Durham Wednesday with their high individual scores combined were: Donald Green, Nestleton; Maurice Hallowell, Orono, and Gerald Brown, Newcastle, RR 2. Their coach was Ed A. Summers, Bowmanville, agricultural representative, and his assistant, James Brown, who is not of the president's family.

Mr. Summers has been so consistently successful with his Durham judging teams, year after year, that the achievement of the youngsters he had groomed for the 1954 seed show was hardly a surprise. It would have been notably exceptional if they had failed his confidence in selecting them.

The Durham score, 2,440 points, with the Hastings county entry placing second with an aggregate of 2,368 points. The young men of the group who comprised their second spot team were: Ted Burnside, Madoc; Robert Burkett, Frankford, and Ross Bateman, Tweed. They were coached by A. O. Dalrymple, Stirling, agricultural representative, and his assistant, J. A. Francis.

An Ontario county trio was a strong third with 2,327 points, and the others were: Lennox-Addington 2,312; Victoria 2,292; Prince Edward 2,285; Frontenac and Peterborough, tied, 2,258; Northumberland 2,229.

TWO SESSIONS

The seed judging and examinations in the market hall extended through morning and afternoon sessions. Of the first six in the individual scoring, five were from Durham. Some of the individual results were: Donald Green 822; Maurice Hallowell 813; Ted Burnside, Madoc, 808; Gerald Brown 805, tied with Ken Brooks, Bowmanville, and right behind them was Ronald Brooks 804. William Elliott, Newmee 803 and Nelson Cardiner, [illegible] 801.

Doug Alyea, Pickering RR 1, Ontario county, was 9th at 795 points, and for 10 place, Laurence McLaughlin, Nestleton, RR 2, and Robert Burkitt of Frankford with 794 each.

William Chamberlain, Peterborough, RR 7, was 12th, 780; Jim Semple, Pefferlaw, Ontario county, 776; Harold Hannah, Catarqui, Frontenac, 774; John Dorinberg, Picton, 770; Glen Cornell, Omemee, RR 3, 767; Ross Bateman, Tweed, 766.

TOPS IN CLASSES

The announcement of the results by Lynn Fair, Uxbridge, agricultural representative in Ontario county, Wednesday night included the individual high scores in the various classes of seed. They were:

Barley: Ted Burnside, Madoc; Jim Semple, Pefferlaw, and Gerald T. Brown, Newcastle, tied with the perfect score of 150.

Wheat: Maurice Hallowell, Orono, 148, but as he shared in the award to the top trio from Durham, the prize of registered grain passed to Ken Brooks, Bowmanville, 145 points.

Red Clover: Bill K. Lake, Bat[illegible]

Alfalfa: Ted MacCauley, Cherry Valley, Prince Edward, 140.

In returning the Agrico trophy to the three top Durham Juniors, Charles F. McGuire, Port Hope, representing the company, said they had sustained the great record of their county.

"I also wish to congratulate all the boys who have made this judging competition more successful than ever this year," Mr. McGuire said. "Their enthusiasm impresses me, and I wish them opportunities to put that lively spirit to good use in the future."

Early Oats—1 John Cruickshank, Hampton (Lasain); 2 J. T. Brown; 3 Colin Smith, Bowmanville; 4 J. W. Boyd & Son, Orono.

TEN BUSHEL LOTS

Oats, Early—1 J. W. Boyd & Son; 2 G. B. Rickard; 3 Colin Smith; 4 J. T. Brown & Sons.

Oats, Late—1 Ernest Cavano; 2 Roy McHolm; 3 Harold Swain; 4 G. B. Rickard.

Potatoes, Late—1 Leonard Porter, Pontypool; 2 M. Weatherilt; 3 E. Cavano.

JUNIOR SECTION

Barley—1 M. Brown.

The Wednesday night program, including the presentation of prizes opened with an hour of music by the Peterborough Citizens Band under the direction of Wally Parnell. The band delighted their audience, most of whom were from the townships, and strengthened the complimentary opinions they won a year ago.

Peterborough Junior Farmers Choir with their director, Charles E. Allen at the piano, sang with charming effect a group of numbers including a tuneful group of Victor Herbert melodies. Robert McDougal, an Otonabee junior, was surprisingly clever with "magic" tricks.

Whites Had Bible Blacks, Land Now Reversed

MILLBROOK (ENS)—The Golden Links Mission Circle of St. Andrew's which regularly meets in the home of one of the members, held their March meeting in the church hall on Tuesday evening.

The Rev. Margaret Butler conducted the study period and showed a film strip in the problems confronting South Africa. The chief problem throughout Africa remains the color bar. In the Union of South Africa the government under Premier Malan, advocates segregation.

In Kenya, Mau Mau terrorists, and in Egypt, demonstrations against the British were further examples of conflict between races. She quoted the saying, "When the white man came to Africa he had the Bible and the black man had the land. Now the black man has the Bible and the white man has the land". The work of the church is bound to be affected by the conflict between black and white.

There have been Christians in North Africa since New Testament times. The first theological seminary founded was in Alexandria. In spite of persecution by Moslems, two pockets of Christions survived, one in Ethiopia and the other in Egypt. At the present time there are 5 million of these Coptic Christians in Africa, 13 million Protestants and 11 million Roman Catholics. In the last 50 years the Christian church has grown faster in Africa than anywhere else in the [illegible]

Mrs. Buker was assisted in presenting the study book by Mrs. Lavern Gibson and Mrs. Paul Elson.

The worship service was conducted by Mrs. Ernest Powell. Mrs. Clarence Ball gave the Scripture reading; Miss Marjorie Skitch offered prayer, Mrs. Ray Nelson gave a reading on "The Second Mile" and Mrs. Bruce Ingham dedicated the offering.

Plans were made for a joint meeting with the C.G.I.T. in April. It was decided that it should be held April 27th and that the loose collection from this Thank-offering meeting should go to the CGIT.

Mrs. Johnson Rowland, Christian citizenship secretary, gave a talk on "Worship and Service".

Mrs. Butler announced that the new nursery in which mothers might leave children under six years of age during the church service would be ready to operate next Sunday. Plans for the nursery have been under discussion for some time. Mrs. Ray Nelson was chosen as superintendent of this new department.

Supper hostesses were Mrs. Lavern Gibson, Mrs. Ernest Powell, Miss Marjorie Skitch and Mrs. Arnold Fallis.

Mrs. Foster Hostess To Hastings Ladies

HASTINGS (ENS)—Mrs. F. C. Foster was hostess to Group 2 of Trinity United Church with 20 members and two visitors present.

The president, Mrs. Arthur Beamish, opened the meeting with prayer. Mrs. J. M. Baker had charge of the devotional theme, "The Way of the Cross." Scripture from Luke 9 was read by Mrs. R. Collins.

The Hope Chest is again making a good showing and articles will be on sale along with home baking on May 22. Two quilts have been completed and are now ready for sale.

Mrs. W. Way will be hostess for the Easter meeting on August 21. Committee, Mrs. A. Waters, Mrs. W. Orr, Mrs. V. Oliver, Mrs. H. Anderson.

Mrs. L. Humphries gave a talk on her trip through the States, and showed pictures of points of interest.

Lunch was served by the hostess and committee in charge.

British Ship Pursued

HONG KONG (AP)—The British Wheelock Marden Co. today said an unidentified gunboat chased its 363-ton freighter Nigelock Wednesday in Formosa strait. The ship radioed that it had eluded the gunboat after a three-hour zigzag run and reached the Red China port of Amoy.

PCs Give Drew Vote Of Confidence

OTTAWA (CP) — Progressive Conservatives have injected new blood into its top party echelon and given party leader George Drew a vote of confidence.

Those were the main decisions emerging from the two-day annual meeting of the party's national association which ended Wednesday.

The vote of confidence in Mr. Drew came shortly after the meetings started. The same day saw the election of George Hees, 43-year-old member of Parliament for [illegible] president.

The twin themes of party reorganization and renewed efforts to win the next general election, expected in three or perhaps four years, ran through most of the speeches and decisions.

Mr. Hees promised "to revitalize our organization from coast to coast" and set a target of election preparedness in three years.

The association moved Wednesday to back his efforts and adopted a resolution to appoint a national organizer, if needed, to work with him.

More than 800 delegates and members attending the gathering—the largest number to attend an annual meeting of the party which this year is making its 100th birthday.

Wednesday was taken up with study of resolutions, most of which were a restatement of policies already established. Two of them, however, struck new ground.

[illegible] accused of disloyalty under the government's security screening should have the right of appeal. It said government action against communism should be "by rule of law and not by police-state methods so that no one is accused or convicted without knowing the charges against him and having an opportunity to reply to them."

The other resolution said, in effect, that the full amount of Quebec province's new income tax levy should be deductible from federal income taxes.

Quebec this year will be the only province to levy its own personal income tax, amounting to about 15 per cent of federal collections in the province. Federal laws permit Quebec taxpayers to deduct a maximum five per cent of federal payments.

Future Of English In India Subject Of Controersy

Advocates of English say "English is ours; it is not a foreign language." Its opponents declare that the "craze for the continuance of English is a slavish mentality left behind by alien rulers."

Nowhere is the controversy more heated than in cosmopolitan Bombay where a recent state government order prohibits the admission of pupils whose mother tongue is not English to schools where English is the medium of instruction.

Opponents of English favor replacing it by Hindi or regional languages as quickly as possible, in Parliament, in universities and schools and as the language of the administration.

USED IN PARLIAMENTS

English today holds undisputed sway in the central and state parliaments and in the courts of law throughout India, as well as being the language in which all official administration is carried on.

It is the medium of instruction in the universities and in the majority of schools.

It is also the official language of the army, navy and air force.

Much of India's commerce and trade are also conducted in English. India's minister for information and broadcasting, B. V. Keskar, says:

"For the past 150 years, we have been utilizing English as a medium of our higher education. When it was first introduced it might have served the purpose of bringing us into contact with the outside world but it has on the other hand crippled the growth of Indian languages and therefore of Indian thought and culture."

'POWERFUL WEAPON'

An opposite point of view is taken by K. M. Munshi, governor of Uttar Pradesh. He said: "History has placed in our hands a powerful weapon for spreading India's message throughout the world. We would betray our ancient heritage and future destiny if we were to allow it to rust."

Munshi said there should be "progressive displacement" of English by Hindi, but added that this was not the same as saying that English should be replaced forthwith, irrespective of the consequences.

In a similar vein, the president of Bombay congress committee, S. K. Patil, said: "The English language is one of our national possessions, of which we ought to be proud. In our struggle for liberation, it was this language which provided a cementing force."

24 U.S. Cities Have Radar Set-up

NEW YORK (AP)—An aviation company official says more than two dozen cities in the United States and Alaska will be equipped with a new radar set-up to allow airport landings and takeoffs at a one-a-minute clip even in zero visibility.

Edward K. Foster, vice-president of the Bendix Aviation Corp., said Wednesday the new radar development technically is capable of "landing any aircraft equipped for normal instrument flight regardless of visibility."

The equipment, he added, "will practically eliminate landing delays due to fog."

New Convertible For Duke Of Edinburgh

LONDON (CP)—The Duke of Edinburgh will pick up a new green convertible in May when he returns from the Commonwealth tour with the Queen.

The six-cylinder, standard-design auto is a coupe capable of speeds up to 100 miles an hour, with normal fittings of radio, air conditioning, heater and de-mister.

U.S. Anglers Boycott Canada Abolition Family Licenses

Abolition of the family fishing license for non-resident anglers has aroused a storm of reaction in Peterborough and district as well as in the United States.

Although he was not opposing the new regulations, which fix a flat $6.50 seasonal rate for non-resident anglers chamber of commerce manager James M. Fraser said that the provincial departments involved should make some explanation of the reasons behind the new scheme.

In a telegram to Col. C. D. Crowe, deputy minister of the Ontario department of travel and publicity, Mr. Fraser said that "some public relations work should be done explaining reasons for the change." He could then provide protesting resort operators, American visitors and U.S. newspapers with reasons for the government's stand.

A blistering letter from an Ohio resident criticizing the recent action of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests in cancelling non-resident family fishing licenses started the chain-reaction in this district.

"We can spend our money at home, if that's the way your government feels about it" writes H. E. Hollinger speaking for 20 members of the Sportsmen's Club in Navarre, Ohio. Mr. Hollinger was particularly upset over the regulation which requires all visiting fishermen to buy individual licences at $6.50 instead of family licences at $9.50.

Ken Hartwick, fish and game columnist for the Massillon (Ohio) Independent is particularly caustic about the new regulations. He said that Ontario "obviously does not want families from the United States to fish in Ontario" and fears that Quebec may come up with "some similar silly action."

NO INFLUENCE

"There's nothing we can do about it," said Fred Austin, president of the Rice Lake Tourist Association. He said that the Department of Lands and Forests, Wildlife Division is "under the influence" of the Toronto Anglers' Association and this group "has never done, and has no desire to do anything for the tourist trade".

Mr. Austin said that some non-resident anglers are guilty of taking more than the day's limit, and that the regulation requiring no angler to have more than a day's limit at one time is a good one. But, said Mr. Austin, "lots of Canadians are fish-hogs too."

"I'm not in the resort business for my health," said Mr. Austin, who operates Shanty Shore at Keene. He was not enthusiastic about the abolition of family fishing licenses, and is sending a delegation to Queen's Park to present the case of the Association. He said the question is especially important because "60 per cent of all tourists bring their fishing poles."

But Mr. Austin was pessimistic about what chances his association might have in Toronto. "Show me any resolution," he said, "from a small association which has been accepted in Toronto." He felt that the Toronto Anglers Association can "always get anything they ask" for they have fish and game laws in Ontario "sewn up".

OPPOSITE VIEW

Another resort operator was equally vociferous in his support of the government's action. Said he: "In ten years we'll be thanking the government for taking this step."

"It's about time these Americans stopped getting something for nothing. It's time we smartened up and charged a proper price for the fish we have. I'm fed up with them coming in and trying to take everything."

One downtown businessman and an ardent fisherman expressed the view that the whole thing is "pretty much of a storm in a teacup anyway." He said that any family is paying, as a whole, only $8 more for 14 solid days of fishing, and that if they can afford to come up here for a holiday in the first place, the extra charge will not be too heavy.

Family fishing licences are impractical in any case, said this source, because "every brother-in-law, wife's cousin or vague relation tries to wiggle into the family to avoid paying a few bucks."

EXPRESS CONCERN

A meeting of a special committee of retailers, primarily meeting to expand membership in the retail section of the Chamber of Commerce, expressed concern over the edict. They are setting up a tourist committee to study the issue further.

"I am enclosing a clipping from the Massilon Independent pertaining to the new fishing laws.

"I have been coming to Ontario for the past 12 years with my family, and we have made many fine friends in your country.

"This matter (no family licences) came up at the Sportsmen's Club the other night and at least 20 different men said they were through with Ontario.

"We have our reservations made and partly paid for or we would go to north Michigan.

"With work like it is now, there are a lot of families that cannot afford it—those with two or three children, and there are a lot of people who don't like being taken.

"You know the old saying about [illegible] amounts to.

"We have a lot of good fishing down in our southern states so you see we can spend our money at home if that is what your government wants."

Educationists Suggest School Changes

TORONTO (CP)—Two Toronto educationists Wednesday night suggested several changes in present university and secondary school systems.

Professor G. M. A. Glube, head of the classics department, University of Toronto, said university students should have a month free of lectures during the school year.

During a panel discussion at Trinity College he said:

"Students have twice too many lectures. I wonder when they think."

A reduction of lectures would bring a five-fold improvement in learning and also benefit professors.

CAN'T BE INSPIRING

"Nobody can be inspiring for 13 hours a week. No preacher preaches 13 inspiring sermons a week."

Students could do three-quarters of the work on their own, he said.

Harold Bennett, principal of Victoria College suggested different schools for academically-inclined students who would continue their studies and those who quit school at Grade 12.

"The good students are as good as they ever were. But there is a lack of challenge to the bright students in the secondary schools. There is a danger we are getting into a rut of mediocrity."

CATLIKE SOUND

The catbird of eastern Canada, a type of mocking-bird, is so named because of its harsh, mewing cry.

Oppose Gambling In Any Of Its Form

TORONTO (CP) — The board of evangelism and social action of the Presbyterian Church in Canada has announced its opposition to gambling whether carried on under governmental, religious or other sanctions.

"Legalized lotteries, even though granted official recognition by the state, would nevertheless be regarded as an evil by the church," the board said after its annual meeting.

LOYALIST TOWN

Digby in Nova Scotia was named after the admiral who convoyed 1,500 loyalists there in 1785.

More Restrained

LUND, Sweden (CP)—The spring carnival at historic Lund University next May will be a little more conservative than last year. Police authorities received a promise that co-eds in the parades will not stop to kiss police patrols, a practice that caused serious traffic jams last time.

Stomach Yields Pins

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Mrs. Letha Della Overton, charged with mailing poison candy to a group of church workers, was operated on Wednesday night for removal of a large assortment of pins from her stomach. After an operation of 3½ hours, her condition was reported to be "fairly good." A surgeon said he removed four open safety pins, four needles, six straight pins and 65 bobby pins.

Dream Come True

FERNDALE, Md. (AP) — The dream of many a veteran came true for Leland F. Corbett. Corbett, a state trooper, Wednesday stopped a car for speeding on the new Baltimore-Washington expressway. He recognized the driver as William Leo Daly, his former army company commander. Daly posted $11.45 bail, which he forfeited by failing to show up for trial.

WORLD'S MOST POWERFUL ATOM-SMASHER — This is the most powerful atom-smasher in the world, just unveiled at the University of California. It cost $9,000,000 to build and will be used to produce synthetic cosmic rays and mesons, which are the "glue" that binds atomic nuclei together. It's called the Bevatron, and the magnet in it stands 14 feet high and has an outside diameter of 135 feet.

SHE'S THE "OSCAR" GIRL—Scoop! Here's the actress who's the winner of the Best Performance "Oscar" award to be announced by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and sciences on March 25. Don't jump to conclusions, however. True, that's the head and neck of Audrey Hepburn, but the rest of the picture is made up of parts of other Oscar candidates—Ava Gardner's shoulders and bust; Maggie McNamara's arms; Deborah Kerr's legs and the shoes and suitcase of Leslie Caron. For candidates see Page 25.

Germany Slashes Car Prices

BONN (AP)—West Germany has made a bid to become the world's biggest automobile producer outside the United States by slashing the price of the Volkswagen, its popular small car.

A seven-per-cent cut in the price of the Volkswagen announced at the Geneva motor show shook the British and French exhibitors.

The German challenge came as their production hit nearly 50,000 vehicles in the short month of February.

West Germany passed 1953 as the third biggest manufacturer of automobiles in Europe by making 490,581 cars and trucks and selling 177,717 of them in 100 countries for nearly $300,000,000.

This compared with total British production of 835,000 and France's 497,000.

You can't drive more than a few miles anywhere in western Europe without seeing one of the rear-engined Volkswagens. It was originally designed as the "people's car" Hitler promised would belong to every German family.

In Germany the standard model costs $940 and the better finished export model just under $200 more. Prices abroad vary according to import duties and delivery costs.

FARM GROUPS

Agricultural societies devoted to farm improvement were founded in both Upper and Lower Canada before 1800.

Find 6 Survivors Of Crippled Plane

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP) — An amphibious rescue plane landed here today with six survivors and the body of one man killed in bailing out of a crippled C-119 Flying Boxcar 100 miles east of Formosa.

The pilot and co-pilot landed the faltering plane safely at Taipeh a few minutes later. It had developed engine trouble en route from Okinawa to Formosa.

Only minutes after they hit the water, the men who parachuted were picked up by an amphibious plane of the Chinese Nationalist Foshing air line.

No names were announced.

France Hoping U.S. Will Buy Chinese Support

By PRESTON GROVER

PARIS (AP)—Despite the stern words coming from Washington, France hopes and expects that at the Geneva conference next month the United States will help buy Chinese Communist support to end the Indo-Chinese war.

If that U.S. help isn't forthcoming, some French officials say, the result might well be a new French government that would turn its back on U.S. plans for defending Europe, particularly the proposed European Army.

The French know they have nothing to offer that China wants seriously. French recognition of Peiping wouldn't ripple a Communist hair. What China will want, France expects, is some inducement that will justify Peiping's joining in a five-power pact to bring peace in Indo-China.

Just any sort of end of the war won't do. In French eyes, a deal must be worked out which will permit France to stay in Indo-China long enough to assure that the French-sponsored governments of Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia won't collapse or be taken over by the Communists.

GENEVA PROBLEM

Any concessions made by the U.S. to China would have to be balanced by a Chinese concession to the West, the French say.

What concession can be made to China that will end the war?

Certain top French officials here believe it would be necessary for the U.S. to recognize Red China. They believe also, however, that China can be bought with trade.

McCarthy Hurls Challenge

For Hunting Down Reds

By JOHN CHADWICK

CHICAGO (AP) — Senator McCarthy today challenged critics of his Red hunting methods, from President Eisenhower down, to name any Communists they have exposed.

The controversial Wisconsin Republican chairman of the Senate investigations sub - committee, cheered on by a St. Patrick's Day dinner gathering Wednesday night, pledged a no-quarter fight to dig out "Communist traitors."

In the face of indirect criticism from Eisenhower and other top leaders of his party, McCarthy bluntly said he didn't give "a tinker's dam" if people in either the Republican or Democratic party, no matter how high or how low, were "unhappy' about his methods.

WILL CONTINUE FIGHT

"This fight is going on as long as I am in the United States Senate," he said, touching off a burst of applause.

Eisenhower, in a press conference Wednesday, deplored the effects of "unwise investigators." He also said recently that in the fight against communism "we are defeating ourselves if . . . we use methods that do not conform to the American sense of justice and fair play."

McCarthy, in the first of four speeches in a quick swing through the mid-west, said there are some who say it's all right to dig out Communists "but, oh, we don't like your methods." He said critics of his sub-committee's methods have not, however, suggested any effective alternative.

DON'T GET RESULTS

"When you hear them crying that they don't like the methods," he added, "I suggest that you ask them when and where they ever exposed a Communist by their methods."

McCarthy also carried on his flaming controversy with Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens.

Referring to Stevens, the senator said "I didn't start the fight, but I think maybe I'll have to finish it."

McCarthy also quoted from what he called the "main report" to the national conference of the American Communist party last September, saying it urged Communists to promote fights between him and Eisenhower in the hope of destroying them both.

Finding Old Fort Recalls Exploits Of Early Settlers

WASHINGTON — Recent discovery of the lost site of Fort Henry in eastern Saskatchewan recalls Canada's "lords of the lakes and forests" and their adventurous struggles for control of the early fur trade.

The fort was named for the pioneer trader Alexander Henry. Henry, born in New Jersey in 1739, was one of the first to strike out for the fur wealth of the Canadian wilderness when it was opened up for independent exploi- [illegible] French holdings in the north.

Fort Henry was his headquarters. During his travels in the winter of 1775-76, the trader had joined forces with two other freelance enterprisers along the trails of inland Canada, the Frobisher brothers from Montreal. With them, he set up this operating base on Beaver Lake along the east-central border of what is now Saskatchewan Province.

BIRTHPLACE OF COMBINE

Fort Henry, as an experiment in co-operation between individual traders, is considered the birthplace of the famous North West Company of Montreal. From there the Frobishers went on to help found that ambitious combine of independents who threatened the established traffic of the Hudson's Bay Company for nearly half a century. Although Henry was not one of the original members, he, too, eventually threw in his lot with the North West Company.

Washington Irving called the Nor-westers "the lords of the lakes and forests." The wealth they harvested was lordly, and so was the scope of the regions that yielded it. But the partners who made up the North West Company were no desk barons.

Many paddled the lonely rivers themselves and shot the turbulent rapids. Snowed in by northern winters, they waited in isolated cabins for dog-train supplies and for the welcome sight of Indian trappers bringing in piles of lustrous fresh-caught furs.

Some of the Company's pioneers took the toilsome portage and water routes into western areas never before seen by whites. In 1789, Alexander Mackenzie left Fort Chipewyan in the heart of Canada to follow the river that would bear his name to its Arctic Ocean outlet. Later he led an expedition across the Rockies all the way to the Pacific.

HISTORIC TRAVELS

Other famous names in the [illegible] were Simon Fraser, [illegible] the great rivers named for him, and David Thompson, the land geographer who mapped regions from the Great Lakes to the mouth of the Columbia River.

The spirit of adventure and enterprise was not enough, however. Internal struggles for power and expensive law suits sapped the strength of the North West Company. In 1821, after a period of particularly bitter rivalry with the Hudson's Bay men, the North West Company was merged with the older organization.

Today many of the long chain of forts built during the Nor-Westers' heyday have vanished—as had the remains of Fort Henry before it was unearthed lately in a search with a borrowed army mine detector.

Sailing Vessel Sinks In St. Lawrence Gulf

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—The sealing vessel Newfoundlander sank without loss of life beneath crushing ice in 100 fathoms of the Gulf of St. Lawrence Wednesday.

It was believed the ice crushed the 743-ton vessel as it was attacking a herd of seals a mile offshore.

Klondike Story Repeated In Search For Minerals In Northwestern Ontario

GERALDTON, Ont. (CP) — The story of Canada's newest mineral bonanza is being written in northwestern Ontario today in a thousand square miles of snowshoe tracks.

Looking from the air like some strange form of hieroglyphics, they fan out in every direction from Lake Manitouwadge, 55 miles south west of Hornepayne, a divisional point on the main line of Canadian National Railways. There, in wild and rugged country, some 400 prospectors, geologists, drillers and engineers are chasing a pot of gold at the end of a copper rainbow.

The snowshoe tracks tell a story of privation and sudden wealth, courage and foolishness as intense as anything written since the Klondike. In the past few months three men have become millionaires over night, a score have won tidy nest eggs and hundreds have endured hardship in the hope that they might share fast riches.

In the process they have discovered mineral deposits which mining engineers say may be the biggest base-metal find since Sudbury and Noranda.

THOUSANDS OF CLAIMS

D. J. Cross, mining recorder for Thunder bay district, estimates that more than 6,000 claims have been staked since the rush began last November. One property—Geco, on the site of the original discovery—is regarded as almost certain to reach the production stage. Mining history suggests that other producers will come into being.

Born in a gold rush 20 years ago, Geraldton now finds itself the jumping-off point for a staking stampede. This time the lure is copper, not gold, but the fever is more intense than at the height of the gold-rush days.

The first major strike in Manitouwadge was made by three Geraldton prospectors. Now Geraldton has become a principal base for aircraft service to and from the area.

Some 15 aircraft operate from two sheltered bases on Little Long Lac, shuttling across the 65-mile route to Lake Manitouwadge. Hundreds of equipment have been ferried to the new mining area since the rush began.

LIVE IN TENTS

Other prospectors go by train to Stevens and Caramat from where they can drive into a timber camp over 20 miles of good bush truck road before striking out on snowshoes to seek their fortunes.

Everyone in the field lives under canvas. Many have been on the ground for weeks, with only a tent and a stove between them and temperatures as low as 47 below zero.

Claim staking on the Manitouwadge area is no job for a tenderfoot. Severe temperatures, blizzards and the snow itself try the skill and endurance of the hardiest men and the rugged terrain presents a constant physical hazard. Ravines and ridges run from east to west and must be crossed twice each time a claim is staked.

In theory, a mining claim is staked by driving in four posts, at each corner of a square with sides a quarter mile long. No. 1 post is always on the northeast corner. The prospector then moves in a clock-wise direction, setting up his No. 2 post on the southeast corner, No. 3 on the southwest and No. 4 on the northwest.

In practice, however, the prospectors look for the N. 1 and No. 4 posts of a claim already staked and set up their No. 2 and 3 posts directly alongside, "tying-in" with the claim. Then they pace off the 440 yards north to fix the location for their won posts No. 1 and No. 4.

RAPIDLY COVER AREA

The biggest problem confronting new arrivals is to find open ground for staking. More than 700 prospecting licences have been issued at Port Arthur since Jan. 1 and 6,000 claims staked to date are spread over an area of more than 1,000 square miles.

"The only thing to do is to keep on hiking till you find a stretch of country with no snowshoe prints," one frostbitten old prospector advised. "Then you know it hasn't been staked. So you prowl around until you find somebody else's No. 1 or No. 4 post and then you're set to begin."

Prospectors who staked before the snow came at least know there are surface indications of ore on their properties. There are still long odds against any individual claim eventually becoming a mine. But for the vast majority of prospectors, sheer speculation and the mine-hunter's unquenchable optimism are what keeps them going. Staking claims that lie beneath four feet or more of snow leaves everything to lady luck.

"It's just like playing stud poker where the house rules say you have to bet on every card and can't look at your hole card," said one man.

When the snow disappears there may be ore underneath or only rock. A few may find the main "break" passes through their claims and realize small fortunes by selling out to development companies for small amounts of cash and large amounts of stock.

PROSPECTORS START YOUNG — Even the kids in Geraldton, Ont., jump-off point for the mineral rush to Manitouwadge, have the prospecting fever. Since the rush began last November, more than 6,000 claims have been staked. Every Saturday school holiday groups such as this hike into the woods to seek their fortunes "just like dad."—(CP Photo).

Want Tests Before Licence

TORONTO (CP) — Introducti of tests prior to receiving a g licence was suggested Wednesd to the Ontario legislature's fis and game committee.

A brief presented by the Ontar Federation of Anglers and Hunters and read by H. V. Sutton, secretary-manager, held that all hunter should have to pass a test before receiving their first licence.

It also suggested that permits for juveniles between the ages of 16 and 18 be valid only if the young hunters were accompanied by a parent or guardian.

The federation suggested that in addition to fines, licence suspensions be imposed for violation of the game laws, In the case of a hunter who wounded another, suspension should be for five years, while a hunter responsible for a fatality should have his licence revoked for life.

The federation asked also that the section of the Holland marsh, north of Toronto, which has not already been developed for agriculture should be preserved for fish and wild life.

Fire In Plant Trap Causes Anxiety

SARNIA (CP) — A fire in a "trap" at the Imperial Oil Company's main plant Wednesday sent a black column of smoke into the air and caused anxious inquiries from residents on both sides of the river.

A company statement said a small fire occurred in a trap, used to separate oil and water coming from several units in the area so that no oily material gets into the St. Clair river.

The fire was extinguished by the company's own firemen. The cause is being investigated.

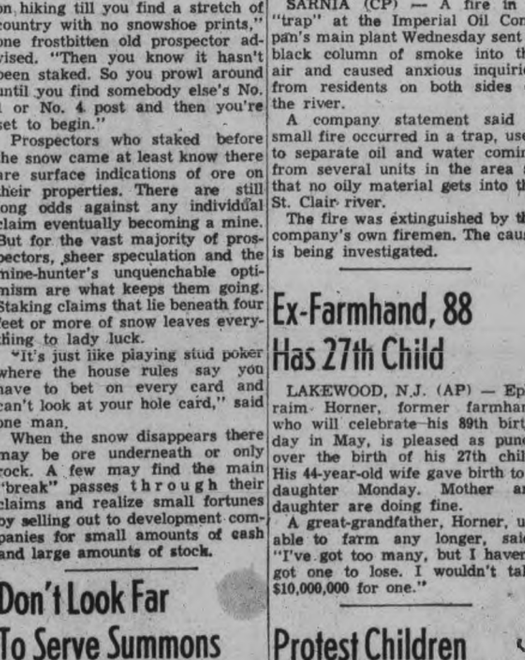
Ex-Farmhand, 88 Has 27th Child

LAKEWOOD, N.J. (AP) — Ephraim Horner, former farmhand who will celebrate his 89th birthday in May, is pleased as punch over the birth of his 27th child. His 44-year-old wife gave birth to a daughter Monday. Mother and daughter are doing fine.

A great-grandfather, Horner, unable to farm any longer, said: "I've got too many, but I haven't got one to lose. I wouldn't take $10,000,000 for one."

Don't Look Far To Serve Summons

BELLEVILLE (CP) — City police didn't have to look far for Robert McMahan, 27, when a summons for court appearance at Toronto arrived at the police station today.



McMahan was already in jail, having been sentenced Tuesday to a three-month term for theft.

The Toronto charge is driving a truck without a name printed on the side. McMahan came to Belleville from Sudbury.

Protest Children Seeing Fox Hunt

MEAT LOAF GOES GALA—WITH CARNATION

WHO'D LIKE A BRAND-NEW economy meat recipe, with the excitement of a really expensive dish? Here it is — Cheeseburger Loaf! Nothing like this ever happened to meat loaf before. It combines a rich-flavored meat mixture, with cheese . . . in a most original way. Easy — yet very effective. But it takes Carnation Evaporated Milk — no other form of milk will do. Carnation has the consistency of heavy cream (it's double-concentrated by evaporation). And it's specially heat refined. So, Carnation makes meat loaves moist and juicy through and through.

CARNATION

LEMON IS A VERY FAVORITE flavor of mine. I think you'll find that most men feel the same way. So — here's a delightful pie recipe that I know you'll love . . . and use over and over again. It's a Lemon Pie — but Lemon Pie with delicate, it has more than just the usual delicious flavor. And it's made with Carnation, of course! You see, it needs the milk that whips. No other form of milk will do. Try it!

Cheeseburger Loaf

(Makes 6 to 8 servings)

½ cup undiluted Carnation Evaporated Milk
1 egg
1 cup soda biscuit crumbs
1½ lbs. ground beef
1½ teaspoons salt
2 tablespoons chopped onion
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 tablespoon ketchup
1 cup grated cheddar cheese

Combine all ingredients except cheese thoroughly. Line loaf pan with heavy waxed paper. Spread ½ cup cheese in bottom of pan. Cover with half of meat mixture. Repeat, to use remaining cheese and meat mixture. Bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) about 1 hour. Let stand about 10 minutes before turning out on platter. Remove paper. Slice for serving.

LEMON FLUFF PIE

(Makes 9-inch pie)

Baked pie shell
1 pkge. lemon jelly powder
½ cup boiling water
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup lemon juice
1 cup undiluted Carnation, chilled to ice-crystal stage
1 tablespoon grated lemon rind

Bake and cool the pie shell. Dissolve jelly powder in boiling water; add sugar, 2 tablespoons lemon juice and cool. Whip chilled Carnation 1 minute with remaining lemon juice. Add cooled jelly mixture; whip fluffy (about 2 minutes). Add rind. Pour into pie shell; chill about 1 hour, until firm.

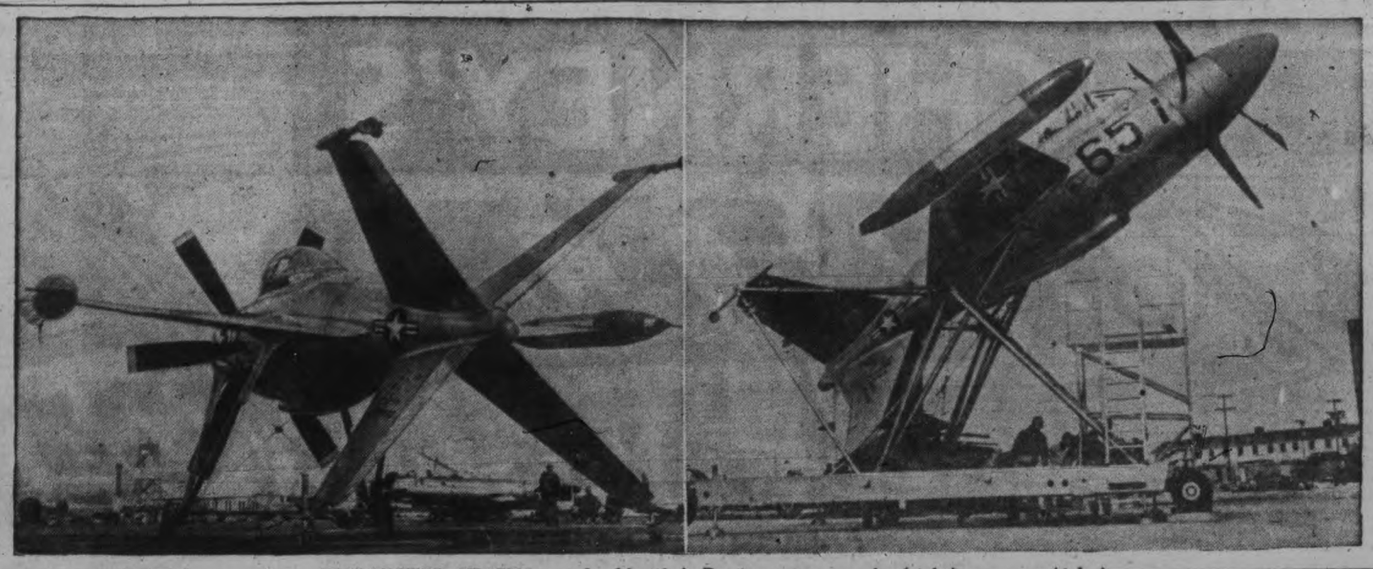
Heard Bilow Threaten Young Soldier

CALGARY (CP)—An army witness at the murder trial of 17-year-old Pte. Walter Cierpisz of Windsor, Ont., said Wednesday that just before a Jan. 5 shooting in a Currie barracks washroom, Pte. Robert Bilow had said he would "put Cierpisz in the hospital for six months."



Cierpisz was charged with murder after Bilow was fatally shot with an army service rifle.

Pte. W. B. Crogie said he was in the washroom when Bilow, 21, from Winchester, Ont., made the remark. He added that Cierpisz was also there, and that it was immediately after that the shooting took place.

Pte. H. W. Howard testified that Bilow was standing with his back to Cierpisz before the shots were fired.

Pte. Edward Unger said he had gone into the washroom to "clean up" when Cierpisz walked in.

"Cierpisz walked in and shot Bilow," he said, "I was looking in the mirror and saw him walk in." He said no words were spoken immediately before the shooting.

Suggest MPs Pray To St. Patrick

OTTAWA (CP)—On this St. Patrick's Day, Commons members heard a suggestion that members pray to the patron saint of Ireland for blessing.

It came from Speaker Rene Beaudoin after Rev. Dan McIvor, born in Ireland's County Tyrone 81 years ago, extended his annual St. Patrick's Day greetings to the House. Mr. McIvor is Liberal member for Port Arthur.

New Legislation To Help Children

By DON DALLAS

LONDON (Reuters) — Political "heretics" of the Stalin era are re-emerging in powerful posts with Premier Georgi Malenkov's year-old regime.

The trend was underscored this week with the appointment of philosopher Georgi F. Alexandrov as Soviet minister of culture. Alexandrov suffered political eclipse in 1947 for [illegible] and which a book on west [illegible] European philosophy which won a Stalin Prize. Andrei Zhdanov, then the Kremlin's cultural dictator, decided Alexandrov and the Stalin Prize committee had slipped up. He and his supporters said Alexandrov had given too little credit to "Marxist-Leninist" views.

The philosopher was ordered to rewrite the book in order to put it firmly back on the party line.

RECEIVES HIGHEST HONOR

For several years little was heard of him. But last December, he headed a Soviet delegation to a scientific congress in India. In February he was awarded the Order of Lenin (highest Soviet civilian award).

Now he takes over the ministry of culture, which controls state radio, state publishing, literature and the arts.

Parallel to the case of Alexandrov is that of the Hungarian-born economist Evgene Varga.

Varga also was severely criticized in 1947 for maintaining that a production crisis in the United States was far from inevitable, at least for some years to come.

RETAINED BASIC IDEAS

He also unguardedly referred to the "people's democracies" as having basically a capitalist economy, as in fact they did immediately after the war.

Varga was asked to retract has views. But he stuck to his basic ideas. It was two years before Varga, under great pressure, made a complete retraction and faded out of the news.

Under Malenkov, Varga appears to have been restored to his old post as chief economic adviser to the Kremlin. His views once again are publicized.

Reinstatement of Varga and Alexandrov fits into the new pattern of the Malenkov era, which has been moving away from the complete ideological rigidity of the Stalin era.

Hard On Pipes

LONDON (CP)—The metropolitan water board received 1,122 calls reporting burst pipes during a recent cold snap. Many householders were supplied with water from cruising tank trucks during the emergency.

Salvaged Ship Reveals Story 2,000 Years Old

WASHINGTON—About 230 B.C., a Greek ship sailing westward along the French Mediterranean coast sank with a full cargo of wine and Campanian pottery.

The story of that ancient vessel, its discovery and salvaging of its archeological riches, was told before a Washington audience recently by Captain Jacques-Yves Cousteau, French marine explorer and leader of the National Geographical Society-Calypso Marine [illegible]

[illegible] it touched at a port northwest of what is now Naples to load Campanian pottery ware—an estimated 15,000 pieces—and even more amphorae of this slender Roman design.

Deep laden, perhaps beyond its master's liking, the ship sailed on northward and westward along the Mediterranean shore. But the Greek settlers in Massalia never got the chance to bid for its valu[illegible]

On a savage, [illegible] almost within sight of port, the vessel sank. There it lay, in a limestone cradle, attacked by worms and slowly covered by falling mud, until found by flippered, Aqualunged divers 2,200 years later.

Resting on a special mobile vehicle equipped with a hoist to raise it into its straight-up position, the plane is tilted to demonstrate how it can be serviced.

Tito Accepts Invitation To Visit Greece

By JOHN EARLE

BELGRADE (Reuters) — President Tito's acceptance of invitations to pay official visits to Turkey and Greece is symbolic of the importance he attaches to friendship between Communist Yugoslavia, republican Turkey and monarchist Greece.

The invitations come at a time when differences of opinion have shown themselves between these three countris which a year ago signed the Balkan pact of friendship and co-operation.

The differences began when Greek Premier Marshal Papagos on a visit to Belgium and Holland urged that the Balkan pact be linked with the Atlantic pact, of which Greece and Turkey are already members. Turkish Foreign Minister Fuad Loprulu backed the Greek view.

Yugoslavia, however, opposes such a link. Yugoslav officials say it is not necessary for Yugoslavia's defence and they would not allow Yugoslav forces to be under the command of American or western European generals.

DISLIKED SPANISH INVITE

Marshal Papagos' acceptance of an invitation to visit Spain also aroused displeasure in Yugoslav official quarters, although this was not commented on in the Yugoslav press. Yugoslavia does not recognize Gen. Franco, but the exiled Spanish Republican government.

Yugoslavia's trade with both Greece and Turkey has increased enormously during the last year. But Yugoslavs are dissatisfied with Greece because Yugoslav firms were not invited to participate with western European firms in [illegible] 000 reconstruction projects.

Yugoslavs also are dissatisfied with what they call the rigid licensing policy of the Turkish authorities, which they maintain results in Yugoslav goods waiting for months in Yugoslav harbors and Turkish customs warehouses.

On the other hand, the first year of the Balkan pact can show on the positive side increasing defence collaboration among the three countries. Representatives of the three general staffs meet periodically to plan defence. And visits are taking place with increasing frequency between public bodies in the three countries, such as theatre groups, musicians, students organizations and war veterans.

Missing Boy Found

GALT (CP) — Search by helicopter, river launch and police cars, for Carl Gallant, 7, of Preston ended late Wednesday when he was found outside a Galt house. The boy, who vanished after school Tuesday, said he had spent the night huddled in frigid temperatures outside a Galt factory. He gave no reason for running away.

Crash Victim Dies

HAMILTON (CP)—S. Virgil Hopkins, fruit farmer of Burlington, died in hospital Wednesday, fourth victim of a two-car crash Feb. 28 at the intersection of the Queen Elizabeth Way and the Guelph line. Three other men were killed in the crash which occurred when their car smashed into a tree after colliding with Mr. Hopkins' vehicle.

JUNIOR ANGLERS MEET

The newly-formed junior division of the Peterborough Fish and Game Association will hold its regular meeting in the board room of the Chamber of Commerce Friday night at 7:30.

CONVENTION MARCH 26

The annual meeting of the Eastern Ontario Brotherhood of Threshermen will be held in Belleville Friday, March 26, as mentioned by vice - president Robert McAdam, of Smith.

CROCUS BLOOMING

Spring is not just around the corner, it is here. At least it has arrived in one corner of Peterborough. Wednesday Mrs. John Cridland, 445 Albertus Ave., found a crocus blooming in her garden.

HOLD CCF ELECTIONS

Election of the Peterborough CCF Association's 1954 president and executive will be 8 o'clock tonight at the Labor Centre, 393 Water St. Since the death of Maurice Ketcheson the association has been headed by Irwin Yeo who stepped up from vice-president.

TROUBLE-SHOOTERS

There was nothing unusual about them. Just routine calls for the city firemen. Wednesday afternoon they went to a Parkhill Rd. address where a woman had locked herself out. And at 7 p.m. they went to Robert Higgins' home, 463 King St., where there was a hazard from collapsed furnace pipes.

WESTERN TIRE LOSS

Ralph Salmon, proprietor of Western Tire, has been paid his loss about the Wednesday 11 Loblaw-block fire at $13,000. Yesterday's Examiner reported his losses at $12,000, but this, says Mr. Salmon, represents only that part of the loss which was insured. The $18,000 damage was to stock and fixtures. Mr. Salmon rented the store.

POLLOCK TO SPEAK

The Rev. J. G. Pollock, of Grace United church, will be chief speaker at the Y's Men's Club's 27th birthday banquet at the Kawartha on Saturday night. Over 100 people are expected to be on hand, including 28 members of the club and their guests. Among the visitors will be Ted Gallon, of Orillia, district governor of the Y's Men's Clubs.

LOTS OF BOOTIES

Mrs. Lillian Rickles, of Apsley, set some sort of record Friday as she welcomed her 19th and 20th grandchildren at the Red Cross Hospital. First to arrive was Dale Budd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Budd (nee Betty Edwards). The 20th grandchild, also a girl and also a Friday arrival, was Sherry Elizabeth Trotter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Trotter (nee Doris Windsor).

PRIVATE BILLS HEARING

The first of two hearings of private bills for Peterborough will be heard Friday at 9:30 p.m. This is the bill which is designed to alter the Morrow Trust to allow the building of the Peterborough Memorial Centre in Morrow park, the exhibition grounds. The second bill will legalize the purchase of property in North Monaghan for industrial sites and the landfill garbage program.

Judges Name Winners Scholarships

Music Festival Ends, Adjudicators Pleased With Showing

The 8th annual Kiwanis music festival, which played for seven days at St. Peter's, St. Andrew's and Queen Mary's auditoriums, and included contestants from the city, and surrounding districts as far away as Toronto, ended Wednesday evening. Adjudicators Frank Odell and Ronald Biggs offered a great deal of constructive criticism, but always with sensitive tactfullness, and never in a ponderous manner.

The following list of scholarship award winners was determined by the adjudicators, not necessarily because any individual received the highest mark in his or her class, but because in their opinion, these people showed the greatest potential musical ability and would benefit most from the extra tuition which these scholarships afford.

Piano scholarships were won by: Robin David Russell of Cobourg, boy's under 15 class, Peterborough Canoe Co. Ltd., $25; Ann Gordon of Peterborough, girl's under 15 class, Gordon K. Fraser, MP, $25; David Donaldson of Peterborough, boy's under 20 class, Canada Packers Ltd., $50; Elizabeth Ann Lapp of Peterborough, girl's under 20 class, IODE Major Bennett Chapter, $50.

[illegible] Scott Chapter scholarship eligible to all pianists over 21, and the award was withheld.

Vocal scholarships were won by: Roy Bacon of Peterborough, boy's under 15 class, Peterborough Lock Co., $25; Shirley Moore of Lindsay, girl's under 15 class, Silverwood Dairies Ltd., $25; Francis Taylor, boy's under 20 class, Canada Nashua Paper Co., $50; Gaele Meyers of Campbellford, girl's under 20 class, Outboard Marine Co., $50; and Mrs. Jean Perry of Lindsay, adults 20 years and older, DeLaval Co., $50.

Fund Drive Bogs, All Sections Lag

Largely due to donations from the Industrial section, the Peterborough Red Cross and Community Fund campaign picked up another $7,556.35 Wednesday. The present $67,220.72 total is, however, still a far cry from the hoped-for $100,000 objective.

All four major sections are lagging behind the 1953 totals for the same period last year, and then the objective was only $90,000. Unless there is a last-minute spurt, it seems unlikely that the $100,000 will be reached and problematical if even $90,000 will be realized. Last year at this time the campaign coffers were swelled by better than $75,000.

Figures at press time, showing how even the pace-setting groups are lagging from the 1953 pace, are shown below with the last year's figures in brackets.

Special Names $15,735 ($19,355); Industrial $36,212,80 ($36,868.45); Retail $5,590.07 ($11,795.90); Women's $4,901.25 ($7,050.44); Penny-a-day, $772.60 ($697.74). Total $67,220,72 ($75,767.53).

H. J. McCannan Ex-Alderman Dies In Year

Herbert Jesson McCannan of 612 Walkerfield Ave., died in hospital on Wednesday after 10 days illness. Mr. McCannan was for 40 years a building contractor and prominent realtor in Peterborough. He was born in the township of Otonabee and was in his 75th year.

Some six years ago Mr. McCannan retired and had been in comparatively good health until last New Year's. He was prominent in civic and church affairs and was for many years the best known figure in the business section of the city. He had a great sense of humor and his ever ready smile and joke were appreciated in many places of business. Mr. McCannan was a good mixer, a leader wherever men met and these things forced him to the front in the civic life of Peterborough.

FATHERLESS FAMILY

Mr. McCannan was the son of Benjamin McCannan and Isobella Goodfellow. He was the oldest of a family of three and while he was a mere boy his father died. The family moved to Springville and the burden of helping support the family fell upon him. He worked for the farmers and every Sunday looked after the firés in the then Springville Presbyterian church. He often recalled having to rise early every Sunday in the cold weather to stoke up the old box stoves in order that the church would be warm enough for the morning service.

GREAT CHURCHMAN

Outside of his home and business Mr. McCannan's greatest interest was in the Knox United church. He is only survived by William Menzies today of that group of men who in 1909 and 1910 formed the building committee when the present church was

Economy Of Canada Rests Upon Sound Agriculture Seed Fair Audience Told

The manufacturing industries of Peterborough are an example of the interdependence of our city and rural communities, Hon. Harold R. Scott said in opening Wednesday afternoon the Central Ontario Seed Show.

Agriculture's influence and extension into urban employment was exemplified by the flour and cereal mills, dairies, bakeries, meat packing plant, textile and woollen industries, farm implement branches and so on.

FARMING STANDS SECOND

"One-fifth of all the wealth produced in Canada springs from the land," Mr. Scott said, "and next to manufacturing the farm is the largest single source of earnings. It is becoming more evident to all of us that the economy of our country rests upon a sound agriculture. On its success depends the welfare of industry, and, furthermore, on the health of industry depends a high level of employment with benefit to all."

The attendance of the hundreds of people from the Central Ontario counties was proof of their active interest in improving agriculture.

"It is a sign that you realize good crops depend on good seed, and that there is no profit in planting weeds. The Ontario Department of Agriculture appreciates your work in this important project, and in opening this year's Show I sincerely hope your good work may long continue."

Dr. D. N. Huntley of OAC discussing the highlights of the seed show stressed the sound policy of the executive in providing ample opportunity for the young men of the farms, 4-H Club members and junior farmers. The class inviting entries from new exhibitors, or those who had not shown in at least five years was a means of recruiting more growers of quality seeds.

"They may not get very far the first few years, but after that they should be knocking on the doors even of the professionals."

PROMOTE OWN INDUSTRY

Dr. Huntley said the Seed Show was a medium by which farmers could help to promote their own industry, and it deserved their lively support.

"I have really felt proud of your 4-H Club section of this show, it

When Big Drifts Stalled Plows

So deep was the snow after an old-fashioned winter storm on March 19, 1905, that the CPR plow got stuck fast in a drift east of Pontypool, and a relief crew with engine, tool car and van was halted at a deep barrier at the Devlin crossing on the old Norwood Road.

That is the recollection of P. J. Devlin, Cricket Place, who says there is plenty of evidence that the weather of these present March weeks is not what it used to be.

"The crew was on its way from Havelock. Our house was east of the crossing, and I remember that the men came up to our place for dinner, and they also got help from men of the neighborhood. The engine had to be shovelled out of the deepest part of the drift. Then they made another run through it, and were on their way. That was an old-time snow storm, and I imagine it must have been worse up around Pontypool."

CCF Conference Will Hear Ontario Leader

Donald C. MacDonald, the 40-year-old Ontario CCF leader will be guest speaker in Peterborough at the regional conference here this weekend.

About 75 CCF members and supporters from the federal ridings of Durham, Hastings-Frontenac, Hastings South, Northumberland, Ontario, Prince Edward-Lennox, Victoria and Peterborough are expected for the two-day conference.

STUDY PLATFORM

This regional conference is being held to give CCF-ers a chance to study, discuss and propose improvements in the first draft of a new CCF provincial program for the next Ontario election.

"In effect, the conference is the opening gun in the next election campaign," said Ken Bryden, provincial secretary.

When the CCF face the electorate next time it will be under the leadership of Mr. MacDonald who last November succeeded E. B. Jolliffe.

Mr. MacDonald was born and raised on a farm and has had experience in school teaching, journalism, radio and politics. As a newspaperman with a Montreal paper he made a pre-war tour of Britain and Europe.

SERVED WITH NAVY

During the Second World War he served with the Royal Canadian Navy and became an intelligence officer. He was editor of the service magazine, Canada Digest, and in 1945 he was chairman of the Service Radio Forum, a CBC national network program. In 1946, after he was demobiliz-

Ex-Communist DeGraff Says - - -

Stop Dreaming, Reds Mean Business

The "dirty, nagging rats" who follow Malenkov came in for a verbal bashing at the YMCA Wednesday night when John DeGraff, recipient of two death sentences and self - confessed Communist-hater, told a youthful audience the inside story on communism.

Better known as "Captain Johnnie" Mr. DeGraff was born in Germany but left the country at the age of 14 because he did not favour German militarism. In Holland he continued to speak against militarism, so the Dutch deported him back to Germany.

He was given the choice of death or service in the navy. He took the navy. After three years in the German navy his actions in assisting to promote a naval mutiny in 1917 earned him the death sentence. A second mutiny saved the day and so the youthful DeGraff was able to jump "out of the frying pan into the fire" . . . actually the German civil war. On this occasion he did not get the Iron Cross, but instead another death sentence. He was able to escape.

BECAME COMMUNIST

His sincere belief that hope lay in communism rather than imperialism induced him to join the German Communist party which sent DeGraff to Russia. The Reds spent considerable time giving him a university education, with a finishing course at a military academy. There he learned all the elements of communism, including politics.

The Russians sent him out into the world as an agent, but the young DeGraff had since reversed his outlook. At the first opportunity he contacted the British Intelligence, MI5, and agreed to work as an agent, under the guise of being a Communist believer.

Trained in all the arts of sabotage, espionage and setting booby traps, Mr. DeGraff implored his audience to realize the imminent danger of Red infiltration.

He made a bitter attack on the Canadian LPP, which, he said, had not even the courage to come out and call itself Communist. But that is what they are—the footstools of a foreign government.

GET RID OF THEM

"We don't have to wait for atom bombs and open war," he said. "Already in Canada we have Russia's colonial troops. Canadians, who are more than willing to sell us down the river for a foreign power. We should be just as willing to get rid of them."

It was the duty of every Communist member, according to his opportunities, to steal all information and secrets for Russian use. These people were everywhere. What was left of the free world today was fighting the greatest and most efficient spy organization ever known.

"I don't ask you to spy on your neighbours, but I am asking you to be loyal Canadians. These people will come to you in the most innocent guises. You just play dumb and lead them on until you have enough information to give to the RCMP. And you needn't worry as things will be done so quietly by the police that you will never be involved."

STILL DREAMING

After citing the instances of most of southern Europe, China and other Asiatic areas which have fallen to communism, Mr. DeGraff said that the Russians had a 100% realistic viewpoint and that the western world was still dreaming.

"They say that after they acquire Europe, China and Africa, it will be a pleasure to sit on the rocks of Gibraltar and Capetown and watch the western world crumble without a single Russian shot being fired," continued the speaker. "And with the rest of the world under Red subjection we would have no trade, unemployment would be rife and then the Communist cells would start working to stir up civil wars. All very easy.

"They have always said: 'One must go. Either capitalism or communism'."

Naturally Canadians wondered at the best methods to battle this they called communism. The government was not doing very much about it and in America things were even worse with McCarthy endangering the morale of the whole nation.

McCARTHYISM WRONG

"McCarthy plays at fascism and that is not the answer to communism," said Mr. DeGraff.

Everyone probably hoped that the Berlin conference would solve the problems, but that too was hopeless. And so would be these future high-level talks. The Russians just did not intend to pull their military force out of Europe. It was this force which kept the Communist government in power.

"Stalin himself gave us the answer. Before he died he said he was afraid of the morale and willingness for unselfish sacrifice that abided in the British Commonwealth. So let us learn a lesson from Stalin and strengthen our ties."

If Communists could be Communists 24 hours a day, then we should be Canadians 24 hours a day, continued Mr. DeGraff. The Russians had destroyed family life because it was the basis of democracy. So we should do all in our power to increase family life and adopt a real Christian attitude.

"Let us live and act as Christians and fight these dirty, nagging rats who follow Malenkov," he said. "If we do all these things, then we can bring communism to its knees, just as we did when Hitler threatened the world."

No Case To Meet, Claims Counsel For City In CGE Assessment Appeal

City Puts In No Evidence In Reply To Claims of Local Company In Its Appeal Against Assessment

The hearing of the assessment appeal by the Canadian General Electric Company moved towards a rapid conclusion today, when T. J. Carley, QC, declined to present any evidence for the city to the court of revision.

"There has been no evidence adduced to show why the appellant's assessment should be amended," Mr. Carley said, "other than certain errors that the city would have rectified in any case. There is no case to meet and therefore we offer no evidence."

This surprising move came after Mr. Carley's 5½-hour cross-examination of the only witness for the appellant, Stanley Adamson, local manager of accounting for CGE.

When he renewed his cross-examination of Mr. Adamson today, Mr. Carley asked the witness if he had brought the cost schedules for all the buildings erected by CGE since 1940, as he had suggested on Wednesday.

"It would take weeks to get the information in a form that would be acceptable to this court or that I would consider satisfactory," Mr. Adamson said.

"We can take it then that since you haven't got it, it didn't enter into your calculations" Mr. Carley said, referring to Mr. Adamson's estimated rental value of the CGE [illegible] is for him to state as a fact," Mr. Carley said.

"The court considers that a proper question," said Mr. Harstone after consultation with the otehr members.

Asked how he had arrived at the $2½-million figure, Mr. Adamson described, at some length, the method by which he had calculated the rental value of one of the buildings. The monthly rental was worked out on a square foot basis, deducting 30 per cent for maintenance.

TRADE FORMULA USED

In the case of one particular building, this had come to $1.42 a square foot. A trade formula, known as the McLean index, was then used to reduce this to 1940 values, bringing it down to 60 cents a square foot, less 15 per cent for unrentable space, which included washrooms and stairwells.

"Have you caluculated each building on this basis?" Mr. Carley asked.

"Being mathematically inclined, I can take each work sheet and reduce it by the equivalent factor," Mr. Adamson said.

"What does the 30 per cent for maintenance include?"

"Heat, light and repairs . . . On the average, that would work out to the same percentage for the whole series of buildings."

"I'm suggesting that is not a fair method," Mr. Carley said. "The percentage would vary with the age of the buildings."

"It's a conservative figure," Mr. Adamson said. "Thirty per cent

SURVEY MADE

Mr. Carley then asked Mr. Adamson if there were any other rental properties he had taken into consideration in making his estimate but Mr. Adamson replied that he hadn't secured any other useful information, although he had hired a real estate agent to make a survey.

He said that leading up to the decision to rent the properties mentioned he had estimated how much rent CGE ought to pay for them on the basis of prevailing rents for industrial property, including prevailing rents in Toronto.

"I'm asking you if there was a normal rental value in the city of Peterborough in 1953," Mr. Carley said.

"The witness has placed before the court the full details," said Fred Parkinson, QC, counsel for CGE, "and I submit that is a matter for the court to decide."

USED OWN KNOWLEDGE

"I used by own knowledge of rentals," Mr. Adamson said. "I am making a check and I am convinced that there is a serious omission in regard to one building."

"I submit that that building does not appear on the assessment roll," Mr. Carley said.

"So far as I can see, it isn't," Mr. Adamson said. "It is an extension of three other buildings and was in use for some purposes during the latter part of 1953 but was not completed for our purposes."

After a brief adjournment, Mr. Carley announced his intention not to present any evidence and court rose while the members discussed the unexpected turn in the proceedings.

After a 10-minute interval, Chairman John Harstone announced that the court would like to hear evidence from the assessment department. But Mr. Carley repeated what he had said before.

"I will take the responsibility for that and say that there will be no evidence presented," he said, "for the reason that the evidence given has not been factual evidence on which the court could amend the roll . . . except for errors."

During Wednesday's session, Mr. Carley subjected Mr. Adamson to a five-hour cross-examination, in which, with meticulous precision, he attempted to break down the appellant's case, point by point.

Mr. Carley described Mr. Adamson's estimate of $2,500,000 for the normal rental value of the CGE property as a "summary package deal" and accused him of talking generalities.

The city's counsel repeatedly asked Mr. Adamson for figures to back up his estimates and went into an analysis of his methods with the thoroughness of an auditor.

He examined a series of leases which CGE had taken on three local buildings, including space in the Canadian Sealright Co. building, the old roller rink on George St. and a warehouse on

Play Cricket Despite Riots, Flying Bottles

By ARCH MacKENZIE

LONDON (CP)—The England-West Indies cricket series has resumed at Port of Spain, Trinidad, and British newspapers indicated anew today that some of the goings-on in the colony "just aren't cricket."

What with riots, flying bottles, quaking and partisan umpires and uninhibited crowds, it has been some series, British newspaper men report. It's been a far cry from the gentle English game which depends as much on quiet, decorum and good manners in crowd and players alike as on ball, bat and wicket.

Some correspondents with the English team reported more trouble is possible after watching the beginning of the fourth test match Wednesday. England needs a victory or a tie to stay alive in the five game series.

There were a couple of decisions that caused the English players to clasp their heads in un-English anguish and utter comparatively harsh words. However, the play was calm by comparison with previous games in the series.

CRICKET CLASSIC

The high point—or low point—was reached at Georgetown, British Guiana, where captain Len Hutton of England, a slow, stubborn Yorkshire man mighty with the bat, uttered what may become a cricket classic.

"Never mind the riot, lads, carry on," he told his team, formed mostly of young English players sent on the tour, ironically, for seasoning.

England persevered to win amid a hail of bottles and surrounded by [illegible] police. Although [illegible] were threatened with knife and pistol and their families manhandled, newspaper reports said. One umpire made three correct but unpopular decisions and was still shaking 20 minutes after he left the field, reported Alex Bannister in The Daily Mail.

Bannister said each of the 16 players from Georgetown, that the crowds there "bet and drink rum with equal enthusiasm." English players throughout the tour had suffered from "non-stop noise and child-like demonstrations of the crowds."

Bannister said each of the 16 players in the English team is "counting the days until he gets back to the safer if cooler shores of Britain." He suggested future British teams skip British Guiana, where a Communist-inclined government was put out of office recently by the British government.

27 Miners Stage Lobby Of Own

TORONTO (CP)— Twenty-seven miners from northern Ontario today followed up Wednesday's huge Ontario Federation of Labor lobby at Queen's Park with one of their own.

The men, members of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) were led by Leon Behie, Ray Fletcher, Arnold Peters and C. C. Ames.

They interviewed northern members of the Ontario legislature on the voluntary revocable check-off of union dues and the unemployment situation.

50 Grope Way To Safety In Fire

OTTAWA (CP) — Fifty persons groped their way through smoke-choked corridors to safety early today when fire raged through a combined business block and lodging house in Ottawa's Byward market.

Damage to the three-storey brick building was estimated at $150,000.

Survives Fall

MT. RAINIER NATIONAL PARK, Wash. (AP)—A 17-year-old girl Wednesday fell 175 feet from a parapet overlooking a waterfall and survived. Dolores van Parys of Seattle was conscious when rescued by park rangers and air force men. She suffered multiple fractures and internal injuries.

Hunger Strike Leader Collapses

CAIRO (Reuters)—Mrs. Doria Shafik, leader of the Egyptian women's hunger strike for women's votes, was taken to hospital today after seven days of fasting "until death."

She was the third to collapse today from lack of food. Two other women were taken to hospital this morning from the Press Syndicate building here, where the women have been "squatting" in defiance of orders to leave.

The condition of the first two [illegible] was reported this morning [illegible] said to be serious. They had been living on nothing but orange juice, sugar and water.

Another woman was taken to hospital Wednesday and then sent home.

The "Daughters of the Nile" have been lying on blankets on the floor of a room in the building and have defied orders to leave. The Press Syndicate extended the time limit to noon today.

Call Nomination For Councillor

Find 'Living Death' Fish In Crater

OTTAWA (CP) — A "living death" fish of a species at least 100,000 years old has been found in the Ungava meteorite crater.

The fish was described Tuesday night at a meeting of the Royal Astronomical Society by Dr. J. M. Harrison of the regional geology division of the mines department. He was a member of an expedition which camped on the rim of the crater last summer for five days.

The crater is more than two miles—11,500 feet—across. It was first spotted from the air in 1949.

Dr. Harrison said there is evidence that the giant meteorite crashed to earth between 100,000 and 200,000 years ago. It was first believed to have hit within the last 3,000 to 15,000 years.

LACKED BONE

Just enough vegetation had been left in the crater by the melting glaciers to keep the fish alive. Dr. Harrison caught one and found that, through starvation, it lacked the bone and flesh structure of ordinary fish.

He said the fish had been so starved through so many centuries that they were in a state of suspended putrefaction though still alive.

He dug a pit in the perma-frost to try to preserve the fish for later laboratory examination. But when he came to dig it up, there was nothing left of the fish but its head.

Plan New York Debut

TORONTO (CP) — One-hundred and seventy Canadian singers, three soloists and a veteran conductor will make their debut in New York's Carnegie Hall next month. The event is the two-day stand—April 27 and 28—of Toronto's Mendelssohn Choir, conducted by Sir Ernest MacMillan, with soloists Lois Marshall, Jon Vickers, James Milligan and Margaret Stilwell. Miss Marshall is the only member of the group who has performed in the Hall before.

Won't Increase Gold Price Ottawa Says

OTTAWA (CP)—The government hopes the United States some day will increase the price of gold, but has no intention of taking the step itself and becoming the world's banker.

Mines Minister Prudham made this statement in the Commons during debate Wednesday on a government bill to continue operations of the Emergency Gold Mining Assistance Act through 1954. The act is designed to provide financial assistance to Canadian gold mines to enable them to meet high production costs.

He said the government is doing "everything possible" to persuade the United States to increase the price of gold. At present the U.S. pays $35 an ounce in American funds for gold, including the Canadian product. However, because the Canadian dollar is worth more than the U.S. dollar, gold mining companies in Canada March 6 received $33.79 in Canadian funds for an ounce of gold.

REJECT INCREASE

Mr. Prudham opposed a suggestion by Rodney Adamson (PC—York West) that Canada should lead the world by increasing the price of gold.

He said:

"I do not believe anyone who gives the matter serious consideration would advocate that we (Canada) increase the price of gold to, let us say, $50, and be prepared to accept all the gold that would flow into this country from all parts of the world. Fifteen million people certainly cannot become the bankers of the world. We hope that the United States some day will [illegible] as it might be, and there is no indication of it."

The bill to extend emergency assistance to the mines received second reading—approval in principle—and was supported by all parties.

NO EXCESSIVE PROFIT

During the debate Mr. Prudham said the gold mines are not making excessive profits or using the emergency assistance to mine low grades of ore.

Joseph W. Noseworthy (CCF—York South) said there is evidence that the subsidies are being used to increase the profits of mine owners and stock speculators. Charges had been made that neither the miners nor the mining communities was benefiting.

Mr. Noseworthy also said there is evidence that some companies are using the subsidies to mine low-grade ores, leaving higher grades in the ground. He said he had been told by miners "that some mines at least are sealing off high-grade ore."

The act originally was designed to assist marginal producers and enable them to continue operating. However, only one Canadian mine is not accepting assistance today.

NO NEW MINES

The government has no indication that excessive profits are being earned by the mining companies, Mr. Prudham said. The best evidence of this was that six mines were closed last year and none opened. In addition 40 mines had closed since 1948 and 13 of [illegible] that year had [illegible] operations.

Gold mining was a co-operative effort involving the operator and the investor. If there was to be risk capital to launch mining ventures there must be a reasonable opportunity to make profits. There would be no development if risk capital dried up.

The government was confident that no mines had closed high-grade sections in favor of low-grade areas to take advantage of subsidies.

It was not possible to beat the provisions of the act. The government was confident that no company had beaten the act or that any company was trying.

YIELD STEADY

Mr. Prudham said the gold content of ore mined by companies receiving assistance has been fairly steady since 1935. The average recovery per ton of ore mined was .290 ounces.

Mr. Noseworthy said that the Hollinger and McIntyre gold mines in 1952 received $1,390,000 of the $10,350,000 paid in subsidies and that the remaining $9,000,000 was divided among 59 other companies. Mr. Prudham said the two mines received 12.5 per cent of the subsidies in that year, but produced 19 per cent of the gold eligible for subsidy payments.

In reply to a question by Mr. Noseworthy, Mr. Prudham said the mines cannot receive financial assistance during the period of a strike. If a mine was not producing there was no gold eligible for assistance.

Mr. Prudham turned down a suggestion by Mr. [illegible] to investigate the industry and recommend methods to improve its position in the economy. He said development of natural resources is a provincial responsibility.

Mrs. Ann Shipley (L—Timiskaming) said there is no foundation to any charge that the subsidies are used to increase profits. Many mines were paying more in wage increases than they received in subsidies. The wage increases were not due to larger payrolls, since the number of miners had decreased.

Mrs. Shipley said Kirkland Lake Gold Mining Ltd., would have lost $75,817 in net profits before taxes in 1952 if it had reduced its ore grade five per cent.

PROFIT MOTIVE

The only object in gold mining was profit. This was done by keeping the grade of ore high and the costs of production low. One of the major problems of the industry was to find high grade ore for continued operation.

Armand Dumas (L—Villeneuve) said the subsidy assistance has benefited miners and gold mining communities. Increases in wages and salaries by the companies from 1948 to 1951 was equivalent to 99.7 per cent of the total assistance paid during the period.

"The total assistance paid to the industry during that period amounted to $41,404,000 while the increase in wages and salaries totalled $41,281,302. During the same period the industry paid $26,666,000 in federal, provincial and municipal taxes, which alone rep[illegible] mines."

In reply to questions by two Progressive Conservatives, Davie Fulton, Kamloops, and Donald Fleming, Toronto Eglinton, Mr. Prudham said he hopes the assistance will be needed for this year only.

REPS GET TOGETHER—The Central Ontario Seed Show, now on at the Exhibition Grounds, has drawn farmers and agricultural representatives from six other counties. When boys competed in the seed judging contest Wednesday at the market hall, associate agricultural representatives Ken Best, Peterborough, Bruce McCorquodale, Prince Edward, J. W. Brown, Bowmanville, Jack Steele, Lindsay, L. H. Fair (supervisor and agricultural representative in Ontario County), Allen Francies, Stirling, and Sidney MacDonald, Brighton, kept track of the results.

If War Breaks Out Everyone Involved

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) Sir Archibald Nye, United Kingdom high commissioner to Canada, said Tuesday night that if war with the Communists breaks out anywhere, "we are all in it up to our necks."

However, Sir Archibald, here as the guest of the 49th (Sault Ste. Marie) Heavy Anti-Aircraft regiment, Royal Canadian Artillery, added in his speech that, if the Commonwealth and the United States work shoulder to shoulder, "peace is assured for us and for our children."

He said the Communist threat does not necessarily come chiefly from armed force. He said Communist agents are attacking the minds of the people, exploiting grievances where none exist.

Whee! Surf's BLUE!

Saves Bluing... soaking and bleaching, too

At last a really new kind of blue detergent! A truly scientific detergent with powerful anti-yellowing, anti-graying action that gives you whitest washes ever, without adding a drop of bluing or bleach. Saves soaking, too. Sky-Blue Surf bursts into oceans of white suds that let you just wash and hang up white!

Yes, it's goodbye and good riddance to three time-wasters—soaking, bleaching and bluing! And "Welcome" to the most dazzling sheets, towels and shirts you've ever laid eyes on. Even old bluejeans and workclothes come clean clear-through . . . and sweet-smelling.

Extra money for the piggy bank when you don't need to spend it on bleaches, bluings. Spend less for linens, too. They wear far longer without bleach to weaken fibres. Next washday why work overtime? Take on the greatest time-saving helper yet—new Blue Surf.

Soviet Asks For 6 Visas To Send Musicians

By BILL BOSS

MOSCOW (CP) — The Soviet Union has applied for visas to send six musicians to Canada for a one-month tour of the country.

Professor A. I. Denisov, president of the Society for Cultural Relations Abroad, a state organization, told The Canadian Press the proposed tour is in response to an invitation from the Canada-Soviet Friendship Society.

(Dmitri S. Chuvahin, Russian ambassador to Canada, said Tuesday night in an address at Toronto to the society that the Soviet was planning to send singers, violinists and ballerinas on a Canadian tour but did not indicate who they would be.)

Best known of the group is violinist Leonid B. Kogan, but it includes several with the title "honored artist" and one Stalin Prize winner.

Others in the group are:

Elizabeth I. Chavdar, Peoples' Artist of the U.S.S.R., singer, soloist of the Kiev State Academy Theatre of Opera and Ballet; Pavil A. Serebrykov, pianist, Professor of Leningrad State Conservatory, Honored Artist of the Uzbek Republic; Arthur F. Frinberg, singer, soloist of the Latvian State Theatre of Opera and Ballet, Honored Artist of the Latvian Republic, Stalin Prize winner; Galina S. Maximov, pianist, accompanist of the Moscow State Philharmonic; Andre Y. Mitnic, pianist, accompanist of the Moscow State Philharmonic; Alexander V. Solodovnikov, head of the delegation, former director of the Bolshoi State Theatre; Vadim N. Nekrassov, interpreter.

IMPATIENT AT DELAY

Cities they plan to visit are Ottawa, Toronto, Hamilton, Windsor, Port Arthur, Winnipeg, Regina, Edmonton, Calgary, Vancouver, Victoria.

Denisov was caustic about "delays" in obtaining the visas. He said applications for the first six were sent to the Canadian embassy Feb. 16. Others were sent Feb. 22, and Feb. 27. Coupled with the first submissions was a request that they be issued within 48 hours.

Graham Story Lands Him In Hot Water

LONDON (Reuters)—Evangelist Billy Graham, packing 12,000 persons nightly into Harringay Arena here with his "crusade" Wednesday night defended a signed newspaper article which has landed him in hot water with the British press.

The article, published this week in a New York newspaper, alleges that drunkenness, sexual immorality, robbery, juvenile delinquency and divorce are all on the increase in Britain. His figures were challenged by British newspapers.

In a statement the evangelist stuck to his allegations. He gave as the source of many of them a leaflet by a London Salvation Army major published in 1950, hitherto unchallenged.

GIVES QUOTE

Graham quoted from his original article: "Drunkenness is also becoming a national menace, with thousands of alcoholics, though the Britishers do not drink to the same excess that Americans do."

He gave no figures but quoted at the meeting a government survey of 1952 and claimed that statistics showed that drink influenced crime which rose in Britain from 20,545 cases in 1946 to 51,239 in 1951.

He cited the registrar-general's statistical review to support his contention that the British divorce rate was rising rapidly.

Soldier Enjoys Navy Hitch-Hike

[illegible] and see the world on the navy. At least that's what Lieut. Bill Howe of Sudbury and Simcoe had to do before realizing a boyhood ambition.

Lieut. Howe was aboard the destroyer Huron when she arrived here Wednesday from her second tour of duty in Korea. He served in the navy during the war but never got off the Atlantic.

In 1950 he joined the Royal Canadian Artillery, was sent to Korea and there hitched a ride home on the Huron by way of the Suez canal. He is possibly the first Canadian soldier to circle the globe by hitching a ride with the navy.

How did he like it? The strapping 29-year-old ex-navy lieutenant said: "Fine. Better than I really expected, but it wasn't all fun. The navy put me to work.

"I held a second officer of the watch's post, except when I was playing bridge and I usually was given a duty watch fast, if I won."

Lieut. Howe, the father of two girls, Julia, 8, and Jane, 4, is on his way to Simcoe to see his family for the first time in 15 months.

Britain Asks Soviet Proof

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain is asking Russia for documentary proof of the reported divorces of four Soviet women married to British husbands, the foreign office announced Wednesday.

Instructions to that effect were sent to the British embassy in Moscow last week-end. The divorces were reported to the government last week.

A foreign office spokesman denied reports that the government had asked Russia for proof that the wives themselves requested divorces.

Three of the women—Mrs. Lola Burke, Mrs. Rosa Henderson and Mrs. J. E. Bolton—are reported living in exile in Siberia. Mrs. Rene Ricketts is said to be living with her parents in Moscow.

Mrs. Henderson's husband, Patrick, has emigrated to Canada and now lives at Fort William.

Ask Ottawa, Provinces Finance Flood Control

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—The Upper Thames Valley Authority has decided to ask the federal and provincial governments for almost $7,000,000 to help finance flood control projects in seven areas along the upper Thames river.

The whole conservation scheme will cost about $9,264,000 and the federal and Ontario governments will each be asked to pay 37½ per cent. Municipalities affected would pay the rest.

The plan would be spread over perhaps 15 years and would include five new dams and reservoirs and two channel improvement schemes.

Channel improvement at St. Marys and Mitchell and a new dam at Wildwood east of St. Marys were expected to be among the first projects tackled. The dam would be 53 feet high and would store about 15,000 acre-feet of water in a lake about six miles long.

Fifty-two members of the authority, representing 30 municipalities, attended the Wednesday night meeting. Dr. J. Cameron Wilson of London, re-elected chairman, said although flood control seems the most spectacular part of the authority's work, the real work of conservation is being done on the farms within the watershed.

"The completion of flood control projects will require from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000 but they will pay for themselves in the prevention of floods as Fanshawe (dam near London) has already done in the last few weeks."

Experts have said a recent flood in the Thames would have run over the banks into London west if Fanshawe had not held the water back.

Trade Unionists Can't Afford To Tolerate Communists Bengough Tells Labor

Canadian trade unionists aren't happy about it but they've found that there's one group within their ranks that they can't afford to be tolerant with: that group is the Communists.

True, said Percy Bengough, president of the 583,000-member Trades and Labor Congress, ousting one group from the ranks of organized labor for their views isn't democratic. But, he contended, the tactics of the Communists—the world over—leave them no alternative.

Mr. Bengough was speaking Wednesday night to some 60 AFL unionists from Peterborough and district at a meeting in the Empress Hotel. The meeting was arranged by the Peterborough Trades and Labor Council (TLC).

On Tuesday night he was guest speaker at a meeting of the Peterborough Personnel Association.

When he was a trade unionist in British Columbia, Mr. Bengough recalls that they prided themselves on the belief that their movement was "wide enough and big enough for all views." Communits, "Wobblies" and others were welcome.

"I regretted very much when we changed that . . . I know when we changed that we were no longer as democratic as we were before.

"But I don't know what else we could do," he said. "We found that these people were just trained seals . . . They used democratic methods to destroy it.

WORSE THAN CZARS

"They have set up a dictatorship—not the dictatorship of the proletariat that they talk about—but a dictatorship often worse than that of the Czars."

Czechoslovakia is a case in point, he said. When the Communists took over it was a highly industrialized, progressive country. Some of its social legislation was better than Canadian.

Czech democrats—taking the tolerant view of political beliefs — often helpd the Communists when they were in jail, awaiting execution, or undergoing persecution. Yet, as soon the Communists got the upper hand in the country, they became the executioners of their former benefactors.

"I can't believe that anybody would agree with the situation that exists behind the Iron Curtain," said Mr. Bengough. "There are now 30,000,000 people in absolute slavery . . . We have a list of their slave camps.

"You don't hear of any squawks or strikes from them . . . and that system is one we don't want. We want full employment but not in a slave camp."

SECOND WARNING

Mr. Bengough also warned his fellow trade unionists against literature circulated by Roscoe Rodd and an organization he identified as the League for Democratic Rights. This organization was urging unions to protest some of the amendments to the Criminal Code.

The speaker branded this organization as "self-appointed" and said he was curious to know where they got their money from. Their bill for stationery must come to quite a tidy sum.

Mr. Benough said that the amendments to the Criminal Code were aimed at dealing with treachery and subversion. The trade union movement, he said, has nothing to fear.

He reiterated this opinion when it was queried by a member of the audience (George Wallace, past president of Local 524, United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America (Indep.).

As in his speech Tuesday night to the Peterborough Personnel Association, Mr. Bengough dealt at some length with unemployment in Canada. He repeated his suggestions for some remedies: an investigation by the government to find out the cause of unemployment; setting up of a board of trade unionists and industrialists, as well as a minimum of government representatives and "long-hair" experts, to study the Canadian economy and trade problems; a program of public works; and changes in the Unemployment Insurance Act ("already oversubscribed"), increasing payments and reducing the waiting period.

MOBILITY NEEDED

Mobility of labor is needed, he said.

This could be accomplished by paying unemployed workers' transportation costs out of the bulging unemployment insurance fund. And if sick and retirement benefits were entered in a book, similar to unemployment insurance, a worker wouldn't feel tied to one firm. He could move to another locality where there was work for him.

Mr. Bengough said he was in favor of increased immigration into Canada. It would increase the size of the domestic market and that would be a help to the Canadian economy.

However, he added, this isn't the final answer. Skilled Canadians—from craftsmen to scientists in the Research Council—gravitate toward the United States where there is more money.

The natural increase of the Canadian population at the time of Confederation (1867) would have more than equalled today's population if there had been no exodus to the United States. Emigration to the United States has more than balanced the Canadian immigration.

"We've spent anything from $90 to $100 a year on educating our children, and then they go south of the border . . . We export the brains and import the beef . . . We've got to be a rich country to stand that."

Henry Nokes, Peterborough TLC secretary, thanked Mr. Bengough and presented him with a standard history book of Peterborough city and county.

Mrs. Pocock Presides St. Thomas Ladies

MILLBROOK (ENS)—The WA of St. Thomas' Anglican church met on Monday evening at the home of Mrs. H. A. Turner. Mrs. L. R. Pocock was in the chair and conducted the opening prayers in the absence of the president, Mrs. Reginald Fallis. The scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Leslie Graham.

Mrs. William Hilton, Dorcas secretary, reported that supplies for the bale had been purchased. Each year the WA outfits an Indian boy in a mission school in Prince Albert.

The monthly bulletin and correspondence were read by the secretary, Mrs. Douglas Sheppard.

Mrs. H. A. Turner reviewed a chapter of the study book "Africa Steps Out". The April meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. T. A. Campbell.

Commonwealth Troops Back Canadian NCOs School

By JACK BRAYLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

IN KOREA (CP)—Other formations of the Commonwealth Division look upon the 25th Brigade as original and enterprising. That's probably why the Canadian NCOs school, run for the division, is so popular.

Its six-week courses originally attracted fewer than 100 NCO prospects from British, Australian, New Zealand and Canadian formations. The last class numbered almost 200.

"The contagious enthusiasm of Brig. Allard (Canadian Korea commander) for originality and enterprise in soldiering encourages the broadest and most flexible program in training NCO's and that's why the rest of us support it so fully."

STRESSES INITIATIVE

A former New Brunswick basketball player, Maj. A. T. E. Fairweather of Rothesay, Royal Canadian Regiment, is head of the school.

"We try to get away as much as possible from the handbook routine in our common-to-all-arms training," said Maj. Fairweather. "And we try to turn out leaders who are commanders and not leaders as in follow-the-leader. We want NCOs who can retain command and control in the field and to do this we stress the encouragement of originality and individual initiative. Our results are very well received generally."

Maj. Fairweather is soon giving over his command to Maj. Gordon Donaldson, Black Watch officer from Calgary, and returning to Canada with the RCRs.

Seventy per cent of the school's instructional staff is Canadian but the students are fairly evenly divided among all Commonwealth formations.

FINE SUBSTITUTE

An Australian, Cpl. Ronald Pincott, 27, of the Royal Australian Regiment, led the latest graduating class which was also the biggest. He lost his voice on the day before the passing-out ceremonies and the second-place student, Cpl. Clifford Morlang, 19, a Vancouver lad with the Black Watch, substituted.

Morlang boomed out parade-square commands without a quiver and the inspection and march past went with guardsmanlike precision.

"I was actually scared to death" Cpl. Morlang said. "If anybody had dropped a rifle I think I would have fainted. At 19, it's pretty tough to boss around that bunch of NCO material and I'm glad its over."

Tight Fit

YORK, England (CP)—Seeking an increase of sixpence a week in the basic pension, the National Federation of Old Age Pensioners says some persons have only six shillings left for food after paying for other essentials with their allowance of £2, 9s, 6d.

VOTES PILE UP—Citizens are continuing to send in votes for their favorite store clerk. In fact there are now some 250,000 votes already in for 70 clerks in city stores. Mrs. Zelma Melvin (right, above) serves customers a coffee in Irwin's drug store in Ashburnham. She is one of the 70 clerks who have received votes. Saturday's paper will list five of the 10 top in the voting to date.

Police Hoaxed Into Search For Man's Body

HAMILTON (CP)—The search throughout nearby Stoney Creek for the body of a man "with a knife in his neck" was called off Wednesday night after police learned their informant had been hoaxed.

Saltfleet police started the search after Hamilton city police received a note saying the body was located in an old shack.

The note said: "I have tried to keep this to myself but I can't live unless something is done about it."

Wednesday night, a woman who identified herself as Mrs. Kabal, Hamilton, telephoned police with the story behind the note.

She said her daughter, Maxine, 15, and another girl, Patsy Rowe, 16, went driving one night last week with three youths who entered a shack in Stoney Creek and returned to tell the girls of finding a body.

The woman said Miss Rowe believed the story and sent the unsigned note to police

Is there a difference in Tissues?

Yes Ma'am...

Only Interlake gives you luxury tissue at a moderate price. THE GENTLE TISSUE

Battled State Control Of TV Editor To Tour Canada

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — Malcolm Muggeridge, who goes to Canada shortly on a speaking tour, is known as the first man from "outside the family" to become editor of Punch, the humor magazine.

Punch, almost a national institution, was founded in 1841 and in 110 years had only seven editors, all of whom grew up with the magazine. Then Muggeridge joined the sixpenny weekly from his newspaper job in Fleet street, bringing with him some of the pace and bustle of the daily press.

He replaced Kenneth Bird Jan. 1, 1953. Soon readers noted changes. Punch lost some of its anonymity, carrying regularly bylined articles by Cyril Connolly, Lord Dunsany, John Betjeman, Elizabeth Bowne, Geoffrey Gorer, John Pudney, James Laver, Lionel Hale and William Samson.

MORE PUNCH IN PUNCH

Muggeridge, convinced objectivity in journalism is largely an illusion, put more opinion, and more punch, into Punch. He insisted on stop-press topicality, upsetting time-honored printing schedules. A magazine noted for an almost languid approach to news saw layout changes made at the last minute.

A vouched-for story has it that the new editor asked a printer recently whether the magazine is funnier now. The printer answered:

"Don't know about the paper, sir—but you've made the printing much funnier."

Muggeridge leaves for Canada by air March 19 to address the annual dinner of the Canadian Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters, organization of privately owned broadcasting stations at Quebec March 22.

In Punch and other publications he has fought for commercial television and against control of TV by the state-owned BBC. His recent acid remarks on the BBC—made on a BBC program—caused some eyebrow-lifting.

FOUGHT STATE CONTROL

Muggeridge carried to Punch the fight against state control after his six years as deputy editor of The Daily Telegraph. On The Daily Telegraph, leader of Britain's anti-Socialist daily press, he worked in an atmosphere where the cause of commercial freedom was paramount.

Typical of his attacks in Punch on commercialized broadcasting is this one, in satirical vein:

"If only, for instance, Shakespeare's works, before being published, had been subjected to the careful scrutiny of someone as cultivated, as nice in his judgments and as concerned for the public good as Lord Reith, (most famous BBC director-general) we should have been spared those passages of violence, lechery and incoherence which mar otherwise admirable plays. . . ."

Muggeridge, who will celebrate his 51st birthday in Canada—he was born March 24, 1903—is a Cambridge graduate who entered journalism with the Manchester Guardian after a hitch as lecturer in Cairo. He later worked for the Calcutta Statesman, The Evening Standard and The Daily Telegraph.

He has written novels, a play, a life of Samuel Butler and edited the diaries of Italy's Count Ciano. One book "Winter in Moscow," mordantly records his disenchantment with Russia.

Muggeridge's father was a popular Labor member of Parliament and his wife is a niece of the late Mrs. Beatrice Webb, a Fabian pioneer. The new editor once described himself as "very much suckled in socialism" but in later days he has moved to the right.

He is handsome, kindly-looking, with a twinkle which has been called deceptive. He can hit hard in speaking or writing and has one whose favorite satirists Jonathan Swift and George Orwell.

Punch was founded July 17, 1841 by Ebenezer Landells and Henry Mayhew. It first achieved international fame with a tragic poem by Thomas Hood, "The Song of the Shirt," about underpaid needlewomen. One of its classic jokes was its advice to persons about to marry—don't.

During his visit to Canada Muggeridge will also make a series of speeches on behalf of the Association of Canadian Clubs, visiting among other cities Ottawa, Toronto, Hamilton, London, Winnipeg, Edmonton and Vancouver.

PUNCH EDITOR—Malcolm Muggeridge, editor of Punch, the English humor magazine, is to visit Canada on a speaking tour. He will speak at the annual dinner of the Canadian Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters at Quebec March 22, and at a number of other Canadian cities later.

Studios Stage Rush For Purdom

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Edmund Purdom used to be somewhat concerned about being typed as the man who mouths Mario Lanza's songs. It turns out he needn't have worried.

Purdom is the hosttest young actor in Hollywood today. His schedule for 1954 contains the most diverse roles imaginable.

The English lad fell heir to "The Student Prince" when Lanza took a powder, leaving behind his song recordings for Purdom to deliver. Next, Ed profited from another walkout, being loaned by MGM to 20th Century-Fox for the role vacated by Marlon Brando in "The Egyptian." Brando left nothing behind, so Purdom's interpretation of the role is strictly his own.

As soon as he finishes that, he tosses off his desert costume for the tweeds of a proper Bostonian lawyer in "Athena." After that he expects to do "A Real Swashbuckler" called "The King's Thief," and is scheduled to appear opposite Ava Gardner in a Biblical drama, "The Prodigal."

CANDID ABOUT SUCCESS

It's hard to describe Purdom. He is sort of a combination of James Mason and Errol Flynn with a touch of Brando. He says pretty much what he pleases and can come up with some remarkable remarks. He views his present success with candor:

"I have instructed my agent to try and get me a raise now. If I wait until these five pictures come out, the public may get sick of me and I'd get no raise whatsoever."

When he did a bit on the Fox lot in "Titanic" before he was signed at MGM, his salary was $30 0a week. Now Fox is reported to be paying over $100,000 for his services in "The Egyptian."

RETURN TO HOLLYWOOD

Gene Tierney is again working in Hollywood after a two-year absence, during which she made pictures in Europe and romanced with Aly Khan.

The actress is still cagey about her relations with Aly. She admits that marriage has been discussed, but concerning whether they will wed, she replies: "Your guess is [illegible] that."

I found her a symphony in green for her role in "The Egyptian"—even green eye make-up and green fingernail polish. Those Egyptians were pretty gay characters.

CAUTIOUS APPROACH

Find Industrial Leadership Difficult Peak To Hold

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

The top of the United States industrial heap can be a slippery place, according to a review by Sam Dawson of The Associated Press.

Nearly two-thirds of the 100 largest industrial corporations of 45 years ago, he says, are missing from today's top 100.

"New inventions, new methods, new tastes have cut them out of the business herd; and around the corner is the atomic age, waiting to beget new industries."

General Motors and Ford, for instance, were infants back in 1909. Only one rubber company and three oil companies were among the top 100 to herald the age of automobiles and paved highways. Aluminum was no great shakes in an almost airplane-less era and before it won a wide way into building materials. Du Pont was the only chemical company among the leaders, and much of its present eminence is due to products unheard of then.

The 36 enterprises which have retained leading positions include International Nickel, centred in Canada and with head office at Copper Cliff, Ont.; and International Paper, also with much of its operations in Canada.

The companies may be big, but a lot of them are owned in large part by persons with small salaries.

A Wall Street Journal story says 56 per cent of the individual shareholders of United States Steel Corporation, for instance, who own 37 per cent of the corporation's stock, have annual incomes below $5,000, with an average of about $2,800. The information is based on answers to a questionnaire sent by the corporation to shareholders.

Variety for meatless meals with Borden's Fine Cheeses

MELLOW MILD

Macaroni and cheese just can't compare with "Macaroni Chateau." For Chateau Cheese has mellow-mild flavor that gives new life to any cheese dish. And Chateau helps supply the protein you need in meatless meals. Chateau is the best-behaved cheese you ever cooked with! Spreads, slices, or melts like a dream. Use lots of mellow-mild Chateau in meatless meals.

Double-length slices double-good for lunches

Borden's Cheese Slices are twice as long as the ordinary kind. You just cut the package in half . . . use half for today's lunch . . . the other half stays tightly wrapped, fresh as ever, for tomorrow's lunch. Handy! And the flavor is the tangy flavor a man likes. Satisfying. Plain or pimento.

NEW! BORDEN'S ELSIE ROLL

Just the size for round crackers

"Tangy, cheddar-flavored, mellow-mild"—that sums up the wonderful flavor in the new Borden Elsie Roll. And what a handy idea for quick snacks . . . just slice off perfect bite-sized circles that fit round crackers to a T. You can whip up cheese snacks like a magician for surprise guests . . . with new Elsie Roll.

Ever try a cheese dip?

Just whip a little milk with chive-flavored Baumert Cream Cheese. Dip right in with potato chips . . . yummy! Try it with Baumert Pimento . . . or with Baumert Pineapple. Smooth, creamy Baumert is now foil-wrapped for extra flavor protection.

Hot soups and spaghetti take on real zip when you sprinkle on a dash of Borden's Grated Cheese. Nippy flavor. Makes a delightfully different topping for many desserts, too. Keeps for weeks in new turn top 4 oz. canister that gives you added flavor protection.

Borden's Fine Cheeses

"If it's Borden's—it's GOT to be good!"

He's Lucky—The Crust Was Nice And Soft

ANNE LEHMICKE is a pretty coed at the University of Minnesota, in Minneapolis, and pictures below show that she has control which many major league pitchers wish they had. Recently the school decided to hold a carnival to raise funds for a new student union and Anne pitched in. When Chuck Mohlke, a fellow student, stuck his head through the target at the pie-throwing concession, Anne wound up, aimed, and fired her fast ball. The result—Chuck got the pie in the eye and the student fund received a nice slice of profit. From Chuck's look, the pie really made a "hit."

Frost Attends MPP Funeral

BROCKVILLE (CP) — Charles [illegible], Progressive Conservative member of the Ontario legislature for Leeds, was buried here Wednesday after a funeral attended by Premier Frost and other legislature members.

Mr. MacOdrum, a Brockville lawyer, elected to the legislature in 1951, was to have headed a committee study of redistribution of Ontario ridings. He died Monday at the age of 46.

The funeral was held in First Presbyterian church, where Mr. MacOdrum's father had been minister for many years.

Included in the Ontario government representatives were L. P. Cecile, George Doucett, W. Collings, C. G. H. Challis, A. Kelso Roberts, Peter Manley, Rev. John Foote and E. W. Bickle. The funeral was conducted by Mr. Foote, Progressive Conservative member for Durham.

Ice Jam Starts To Move In River

SARNIA (CP)—Floe ice which has jammed the south end of Lake Huron for the last week started moving down the St. Clair river Wednesday, forcing the Sarnia-to-Port Huron ferry to stop runing.

Movement of the ice, however, is expected to allow navigation to start earlier here.

The Huron Transportation Company cement carrier S. T. Crapo left Detroit Wednesday for Lake Huron but was expected to tie up for the night at one of the river ports if the ice floes became too thick.

Boilers have been fired on most of the Imperial Oil tankers wintering here and one or more are expected to leave for Windsor and Goderich Monday if conditions are favorable.

Navigation lights on the St. Clair river are expected to be installed within the next 10 days.

Labor Lobbyists Gain Support

TORONTO (CP) — A group of labor lobbyists, who invaded Queen's Park Wednesday in an attempt to win support for checkoff legislation, said a half-dozen members agreed to back the bill.

The button-holing operation by members of the Canadian Congress of Labor is in support of a bill proposed by T. D. Thomas, CCF member for Ontario, which would require employers to deduct union dues when their employees request it.

Labor Minister Daley said earlier he will not introduce the voluntary checkoff because it is a matter for negotiation between labor and management.

Later the labor group passed a resolution asking the government to call a meeting of its labor committee to hear representations from labor bodies.

Plan Research Staff To Assist MPs

OTTAWA (CP) — [illegible] Conservative members of the Commons may be provided with a research staff to help them deal with their Parliamentary work.

The PC Association of Canada Wednesday adopted a resolution calling on its new executive to provide a research staff within a year. It would work both with members and with the association president, George Hees, member for Toronto Broadview.

The association's annual meeting also voted to admit the Progressive Conservative Federation of University Students to the national organization. Previously the federation has been a separate group, although it has received some financial support from the party association.

Lamport Host To Mayors

TORONTO (CP) — Mayor Allan A. Lamport Wednesday played host to a number of mayors, controllers and reeves from a number of cities, towns and villages.

The group toured the exhibit areas of the Canadian National Sportsmen's Show, visited the International Motor Show and the Boat and Marine Show and attended the stage and water revue in the arena.

Among the group were Mrs. Bernadette Smith, Woodstock; A. L. McRae, Welland; F. N. Bauer, Waterloo; Herbert Smale, Sault Ste. Marie; John Smith, St. Catharines; J. W. Naylor, Oshawa; Merle E. Dickerson, North Bay; Donald Weber, Kitchener; Harry Worton, Guelph; William Anderson, Galt; Reginald Cooper, Brantford; Jack Both, Belleville, and Ernest Stamp, Kearney.

21 Doctors Do Voluntary Work With Crippled Children

CALGARY (CP) — Twenty-one doctors do voluntary work with crippled children here. Their only reward is the satisfaction of seeing children walk again at the Alberta Red Cross Crippled Children's Hospital.

The trickle of patients admitted in the tiny Junior Red Cross house-hospital when it opened more than 30 years ago has grown to a flood of 323 accommodated last year in a modern $2,000,000 building. More than 1,100 out-patients are registered, too.

The rising sick list, boosted during the last few years by polio epidemics, has placed a heavy burden on the doctors. Some of them spend up to one-seventh of their time with the Red Cross.

STARTED IN 1922

After some time as a practising surgeon in Calgary, Dr. Deane, at the age of 50, went to England and took a post-graduate course in orthopedics. When he returned he gave much of his time to helping the province's crippled youngsters.

As chief orthopedic surgeon, he saw the hospital grow to a new 50-bed building in 1929—and was present when the mortgage on it was burned 10 years later. Dr. Deane died in 1941.

Dr. R. G. Townsend, who took over as chief orthopedic surgeon, recently became medical superintendent at the hospital.

1960 Before Reconstruction War-Torn London Complete

By DAVID SELLS

LONDON (Reuters)—Rebuilding of the City of London from wartime bomb damage is being speeded up after eight years of hold-ups and restrictions.

Works Minister Sir David Eccles has promised builders and planners his full support and his forecast that major reconstruction projects will be completed by 1960.

More than a third of the one-square-mile City was laid to waste. For raiding bombers, its maze of markets, banks, offices, warehouses and wharves along the River Thames offered an easy target.

The City still bears its unsightly scars. Acres of valuable land is covered with weeds and dotted with ruins. The ministry of public works, holding tight control over all building, has in the past given priority to major industrial and housing projects.

SLOW PROGRAM LAMENTED

Successive lord mayors of London have lamented the slow rate of reconstruction. Sir Leslie Boyce commented in 1952 that Hamburg and other blitzed German cities were far outstripping the City of London in building achievements.

At the lord mayor's banquet last November Prime Minister Churchill himself said: "The City is a shocking sight and one can hardly think of a worse advertisement for British recovery and strength."

Chief emphasis in redevelopment is to be on large buildings. A maze of tiny streets and drab, overcrowded offices, largely of the medieval street plan, was blasted away by bombing. Twentieth-century architectural ideas will get their chance, though so far nothing ultra-modern is scheduled.

Conservatives Choose 47 Officers

OTTAWA (CP)—The Progressive Conservative Association of Canada Wednesday chose a 47-member slate of officers to serve under its new president, George Hees of Toronto.

Mr. Hees, member of Parliament for Toronto Broadview, was elected Tuesday.

Thirteen members of the Commons and 13 women were among those chosen to round out the association executive. George Nowlan, the retiring president and MP for Digby-Annapolis-Kings, was chosen as one of four Nova Scotia executive members.

Vice-presidents elected: A. M. Pearson, Lumsden, Sask.; Mrs. E. W. Sansom, Fredericton, new president of the PC women's association; Leon Balcer, MP for Trois-Rivieres; Lloyd Nickerson, Queenston, N.B., and A. D. McKenzie, Toronto.

Frank E. Lennard, MP for Wentworth, was chosen treasurer and Albert E. Honeywell, Ottawa, secretary.

J. W. Murphy, MP for Lambton West; Wallace Nesbitt, MP for Oxford; Elizabeth Jazen, Kitchener, and Elmer Bell of Exeter were chosen Ontario representatives of the executive.

Rumors Continuing Board To Reorganize

SIMCOE (CP)—Rumors that the Ontario Flue-cured Tobacco Marketing Board may be reorganized continued as the board met in a closed session here Wednesday.

It was understood that members were considering giving growers and buyers equal representation on the board which controls the amount of tobacco grown in Ontario and sets its price. Seven buyers now sit on the board and 15 growers.

An official release said many speakers spoke of "the continuing importance to the tobacco industry of the association as presently constituted." But an official spokesman said later the phrase "as presently constituted" referred to the principle of the association and not necessarily to the present division of representation.

The meeting continues today.

Ask $50 Bounty Given On Wolves

TORONTO (CP)—A $50 bounty on wolves, instead of the present $25, was recommended Wednesday to the legislature's fish and game committee.

The recommendation was contained in a brief presented by the Northern Ontario Outfitters' Association, and read by Len Hughes of North Bay, association president.

The association also suggested that the present non-resident moose licence fee of $101 be reduced to $51 and that an additional or trophy fee of $50 be charged for each moose killed.

An open season for bow and arrow hunting on bull moose this year in the Thunder Bay district was recommended.

The association also called for a closed season on deer hunting in the Beardmore-Hearst area due to depletion in that district.

Rousing Welcome For HMCS Huron

HALIFAX (CP)—The destroyer Huron steamed home from 11 months of Korean service Wednesday and got a rousing welcome from 500 wildly cheering relatives and a harassed navy band jammed onto her dockyard jetty.

The Huron, fifth Canadian warship to circle the globe, is commanded by Cmdr. T. C. Pullen of Oakville. Her second tour of Korean duty was marred by a grounding on a Korean reef and [illegible] months in a Japanese dockyard.

Cmdr. Pullen, who took command of the ship last September, had praise for her crew. He commanded the Huron on two cruises in Korean waters following her return to duty in October.

For the crew the arrival home means at least a two-week leave and for some, two months.

Lakefield WA Given Bible

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—Mrs. J. R. Hull presided for the devotional period when the Women's Association of the United Church met in the Sunday school rooms. Mrs. W. Fairbairn gave the Bible reading and Mrs. H. C. Wolfraim led in prayer.

The lesson thoughts were taken by Mrs. W. W. Yale and were on "The Ressurrection." Mrs. Yale gave a talk on "The Cross."

Mrs. P. H. Darling, president, presided for the business session. It was decided that the association would be in charge of the service on Sunday.

A travelling Bible was presented to the association by Mrs. T. E. Rath. Each month this Bible is to be passed to another association. Next month, Young's Point WA will be guests of Lakefield and will receive the Bible, which in turn they will pass on to their guests.

Tea hostesses were Mrs. W. J. Charlton, Mrs. Frank Darling, Mrs. Clare Chittick and Mrs. Elwood Dunford.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

The Dressing For Your Daily Salad For Spring Days

Next Sunday is the first day of spring and my thoughts lightly turn to salad greens.

After writing this column for over twenty-five years you might think I'd know what recipes would click with you. But I still don't.

Back in November of 1953 I gave you a recipe for Creamy Mayonnaise because Mrs. Arthur M. asked for it. Since then I have received dozens of letters asking for copies of it or a repeat in the column.

I will give you that today because I feel we should emphasize salads in our meals more than ever for in this north country we have to depend on storage vegetables to a large extent, and their vitamin content is lowering by the minute, as each winter day passes.

Give your flair for salads full reign right now. Serve generous green salads every day — for your own and your family's good health.

Watch how eagerly they reach for the salad bowl. But, if your family does not have the salad habit, make individual salads and put theem at their places as a first course. Then they will satisfy their first hunger with salad, and you take no chances on a half- emptied salad bowl being returned to the kitchen.

CREAMY MAYONNAISE
(repeated by request)

In top of double boiler mix together 1/3 cup flour, 1 teaspoon each sugar, salt and dry mustard. Slowly stir in ¾ cup milk, vinegar and ¾ cup boiling water, stirring until mixture thickens. Cook covered 5 minutes, stirring twice. Remove from heat and pour into cold bowl. Beat in with rotary beater 4 egg yolks thoroughly. Chill 2 hours in refrigerator. Chill also 1 cup salad oil 2 hours. Now begin to very slowly beat into the cooked mixture the salad oil, 1 teaspoon at a time, until all is used, being sure oil is incorporated before you make another addition. Chill again, covered. This may be made more creamy by the addition of a cream when you take some of it from the jar to add to your daily salad. A little more sugar may be added to the first mixture if desired—up to 1 tablespoon.

Quite a few requests are on my desk for a repeat of quick method for making white bread, and I have room for the recipe, today.

WHITE BREAD (fast method using skim milk powder)

Soak 2 packages of granular yeast in ½ cup lukewarm water for 5 minutes. Stir just before adding. In a large warm mixing bowl put 2½ cups lukewarm water, ½ cup skim milk powder, 3 tablespoons sugar, 1 tablespoon salt and mix together. Add the soaked and stirred yeast. Stir until yeast is well incorporated. Add 2 tablespoons soft shortening or cooking oil. Mix in 7 or 7¼ cups sifted bread flour. Up until the time you add 4 cups flour this can be stirred in. After that use your hands. When dough begins to leave sides of bowl turn it out on lightly floured board and knead by folding dough toward you, then press down heavily with the heels of your hands. Give it a quarter turn and repeat until dough is smooth and squeaky and elastic and does not cling to board. Transfer to greased bowl, brush top with shortening or oil, cover with damp cloth and let rise in warm place until doubled. When pressed with finger indentation remains when dough has risen enough. Punch down in bowl and tur over. Cover and let rise again until ALMOST double, in warm place. Mould into 2 loaves, making top smooth and let rise in greased loaf pans until doubled, in warm place. Bake at 425 deg. Fahr. for about 30 minutes. Remove loaves from pans, and let cool on rack, or tipped sideways in pans. Brush tops with melted butter if you like a soft crust.

Facials Are Draw Prizes

The Ladies' Lions' Club monthly dinner meeting was held Tuesday evening at the Empress Hotel. President Mrs. Bus Mitchell presided for a short business period following, when it was decided to hold the draw for the Easter suit on April 5th. Members have been selling tickets on this for some time. The prize can be a man's or ladies' suit or $100 cash. Mrs. Charles Cumberland introduced the guest of the evening, Madame Lenart, who spoke concerning facial care and make-up and with Mrs. Frank O'Neil as model demonstrated correct massage movements and the proper methods of applying make-up. Madame Lenart donated several free facials as draw prizes and had small samples of her products for each lady present. She was thanked by Mrs. James Dutton.

Dance Proceeds About $200

Proceeds of about $200 are expected from the Shamrock Dance held on the evening of March 17th at the Empress Hotel in aid of the Peterborough Ornamental Swimmers' travel fund. No expenses [illegible] contributed its facilities and Paul Minicola and his orchestra contributed their services to the club. Returns from the advance ticket sale are not in yet but are expected to be about $50. There was $32 taken at the door last night and the bar netted a profit of $88. Coach Mrs. James Forbes expressed thanks to the dancers for their support, though this was scarcely necessary since they were having a good time out of it. Dr. F. J. Pitz, chairman of the club's board of directors, which is planning a series of events to raise the $3,000 needed for a trip to the British Empire Games at Vancouver next August, also spoke briefly in appreciation of the help already given.

Presbyterians Mark St. Pat's Day With Get-Together

"The day of the Irish" was also celebrated in St .Paul's Presbyterian church when a St. Patrick's get-together for the congregation was arranged by the session, assisted by members of the choir. Attendance was large, the program entertaining and varied, followed with refreshments of the finest.

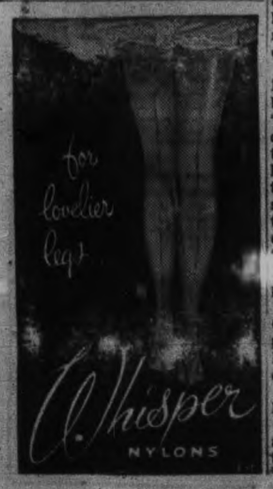
A back-drop on the stage was truly Irish with shamrocks, pipes and top hat all green. The refreshment table was centred with daffodils, mimosa and green-tinted carnations and fern, and scattered with shamrock cut-outs Session members James Middleton and John Anderson and Clarence Mann and Max Kaye poured tea for the folks, who proceeded along each side to fill their plates with sandwiches and cookies cafeteria style.

The program was under guidance of Mr. William Cumming, who like other members of the cast, was in top hat and side wkiskers and wore a green tie. Opening remarks with a touch of Irish humor wer emade by the Rev. Charles G. Boyd, who had as companion in story telling, the Rev. Gilbert D. Smith of the new St. Giles' Presbyterian church.

An old favorite, "MacNamara's Band" was the opening chorus by nine choir men in green ties and derby hats, armed with "mighty" instruments of music. This was followed with "Peggy O'Neill" by Mrs. L. R. Mitchell, and then community singing of three Irish songs.

Mr. Georeg Coleman in the costume of an Irish immigrant sang "Off to Philadelphia." John Smith and William Cumming appeared with story and patter in keeping with the day, and Mr. William McKelvey gave several Irish airs on his harmonica.

"The Rheumatiz" duet gave many laughs as Mrs. A. Spencley and her "man," Mrs. Mitchell, acted the ailment of old age. From the Mikado "Three Little Maids" in the persons of Misses Jean Smith, Pauline and Norma Hudson, was encored. Miss Ruth Hudson was the piano accompanist.



Another varied number was "Burlington Bertie from Bow" enacted by Mrs. Spencley with monocle, cane and tall hat to emulate a would-be "toff" who had seen better days. Mr. Coleman's rendition of "Old Man River" was also much enjoyed.

A fashion parade in which Mrs. C. G. Boyd commented, brought to the stage seven of the "latest designs" in hats. These creations had evidently been trimmed with whatever lay to hand, from onions to straw, with toy piano, bird cages, dental instruments and other accessories thrown in. Each display was accompanied by song in parody on "The Easter Parade." Mrs. Donald [illegible], the arranger of the musical program was at the piano.

The Ladies' Aid Society assisted in this memorable event by preparing refreshments, Mrs. Robert McIlmoyle was convener of table arrangments.

Marion Bateson Becomes Bride Of A. W. Mitchell

Spring flowers and ferns provided the setting in George Street United church Saturday, when Marion Isabelle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Bateson, became the bride of Alexander William Mitchell of Toronto, son of Mr. William Mitchell of Kingston. The Rev. A. A. Mathews performed the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a waltz length gown of white lace over taffeta, fashioned with long sleeves, wide neckline and fitted bodice and full skirt. Her shoulder length veil of French tulle illusion was caught to a matching cap and she carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Mrs. William P. Anderson of Rochester, N.Y., sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Miss Barbara White of Peterborough, niece of the bride, was bridesmaid. They were dressed alike in gowns of blue iridescent taffeta, fashioned after the style of the bride's dress and were carrying bouquets of white carnations and blue hyacinths.

Mr. Guy Desormeaux of Toronto was groomsman and the ushers were Leonard White and Stanley Mitchell, brother of the groom, both of Peterborough. Mr. Charles Allen played the wedding music.

A reception was held at the bride's home, 738 George St. North, where her mother received, wearing a navy crepe and lace dress, with navy and white accessories, and corsage of pink carnations. She was assisted by Mrs. Frank Kirby, sister of the groom, wearing a navy dress, white hat and gloves, and corsage of pink carnations.

They will live in Toronto on return.

Golden Milers' Tea On March 17th Successful Event

It was a great day for the Irish, this March 17th, and it was also a great day for a group of elderly Peterborough laides. The Golden Mile Club annual tea, held on the Wednesday afternoon nearest, this year fell right on St. Patrick's birthday, and what a lovely spring day it was, and what a successful event.

As usual, the ladies were assisted with their tea arrangements by their sponsors, the Soprotimists, who also provided them with transportation to the YWCA Green Room.

Golden Milers work throughout the year on aprons and knitted and sewn articles for their bazaar tables and these sold well. They also had a home-made candy table and had three draws to bolster their funds. The Soroptimists operated a home cooking table and the proceeds from this go toward the tea expenses.

Major draw prize was a nice scatter rug — green of course — and it was won by Mrs. Karl Simpson, a member of the Golden Mile Club, whose job for the tea hours was taking admission tickets.

A lady celebrating a wedding anniversary on March 17th, Mrs. Wildman, of 781 Water Street, was winner of the large angel cake, which was iced and decorated in green. Third draw prize was a lovely satin cushion and it was won by F. S. Raymond, of 308 Maitland Avenue.

Guests, who kept the tea room filled throughout the afternoon, had a most attractive table setting before them, and showed appreciation in their comments. The flowers were soft yellow roses, white 'mums and green-tinted carnations arranged around small, crossed flags of Ireland, printed with the familiar words, "Erin Go Bragh" (Ireland Forever).

Paddy green candles were in a pair of unique china candelabra with five holders on each. The flower bowl was yellow pottery which matched the roses.

Pouring tea, in turns, were Golden Mile members Mrs. Barrick and Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Cowling and Mrs. Castle, Mrs. Foster and Mrs. French, Mrs. Chatten and Mrs. Crozier, Mrs. Lefley and Mrs. McDonough, Mrs. Pomeroy and Mrs. Nicholls, Mrs. Rome and Mrs. Cox. Serving was done by the Soroptomists.

Selling candy were Miss Coleman and Mrs. Morrison. The aprons were sold by Mrs. Lefley, Mrs. Foster, Mrs. Crozier, Mrs. Kennedy and Mrs. French, and the bazaar goods by Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Barrick, Mrs. Cowling and Mrs. Gold.

Mrs. Brady and Mrs. Pomeroy looked after the cushion draw, Mrs. Rome and Mrs. Cox the carpet draw, and tickets on the cake were sold at the bake table.

Miss Ethel Miller was in charge of the Golden Milers' part in the tea. Miss Mabel Collins received at the door, assisted by Soroptimist officers.

Duties Of Juries Learned By GA

The Girls' Auxiliary of St. John's Anglican church visited the County Court House after their meeting Tuesday and learned a great deal of the governmental proceedings c[illegible]on there. County Clerk Mrs J. A. Spurway conducted them through the building. She exolained the work of the county engineer from a map and pictures of county road development, giving a new picture of the tremendous job which this department handles.

In the Council Chambers the duties of Mrs. Spurway were explained and in the court room she outlined the procedure and functions of the three types of juries: Grand jury of 13 members; Trial or Petty jury of 12 members; Coroner's jury of 5 members.

The girls took note that the duty of the petty jury in criminal cases is to hand down verdicts of guilty or not guilty. They sit at public trials of civil and criminal cases, hear evidence to establish the facts of the case, then arrive at a verdict. The grand jury deals with criminal cases only and decides whether [illegible] is [illegible] guilty to enable [illegible] trial. This is not a public hearing, Mrs. Spurway explained. This jury's duties are to inspect public institutions and report on conditions and bring recommendations. Duty of the coroner's jury is to hear evidence at an enquiry into the cause of sudden or violent death and to establish facts connected with the death.

Mrs. Spurway pointed out that since January 1953 women are eligible to serve on all three juries and have proven to be good jurymen.

GA leader Mrs. W. C. Boate, who accompanied the girls, expressed thanks to Mrs. Spurway. For next week she has arranged a tour of the Bell Telephone Company building.

St. Patrick's Tea Well Attended At St. George's

The St. Patrick's Tea held by the Afternoon Guild of St. George's Anglican Church Wednesday afternoon was a very successful event, with good March 17th weather bringing out a splendid crowd.

Clay pipes and Irishmen's hats decorated green and white centrepieces on the guests' tables and the tea table bouquet, tinted green carnations tied with green bows was spiked with the pipes.

Tea pourers wore corsages of green carnations and shamrocks tied with green ribbon, and the two ladies receiving, Mrs. H. J. Scuse, wife of St. George's rector, and Mrs. M. P. Poole, wife of All Saints' rector, were wearing lovely corsages of pink carnations which were gifts on this occasion from Mr. Poole.

Tea pourers the first hour were Mrs. W. Beard and Mrs. O. Kidd from All Saints' church, followed by Mrs. D. H. Wyatt and Mrs. Donald Walker from St. Luke's.

Serving were Mrs. W. Dawson, Mrs. W. Warren, Mrs. M. Holden, Mrs. R. Stroud and Miss Geraldine Perks, with Mrs. J. Drynan acting as head waitress. Plates for each guest were made up in the kitchen by Mrs. J. McDonald, Mrs. J. E. Morris, Mrs. S. Parkes and Mrs. E. Robertson.

Guild president Mrs. F. Dorrell was acting as tea room hostess and Mrs. S. H. Perks was receiving tickets.

The Girl Guides had a home-made candy table and Norma Branson and Carol Ann Moore were attending with their captain Mrs. E. Johnston.

Aprons were being sold by Mrs. C. Robinson and Mrs. E. Cook and home baking by Mrs. Art Green and Mrs. Albert Howarth.

Stewart-Mackenzie Wed

The marriage of Miss Frances Agatha Mackenzie, daughter of Mrs. Mackenzie and the late Dr. A. W. Mackenzie of Lakefield to Colonel Alfred William Otter Stewart of Montreal, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Stewart of Hamilton, was solemnized Saturday afternoon in the chapel of Lakefield Preparatory School.

Rev. Canon Frank officiated, assisted by the Rev. J. Cranston and the Rev. L. A. Delaney of Lakefield. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. K. A. Mackenzie of London.

Miss Mary Mackenzie was her sister's maid of honor and Brigadier James Roberts of Oakville was groomsman.

The reception was held in the drawing room of Headmaster and Mrs. G. Winder Smith. Guests were present from Oakville, Toronto, Glen William, Windsor, Clarkson, Montreal, Meadowvale, Haileybury, Ottawa, Port Hope, Weston and Peterborough.

After a wedding trip to Barbados, the couple will live in Quebec.

Mrs. St. Laurent Anxious As Tired Husband Returns

OTTAWA (CP)—Mrs. Jeanne St. Laurent tried hard to smile.

But it was obvious that she was anxious. She hardly took her eyes off her husband.

Prime Minister St. Laurent came down the aircraft ramp after his world flight and he looked tired. His face was drawn. As one member of the RCAF crew said: "Everybody's tired. It was a long haul."

Mrs. St. Laurent, dressed in a smart purple velvet hat and mink coat, was at Rockcliffe airport 20 minutes before the big C-5 plane was scheduled to land.

She chatted with members of her family and cabinet ministers and their wives. But her eyes kept going to the moonlit sky. She showed her anxiety when she declined to talk to reporters except to say that she was happy. As a rule at public functions, Mrs. St. Laurent chats animatedly with newspapermen.

After the plane came in and rolled to a stop in front of the terminal and the prime minister stood at the top of the ramp, Mrs. St. Laurent seemed to be saying a little prayer. When he left she had said: "I am putting everything in God's hands."

GIRL HE LEFT BEHIND

Mr. St. Laurent carried a Hawaiian lei which he draped around his wife's neck. Then he kissed her. The RCAF band played "The Girl I Left Behind Me."

After that, the happy throng out to greet the prime minister seethed around them, sweeping Mr. St. Laurent away on a tide of handshaking and shouts of "Hi Louie."

Mrs. St. Laurent remained in the background, smiling happily sometimes but more often looking at her husband anxiously.

In the terminal, the prime minister remained standing while he talked for several minutes with reporters. Mrs. St. Laurent sat beside him, looking anxiously into his face.

As the press conference broke up and the prime minister walked out to a waiting car, Mrs. St. Laurent looked happier than she had all evening.

MR. AND MRS. HAROLD M. PAYNE, the bride formerly Miss Dorothy Sedgwick. —(Choate Studio Photo)

Payne-Sedgwick

The marriage took place Saturday in St. Luke's Anglican Church of Dorothy Jean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Sedgwick, to Harold Maxwell Payne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell Payne, all of Peterborough, Rev. Canon W. J. Gilling officiated.

Wedding music was played by Miss Eleanor Watson and during the signing of the register she played "O Perfect Love." Bouquets of daffodils were at Attired in a navy suit and white accessories and wearing a corsage of white sweetheart roses, the bride was attended by Miss Dora Calder, who was also in a navy suit with which she wore yellow accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

Groomsman was Mr. Larry Payne.

The couple will live at 332 Burnham Street.

Sunny Tea Room At Grove School Enjoyed By Guests

Grove Home and School Association members entertained on St. Patrick's Day at the school, using the sunny kindergarten as a tea room. Yellow candles and daffodils highlighted the quartette tables arranged for guests' pleasure, and the tea table was gay with a pot of daffodils and narcissus flanked by green candles set in green holders.

Great big green shamrocks and harps decorated the walls of the tea room and hall and these were made for the occasion by grade 8 girls who also helped out by taking charge of children for the tea hours in a nursery supervised by Mrs. A. Johnston.

President Mrs. Stan Whitfield was receiving at the door, assisted by Mrs. R. Page, wife of the first vice president. Mrs. Jos. Hanson was taking tickets as the treasurer Mrs. G. Stewart was acting as tea room hostess with Mrs. Harold Johnston.

Pouring tea were Mrs. D. Rostocky of the Home and School Council, Mrs. Charles Huffman, representative of the Board of Education and Mrs. Nels Foster and Mrs. Eric McKinstry.

The ladies serving were Mrs. G. Adams, Miss J. Galloway, Miss M. Rose, Miss E. Scollard, Miss D. Stinson, Miss E. Glover and Miss M. Hollingsworth, all of the teaching staff, and Mrs. C. Tighe, Mrs. L. Herr, Mrs. A. Moore, Mrs. J. Wasik, Mrs. G. Rutherford, Mrs. H. Harris, Mrs. G. Fredericks, Mrs. R. Johnston and Mrs. K. Johnston of the Association.

Replenishing of plates and tea pots was done by Mrs. J. Patterson, social convener, and Mrs. Cyril Barnes, Mrs. D. Grant and Mrs. Roy Skinner. Mrs. Harold Johnston, Mrs. George Rutherford, Mrs. D. Hadley and Mrs. E. Drury assisted in the kit-

DOROTHY DIX

Finds Home Is Too Small For Her Popular Mother

DEAR MISS DIX: A married friend of mine has her mother living with her. Mrs. Brown, the mother is about 55, an attractive, healthy, active woman. She has lots of friends, whom she enjoys entertaining. Almost every afternoon or evening she has someone in for bridge or canasta. The home is not big ETAONISHRD difficulty is that my friend's home is not big enough to permit two sets of guests. Consquently, my friend, Alice, and her husband have had to curtail their own entertaining. Mrs. Brown is willing to leave — in fact, she would like to get on her own — and Alice can pay quite a substantial sum regularly for her mother's upkeep. The problem is — where will Mrs. Brown go? Do you know of any boarding homes where she can continue her entertaining?

Interested.

ANSWER: Your suggestion of a boarding home falls far short of ideal for an active woman who likes to be on her own.

Since the sum you mention as Alice's contribution to her mother's support is indeed substantial, the perfect solution would be a small apartment for Mrs. Brown. Here she can cook for her friends, have them in when she likes and be completely independent. The fault that I find with this whole setup is that a life of card playing seems rather inadequate for an active woman of 55.

WORK WOULD BE GOOD FOR HER

The lady would be much happier with some work to do, either salaried or voluntary. Since, even with Alice's help, I'm sure the mother could use extra money, she really should try to get a job. Mature baby sitters are much in demand, and the part-time work would at least provide some variety in her life. Of course, that is only Mrs. Brown's business and certainly not within your province to make any suggestions. However, since you have been asked about the living arrangements, do recommend the apartment idea, which I'm sure will be satisfactory to all concerned.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm a [illegible] old, [illegible] in western Canada. My son works away from home most of the time, and I get pretty lonely. I'd like very much to find a widow my own ago who would live with me, help with the chores, and be companion. How can I go about finding someone like that?

Mrs. B.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The best thing you can do is take the problem to your clergyman who probably knows someone in the vicinity to share your home. Be sure that anyone you do take has the very best of references; it's risky business bringing strangers into your home. It's unfortunate that the will to do a kind deed must be so tempered with caution, but just a few people who have violated a trust make us wary of all.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I've been friendly with a girl for the past two years, and while she's very nice, and I like her tremendously, I'm a bit tired of being tied down and want to break off with her. When I mention it, she goes into hysterics. She seems intent on marrying me. I know it would break her heart if I just quit going with her, but that's what I want to do.

✧ ✧ ✧

Answer: Hysterics call for hard-hearted treatment. When a girl is fully aware of the power of hysteria, a poor male has little chance. Steel yourself against the next attack, and insist on ending this little romance. The alternative is a miserable life if you let yourself get tied down to a girl who holds you only through tears.

Fashion Flashes

Surface interest is deep in many of the new fashions. A pretty dinner dress—scooped neck, flared skirt and sleeveless—is of a silk and cotton blend, covered all over in fine cotton cord embroidery in a brocade—like floral design. A deep band of crystal bead embroidery marks the neckline.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS

Robert Raikes of Gloucester, England, recognized as the founder of the modern Sunday school, opened his first school in 1781.

MORE FLOWERS than ever bloom on Easter hats this year. Shown here are four versions, all of them small and all of them flower-laden. Plateau of pink honeysuckle blossoms (left) has green organdy stems massed at tip of crown with ends swirled to one side. Shallow young cloche in citron yellow toyo (upper centre) is banded with three tones of cashmere embroidery and trimmed with daisy and bee. Bonnet with rippled brim (lower centre) is natural rough straw, has clover blossoms tucked into the ripples. Narrow oval sailor of natural milan (right) brim faced with leaf-green silk jersey. Crown is circled with pink and red roses. The all-flower hat also will star in the Easter parade in tiny versions.

Suit Or Coat Will Be Slim Hat Just Plain Pretty

The hat you wear in the Easter parade this year will be just plain pretty. And the reason for this femininity is that the suit or coat you pick for parading will be slim, with simple lines, providing the perfect foil for a fragile, flower-laden hat.

There are lots of flower trims this year, far more than in the past Easters. And the flower hat looks [illegible] pretty but [illegible] with flowered covered shells, the [illegible] to [illegible] like a Victorian [illegible], and daisies or lilacs pressed into sailors or bretons, all have a refreshing newness to offer.

The tint of your flowered hat may be in the pink to red tones, may be one of the nasturtium colors or may be a fresh, flattering white. If your suit or coat has collar and cuffs in white, you can find good company for it in a white hat or you can spark it with color by picking a vibrant pink or red.

For the silk suit or dress, print or plain, there are fragile organdy and straw confections that provide the needed delicacy.

A brim is any size at all this spring, from a mere rim to the truly large hat that, this year, is anchored firmly to the head by means of those little grippers developed since last Easter.

For women who are wearing long-haired furs with their Easter suits, the small hat in chiffon or organdy is the best bet. There are many such small hats in forward profile or [illegible]-headed treatments [illegible], some draped, and some embroidered.

3—In Memoriam

CATHCART—In loving memory of Mrs. Harold Cathcart, who passed away March 18, 1949.

Sunshine fades and shadows fall,
But sweet remembrance outlasts all.
—Ever remembered by family and Mildred.

HUBBEL—In loving memory of our dear mother, Mary Hubbel, who passed away March 18, 1952.

God knew that she was suffering,
The hills were hard to climb
So He closed her weary eyelids
And whispered peace be thine.
How we miss your smiling face
None on earth can take your place.
—Sadly missed by family.

3—Card of Thanks

I wish to take this opportunity to thank doctors, nurses and staff of Civic Hospital for kindness shown and for relatives, neighbors and friends for the lovely flowers, cards, gifts which they sent me while a patient in Civic Hospital. Also Rev. Wolfraim for kindness for calling.—Mrs. Lillian S. Abbott.

I wish to thank the nurses and staff of Civic Hospital, attending doctors, Rev. H. G. Douglas, Knox United Church; also many friends and neighbors who sent flowers, fruits, chocolates, cigarettes, cards and magazines and visited me during my stay in the hospital.—A. E. Langford.

The family of the late Mr. James Brennan wish to express their heartfelt thanks to the clergy, especially Rev. Joseph O'Sullivan, attending doctors, Rev. Sisters and nurses of St. Joseph's Hospital, Anglesey's funeral directors, all kind relatives, friends and neighbors for mass cards, flowers and expressions of sympathy extended the family in their great loss of a loving husband and father, your kindness will never be forgotten. — Mrs. James Brennan, Marie, Pat and John.

The family of the late Richard T. Parnell would like to thank each and everyone who were so kind and thoughtful during their recent sad bereavement and especially the funeral director, Mr. Kaye and Rev. Arnold Mathews of George Street United Church.

EXCLUSIVE LISTING

Situated on a choice street west of Monaghan Road, in Queen Mary School district. This five-roomed Rug Brick Bungalow was built in 1939 when construction came first and price was secondary. Living-room, dining-room and two good sized bedrooms with modern kitchen that is roomy with eating area. The modern 4-piece bathroom is wall tiled. The full basement is steel beamed, dry and high ceiling. A large separate garage with cement floor and foundation is plenty proof of thoughtful construction and no expense spared. Yes—see this one and you will see what we mean.

Magistrate Raps Man Fined Leaving Accident

"It's people like you that are making driving difficult and dangerous for everyone else on the roads," commented Magistrate W. R. Philp in court today when he fined George Foster, 319 George St., $50, costs $11.50, for leaving the scene of an accident. "It is because of cases like these that the government has legislation before it right now to increase the penalty."

Foster pleaded guilty to having been the driver of a car which did not stop after side-swiping a city taxi on Monaghan Rd. on the night of February 20.

When Foster intimated that he had no explanation to offer, the magistrate said that surely he must realise that the offence was inexcusable.

"If these offences are not treated as serious, then how can you or I ever hope to drive with safety," said Magistrate Philp. "I wouldn't be at all surprised, that, if this sort of thing continues, it will be made a jail offence."

Crown attorney John A. Bradshaw said that Foster had agreed to pay for the damage to the taxi and had already given his own car as part payment.

Detective Doug Farthing told the court that a 12-year-old boy had witnessed the accident and had been able to get the first three plate numbers—499—and the letter R. The taxi driver had established the car as a 1936 model, and routine investigations had led to Foster.

Twice interviewed by the dectective, Foster had denied being near Monaghan Rd., but on a third occasion had made a full confession.

Foster was fined $50 and costs for the damage.

Co-Operative Building Swept By Flames

CHESTERVILLE, Ont. (CP) — Fire ripped through the $30,000 Chesterville and district co-operative building here today, causing heavy damage.

The blaze, which broke out in the basement, destroyed an office, an egg grading room, and weakened timbers so that tons of feed broke through the floor and fell to the basement. It is believed a number of records vital to district farmers also may have been destroyed. There were no injuries. Chesterville is 38 miles southeast of Ottawa.

Begin Search For Treasure

QUEENSCLIFF, Australia (Reuters)—A giant mechanical shovel went to work today, tearing away earth and sand from a tidal cave believed to hold a fortune in pirate teasure.

The treasure is believed to have been taken from Peruvian cathedrals when Peru and Chile were at war 140 years ago.

Legend has it that the pirate Benito Benita captured the ship taking the treasure to an unknown destination for safekeeping. Chased by a British man o' war, the pirate put into Swan bay, just off Queenscliff and 70 miles south of Melbourne.

After hiding the treasure Benita was later captured. He committed suicide.

The hunt has been taken up and dropped a number of times.

Twenty years ago a cattle rancher with a reputation for remarkable powers as a gold diviner made a "strike" at the spot where today's excavations are being made.

The present search is being backed financially by a syndicate of 100 shareholders, most of them local cattle men.

Proper Brakes Require Both Working

Just how many brakes does a car need to stop it within the requirements of the law? Mr. J. Arthur Fair is of the opinion that one set of brakes, in proper working order, is all that is required under section 12 (1) of the Act which deals with braking equipment on a car.

Magistrate W. R. Philp, QC, however, today ruled that the section makes it mandatory for a car to have two separate means of applying brakes; i.e hand (emergency) brakes and foot pedal brakes.

In court today Mr. Fair spoke in defence of 17-year-old Allen R. Slater, RR 4, Peterborough, who was charged with driving a car not equipped with brakes adequate to stop and hold the vehicle. He pleaded not guilty, and was fined $10, costs $3.75.

Mr. Fair argued that the charge did not state that a car had to have two separate sets of brakes. It just said adequate brakes. The Crown had not proved that the brakes were inadequate, but merely charged Slater with not having his emergency brake connected.

Crown attorney John A. Bradshaw considered that the word "brakes" was plural under the meaning of the act.

Magistrate Philp admitted to Mr. Fair that he had indeed raised an interesting point, but that having read the section, he could do no less than enter a conviction.

Police evidence was given by Constable W. G. Scott.

Three Girls Tied For Third On Final Night Of Festival

The final evening of the 8th Kiwanis music festival was marked by an entirely solo program, including selections on the coronet and clarinet, as well as piano and voice. The first and only three-place tie occurred Wednesday night when three girls, one from Toronto and the others from Peterborough, shared third place in the first class, a piano competition. Their interpretations of a Mozart or Haydn sonata netted them each 82 points. Elizabeth Ann Lapp and Elizabeth Evans, both of Peterborough, placed first and second respectively with 84 and 83 points.

Another Lindsay performer, Mrs. Jean Perry, was highly commended for her soprano rendition of The Waltz Song (Edward German). She was the only entry in this particular class and was awarded 85 points. Francis Taylor of Lindsay edged out Frederick Ross Cotton of Peterborough by two points in the baritone selection, Like to the Damask Rose (Elgar).

Cass 25: Baritone, Like to the Damask Rose (Edgar)—1 Francis Taylor, Lindsay 85; 2 Frederick Ross Cotton, Peterborough 83.

Begin Inquiry Into Slaying Of Passengers

BEERSHEBA, Israel (Reuters) An official inquiry began today in a roadside ambush in which 11 Israeli bus passengers perished Wednesday under a hail of Arab machine-gun fire.

Officials of the United Nations and the Israeli government arrived to visit lonely Scorpion pass, 12½ miles from the Jordan border, where the massacre took place.

They interviewed five survivors, including a Dutch woman who pretended to be dead when the assailants methodically shot those who had escaped the first fusillade.

Another survivor was a five-year-old girl, saved by an Israeli soldier who sheltered her body with his own. The soldier was killed.

The mass shooting was the latest in a series of bloody incidents in southern Israel, long the scene of border clashes between Arab and Israeli forces.

ALMOST AN ULTIMATUM

An official Israeli statement laid the blame squarely on Jordan and described it as a "warlike act." Some quarters in Jerusalem regarded the statement as "almost an ultimatum."

In Tel Aviv and Jerusalem there was a public clamor for counteraction, although most newspapers showed restraint in their editorial comment.

The officially-inspired Jerusalem Post called for "some real move" to bring peace to the Middle east, protesting that "the blood of the innocent will go unavenged as usual and after a chorus of protests the world will await the next incident with passive indifference."

Thrown From Car Woman Dies In Crash

BRANTFORD (CP) — Mrs. Earl Gardiner, 26, was killed Wednesday night when thrown from her husband's car when it was in collision with another at a Brantford intersection.

Police said the driver of the second car, Desmond Fullerton, has been charged with manslaughter.

Officers said Gardiner's car was crossing the intersection on a green light when it was struck broadside by the car driven by Fullerton.

Mrs. Gardiner was thrown from her husband's car by the impact and her head struck the curb.

No Trapping Yet Muskrats Along Otonabee

Although the trapping season opened March 1, muskrats are still housebound in the frozen marshes along the shores of the Otonabee River, Rice Lake and other waters of this district.

Depending on the sun and the weather generally, it may be another week to ten days before the little furbearers start on their runs in open water. Reports reaching the local pelt trade indicate no activity so far.

Opening date for trapping was March 1 south of No. 7 Highway, and March 15 north of that convenient dividing line. The season closes April 21 in the southern district, and continues until May 5 north of No. 7.

Prices may be a little easier than a year ago, a possible result of a fairly heavy carryover of [illegible] According to [illegible] there has been a little easier of late, but there was some recent stiffening of some lines reported from Montreal. That list did not include rats, because there were no offerings.

Reds Accuse U.K. Of Keeping Russ Children

MOSCOW (CP) — Izvestia, the Soviet government newspaper, today accused Britain of refusing to hand over children taken from Nazi concentration camps to their Russian parents.

The paper said Britain is "violating the principles of humanitarianism and justice."

It cited a recent case before a British court where custody of a refugee child was awarded to a British guardian despite intervention by Soviet authorities.

The paper said Britain is holding the child from Mrs. Tatiana A. Sebentsova while "hypocritically" preaching the principles of humanitarianism and justice.

The British foreign office today said if Mrs. Sebentsova wants her child back she should ask a British court for her.

"We have already told the Soviet government that if the child is to go back, application should be made to the courts."

Izvestia accused Britain of being hypocritical in refusing to return such children to Russia while complaining that Soviet authorities are preventing Russian wives of British subjects from joining their husbands in Britain.

It said they refused to live in Britain because of the "sorry experiences" of Russian women who accompanied British husbands to the United Kingdom and then returned to the Soviet Union.

Not Anxious For Agreement

CAIRO (AP) — President Mohamed Naguib of Egypt said today he is "not eager" to reach any agreement at present with Britain on the evacuation of troops from the Suez Canal zone.

He told reporters: "I do not find agreements with Britain useful. She never carries them out."

Naguib's comments were aimed specifically at denying a British foreign office spokesman's statement that Egypt has been making new overtures for a Suez settlement.

Despite Naguib's firmly worded [illegible] diplomatic sources here insisted both Britain and Egypt are apparently more interested now in trying again for an agreement than in the last six months.

Britain has tentatively agreed to withdraw the bulk of its 80,000 troops and leave some 4,000 to 6,000 men behind for a few years to train Egyptians in maintenance.

Naguib said Egypt is willing to allow Britain the right to occupy the Suez base if any Arab state is attacked but is opposed to the British demand for re-entry in case Turkey is attacked.

"The difference is that Turkey is a member of NATO. Thus if France, say, is attacked, Turkey would consider itself under attack and Egypt is always under an obligation such as making available the Suez base. "I do not want to be bound to such an obligation."

No Case To Meet

is a reasonable calculation for maintenance.'

"We're all very interested in that; but you're making general statements and you're not presenting evidence to back them up," Mr. Carley said.

"I'm prepared to present anything the court requires", Mr. Adamson said.

"Wouldn't the 15 per cent reduction for non-rentable space vary from building to building?"

"It could."

'Couldn't you go further and say it would?"

"I was working fast and I used [illegible] Mr. Adamson said.

"How does your 60 cents square foot compare with the rent you were paying on the Paquette building? . . .On the basis of your formula, we work it out to 80 cents a square foot.

"I'm suggesting that there are variable rentals and you are applying a formula," Mr. Carley said. ". . . . You paid Paquette 80 cents a square foot for storage space and yet your formula for a building used for heavy assembly is 60 cents . . . . Did you apply

"No, I didn't."

"Didn't you take the total square footage of the buildings and the area of the land and arrive at a lump figure?"

"I took into consideration rental deals I've been in on."

"That would include the Paquette deal," Mr. Carley said.

Mr. Carley led Mr. Adamson through a similar analysis of the rental of the roller rink and asked him whether he objected to the use of cubic measurements in calculating assessments. He produced a provincial manual of assessment values which he said advocated the use of cubic measurements in some cases.

"I questioned Mr. Davis and Mr. Hall of the Warnock company about it at a public meeting and they said the method varied," Mr. Adamson said.

"I've asked you; is the cubic method valid?"

"No. I object to it on the grounds that it is illegal."

"I hope you're not going to argue law," Mr. Carley said.

"No, I'm not."

"I see no reason why the witness should make a speech every time I ask him a question," Mr. Carley said.

OTHER INCREASES

"You're aware that a great many industries had a greater percentage increase of assessment than CGE, aren't you?" Mr. Carley asked, referring to the increases brought about by last year's re-assessment.

"I didn't make any deliberate attempt to investigate the other assessments," Mr. Adamson said.

Mr. Carley then submitted that while the three CGE assessments had increased over 1952 by 85½ per cent on the main plant, 36 per cent on the new porcelain plant and 110 per cent on the old porcelain plant, other industries had increased as follows: Brinton - Peterborough Carpet, 191 per cent; Outboard Marine, 108; DeLaval, 111; Dewart Milling 166; Quaker Oats, 183; Martin-Hewitt, 150; Peterborough Canoe, 353; Peterborough Co-op, 269; Beaver Lumber, 148; Peterborough Lock, 153; Colonial Weaving, 318; Ackerman, 224; Dominion Woollens, 149; Peterborough Lumber, 176; Canadian Sealright, 338; Canadian Ventilating Shades, 324.

"That was before they were revised," Mr. Adamson said.

"So were your figures," Mr. Carley said, referring to the percentages presented to the court last week by Mr. Adamson. "But these other industries were satisfied to get together with the assessor and have any errors corrected."

"Don't you think it's a poor way to do it, to give percentages on all the buildings?" Mr. Adamson asked.

"That's what I've ben trying to pound into you all afternoon," Mr. Carley said.

"I could show you a breakdown of all our buildings that would show just as great a variance," Mr. Adamson said.

Mr. Parkinson's argument began shortly before noon today when court adjourned until 1:30 p.m.

Christmas Seals Sale Down $1,500

Total funds received from the sale of Christmas seals for the 1953-54 season was down more than $1,500 compared with the previous year total. Mrs. Gordon Pammett, field secretary for the Peterborough County T. B. Association reported at the March meeting, Wednesday, total receipts from the seal campaign this year was $8,247.01, a drop of $1,596.49 below the previous year.

Mrs. R. J. Ward reported her recent visits to Peterborough and district patients presently resting at Sunnybrooke and Weston sanitariums. Members of the association were entertained at the home of Charles H. Elliott, chairman of the association, following the meeting.

Heigh-ho For Toronto, Convicted Of Joyriding

A 17-year-old Peterborough youth walked into the Duffus parking lot on George St. on March 11 and cast his eye over the graceful lines of a brand new 1954 model car. He was Robert Stenner, a high school student, of 398 George St., and he was just admiring the car.

The next thing he noticed was that the ignition keys were still in the car. It was but the work of a moment to slip in behind the wheel and then heigh-ho for Toronto.

All might have gone well for this young adventurer if Toronto city police had not noticed the car heading back towards Peterborough without any licence plates on show.

In court this morning, Stenner was charged with joy-riding and secondly with the theft of the car. The latter charge, which carries a mandatory sentence of one year in prison, was dismissed and a conviction entered on the joy-riding charge. He will appear for sentence next week.

The youth appeared a little at a loss for an explanation of his unusual conduct when questioned by Magistrate W. R. Philp.

"It was like this, Sir," said Stenner. "I was just walking around the lot and saw the new car. I just intended to go for a ride and then put it back."

Magistrate Philp was equally at a loss to understand this reasoning. He told the youth, and his father, that the matter was one to be considered in a serious light.

Stenner's father could find no explanation for his son's act. In the "old days" young folks maybe stole some apples, but it appeared that modern youth and its pranks had advanced considerably above that. He thought that every young boy did something like that at least once in a lifetime.

Magistrate Philp was quite certain that every youth did not steal a car.

Poker Games Upset Team

SUDBURY (CP)—Poker games and $200 fines almost led to cancellation of Wednesday night's third game of the Northern Ontario Hockey Association finals between Sudbury Wolves and Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds.

The Wolves, NOHA Senior A southern group finalists, were down 2-0 on the best-of-five series. On the return trip from the Sault Monday night, coach Max Silverman ordered the players to break up their poker session on the bus. He was almost ignored. He promptly slapped individual $200 fines on the eight players concerned.

The eight then threatened not to play the third game of the series.

A general executive and players' meeting Wednesday straightened out the difficulty. The fines were rescinded and a spokesman for the players said:

"We'll go all out to win tonight. If we lose, it is our fault, not the management's."

Sudbury won 3-2 before 6,663 fans.

The fourth game will be played here Friday night.

WRONG MINERAL

Cape d'Or in Nova Scotia got its name from French explorers who mistook its native copper for gold.

Held For Bigamy Wed 2 Times

WELLAND (CP) — Donald Herbert Smith, 23, arrested Wednesday on a bigamy charge, is said by authorities to have just gone through three marriage ceremonies since 1949.

Police chief Orval Rounds said investigation indicated Smith was first marriade to Jean Finlay of Scotland in Toronto in 1949 when he was 18. They had two children. His wife, from whom he was separated in 1951, now is living in Scotland, police said.

The chief said Smith went through a form of marriage with another girl in 1953. Placed on probation on a bigamy charge in Toronto last June, the chief said, Smith wooed and won a 20-year-old girl from Tisdale, Sask., with tales of "Korean exploits" and went through a ceremony with her last Saturday.

Smith was arrested in the presence of the girl. He will appear in court March 24.

Lodge Won't Shrink From Using Veto

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—United States Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. said today he would not "shrink" from using the veto to keep Red China out of the United Nations.

Lodge told a press conference the United States is vigorously opposed to giving the Chinese Communists a seat here and said he could foresee no developments at the coming Geneva conference which might change this position.

The chief U. S. delegate to the UN said he believed the United States would get enough support to block the seating of the Peiping regime in the UN, but that he would use the veto if necessary.

Hermit Dies Near Sudbury

SUDBURY (CP) — A hermit whose shack homes east of Coniston were known to thousands of motorists who passed along highway 17 is dead.

Cyril Malone, 75, was found dead in a shack Wednesday. It is believed he died from natural causes.

Malone lived on his little plot of land for 40 years. His shacks were made of corrugated paper, tin and packing cases. His winter shack had a stove in it and there he lived even with temperatures down to 40 below.

He once had a 160-acre farm but during the First World War sulphur fumes from the then newly-built Coniston smelter turned his land into blackened rock and sand.

Once he was sent to a Sudbury boarding house but returned to his shack after a few days because he could not stand "the heat" and it was "always full of old men talking."

Police are trying to locate any relatives.

Bath-on-Wheels

OSLO (CP)—Tested during big winter army exercises was a military bath-on-wheels, featuring separate dressing room and a shower accommodating 10 men at a time. The high-pressure tank feeding the shower is supplied from an outside pumping engine.

H. J. McCannan

built. He was the secretary-treasurer of the committee. For years he was a member of the board of managers and its chairman. Later he was a member of the board of stewards and since 1950 has been an honorary life member of the board of stewards. He also at one time sang in the choir and served as superintendent of the Sunday school. He was keenly interested in every aspect of the church's work and although somewhat incapacitated in recent years his advice was being continually sought.

HOME DESTROYED

While at Springville, the McCannan family lost their home by fire and Mrs. McCannan and her children moved to Peterborough. Here he secured employment with the William Hamilton company as an apprentice machinist. For the next few years he remained with the Hamilton firm and then transferred to the Canadian General Electric Co. Prior to the First World War he went into the building and real estate business having his office on George St. where the CNR ticket office is now. Here he occupied space on the mezzanine floor with Charles Banks operating a bicycle shop on the main floor. During the war he moved to the office he occupied for 35 years on Simcoe St. just east of George St. Six years ago he retired and the business was taken over by his son-in-law J. R. Sinclair.

Mr. McCannan was considered one of the best realtors in the city. In his time he handled many of the largest transactions and he was always willing to give advice to a prospective buyer if such was sought.

COMMUNITY EFFORT

He took an active interest in community affairs and there never was a community effort that Herb McCannan was not in some way associated in putting the endeavor across. In 1938, '39 and '40 Mr. McCannan was a member of the city council and during that period was the chairman of the property committee. He was also for a number of years, both prior to his entry into municipal affairs and during the time he was an alderman, a member of the city's board of health. Active supporter of the chamber of commerce he served on the executive and also served several terms as a member of the old Nicholls Hospital board. He at one time did some lawn bowling and also some curling.

In 1941 Mr. McCannan purchased from the Toronto Savings and Loan Co. the old Spencley property on Monaghan Rd. just north of Romaine St. He developed this subdivision and one of the streets bears his name today, McCannan Ave.

ADVISORY HOUSING BODY

His greatest effort during the Second World War was as a member of the advisory committee to Wartime Housing Ltd. During that period industry was expanding rapidly and people were being brought to the city, but there were no houses. Wartime housing commenced building homes and it was on the advice of the local committee that much of the property was secured and the houses erected.

Mr. McCannan is survived by his wife, formerly Lydia May Bullen, one son Kenneth McCannan of this city and three daughters, Marion, wife of J. R. Sinclair, Grace, wife of Dr. W. C. Wedlock both of Peterborough and Jean, wife of J. H. Daynes of Toronto. His only brother W. A. McCannan resides in Toronto. His sister predeceased him. There are also seven grandchildren.

Mr. McCannan was one of the early members of the Kiwanis club and remained a member for 15 years. Perhaps his greatest achievement while a member of this service club was his organization of a harmonica band. It was a band of considerable numbers and the band was always on call on civic occasions.

The body is resting at the Comstock funeral home on Rubidge St. from where it will be taken to Knox United church on Friday at 1 p.m. for the funeral service at 2.00 o'clock. Burial will be in Little Lake cemetery. His minister, the Rev. H. C. Douglas will officiate at the service and he will be assisted by an old friend of the family and former minister of Knox the Rev. William McDonald.

Queen Speaks In Backwoods

BROKEN HILL, Australia (Reuters)—Queen Elizabeth spoke to hundreds of isolated Australian backwoods families today over the "flying doctor radio service"—the network of family radio stations which provides the only means of emergency communication over nine-tenths of the continent.

She and the Duke of Edinburgh also inspected a hospital plane, one of many used by bush doctors to answer the radio calls.

The Queen complimented the "fortitude, courage, humor and friendliness" of pioneer families living "in the region of vast distances and great loneliness."

She was answered over the flying doctor radio by Mrs. Bill Mitchell, wife of a sheep and cattle farmer, speaking from Muloorina, 300 miles away.

Mrs. Mitchell told the Queen that "without this great mantle of safety (the radio network) we mothers would not dare to bring up our families so far from medical aid."

The Queen flew here on her way from Brisbane to Adelaide.

Probe Five Breakins At Summer Cottages

Provincial police are investigating break-ins earlier this week into a group of five cottages on the Otonabee river, a half mile south of Lakefield.

The only article definitely known to be stolen is a radio belonging to Thomas Parker, 199 Reid St., one of the cottage owners. OPP Constable Wallace Mohns is continuing the investigation.

The break-ins are believed to have occurred Monday afternoon. Entry each time was by forcing a window or a door of the cottages which are on the west side of the Otonabee.

Police suspect it was the work of juveniles.

Audience Awakened

"I can't tell you what it is, but let's just call it salt and pepper" said ex-Russian and British espionage agent, John DeGraff, when discussing communist espionage at the YMCA Wednesday night. In his hands he held enough high explosive to put everyone to sleep—permanently. He sprinkled a few particles on a tin, applied a drop of water and whoosh . . . ! After that his audience really listened to his outspoken comments on the threat of communist sabotage.

Say Pearson Does Service

LONDON (CP)—The Daily Mail says today in a front-page editorial that External Affairs Minister L. B. Pearson performed an invaluable service in his speech this week at a Press Club dinner in Washington. The Canadian minister called for full agreement among NATO allies on moves to answer an atomic attack.

The Daily Mail says that the Atlantic alliance might have been expected to establish beyond all doubt what procedure to follow in event of an atomic attack on a member of the alliance.

"Yet astonishingly enough there seems to have been no detailed agreement on this supremely important matter. If there had been, Mr. Lester Pearson, the foreign minister of Canada, would not have had to speak of the lack of it. By doing so he has performed an invaluable service to the Atlantic alliance. He has induced Mr. Dulles, the U. S. secretary of state, to be more specific than any statesman so far."

Jail Theatre Manager 20 Years In Death

ROUYN, Que. (CP) — Roland Dumont, 37-year-old Rouyn theatre manager, today was sentenced to 20 years in prison for manslaughter in the death of Albert Belisle, Val d'Or farmer who died in hospital following a gun battle Oct. 14.

A jury had returned the verdict of manslaughter Tuesday night. Dumont had been tried on a charge of murder.

Judge Eugene Marquis of the Quebec Superior Court told Dumont that there was no doubt he had shot Belisle and left him lying on a lonely country road to die. He said there was an air of mystery about the case which lent doubt as to some of the facts.

Belisle died in hospital Oct. 21 from four bullet wounds.

Dumont testified that he shot Belisle when the latter tried to rob him at gunpoint following a meeting for the purchase of highgrade ore.

In one of the oats classes, Dr. Huntley said, the top four or five entries, among the many in that class, were so close together in quality that top prize could have been given to any one of them without much of a mistake."

There is no money and there is no sense in growing weeds, was a Huntley epigram, and he also said the seed show was just what the farmers of Central Ontario made it.

Northern Health

He was elected leader of the CCF in Ontario at the convention last November in Toronto.

He is married and has three children.

Mr. MacDonald's speech at an Empress Hotel dinner on Saturday night will be the highlight of the conference.

Delegates will register with Mrs. Helen Yeo early Saturday and after a general introductory session they will be divided into discussion groups of 15 or 20 people each.

These groups will take a first-draft copy of the proposed program and discuss it. And at the Sunday afternoon session the conclusions of the group will be considered by the conference as a whole.

New Housing Act In Effect Beginning of Week

OTTAWA (CP)—The government's new housing legislation will be brought into operation next Monday, Works Minister Winters announced today in the Commons. The maximum interest rate on insured mortgage loans has been established at 5½ per cent, up from 5¼ per cent under the old act, and the loans ceiling has been raised to $12,800 for a single house, up from $10,000.

The maximum loan for a duplex is being raised to $15,300 from $13,500.

"Regulations for the operation of the act have been established and the form of mortgage deeds has been determined," Mr. Winters said.

House buyers who pay their annual taxes through monthly payments to mortgage holders will get interest on their monthly payments at the chartered bank savings account rate of two per cent.

The new act cuts the down payment on National Housing Act loans to 10 per cent from 20 on the first $8,000, and increases it to 30 per cent from 20 on the remainder up to the ceiling loan. The net effect is a down-payment reduction.

One of the loans is extended to [illegible] minimum of 25 years, up from 20 in the old legislation and the maximum raised to 30 years from 25.

The new act authorizes the chartered banks and the Quebec savings banks to enter the mortgage-lending field through a mortgage insurance scheme to be administrated by the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

The CMHC said in a statement that it is generally recognized that a borrower should not pay more than 23 per cent of monthly income to meet the carrying charges of principal, interest and taxes in buying a new home.

But approved lenders, such as banks and life insurance companies, "may, in cases considered appropriate, request CMHC to approve a loan where the 23-per-cent ratio is exceeded."

WIFE CAN HELP

About 20-per-cent of the wife's gross salary income, as well as portions of her other income, may be included in the husband's earnings where lenders follow the 20-per-cent rule.

CMHC said that maximum loans will not be made available to builders unless they follow the resale price determined by Central Mortgage.

Appraisal of the new house for lending purposes will be carried out by CMHC. The fee on applying for CMHC appraisal will be $35 for a single house, $70 for a duplex.

If the loan is not approved, the application fee will be returned.

CMHC estimated that if the total cost of land and construction is not greater than the lending value, a single house with a lending value of $10,000 will require a down payment of $1,400. For an $11,000 house, $1,700 will be required and for a $12,000 house, $2,000.

"The monthly payment of principal and interest on the mortgage loan will be approximately $6.11 for each $1,000 of loan over a 25-year term. The monthly payment will also include one-twelfth of the estimated annual taxes to be paid monthly to the lender."

Chief Engineer Of Highways Dept. Suspended

TORONTO (CP) — Suspension of the former chief engineer of the highways department and the seizure of the books of three more contracting firms were announced on Thursday in the Ontario legislature.

Highways Minister Doucett said that C. H. Nelson, chief engineer who resigned last fall and has been on sick leave since late 1952, was suspended "for failure to co-operate with the provincial auditor [illegible]."

Attorney-General Porter disclosed that provincial police seized the books of the Klimack Construction Company Ltd., of Cochrane, Standard Paving Ltd., of Toronto and the Fort York Construction Ltd of Toronto.

It brought to nine the number of companies whose books have been seized since the investigation began last October.

Nelson was the eighth member of the department to be named in the investigation.

WILL INVESTIGATE

Premier Frost announced last week the government intention of appointing a select committee of the legislature to investigate the alleged irregularities which sprang originally in the Fort William division.

The 65-year-old Nelson joined the department in 1919 and in September, 1951, he was named chief engineer. He is reported to be in Florida.

Preliminary hearing will open April 1 in Fort William in the cases of A. M. Mills, division engineer charged with breaches of trust, division clerk Douglas F. Cutting, clerk Donald T. Gandier, principal clerk Graham W. Turner and Thomas L. Ayres, superintendent of the department's asphalt plant, all charged with conspiring to defraud.

Donat Dubeau, patrol chief of the Ottawa division was suspended Feb. 10 for alleged irregularities involving the use of departmental materials in the construction of two homes. D. S. Patterson, divisional engineer at Huntsville was suspended Feb. 14.

Won't Permit CPR Appeal

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Pacific Railway today was refused leave to appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada from a freight rate judgment denying it higher tolls.

The decision was a victory for eight provincial governments.

The CPR had contended that the board of transport commissioners failed in its duty when it ruled Feb. 15 against a CPR proposal for a new basis for setting freight rates.

Eight provincial governments—all except Ontario and Quebec—argued in reply before the Supreme Court March 12 that the company was trying to get the court to take over the rate-making functions of the board.

The transport board in its Feb. 15 judgment refused a CPR application for a radically new method of establishing railway revenues in Canada. Opponents suggested such a method could result in freight rate increases of up to 33 per cent.

Two Youths Sentenced To 20 Years

Charge Reduced To Manslaughter; Judge Considers Age

BARRIE (CP)—Two Toronto youths today were given 20-year penitentiary terms for manslaughter in the shooting last October of brokerage messenger Fred Cameron.

[illegible] reduced the charge from murder [illegible] Robertson, 20, married and the father of a 10-month-old child, and William Kingsley, 19, were brought from the town jail for sentencing by Mr. Justice H. A. Aylen of the Ontario Supreme Court.

Crown attorney W. M. Thompson said the jury had been lenient in bringing in the manslaughter verdict. He asked for a sentence of life imprisonment.

But Mr. Justice Aylen said that, in view of the youth of the two accused, he would give them a chance for the future to reclaim themselves as fit members of society.

PRISONERS APPEAR CALM

Robertson and Kingsley, looking like high school seniors as they faced the judge, took the sentence calmly.

The parents of both youths were in court, together with Robertson's 17-year-old wife. Kingsley's mother burst into tears and was comforted by her husband.

Cameron, 57, was shot five times Oct. 29 and his body was found next day in a ditch near this town about 50 miles north of Toronto. Robertson and Kingsley in court accused him of being a homosexual who tried to take liberties with them.

In sentencing Kingsley, Mr. Justice Aylen said:

"I am sure you realize by this time how fortunate you are that I am not about to sentence you to death. You came awfully close to that.

CHARITABLE VIEW

"The jury took a very charitable view of your case. They most certainly tempered justice with mercy. That is the only explanation. There was ample evidence on which they could have found you guilty of murder."

Asked if he had anything to say, Kingsley said in a quiet voice: "No, my lord. Thank you for a fair trial."

Private Bill Passed By Committee

Purchase of Land In North Monaghan Also Given Approval

By PHIL CALDER

TORONTO. — Two private bills, introduced on behalf of the City of Peterborough, passed second reading in pri[illegible] committee of the provincial legislature today [illegible] powers the trustees of the Morrow Trust to sell part of Morrow Park to the city as a site for the Memorial Centre.

H. E. Beckett (PC-York East) who introduced the bill, said there were no objections to it. T. J. Carley, QC, who represented the Morrow Trust at the hearing, expressed no opposition.

Mr. Beckett said the bill had received the approval of a committee of two justices of the Supreme Court, who had proposed a minor amendment absolving the trustees from liability. The amendment was passed by the committee.

VALIDATE PURCHASE

The other bill was to validate the purchase by the city of about 131 acres in North Monaghan township for industrial sites and the site of the landfill garbage disposal project. The industrial land was bought in 1949 and the landfill site last year.

City Solicitor W. F. Huycke, QC, told the committee he would be the first to admit that "frankly we pulled a boner in buying the land in the township without authority. But now we've got to the point where some of the industrial property is to be sold."

Kawartha Plumbing and Heating supplies are negotiating the purchase of one site from the city for the erection of a new building.

Mr. Huycke was asked by J. W. Carter of the department of municipal affairs if the city had known of its position in respect to the Industrial Sites Act when the land was purchased.

Mr. Huycke said that the Industrial Sites Act had required the city to obtain the permission of the county judge to sell or lease property. The city had been aware of this and had received such permission in regard to various such transactions.

The Industrial Sites Act has since been repealed and its provisions absorbed into the Municipal Act, with the difference that the city now required the permission of the minister of municipal affairs, in place of the judge, to sell or lease property. He under-

Two Canadians Unharmed By Red Captors

SEOUL (AP) — Two Canadian soldiers captured and later released by the Reds in Korea's neutral zone said today that they were questioned but not harmed or threatened.

The two were returned to the United Nations command Thursday following 29 hours of captivity near the Panmunjom neutral area.

Pte Douglas Grant Phillips of Kitchener and Pte. James Andrew Piercey of Toronto, both of the Black Watch Regiment, told Canadian officers the Chinese apparently were more curious than determined to get military information.

TAKEN ON PATROL

The two were taken prisoner while patrolling in the neutral zone. The Communists claimed they were in the Communist half of the zone, but the UN command says they were in the southern half.

Piercey and Phillips said they were marched to a bunker, where the questioning started.

"They asked us what books we had read lately," Phillips said, "but all we told them was our names, ranks and official numbers."

Phillips said a Chinese officer asked him "Who is the leader of New China?"

"I couldn't care less," Phillips said he answered. The two said they were given three meals and three hours of sleep.

Carleton County Wins Debate

Carleton county debaters, Miss Beverley Hunt and Orville Mussell of Osgoode, will represent eastern Ontario in the provincial Junior Farmers final round at OAC, Guelph, in April.

They were awarded the decision in the semi-final stage over Lorna Hillyard and Barbara Watson of Peel county at the Thursday night concert of the Central Ontario Spring Show at Morrow Park.

The four young speakers discussed the resolution "that the trend toward commercialization and professionalism in sport is detrimental to sport in Canada," in which Carleton drew the negative side.

Judges were: Miss Norma Timlin, librarian of the Teachers' College, Peterborough; Miss Betty Boyle, Toronto, of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, and Ralph Sweet, barrister and prominent Kiwanian, of Ottawa.

Miss Watson stressed the encroachments of professionalism from the NHL level all the way down to the promising minors, and argued that it was a loss of freedom of action that has been developing in the last few years. The "farm system" in sport could not be regarded as anything but detrimental to sport and to the young men engaging in it if they were sewed up in contracts before they had found themselves.

Another loss Miss Watson lamented was the popular attachment for the British spirit of playing cricket for the spirit and merits of the game instead of the idea of winning at any costs.

BECOMES A BUSINESS

Beverley Hunt of Osgoode continued that professional sport had become a business and remunerative one for those of ability to climb to the top levels. It has been accepted as part of "our way of life", and great numbers of people crowded the arenas the game has erected, while others listening on the radio broadcasts gave their approval by their unflagging interest.

One of the Peel arguments was the biggest money went to the winning teams, and for that reason simply had to win. Roughness was bound to show in that tension. It had wrecked field lacrosse of which there was hardly a remnant anywhere, and would be the end of hockey.

FULL HOUSE

Junior Farmers provided the entire program of the entertainment which attracted a full house in the horticultural building at the exhibition park.

It was opened with half an hour's overture by Sargent Brothers' orchestra, of Cavan, and closed with piano-accordion numbers by Shirley Hubbard of Woodville in Victoria. The Lindsay district contributed a male quartette, square dance team, and their own orchestra of five instruments. Vocal trios and quartettes, square dance sets and the added feature of the Junior Farmers' inter-county debate approaching its final phase greatly pleased the large assembly mainly from the counties. Canadians Learn Bad News About Taxes April 6

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadians will learn Tuesday, April 6, what's in store for them in federal taxes during the coming year. Finance Minister Abbott will present his ninth, and almost certainly his last, budget at 8 p.m. EST, but there is little chance that he will bow out with tax cuts.

While tax changes in the budget are kept secret, all indications are that the general level of taxes will stay about the same, though there may be some shifts in the way the money is raised.

The 54-year-old minister will be budgeting for record peacetime revenues to cover peak spending for non-war years, but this is not expected to call for higher taxes. Forecast increased national production might cover additional tax revenues without raising the current rates.

The budget, outlining the government's money-raising and spending program for the fiscal year starting April 1, will provide the means of getting revenues to meet spending of at least $4,500,000,000 and perhaps as much as $5,000,000,00

The peacetime record budget was $4,462,000,000 for 1953-54 which Mr. Abbott tabled in the Commons Feb. 19, 1953. The all-time high of spending was in the war year of 1933-44 when $5,322,000,00 was spent.

So far in the current fiscal year that closes with the end of this month, the government has sought authority from Parliament to spend $4,433,000,000 of the total in Mr. Abbott's 1953-54 budget. This will be boosted by supplementary estimates later this month.

For the coming year, government estimates, requests to Parliament for authority to spend money for specified purposes, amount to date to $4,491,791,000. These also will be increased later.

Mercy Train Comes Too Late

NORTH BAY (CP)—A locomotive roaring down the single line of Ontario Northland Railway track that connects the isolated area south of James Bay with medical assistance at Cochrane, failed Thursday in an errand of mercy.

Raymond McDonald, about 50, his leg severed below the knee, died before he could be brought to Cochrane hospital.

Officials of the railway said McDonald apparently slipped and fell under the wheels of their "Polar Bear Express" at Island Falls, 43 miles north of Cochrane.

There were no witnesses to the accident.

Railway officials said McDonald was travelling on the northbound train to meet relatives at Island Falls. His daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. Chonoski, were on the platform to meet him.

After the train had pulled out to continue its trip north, McDonald was discovered by a section man. The victim lay beside the tracks, his leg severed four inches below the knee.

A southbound freight train was called back from Maher, 11 miles south of Island Falls. McDonald was placed aboard, and the train started the journey to Cochrane.

Prayers Unanswered

TORONTO (CP)—Reprieve was in sight, but now the prayers of Torontonians have been dashed to the ground — just under the ground in fact. The city is going to dig up Yonge street again. With the new subway scheduled to begin operation March 31, the city engineer's department announced Thursday that the street may be completely blocked while they tear up the street car tracks. And it may not be clear again until next year.

Car Strikes Six Children Girl Smothers In Snow

KAPUSKASING (CP)—A six-year-old girl, one of a group of six children struck by a skidding car Thursday night, was hurled into a snowbank and suffocated to death before she was missed. One of the other children was slightly hurt.

Dead is Diane McLeod, 6. Her body was discovered by Yvon Duguay, 17, of Smooth Rock Falls, driver of the car, as he attempted to dig his car from the snowbank 20 minutes after the accident.

Diane and her two brothers, Gene, 8, and Keith, 10, and the three children of Mrs. Alma Galin, Simone, 13, Lillian, 8, and Muriel, 6, were struck on the roadside shortly after they went out to play.

Simone was taken to hospital with leg lacerations but was later released.

NO CHARGES LAID

Duguay told police he was blinded by the lights of an approaching car and did not see the children until it was too late. No charges have been laid against the driver.

Duguay and two friends, Camil Bechard, 23, and Steve Brunet, 19, were travelling from Smooth Rock Falls to Kapuskasing to see a hockey game.

The car went into a skid when Duguay applied the brakes and knocked all the children into the snowbank. The driver and his friends took the children to the Galin house and later sent Simone to hospital in a taxi.

It was not until then that Diane was missed. Her mother, Mrs. Edward McLeod, began a search of the district. Then Duguay went back to dig out his car and found the little girl's body beneath the car in the snowbank.

The body was face down in several inches of snow.

Kapuskasing is 280 miles north of Sudbury.

Hunt Driver Of Transport

HAMILTON (CP) — Provincial police have launched an extensive search in this area for the driver of a transport which they are convinced gave Windsor murder victim Fern Henkell a ride from here early Saturday.

Inspector J. L. Needham of the Ontario provincial police said it has been established that a semi-trailer truck slowed down where the girl was standing at the junc-1:35 a. m. He said police have a description of the truck.

It was the first break since local taxi driver Vern Kropp told police he drove the young woman to the junction. She told him she was going to hitchhike to Windsor.

The girl's battered, half-clothed body was found in a ditch near Windsor Saturday afternoon.

Give Russia Atomic Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States proposed to Russia today "a concrete plan to further the peaceful development and use of atomic energy."

The plan was handed to Soviet ambassador Georgi N. Zarubin by State Secretary Dulles at a five-minute meeting in Dulles' office.

A state department announcement said also that Russia has given the United States "certain proposals" on atomic pro[illegible], and that these are under study. Presumably the Soviet proposals are for some kind of international agreement to ban atomic weapons.

The plan given to Zarubin by Dulles is a detailed one for carrying out the proposal President Eisenhower made in an adress to the United Nations Dec. 8 for an international atomic pool under a worldwide atomic energy agency.

Explosion, Flames At Alberta Oil Well

LEGAL, Alta. (CP) — Dense black smoke parted by flames reaching 150 feet in the air mark the site of a well-head explosion and fire early today in a new Imperial Oil well in this district, about 33 miles north of Edmonton. There was no immediate report of injuries.

Imperial Oil officials, who identified the well as the Imperial Fairydell number 17, arrived on the scene shortly after the blaze broke out at 2:30 a. m. Members of the drilling crew said the flames have crumpled the rig and that the fire will have to burn itself out.

Expansion Of Credit Approved By Bank

OTTAWA (CP) — The Bank of Canada will not struggle against any move to expand bank credit under current conditions, Graham Towers said Thursday.

The governor of the central banking agency said inflationary forces have been checked and interest rates have been declining.

Therefore the Bank of Canada feels that under such circumstances, an expansion of credit should be allowed if it is needed, he told the Commons banking committee.

Polio Epidemic Changes Tour

ADELAIDE, Australia (CP) — Arrangements for the Queen's tour of western Australia are to be altered because of the polio epidemic in the state, it was decided today at a meeting of members of the royal household with government officials.

Federal government leaders were reported in favor of calling off the seven-day tour of the state but western Australia's premier, Albert Hawke, vigorously opposed the idea.

The changes in the tour are to be announced tonight by Eric Harrison, minister in charge of the tour. The measures are designed not only to protect the Queen but to avoid as much as possible large gatherings.

The Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh may live and eat aboard the royal liner Gothic instead of in Government House.

Tension Becomes Grave

Israel Demanding UN Action On Ambush

JERUSALEM (AP)—Israel today prepared a demand for United Nations action on the ambush slaying of 11 Jews on a desert bus, blaming the neighboring Arab state of Jordan for what it termed an organized attack.

Jordan promptly denied any responsibility for the assault, which occurred Wednesday 12 miles from its border at Scorpion pass in the barren Negev desert. A spokesman at Amman, the Jordan capital, said his country is ready "politically and militarily to meet any developments that might arise."

The incident was the most serious in Palestine since the UN Security Council censured Israel for the slaying of 53 Arabs last October in the Jordan border village of Kibya.

REPORT TROOPS MOVING

Tension mounted amid unconfirmed reports of Israeli and Arab troop movements. Lebanese newspapers said that Israeli troops are concentrating at the Jordan frontier. Travellers today reported at Beirut that they had seen Syrian military equipment moving southward through Damascus toward the Israel border.

The Arab and Jewish states still are technically at war, although an uneasy cease-fire ended the fighting in 1948.

In Wednesday's incident, a woman and child — both badly wounded—and two Israeli soldiers were the only survivors on the ambushed bus.

Nine men and two women were killed. They received a ceremonial funeral today.

Two UN observers, accompanied by Israeli trackers and bloodhounds, trailed the attackers for 10 miles in the direction of the Jordan border along a dry river bed, and today resumed the hunt.

Violent Artillery Duel Rages

HANOI, Indo-China (AP) — The Vietminh and the French today kept up their violent artillery duel at Dien Bien Phu, but there still was no resumption of massed rebel infantry charges trying to overwhelm the French Union's northwest Indo-China fortress.

Under a full moon and a star-studded sky and on into the morning the shelling and heavy French air strikes on the Communist-led rebel positions kept up around the clock.

Some ground contacts were reported Thursday, but they were only clashes between advanced French forces and small rebel units on the south and southwest fringes of the French-held plain. Some of these came within 250 yards of French command posts.

AWAIT NEXT ATTACK

The defenders still anticipate another major Vietminh effort on the northern entrance to the heart of the fortress. The Vieminh hold hill positions in the northern perimeter they captured from the French early this week in the battle which began Saturday.

Some French sources speculated Thursday that the continuing artillery barrage might be covering a Vietminh withdrawal.

But a French Army spokesman Thursday night said the Vietminh still were rushing supplies by coolie train and truck to the area, indicating another mass assult in the offing.

Canada Taking On More Importance In World Affairs

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent says the Asian democracies feel that Canada is "taking on increasing importance in world affairs" and that her influence is "always apt to be helpful for stability and peace."

This was one of the main points brought out by Mr. St. Laurent Thursday in his report to the Commons on his world tour. He arrived home Wednesday night.

The prime minister, who received a standing ovation from all parties as he entered the chamber for the first time in six weeks, confined himself to general remarks and did not go into his talks with world leaders. He said he would have later opportunities for that.

In discussing the Asian part of his tour, Mr. St. Laurent remarked: "I got the impression that these people welcomed the development of this new Canadian nation as an element that was going to be of benefit to the whole world in its intercourse in the family of nations.

". . . They felt that this is a new country that is developing and that requires good relations with the whole world, and that its growth and strength will be an element of stability that will be helpful to us all."

MAY BE BLUFFING

The prime minister indicated he thinks President Syngman Rhee of South Korea was bluffing when he recently threatened to attack North Korea to reunite the country.

Mr. S. Laurent said he had discussed Rhee, "who is not [illegible] but I did not get the impression that he was going to do very much about it."

Dealing with Germany and Japan, the prime minister said he believes the leaders of those countries are striving sincerely to get along peacefully with their neighbors and have no intention of trying to expand by war.

DEAL FIRMLY WITH REDS

In Italy, Premier Scelba and his colleagues were dealing firmly with the Communists and they were quite confident they can keep the upper hand.

The prime minister's conversations with Prime Minister Nehru of India were "very frank." Mr. Nehru had explained the "results of the ferments that are now taking place among those hundreds of millions of people."

Mr. St. Laurent described the morale of Canadian servicemen in Europe and Korea as very high and splendid.

Bill Increases Membership Hospital Board

By PHIL CALDER

TORONTO. — A bill to increase the membership of the Ross Memorial Hospital board from five to 17 members passed second reading in the private bills committee of the provincial legislature without opposition today.

The bill also reduces the amount of membership fees in the hospital association.

Mrs. Thelma Thompson, solicitor for the hospital board, told the committee the bill would enlarge the board with the ultimate aim of enlarging the hospital itself.

By reducing membership fees in the hospital association it was hoped to make it more of a community organization. Under the present Act incorporating the board, association membership fees are $500.

The bill provides for the following schedule of fees: $5 for an individual annual membership; $25 giving a group or club representation in the association; $100 for an individual life membership; $1,000 for a firm or corporation to have permanent representation.

The bill will empower the association to elect seven members to the enlarged 17-member hospital board. The county will have four members from Victoria county and four from the town of Lindsay in addition to the president of the medical society and the president of the woman's hospital auxiliary.

A delegation supporting the bill was introduced to the committee by Premier Leslie M. Frost. It included T. H. Stinson, QC, chairman of the hospital board; Stewart Flavelle, a member of the board; Vincent Fee, former warden of Victoria county; Arthur Carew and Sheriff Jasper Foreman.

Polish Premier Resigns Job

WARSAW (AP) — Boleslaw Bierut, No. 1 Communist leader in Poland since the end of the Second World War, has resigned from the premiership to become first secretary of the ruling United Polish Workers (Communist) party, it was announced today.

Vice-Premier Josef Cyrankiewicz who held the premiership until the government reorganization of November, 1952, was restored to his old post as premier.

(Western observers in Vienna believe the switch in the Polish leadership was made on Moscow orders as part of a general Kremlin plan to end the "cult of heroes" that prevailed in the Communist world during Stalin's time, replacing one-man dictatorships with "government by committee.")

The changes were the first official act Thursday of the new central committee just elected by the party at its second post-war congress meeting in Warsaw. Aside from these two changes, the party's powerful politburo remains virtually the same.

The announcement said Bierut resigned from the premiership because he could not hold that post and be party secretary at the same time. He proposed that Cyrankiewicz take his place and the central committee concurred.

McCarthy Has Laryngitis, Plans Speech

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Senator McCarthy today was confined to bed with virus laryngitis and a temperature of 103, but the Wisconsin Republican said he still plans tonight's reply to a speech by Adlai E. Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee.

McCarthy's doctor, however, advised a day or two of rest.

Stevenson, in a recent address to a Democratic party gathering in Miami, said the chief objectives of McCarthy and his supporters include "not only the intimidation and silencing of all independent institutions and opinions in our society but the capture of one of our great instruments of political action—the Republican party."

"The end result, in short," said Stevenson, "is a malign and fatal totalitarianism."

WORKING TOO HARD

Dr. Raulf Hanson, who examined McCarthy Thursday night at his hotel, said his condition was brought on by overwork, excessive fatigue and exposure.

McCarthy announced after the Stevenson speech that he would demand free and equal time for a reply from the radio and television networks (CBS and NBC) that had carried it.

But the Republican national committee beat him to the draw, chairman Leonard Hall saying the speech called for an answer from the party rather than any individual.

With Eisenhower's approval, Vice President Richard Nixon was selected for the assignment and in a nationally televised address Saturday night told that Wisconsin senator that he is the unquestioned leader of the [illegible] Republican party.

They will wage a three-way fight in Peel a few miles west of Toronto, in one of four federal by-elections in central Canada Monday. The others are in Elgin in southwestern Ontario and in Gatineau and Montreal Verdun in Quebec.

Elgin was left vacant in January by the death of Charles D. Coyle, a tobacco farmer who held it for the Progressive Conservatives since 1945.

PEEL TORY 54 YEARS

In Peel, which has sent Progressive Conservative representatives to Ottawa for the last 54 years, the Liberal candidate is A. J. C. O'Marra, 33, a lawyer in Port Credit village who was defeated by Mr. Graydon last year. Mr. Graydon polled 13,467 votes, Mr. O'Marra 9,281 and James Adams, CCF 2,501.

Progressive Conservative candidate is John Pallett, also 33, and, like Mr. O'Marra, a lawyer. Mr. Pallett is a fourth-generation native of Peel county.

'C' Pummels 'A' 14-2 Lakefield Minor Loop

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—Teams A and C of the local minor hockey group staged a thrilling game at the Arena before a fair crowd. While the score ended 14-2 in favour of team C, team A was not as helpless as the score would indicate.

In the first period Neil and Clements were the marksmen for team C. Neil notched three with Clements scoring one and one assist.

Stenner, Heffernan, Neil, Henry and Galvin tallied in the last period with assists by Stockdale, Galvin, Neil and Sheppard.

Grit In Queen's Eye Causes Much Pain

ADELAIDE, Australia (CP) — Queen Elizabeth got a speck of grit in her eye today as she drove through Adelaide to the Town Hall to receive her public welcome.

A cool, stong southeasterly breeze blew the grit into her eye, and it appeared to cause her considerable pain.

The Queen stood a few yards to the rear of Lord Mayor A. C. Rymill as he read the address of welcome, and opened her handbag to look at her eye in the mirror. Then she wiped it frequently, but allowed the ceremony to go on. She received a large number of presentations, then made her reply to the lord mayor.

It was not until all the formalities were over that she asked the lord mayor if she could retire and have the grit removed.

PAIN EASED

Her medical officer, Surgeon-Cmdr. D. D. Steele-Perkin, was unable to remove it then, but eased the pain, and the Queen continued the procession through the city.

Combustion Starts Fire In Co-Operative

SARNIA (CP)—Wanstead Farmers Co-operative went up in flames today with an estimated loss of $50,000.

Completely destroyed was a three-storey building housing equipment and 550 tons of feed. Manager Boyd Ackert said business would continue at a branch mill four miles away.

Spontaneous combustion in the stored feed is suspected as the cause of the fire.

Wanstead is 20 miles east of Sarnia.

"I have no sympathy whatsoever for the deceased man, Cameron."

"You don't honestly mean that," said crown attorney Thompson.

"Yes, I do," Mr. Finlayson insisted. He added that he thought Cameron's death was "the direct result of his own debauchery and more particularly his degredation of Kingsley."

Encouragement For Businessmen

Ottawa Gov't Will Aid Red China Trade

OTTAWA (CP) — John Dickey, parliamentary assistant to Trade Minister Howe, said Thursday night the government will give "every assistance" to Canadian business men wishing to trade in non-strategic materials with Communist countries.

He made the statement in reply to Donald Fleming, Progressive Conservative spokesman on trade matters, who asked in the Commons what government policy is on the issue.

"This is a free-enterprise economy," Mr. Dickey replied. "The government doesn't do business with Russia or any other government as a matter of course.

"The policy of the trade department and of the government is to give every assistance to Canadian business men in seeking business in Russia or behind the Iron Curtain in non-strategic goods."

The discussion arose during study of a bill continuing for three years government controls over exports and imports, especially shipments of strategic materials to Communist countries. The House approved the principle of the bill and then began detailed study of various clauses.

"EVASIVE" WORDS

Mr. Fleming referred to a recent statement by Trade Minister Howe that all exports to iron curtain countries are subject to government permit and that, except for strategic materials, the trade department would consider the application of any Canadian merchant who can arrange trade with Soviet Russia.

As a statement of government policy, Mr. Fleming said, Mr. Howe's words were "evasive."

"It doesn't say at all that Canada seeks more trade with Soviet Russia or Communist satellite countries."

Hazen Argue (CCF—Assiniboia) noted that Prime Minister Churchill recently told the British Commons that the British government is hoping for a substantial reduction in the goods listed as strategic.

Mr. Dickey said Canada's objectives are the same as those of Britain. A co-operative review with other countries is being carried on concerning the list of strategic goods. The aim was to keep the list within the bounds of national security and from being unnecessarily broad.

Official forecasts issued by the Dominion public weather office in Toronto at 9:30 a.m.

Synopsis:

Increasing cloudiness over southern Ontario this Friday morning heralds the approach of a large low pressure system moving in from the central states. Showers in the Windsor area will reach Toronto this afternoon, and rain will be general over southern Ontario tonight.

As the centre of low pressure moves eastward through southern Ontario on Saturday, cooler air from the north will follow in its wake, and snow-flurries are forecast for southwestern counties Saturday night.

Regional forecasts valid until midnight Saturday:

Lake Ontario and Niagara regions; Toronto and Hamilton: Cloudy today and Saturday; rain beginning this afternoon, becoming intermittent Saturday morning; risk of a thundershower this evening; mild today turning colder Saturday afternoon; winds east 20 shifting northwest 20 Saturday afternoon; low tonight and high Saturday at Toronto, Hamilton and St. Catharines 35 and 40, Trenton 32 and 40. Summary for Saturday: Showers, then colder.

Haliburton and Georgian bay regions: Cloudy today and Saturday; rain or wet snow beginning this afternoon, changing to snowflurries and turning colder Saturday afternoon, winds east 15 today, each 20 tonight, north 15 Saturday; low tonight and high Saturday at Muskoka and Killaloe 30 and 35. Summary for Saturday: Colder with snowflurries.

3 Men Contest Graydon Seat

Extra Police At Waterfront To End Violence

NEW YORK (AP) — Waterfront police were put on emergency details today to make good on Mayor Robert F. Wagner's pledge to end the bloody violence erupting in the longshoremen's wildcat strike.

Wagner says he will call for state and federal assistance if necessary, but feels confident that city authorities can restore law and order.

Leaders of the trucking industry have asked United States Attorney-General Herbert Brownell for federal action to revive operations in the port—"if necessary, through the use of United States troops."

APPEAL TO PRESIDENT

The New York Shipping Association, representing 170 shipping and stevedoring companies, has appealed to President Eisenhower for "emergency congressional action."

The outlaw strike by members of the International Longshoremen's Association (Ind.), now in its 15th day, has shut down a major part of the New York and New Jersey waterfront.

Numerous injuries and arrests have occurred in recent days in clashes between ILA pickets and members of the rival AFL union who went to work.

Members of the ILA say they will stay off the job until their union is certified as bargaining agent for the harbor's 24,000 longshoremen. The AFL-ILA also is seeking certification.

Climate, Terrain Dictate Fighting In Indo China

WASHINGTON—Now that Indochina has succeeded Korea as the world's primary war zone, America's highest military and civilian officials are turning their attention to the latest crucial developments in the eight-year-old conflict.

As always, problems of terrain weigh heavily in the strategy of both the French-led Viet Nam and the Communist Viet Minh forces. This is particularly true in northern Indochina where most recent fighting has occurred.

Dispatches tell of Communist reverses in two broad areas. One lies near the productive, heavily populated delta of the Red river in the state of Viet Nam. The other covers a wild, mountainous, thinly populated region in the neighboring state of Laos.

MILITARY SIGNIFICANCE

Military significance of the Red river delta area stems from its location, its fertility and its cities, principally Hanoi and Haiphong. Hanoi's 250,000 people engage in a variety of industries, mainly rice milling, distilling, brewing, cotton and silk textiles, woollen rugs, bricks and tiles, and leather goods. Only 90 miles from Red China, it is a vital railroad hub.

Haiphong, linked by road and railway to Hanoi 55 miles away, is the chief port of northern Viet Nam, manufacturing cement, glass, china, cotton textiles, buttons and candles. It is also a centre for tin smelting, shipbuilding and rice milling.

Both cities owe their importance basically to the Red River, whose delta forms a vast rice bowl where the population runs as high in places as 6,000 to the square mile. The river takes its name from the color of its water, dyed by iron oxide washed from the upland soils. Military operations are often hampered by floods, heat, fog and rain.

The other presently contested area bears marked contrast to the delta terrain.

Three names stand out: Luang Prabang, Muong Sai and Dien Bien Phu. All three towns are imbedded in the nearly roadless mountains of northwest Indochina whose heavily wooded ranges and steep canyons encourage hit-and-run tactics.

Luang Prabang does a business in opium, rice, rubber, cloth, teak, and fish. Amid palm trees, it nestles in the heart of north Laos at the head of navigation along the Mekong river, one of the primary waterways of the country. Mist often hangs low over the city.

Muong Sai, fortified by the French and 60 miles north of Luang Prabang, has been a thorn in the side of the Laos invaders who were thrusting toward Luang Prabang until they recently retired northward. This turn in events has given rise to French hopes that the entire Communist invasion of Laos has failed.

Dien Bien Phu is 110 miles northeast of Luang Prabang and just over the border in Viet Nam. This French bastion has been hemmed in by Communists who have lately been under round-the-clock air and artillery attack.

The war has also scourged another portion of Indochina—its narrow mountainous waste in central Viet Nam. There French troops appear to be progressing northward along the coast. A railroad parallels the water to facilitate their advance, but the shoreline is indented by mountain spurs reaching to the sea. These ramparts cradle plains formed by deltas of short and at times torrential rivers. On the plains rice, cinnamon, cotton and raw silk are produced.

Will Give Public All Facts

Censored Sections Of Army Memo Will Be Published

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Stuart Symington (Dem.-Mo.) pledged today that the public will "get all the facts" that were censored out of a United States Army memorandum critical of Senator McCarthy and his staff, if the defence department still has them.

Publication of the memorandum was part of a roaring exchange between Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens and the Wisconsin Republican senator and his chief aides. Symington established Thursday that parts of it had been deleted. The memorandum detailed instances in which McCarthy and the chief counsel of his sub-committee, Roy Cohn, allegedly sought special treatment for Pte. G. David Schine, a former committee aide.

Defence Secretary Charles E. Wilson and other department officials promised the Senate armed services committee Thursday that these missing parts, together with stenographers' transcripts of telephone conversations in the dispute, would be handed to any congressional committee asking them.

Other officials have said some profanity was struck out of the [illegible]

In Chicago Thursday, McCarthy had no comment on Wilson's testimony, but said "we'll have all the story complete before we get through."

Wilson said, among other things, that he has full confidence in the truthfulness of Stevens and the army report.

Chairman Leverett Saltonstall (Rep. Mass.), who failed in attempts to steer the armed services committee away from the dispute, said in an interview that he would not ask for the previously omitted material.

Informed of this, Symington, the only senator serving on both groups, said:

"I'm promising that if the armed services committee does not ask for them and make them public that the investigations group will."

TB Deaths Down 34 Per Cent Nurse Tells Roseneath WA

ROSENEATH (ENS) — Statistics show that deaths from tuberculosis in the province are down thirty-four per cent since 1951.

This was the encouraging statement made by Mrs. D. L. Rowat, B.Sc.N., of the staff of the Northumberland and Durham Counties Health Unit at Cobourg, as guest speaker at the St. Patrick's Banquet of the WA of the United Church.

Mrs. Rowat chose as her subject "Tuberculosis" and defined it as a communicable disease, not hereditary, but is spread by people living together. She said X-rays are the only way of showing up tuberculosis in early stages.

In the past seven years since there has been a Health Unit in the United Counties and there have been mass T.B. X-ray surveys, they have discovered 270 cases of T.B., 180 persons have been admitted to hospitals and 144 persons have been discharged.

In concluding her address Mrs. Rowat told of the many benefits derived from the mass survey and urged the people to attend 100%, the mass survey that is being held through the United Counties in May and June of this year.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Delbert Brisbin and thanked by Mrs. Walter Gallagher.

It was the annual St. Patrick's Day Banquet, sponsored by Group 3 of the WA of the United church, held at Maple Lodge, the tourist home of Mrs. Leslie Sherwin.

Mrs. Harold Taylor is chairman of this group with Mrs. Alec Horner as secretary-treasurer.

It was a typical Irish atmosphere with Irish linen tablecloths sashed with green and centred with yellow daffodils, silver candelabra with tall green tapers and shamrock place cards. Pots of Shamrock, baskets of tulips and pussy willows were placed about the room.

Irish music was played by Mrs. Edgar Carew and Miss Yvonne Adams.

Mrs. Douglas L. Coyle was mistress of ceremonies for the program and welcomed the guests followed by singing "The more we get together."

Mrs. Delbert Brisbin read 'How we got St. Patrick's Day," Miss Eleanor McMurdo was guest soloist and sang "The Rose of Tralee" and "My Irish Lullaby." Mrs. T. S. Coyle read "The Purple Dress."

Mrs. Les Tucker gave a humorous reading "Learning to Skate".

Community singing of Irish Songs interspersed the evenings entertainment. Mrs. Earl Waldie president of the WA spoke briefly voicing the appreciation of the society for the large gathering of persons present.

Upwards of 90 ladies were present at the banquet including representatives of Oak Heights WA; Centenary WA; Fenella WA; Rice Lake Tourists; Roseneath WMS; Dartford WMS; Fenella WI; Roseneath YPU; St. James' Anglican WA; West Dartford Farm Forum and the United church WA.

3-Act Farce Presented By Church Group

Take a hillbilly maid called Inertia, a negro cook, a mother with social ambitions and two lovely daughters. Then bring in two young men for romantic interest, Grandma and Grandpa, broke, from the hills and Mrs. Worthington Belcher, from town with her nephew Burley Bixford Beane. Finally add a dash of cinnamon and you have the main ingredients for a three-act farce, Mr. Beane From Lima, loaded with laughs and presented by the George Street YPU Thursday night and this evening.

There are financial, social and family problems, time mixups, a secret recipe, a radio contest and of course tangled romances not to mention the dash of cinnamon.

Peter Boon in the lead as Burley Bixford Beane, a would-be novelist and a gentleman with "blood so blue it makes indigo look green", was excellent. His voice, his sense of timing and his characterization of this rather pompous young man was well above usual. Betty Scollard as Inertia gets a laugh with every entrance and if occasionally her gestures were a little broad, so were the laughs she got. Jean Montgomery and Jim Renwick do a convincing job as the grandparents from the farm with hearts as large as the outdoors and bank accounts as empty. Mrs. Worthington Belcher a leading member of the local aristocracy was ably played by Evelyn Taylor. Isabel Cruikshank had the difficult role of the ambitious mother and was her best in the third act. Shirley Starke and Marion Brown as Amy St. Clair and Zoe Dudley, the daughters, together with Bob Gillespie and Wellie Reynolds as Johnny Rand and Bob Dudley do a good job in support as Blossom Queasy plays the negro cook with a voice as southern as fried chicken. The whole play has been admirably directed by Mrs. Cecil Wasson and Mr. George Bedford.

Still wondering about the cinnamon? It gives rise to one of the most hilarious scenes in the play. By all means take the children.—H.M.

Commissioner John J. Allen, former chief of staff of the Salvation Army and one of the leading figures in the international work of the Army, will be conducting a public meeting in the Peterborough temple March 24 at 7.45.

Commissioner Allen, a New Yorker will be accompanied to Peterborough by Commissioner William R. Dalziel, head of the Salvation Army in Canada and 40 visiting Army officers.

COMMISSIONER ALLEN

Born in Pennsylvania, Commissioner Allen started his Army career as a cornetist. He rose quickly through the ranks, then served as major with the chaplain services during World War I. For ten years he was in charge of New York's famous Bowery Corps, which mingles with and serves the human outcasts in one of the most notorious outposts of human misery.

Back with the Salvation Army after World War II Commissioner Allen was appointed chief of staff at Army headquarters in London. Recently he has been appointed to serve as the commanding general's special delegate, directing Army work in the western hemisphere.

The Commissioner is married to the former Captain Maud Parsons. Before her marriage Captain Parsons pursued an active Army career in the United Kingdom where her parents were early-day Army organizers.

Major RCAF Exercise Planned For Weekend

NORTH BAY (CP) — A major RCAF defence exercise to determine whether southbound enemy bombers could get through northern Ontario air defences to attack industrial cities in southern Ontario will be held this week-end.

In the exercise, called Dust Devil II, reports of attacking bombers will be channelled to the North Bay filter centre. CF-100 and T-33 jets at RCAF station North Bay will then be sent up to repel invaders supposedly swinging south from James bay.

Ground observers and radar units will plot the advance of enemy [illegible] and guide night fighters [illegible]

Volunteers will man the ground observation and filter centre posts on a 24-hour basis. All RCAF North Bay's available aircraft have been put on the alert for the exercise.

Speed Up Housing

COBOURG (ENS)—Held up by bad weather and ground conditions, construction on the additional buildings at the ordnance depot has resumed its original pace and buildings five and six are expected to be completed by April 15. Work is also being speeded up in the permanent married quarters housing area.

Stirling Youth Best Cadet

STIRLING (ENS)—Friends of Stirling and district are congratulating Ross Hermiston, of Stirling, on being awarded the prize for the best cadet in the second year Queen's University Naval Training Division.

The awards were made at the final parade of the season aboard HMCS Cataraqui with the presentation being made by the commanding officer, Cmdr. A. G. C. Whitley, RCN. Ross is a student in commerce at Queen's and is a [illegible] and Mrs. D. A. Hermiston.

Diefenbaker Demands Sales Tax Dropped

ST. THOMAS (CP)—John Diefenbaker, Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for Prince Albert, Thursday night called for an end to the federal sales tax on essential purchases.

"It is about time the open season on the taxpayer be closed," he said in a speech prepared for delivery at an election meeting here.

The 10-per-cent sales tax should be removed from clothing, furniture, tea, coffee, footwear and other necessities, he said.

He also urged an investigation into the spread between low farm prices and "the unreasonably high [illegible] pay."

Rail Traffic Moves In North

KENNEY (CP)—Railway communications into northern Ontario were resumed Thursday night, 20 hours after 23 freight cars of a northbound Ontario northland Railway train were derailed near Kenney, 49 miles north of North Bay.

The derailment caused no injuries but ripped up 1,200 feet of track and ties. Cause of the accident was attributed by ONR officials to a broken arch bar on one of the cars. The arch bar is part of the freight car wheel assembly.

Fifteen cars of the 59-car train [illegible] merchandise for northern communities. The derailed cars were on the tail-end of [illegible] for Englehart, 30 miles north of the accident.

Plant Poplars Improve View CPR Rail Bridge

Tall green foliage and Lombardy poplars will soon cloak the clutter and noise of the west bank of the Otonabee just north of the CPR bridge. Thus the first sight of Peterborough which westbound rail travellers have will be vastly improved.

The change was revealed at the monthly meeting of the Otonabee Valley Conservation Committee, held this week. A report from Alderman Robert Knox and the parks department indicated that the clean-up and planting of tall shrubbery was being taken in hand, and Armar Butcher, parks superintendent, had completed plans.

Chairman of the committee, Mrs. J. A. Nornabell, outlining the project, paid tribute to the co-operation and work of Alderman Knox and Mr. Butcher. The area is already being cleaned up.

MOVE BATHING BEACH

A long-advocated proposition, that the swimming site at Inverlea Park be given up for a site down river, south of the bridge, received a detailed analysis and commendation from Mrs. Charles Ray. Her report mentioned that the area south of the bridge was safer, the currents fewer, the beach sandy, and it was farther from the traffic hazards of Parkhill Road.

The proposed new site for the bathing beach is on the opposite side of the river from Inverlea, and south of the bridge.

It is directly across the river from the point where Water St. ends at the Goose Pond. Mrs. Ray noted that the site is as accessible as the present one, for either motorists or buses. The area is the property of the Quaker Oats Company, but the committee was told that if a workable plan were developed, the company is prepared to make the land available.

Japanese Boats Seized

TOKYO (Rutrs)—Two Japanese fishing boats were fired on and seized by unidentified gunboats in the east China Sea Thursday night, the maritime safety board said today. The board believes the gunboats were Communist Chinese. The seized vessels were operating with two other fishing boats about 30 miles northeast of the Heishan islands. The others escaped and fled toward Japan.

Cobourg Hydro Rebate

COBOURG (ENS)—Hydro rebate to the town this year is $4,446.02, the Cobourg Public Utilities Commission has been advised in a letter from the HEPC. Last year's amount was around $8,000.

Mental Health Topic Stirling Rotary Club

STIRLING (ENS)—Dr. Russell Bateman was guest speaker at the dinner meeting of Stirling Rotary Club. Dr. Bateman was introduced by Rotarian Carl Bateman and the speaker gave a most interesting talk on the effect of our mental and physical health. Rotarian David Duffin voiced the thanks of the club to Dr. Bateman.

Two new members, William Webber and Earl Fox, were introduced by Bruce Bell and Bob Paterson, and the presentation of Rotary pins and Rotary information was made by Dr. W. H. Cornett.

Holstein Club To Take Trip

Most of the seats have been taken for the Holstein Club's bus trip, Saturday March 27, through York county and ending at Rosafe Farms. Other points in the itinerary are Massey-Harris Farm, George Jackson, John Greenwood and the two breeding units, Maple and Toronto district. Cost of the trip has been cut to $3.50. Tickets are still on hand at the Department of Agriculture office and Gordon LaPlante. The bus leaves the King St. terminal at at 7.30 a.m.

MEET AT RICHMOND HILL

Peterborough delegates and other members of the Maple Cattle Breeders Association who are planning to attend the annual meeting Tuesday, March 23 at 1 p.m. have probably received notice of the change of place. The hall at Maple is undergoing spring housecleaning, and meeting is transferred to the Lions Club Hall at Richmond Hill, two blocks east of the Yonge St. stop light.

Mine Hoist Tilts 1 Dead, 6 Injured

ASBESTOS, Que. (CP) — One miner was killed and six others were slightly injured Thursday when they fell from a hoist which tilted while carrying them up a shaft of the Johns-Manville asbestos mine here.

Emmett Proulx, 32, Danville, Que., was killed.

The men were employees of the J. McIsaac construction firm of Sudbury, digging a new level in the mine about 1,200 feet underground.

Volleyball Playoffs YM League Saturday

Semi-finals in the YMCA business men's 'Y' gym. The top team, Barney Dundas' Eskimos, will be standing idle on the sidelines as the three remaining teams battle for second place and a chance at the championship.

The first of three two-game sets will be played between Howard David's Argos and Lloyd Ash's Bombers, followed by Roy Westrop's Tigers vs. the Argos, and ending with a match between the Bombers and Tigers.

Should a winner be undeclared a second match will follow—and if things don't work out by then —"we'll draw lots". Finals will be held a week Saturday.

M. G. Haskill

COBOURG—Mrs. Mary Grace Haskill, who died here in her 98th year, was buried yesterday afternoon in Port Hope Union cemetery. Resident of Cobourg for the past 16 years, she was born in Hope township, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Rowden. During her stay in Cobourg she had resided at the home of her son-in-law, George Mitchell.

Surviving is one daughter, Mrs. George Mitchell, of Cobourg.

Pallbearers were two grandsons, George Mitchell, Jr., and Jack Mitchell, and four nephews, Charles, Cecil, Douglas and Arthur Rowden, of Oshawa.

Bars Money Remittances

DETROIT (AP)—Judge Thomas C. Murphy refused Thursday to permit $17,769.84 to be sent to an Iron Curtain country. Acting under a new state law, the probate court placed the money in escrow with the county treasurer. John Vasii, who died here in 1949, left the money to a daughter and a nephew who live in Romania, but the American consulate in Bucharest reported that a power-of-attorney had been obtained under duress from the Romanians.

Council Probes Estimates

COBOURG (ENS)—Committee meeting of the town council was held last night to go over the estimates for 1954. There was some paring down of committee budgets but necessary projects were left intact. It is planned to announce the budget at the next meeting of the town council.

27 Charges

KIRKLAND LAKE (CP)—Irene Catherine Donlevy, 50, Thursday was remanded on 27 charges of false pretences. She elected trial by a higher court and was remanded on $500 bail. Police said she cashed more than $2,000 worth of fictitious income tax refund cheques in Teck township between Aug. 12, 1952, and Feb. 9, 1954.

Big News

The biggest news often does not make the headlines because it is gradual in coming, and one gets bits and pieces of it before the final break. So, when Mr. St. Laurent returned home and told the people of this country that he has "more confidence that the cold war is not going to be converted into a hot war" the news was not given the prominence so important a view deserved. Why not? Because already we have had inklings that this was what the Prime Minister would report. Cautiously optimistic opinions have been coming from Mr. St. Laurent into the Canadian papers ever since he set foot in Europe. It is really big news, but not the kind to make the biggest headlines.

* * *

Another good piece of news will not make a big splash in the press tomorrow, either. It is that Spring has arrived. The calendar says it is due on Sunday the 21st, but astronomers insist that the sun will pass directly over the equator on its annual trip north on Saturday; this event will happen [illegible] time, at precisely 22h 54 min; in other words, at six minutes to eleven o'clock Saturday evening.

* * *

The news is important because Spring is important. Birds begin to twitter, plants to grow and love to blossom. It is good news, because the winter has been long, and Spring is a good season, even in Canada where it is little more than a fortnight between slush of winter and hot dust of summer. Every poet or person who would be a poet has penned praises to Spring, from the Latin of Diffugere Nives to Housman's paraphrase of it. While the Spring comes slowly up this way, and it is too early to talk about flowers appearing on the earth and the voice of the turtle, the snows are fleeing, ethereal mildness will come, and everything will be young again—perhaps even man himself, if Prime Minister St. Laurent's confidence is justified by events.

Double Taxation In Quebec

Montreal papers are bending towards Mr. Duplessis in the matter of the new income tax levy which his Government has imposed. It is perhaps not surprising that even the Montreal Star is bowing the knee, if ever so slightly. No one likes to be taxed twice, and if the double taxation hits only one Province, the persons and papers in it will wince. They see that Mr. Duplessis is determined not to co-operate with Ottawa. He has refused the educational grants. He will not enter into a tax-rental agreement as Ontario has done. To get around his financial difficulties, his Government has imposed the new Provincial income tax. So Montrealers, who will have to pay most of the new tax, and their newspapers, hopefully look to Ottawa to give them relief.

The Montreal Gazette has forthrightly demanded that Ottawa permit Quebec taxpayers to deduct the total amount of the new Provincial tax from their Federal returns. The Star has not capitulated to that extent, but it has pleaded that the Provincial and Federal Ministers "consult" and "agree". That is all very well, but what could come from such consultations and agreement except a Federal capitulation to Mr. Duplessis? It is exactly what Mr. Duplessis has been aiming at.

The Star makes a good case, arguing that double taxation is unfair, and will discourage investors and industry from operating in that Province. It quotes a letter sent to Prime Minister St. Laurent and Premier Duplessis by four trade organizations in the Province. Says the Montreal Star:

> Here are two major considerations bluntly presented. The first concerns the individual faced by the double tax. The second deals with the likely consequences on the province as a whole of the probable tax situation. In the circumstances about to emerge and to continue at least for some years, investors will weigh with great care where they will place their money. If other factors are the same or nearly the same in, let us say, Ontario and Quebec, will investors choose the province with the lighter income tax burden to build their plants? This, says the letter, "may easily produce an economic unbalance in other parts of the country." In other words, Quebec's development will be retarded.
> The letter makes no recommendation. Its concluding paragraph merely states the organizations' sincere belief that the differences between Ottawa and Quebec must and will be adjusted. But it asks that immediate assurance to this effect should be given "in order to avoid what might become a far reaching economic disturbance."

It is a good case, but the cardinal point is completely avoided. There would be no need for "consultation" or "agreement" if Mr. Duplessis were not acting the way he does. He and he alone has created the situation. The remedy is in his hands, not in the hands of Ottawa. Quebec would not need the extra tax if the Quebec Government merely agreed to accept the millions of dollars in Federal grants already set aside for it. It would not need the extra tax if the Quebec Government were willing to sign a tax agreement, as all the other provinces have done.

If Quebec people do not want the new Provincial income tax, they should talk to Mr. Duplessis about it, or get rid of him. Instead, they go supplicating to Ottawa. They bend the knee to Mr. Duplessis and then piteously crawl towards Parliament Hill. We pity them for their attitude, and not because they will have to pay two income taxes.

Economic Board At Work

The Joint Economic Board set up last year has not been a dead international creation. Composed of cabinet ministers of the United States and Canada (the composition varies) its purpose is to watch over frictions which might develop between the two economies, and rifts which might be created by economic policies. This Joint Economic Board provides a medium for immediate and close consultation on existing and threatening disturbances of the Canadian-American world of commodities and trade. There has been Canadian uneasiness in the last several months, about future American policies, as well as distress over U.S. embargoes against Canadian agricultural products. Earlier this week one of the heaviest Canadian cabinet delegations ever to descend on Washington had talks with their Ameri[illegible]. The Joint Economic Board was in action.

Some good seems to have resulted from the meetings, and Parliament will hear more in subsequent days. One anxiety, from a Canadian point of view, was the possibility that the U.S. would dump its huge surpluses of food stocks into the world market at much less than cost, and so close those markets to Canadian goods produced and sold at fair prices. President Eisenhower's administration has already proposed to give away in the next three years to friendly countries overseas a billion dollars' worth of food. Canada asked in Washington that she be consulted before any such program were undertaken. As a result of the meetings in the American capital, the U.S. has agreed "not to interfere with normal commercial marketings" in disposing of agricultural surpluses overseas.

It may seem strange to some of our readers that Canada should seek to interfere in an American economic plan, or that she should be fearful merely because the United States proposed to give away to presumably needy nations, a billion dollars' worth of food. The reason for the Canadian concern is not lack of humanitarianism nor a desire to poke a Canadian nose into American business. The danger is that American largesse (occasioned by great food surpluses embarrassing to the U.S. Government) should upset the delicate course of international trade and money. It is an instance where giving could be harmful.

The laws that economists talk of cannot be disregarded without peril to the giver and his friends. The Joint Economic Board can, and should, be able to devise surer ways of dealing with surpluses than panic-giving, or, what was worse during the Depression, burning or turning in the crops.

"What is needed," the communique from the Ministers stated, "is the creation of a more flexible system of trade and payments throughout the world which would offer greater resilience to changing circumstances." Let us have such a system, then, instead of throwing monkey wrenches into the machinery, as the billion-dollar dumping of food surpluses seems to be. Peterborough, which produces meats and cereals and dairy products for export, has like most other places in Canada a direct interest in this. It would not be good for Peterborough people to have these markets flooded with free American food.

Bandit With The Loaf

One sees some odd sights in Montreal. Why, people walk openly into a grocery store to buy bottles of beer! Worse, they go down the street quite unashamedly sporting the bottles under their arm. Another strange sight is to see children, on the errand for their mothers, trudging home with a long loaf of unwrapped bread as big as they are. Fathers, too, are often burdened with the French loaf.

These sights may seem odd to Ontario people, but to Quebec people they are quite ordinary. Thus, when a mild-looking man walked into a branch bank in Montreal this week toting a loaf of bread as if it were a walking-stick, the teller had no suspicion that the other arm might have held a gun. The bad fellow with the loaf of bread held the teller up, not by pointing the bread at her, but by handing her a note which read "This is a stick-up." The moral is: trust not the bearer of even a French stick of bread. The fellow got away with $1,200.

There are no hopeless situations, but there are many hopeless people.

IN SOUTH AFRICA

'Operation Photograph'

By JOHN WORRALL

WHAT IS believed to be the biggest operation in mass photography ever undertaken by any nation has begun in South Africa.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE ENTIRE adult population of all races from the age of sixteen is to be photographed compulsorily for the identification cards, to be issued soon to everyone, under the Government's apartheid (race segregation) laws. About 5,500,000 people will be photographed under the provisions of the Population Registration Act of 1950, one of the first apartheid measures brought in by the Government of Dr. Daniel F. Malan. The task may take many years to complete.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE POPULATION REGISTER now being compiled in Pretoria is the basis of all apartheid legislation, and classifies the whole population in rigid racial groups. It will contain detailed "dossiers" of every adult man and woman in the Union, and when it is finished the apartheid net will be complete. No one will be able to escape from the race category into which he has been placed.

✧ ✧ ✧

CLOSELY tied up with this register will be the identity card system, which involves the gigantic "Operation Photograph". Every card will contain a photograph of the holder, a duplicate of which will be held at the offices of the Population Register. As well as the photograph, the identity cards of all Africans will contain fingerprints of the owners, duplicates of which are also held in the Register.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE COST of the whole identity card scheme is estimated at £1,250,000. But the population is expected to bear the cost of the photographs—paying between one [illegible] four shilling a head for two prints.

TEAMS OF local photographers are being enlisted by the Government for the job. More than three million Europeans, Coloureds (people of mixed race) and Indians will have to be photographed, and 2,500,000 male Africans. Female Africans do not come into the scheme until later.

✧ ✧ ✧

A START has already been made in Pretoria, where a team of professional photographers assembled by the Government has already photographed a large proportion of the White population. After the Whites will come the Indians and the Coloureds.

✧ ✧ ✧

AFRICANS ARE being photographed directly by the Department of Native Affairs, which is operating in the native areas with a field team and a battery of fifty cameras.

✧ ✧ ✧

THERE HAS been considerable resistance on the part of Pretoria's three thousand Indians, who are objecting to answering the many intimate questions needed for the identity card scheme. Some are to test their rights in the Supreme Court.

✧ ✧ ✧

WHEN THE population of Pretoria (regarded as an experimental centre for the moment) has been photographed, the operation will move to Johannesburg then on to the other big population centres and then to the country areas.

✧ ✧ ✧

WHEN THE Population Registration Act was passed through the South African Parliament in 1950 it was vigorously resisted by the Opposition Parties on the grounds that is was unnecessary and a waste of public money; that it would be virtually unworkable, and that the population would resent bitterly the indignity of having to carry identity cards in peacetime.

✧ ✧ ✧

BUT DR. MALAN and Dr. Donges—who as Minister of the Interior is responsible for the Register—said that the Register and identity cards were essential to make apartheid effective.

✧ ✧ ✧

AN IRONIC sidelight to the scheme has been the discovery that identity cards will be a great boon to those people "named" as Communists who wish to travel overseas but who have been refused passports by the Government.

✧ ✧ ✧

UP TO NOW people without passports have had some difficulty in entering Britain because they cannot prove they are South African citizens. But an official of the United Kingdom High Commissioner's Office said recently that the identity card would be regarded as incontestable proof that the holder was a South African citizen, and thus under British law a British subject.

✧ ✧ ✧

HE CAN also return to the Union without trouble, for under the present law anyone can enter if he can prove that he was born in the Union.

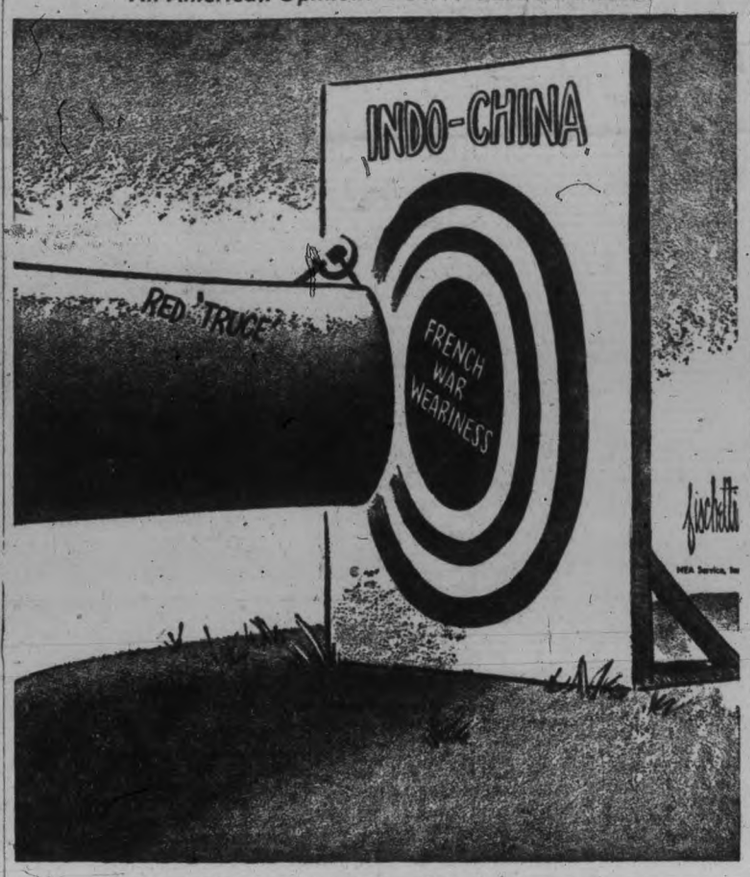
A World Thirsty For Capital



(Ottawa Citizen)

Investment has already emerged as a major topic at the Inter-American Conference in Caracas. The Latin American nations want financial aid in developing their economies. But many of their own wealthy people, as the Americans have been pointing out, prefer to send capital to the United States. North Americans, for their part, think they can put their money to work more safely and profitably at home then abroad. Yet hopes for a better world may founder unless capital can be supplied to the under-developed areas.

The experience of technical aid has been aptly compared by a writer in The Reporter magazine to that of a plumber who comes to fix pipes but finds he must first help rebuild the house. Capital has been wary of entering regions where government is weak, and where basic facilities, like roads and schools, are lacking. To stimulate its flow, several agencies have been set up. The U.S. Export-Import Bank, however, is primarily for trade, not investment. The Colombo Plan and the World Bank works only through governments, and their main purpose it to help prepare the way for investment of all kinds.

For the future, Mr. Paul Hoffman, former director of the Economic Co-operation Administration at Washington, advocates letting the United Nations handle all technical aid, since the U.N. is not suspected of ulterior motives when it gives advice.

An American Opinion: POINT-BLANK RANGE

Letters To The Editor

Sir, Kindly allow me space in your paper to contradict an item which appeared in a [illegible] paper on March 16 about the fire at Chamberlain St. on March 15. The elderly Mr. Trotter positively was not found by Con. Crough in a smoke-filled bedroom. He was in the parlour and out of any immediate danger, as the fire at that time was only in the kitchen.

Mr. Trotter had been brought down stairs by his son, and had hesitated going out barefooted.

The Trotter family really need assistance, as they lost everything, clothing, etc. The item in the Toronto paper made it appear that Mr. Trotter had been left to his fate by the family. Anyone who didn't know the true situation, could easily presume, they were benefiting by it.

If the reporter got his information from Con. Crough, I can't blame him, but I like the truth.

Sincerely,
H. E.

DILAPIDATED AND DISGRACEFUL

Sir: The subject of the property at Aylmer and Dalhousie has once more been brought up and I would like to add a few comments.

It is definitely a fire hazard because numerous times lately young lads are playing around and inside the building and one carelessly tossed match or cigarette butt, would sure cause an awful lot of grief to the lads themselves and to the neighbourhood.

These same children could be trapped there very easily by some old furniture falling, or some part of the building itself, and could result in a very serious accident or maybe someone killed.

It is a disgraceful looking site on one of our main thoroughfares, and Peterborough is a lovely city and in my opinion the owner or owners should be at least made to clean up the grounds and keep the windows and doors blocked so as the young ones cannot get in.

Lastly, I'm not a pessimist, looking at the dark side of everything, but as far as that mess on the corner there, one can't help but see unpleasantness. I hope the day soon comes when we can get up in the morning and not have to once again look at the dilapidated mess on our corner. Let's hear from other tenants from that vicinity.

Yours,
HOPING

NO COMPLAINTS

Sir: I would like to express my views on all the controversy on rent controls, landlords and tenants in your column as of late. I have rented two floors of my home for several years and as yet I have no complaints whatever to make on hostile or abusive tenants. My tenants all go out to business and I rarely come in contact with them and when I do there is a friendly greeting and a peaceful atmosphere.

My tenants take a sociable drink, keep to themselves and mind their business and believe in the old proverb "Live and let live". They are low spoken and I rarely hear their voices above a whisper so I have no reason to condemn.

Most tenants have occasional marital problems. [illegible] new problems. They wouldn't be normal if they hadn't and they must cope with these problems as they come along.

My tenants are Jews and Gentiles also and I do not consider myself on a higher pedestal than they. "We are desperately endeavouring to abolish the class system which is so prevalent in England", a Salvation Army officer quoted, and "I think we have been really successful so far".

Some bossy tenants do try to bully other tenants in apartment houses where the owner does not reside to keep control but these cases are uncommon in our city. I have had no experience with the neurotics; they are cases for our physicians, psychiatrists and our pastors.

So to the Mayor and Council of Peterborough it is immaterial to me that rent controls were lifted.

A CONTENTED LANDLORD

WEARING OUT LINES ON RECORD

Sir: May I insert in your paper a [illegible] complaint I have against the sellers of commercial musical records. I claim, that if I wish to purchase a record of a musical title that I like very much, I have the right to hear that record (to see whether it suits my liking or not) whether I purchase it or not.

Also there are record bars who employ platter turners who invariably spin those records. I would bet my bottom dollar, that if you walked into those record bars while these platter turners are supposedly working, you will find they will be spinning record disks to their heart's content and also delight and pleasure. I have found this to be true.

Three records that I purchased, in particular, I found in a very short time wearing out lines and surface noise appeared. No, it wasn't the fault of the needle or the record player, because other records made by the same recording company didn't act that way. I presume they were not played on as often as these three in particular.

One record in particular showed wearing out lines and surface noise in five days' time and I'll take an oath, I didn't spin it more than five times a day at the most.

God only knows how often it was played before I purchased it. Possibly 100, 200 etc., times. There is no way of detecting how often a record has been played.

I suggest that for every make of record, a trial record should be set aside with a mark on it and that be the one to be spinned or to be heard in hearing booths, so that when a record purchaser is buying a record, and paying top price for it, he is getting a new record (unplayed on) not one that is partly worn out.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your valuable space.

I remain,

Bible Message

(From the Athuorized Version)

The Lord is not slack concerning his promise, as some men count slackness; but is longsuffering to us-ward, not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance. But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up.

Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness, looking for and hastening unto the [illegible] vens being on fire shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat? Nevertheless we, according to his promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness. Wherefore, beloved, seeing that ye look for such things, be diligent that ye may be found of him in peace, without spot, and blameless. (II Pet. 3:9-14.)

Some trust in chariots, and some in horses: but we will remember the name of the Lord our God. (Ps. 20:7.)

Fitting Honour To Laurier

(Montreal Star)

The decision to erect a monument to the memory of Sir Wilfrid Laurier in Quebec City is altogether fitting. It is 35 years since that great Canadian and son of Quebec died and until the people of Montreal by public subscription set the example of honouring his memory by the statue in Dominion Square his native province had paid no tribute to his memory. There was only the plaque at McGill. Sir Wilfrid's lifetime of devotion to the service of his country has been recalled by statues and kindred memorials elsewhere throughout Canada. It is well that his native province should now pay this form of tribute to him.

That the leaders of the two political parties in the legislature should join in support of the proposed memorial and in verbal praise of Sir Wilfrid's great part in the history of Canada of his time is as it should be. It is also fitting that the proposed statue should rise in Quebec City where Sir Wilfrid began his political career, a seat which he represented in Ottawa for nearly the whole of his political career.

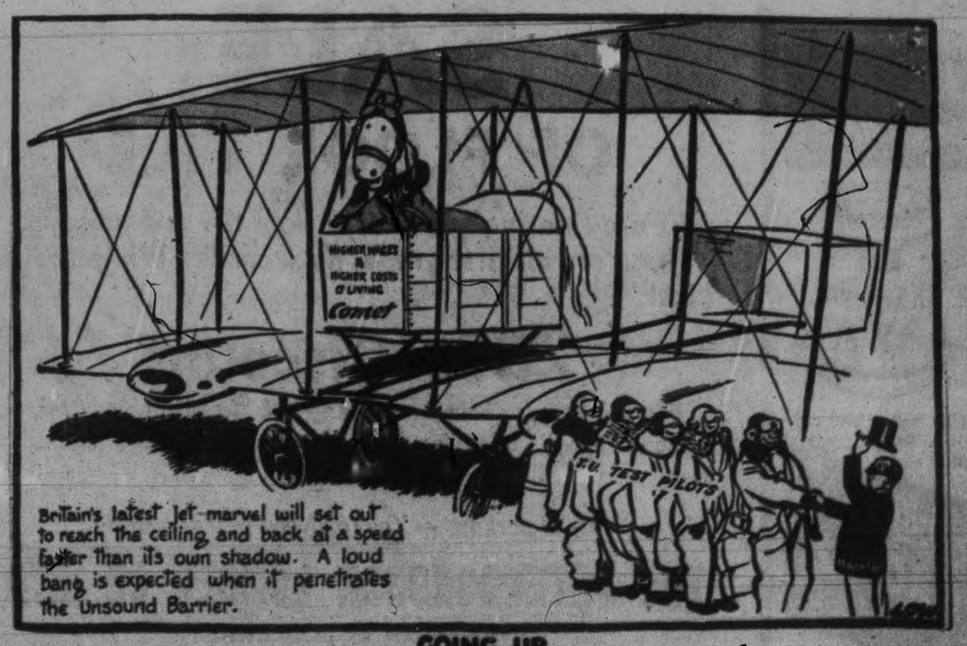
Aside from any question of political faith, and forgetting all passing divisive issues or incidents, the people of Quebec will be well content that a memorial to Sir Wilfrid Laurier will find its place in the heart of Quebec.

Fair Shares

(Portage La Prairie Graphic)

The principle of equal pay is sound, as long as it is accompanied by the principle of equal responsibility. Will wage-earning women accept, with equal pay, such things as equal legal responsibility for household debts and other liabilities between marriage partners, including maintenance and separation allowances; or are the ladies only after equal cashing-in, without equal paying-out? Shall we ever see an erring wife supporting a deserted husband?

Hard to Govern



(Kitchener-Waterloo Record)

Japan offers a market of growing importance for Canadian wheat and barley which we have in large surplus quantities. Hence it is easy to understand why western Canada favours a trade treaty with Japan. It would stimulate sales of grain in the Orient.

But any trade treaty with the Japs means buying more of their goods and this would hit the manufacturers in central Canada.

It's just impossible to please everybody. Sir Wilfred Laurier realized this when he said Canada was a hard country to govern.

A BRITISH OPINION

Must Use Soil Efficiently Committee Told

TORONTO (CP) — Every effort must be made to use the soil according to the most efficient known systems so that maximum profitable production can be obtained on a sustained basis, Professor N. R. Richards, head of the soils department at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, said today.

Mr. Richards told the Ontario legislature's conservation committee that the fundamental solution to soil conservation in the province "must be good farming practices."

"No farmer can be expected to be interested in soil management or conservation practices unless such measures can be used to profitable advantage."

SOIL TESTING CENTRES

He urged greater use of the soil testing service, first offered to farmers in 1936. In 1953, less than five per cent of the 110,000 commercial farmers in the province had their soils tested. Soil testing laboratories are located at Guelph, Kemptville, Ridgetown and Vineland.

Of 20,000,000 acres of land classified and mapped in the province, 40 per cent suffers from low fertility, 20 per cent needs improved drainage and 20 per cent requires measures to control erosion.

More than 400,000 tons of fertilizer, valued at more than $15,000,000 were applied to Ontario soils last year.

"However, fertilizers are not a substitute for good farming. They are a profitable supplement to good soil management."

Diabetes and TB

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Dr. A. J. Watt of Beck Memorial Sanatorium said Thursday tuberculosis curs among adults with diabetes among adults, free of diabetes. TB occurred 14 times as frequently among children with diabetes.

He said diabetics should be given regular chest checks to make sure they have not developed TB. Thirty per cent of the inpatients at Beck were diabetic.

Three "Sunday Prospectors" Stake Canada Biggest Base-Metal Find

GERALDTON, Ont. (CP)—Three Geraldton men—an auto dealer, a construction worker and a carpenter—turned "Sunday prospectors" and became millionaires with one of the biggest base-metal finds in Canadian history.

Nearly a year ago they went into the wilderness of the Lake Manitouwadge area, 55 miles southwest of Hornepayne, a divisional point on the main line of Canadian National Railways through northwestern Ontario.

The three, auto dealer Jack Forster, carpenter Roy Barker and Bill Dawidowich, a former CNR employee now a lumber-camp foreman, staked claims that made them rich and started a mining rush to rival Klondike days.

WORTH A MILLION

The cash and stock that each received from Geco mines for the claims total more than $1,000,000.

The story of Geco contains all the elements of the best mining ballads, ranging from the triumphant note of sudden wealth and the joy of a major discovery to the mournful dirge of the prospector who turned his back on a fortune without knowing it. Roy Barker tells the story:

"Bill Dawidowich and I have been Sunday prospectors for years. We used to go out week-ends and look around for something worth developing. We had seen a geologist's map of the Manitouwadge area five or six years ago. It showed sulphides and seemed worth a look, but it was too hard to get at.

"We figured it would cost at least $200 each to charter a plane from Nakina to take us in there and neither of us had that kind of money to spare, so we did nothing about it. Then last year we thought of Jack (Forster). He had a little assisted as Dawidowich and Barker property and at length they were convinced they had enough to put before some mining group.

On Aug. 16, after many discussions, a syndicate composed of General Engineering Corporation, Consolidated Howie Gold Mines and Toronto financier Harry Knight reached an agreement with the three Geraldton men and took over a portion of their claims.

The three have each received $39,000 in cash and 102,000 shares of stock currently quoted at more than $9 a share. In addition, if and when Geco reaches production, they will receive a royalty of 15 cents a ton on all ore mined from four claims. As these claims represent an area half-a-mile square, this section alone could conceivably produce millions of tons before it is mined out.

By November Geco drill cores began showing good results at depth. Another property, Lun-Echo, had promising copper indications to offer and then the rush to Manitouwadge began.

Prospectors are still pouring into the area. Every CNR train carries groups of men and supplies to Geraldton, Stevens and Caramat. From those three places by truck, helicopter and airplane they are debouching on to the much-trodden snow with dreams of wealth.

Among the happiest people in the area are the Indians who make snowshoes and the hardware stores that sell them. The gold rush of the 1930s in this same part of the country was almost exclusively a spring, summer and fall prospecting problem. Today everybody wants snowshoes.

COSTLY SNOWSHOES

The experience of Fergus Christie, a former mayor of Geraldton now a tourist camp operator and currently an avid prospector, is extreme but illustrative. After staking 36 claims for his syndicate in the Lake Manitouwadge area last week he trucked to Stevens to board a train for his home in Geraldton. A new group of prospectors was getting off the train.

As he climbed on the step, one of the new arrivals grabbed the snowshoes from under Christie's arm.

"How much?" he yelled, as the train began to move.

"Thirty bucks," said Christie.

The man ran alongside the train, peeling off three 10s from his roll, and handed them to the departing prospector.

Next day, in a hardware store at Geraldton, buying a new pair of snowshoes for $19.75, Christie said disgustedly:

"Hell, if I'd known he had a roll that size I would have said fifty."

He'd have got it just as easily.

for assay. The assays showed one to 1½ per cent copper so we went back June 22 to stake it. Then we found someone else had been there ahead of us and staked the very section from which we had taken our samples."

That was a blow for the three men but they set about prospecting in earnest. They stayed on the job until they had staked a total of 36 claims.

The discovery zone had been staked by two men, Windy Sam Petulak and Fred Bergquist, employed by Consolidated Mosher to look for nickel.

A check with the mining recorder's office revealed the Consolidated claim had not yet been recorded so the three Geraldton men decided to delay recording their own. Prospectors are allowed 30 days from the date of staking (which must be noted on the staking posts) in which to register their claims.

Then fate stepped in. Petulak and Bergquist sent samples in for assay, too. The report came back, showing not a trace of nickel. In their disappointment they overlooked the copper indication, and lost interest in the property. The 30-day deadline passed and the claims were still unrecorded.

JUMPED RIGHT IN

The Geraldton trio were watching like hawks. They flew back to Manitouwadge at once to restake the Petulak-Bergquist claims. Then they recorded the whole batch.

The action caused a slight ripple among other prospectors but no spectacular response. The area was still hard to get at and nobody in the Geraldton gold-mining camp considered the prospects for a copper mine anything better than a wild gamble.

SEEKS RICHES—One of the prospectors searching the wilderness of northwestern Ontario for minerals is Fergus Christie, former mayor of Geraldton, Ont. Christie, a tourist camp operator until three other prospectors made a strike that brought them riches, has staked 36 claims in the Manitouwadge area, where hundreds of prospectors are participating in one of the greatest mining rushes in Canada's history. —(CP Photo).

Three prospectors have made themselves rich through sale of their copper claims to a Toronto corporation. Hundreds of others have followed them into the bush in search of ore deposits that may make this wilderness area another Sudbury or Norada.—(CP Photo).

Cemetery Contains Three Canadian Plots

By JACK BRAYLEY

PUSAN, Korea (CP)—On a quiet plateau away from the bustle of this scarred refugee city is the United Nations military cemetery with its three Canadian plots.

It is skilfully cared for and beautifully landscaped behind Korean stone with a wrought-iron gate. Central plots of honor have the graves of up to 36 selected dead from the United Nations armies. The national plots are marked by the flags of each country on white poles with the blue-and-white emblem of UN in the forefront. Each grave has two markers—one being repainted for use when the other is dulled by weather.

The Christian graves are marked by crosses, Jewish graves by the star of David, Turkish by the star-and-crescent, Korean by a triangular-shaped slab. One grave of a British atheist is marked by a T-shaped wooden sign.

Representing the imperial war graves commission for the Commonwealth Division at the cemetery is Sgt. Walter W. Heindrich of Picture Butte, Alta., a member of Lord Strathcona's Horse. He looks after records and photography of all Commonwealth graves supervises care by Korean labor and makes all the arrangements for burials. He also handles correspondence from inquiring relatives.

On entering the cemetery you see a great floral design with the leters UNMC for United Nations military cemetery.

The Canadian crosses bear number, rank, unit and date of the man's death. Some crosses also bear the man's identification tags.

A beautiful little chapel is often visited by relatives and friends.

Housing Plan Given Approval

OTTAWA (CP) — The government's housing program received final parliamentary approval Thursday after an opposition senator expressed disappointment that his leader did not try to amend it.

Senator R. B. Horner (PC—Saskatchewan) said he had expected Senator John T. Haig to try to change the bill, particularly since Senator Haig criticized the bill during debate.

Senator Haig replied that he still opposes the bill for bringing the banks into mortgage lending on real estate and for attempting to do something which it won't be able to do. He said the assurances given a senate committee Wednesday on the foreclosure sections immensely improved the measure.

Solicitor - General Macdonald, government leader, said he is not entering the controversy between Senators Horner and Haig but he wants it clearly understood that the savings of Canadians loaned by the banks on mortgages will have the best possible security—the security of the Dominion of Canada.

Drew Opposes Plan Have McCarthy Speak

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition Leader Drew said Thursday the proposed address of United States Senator Joseph McCarthy in Toronto April 20 will be "unfortunate."

He asked in the Commons if the government will consider indicating to the U.S. government "how unfortunate it would be if a man with an official appointment in the United States Congress comes to Canada to discuss United States political affairs, as it is proposed Senator McCarthy will do."

Prime Minister St. Laurent replied he will bring the question to the attention of External Affairs Minister Pearson "and have the matter looked into."

May Seek Royal Assent On Some Legislation

TORONTO (CP)—Premier Frost said Thursday it was possible that royal assent will be sought for some legislation prior to prorogation of the Ontario legislature.

The premier told the house he wished to clarify his position. He did not see any legislation at present that would make it desirable to seek an early royal assent but should it be deemed advisable the move could be made.

Mr. Frost was absent from the house last Friday when acting premier Doucett said the government was not attempting to push through an amendment to the Municipal Act which would take away the right of county council to incorporate police villages as villages.

Traffic Fatalities Top Battle Deaths

MONTREAL (CP)—G. W. Gilchrist of Ottawa, managing director of the Canadian Good Roads Association, said today more Canadians have died in traffic accidents since the Second World War than were lost in all the land battles in Italy, Sicily, northwest Europe and Korea.

Addressing the annual meeting of the association, Mr. Gilchrist said highway safety is no longer a local problem but a matter of nation-wide concern.

Shamrocks Get Win Over Kingston To Open Semi-Final

The police-sponsored local Shamrocks racked up an 11-2 victory at the expense of Kingston All-Stars here last night to open their home-and-home OMHA midget "A" semi-final series before several hundred fans. Pat Doherty's team will take a nine-goal lead into the return match Saturday afternoon in Kingston.

After a fairly close first frame, the young Peterborough speedsters (who won the Ontario bantam "A" title a year ago) forged well to the front and they dominated play throughout the last two periods. It was 3-1 in the first for them and 7-2 going into the third when they fired home four more without a return. They had good goaltending from Terry Welsh, a strong defence and fast-breaking forwards who hustled both ways.

ONE FIGHT

Play was a little rugged in spots, especially toward the end. One fist fight resulted in major penalties to Sanderson and Pete Heffernan, and a couple of others threatened. The teams drew six penalties apiece.

Most of the Shamrocks' scores resulted on smart in-close combination, though they got a couple on clean breakaways and good finish to pull out Goalie O'Neil of the K's.

Starry Gary Darling rapped in three goals for the winners and aided on two more. Pat Baker, Jim McCarthy and Frank Daley tallied twice each, the latter also earning an assist. Bill Mahoney also shone with a goal and three assists. Rickie Pace got a goal, as an assist apiece went to Peter Stewart, Chris Hefferman, Ken Armstrong and Bill Forestell.

Terry Welsh ended the play with 30 per cent of the time in the second period, for it was an unprofitable 10 minutes of hockey with only one goal scored by Jerry James on a perfect setup by "Hinky" Harris.

Bobby Pulford and Reid each scored on rink-length solo efforts for Marlies in the third although the K-W side outshot the visitors 7-6.

Les Binkley handled a total of 30 shots while Johnny Albani stopped 23.

Marlies Whip Kitchener In 6-1 Triumph

KITCHENER (CP) — Toronto Marlboros clamped a stranglehold on the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A best-of-five quarter-final here Thursday night by whipping Kitchener-Waterloo Greenshirts 6-1 before 2,203 fans. They lead the series 2-0 with the third game scheduled for Toronto Saturday afternoon.

The Greenshirts, who lost the opener 4-2, were never in the game. They trailed 3-1 at the end of the first and 4-1 at the close of the second period.

Wally Maxwell and Dave Reid paced the winners with a pair of goals apiece.

HAD BROKEN TOE

Toronto controlled the play ty of Kingston had a goal and an assist each, with Ken Brooks helping on one. Teams:

Bea Ross Plays In Semi-Finals

TORONTO (CP) — Semi-finals have been reached in both the men's and ladies' singles of the Ontario Bowling Championships at the Canadian National Sportsmen's Show.

Billy Hoult of Toronto East will meet Forrest Richards of Windsor in one men's semi-final today while Jim McKenzie of Kingston tackles Stan Battersby of Hamilton in the other.

In the ladies' singles Helen Clarke of Toronto East plays Millie McCabe of Toronto West and Elsie Hodgson of Hamilton takes on Bea Ross of Peterborough. Finals in both sections will be held Saturday night.

Kingston Alcans still remained in front of the pack in the men's teams handicap event. Kitchener-Waterloo Henderson Sunrise was second and Alliston Aces from the Oakville Wing Dings, Hamilton [illegible] tied here last night in the three-team play in the Toronto-Hamilton district Mixed teams handicap event.

Report Heath With Calgary Battle Of Words Erupts

TORONTO (CP)—A report that quarter Stan Heath has signed with Calgary Stampeders for the 1954 football season blew up into a battle of words Thursday. It will be aired at the Canadian Rugby Union annual meeting here March 26-27.

The Telegram said in a sport-page story that Heath signed with the western conference club for a possible, estimated $11,000—base salary of $7,000 and $4,000 in bonuses depending on whether the Stampeders make the western playoffs. At Calgary, Stampeder manager Bob Robinett said the club sent Heath a contract but has not yet received it back.

Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four got into the act. Coach Frank Clair contended that Heath is technically the property of Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Big Four club until Hamilton first obtains waivers on him from the other Big Four clubs—Montreal, Ottawa and Toronto.

Clair said he would claim Heath when Hamilton asks for waivers.

ASK CLARAFICATION

Also in Toronto, secretary Harry McBrien of the CRU said the Big Four has requested clarification of Heath's status. He added this would be considered at the CRU annual meeting.

Heath was released by Hamilton last year after one game. His release led to a lawsuit which went to court recently but was resolved when the player accepted a cash settlement out of court estimated at $4,100 and expenses.

At Sarnia, Norm Perry, CRU president, said he didn't know Heath's status and that it probably will require a meeting of CRU officials to establish where he belongs.

Second Warning To Remove Negro Players

WINTER GARDEN, Fla. (AP)—Washington Senators baseball officials Thursday reported a second warning to remove Negro players from their farm-team training base here—and said they will do it, although city officials insist they have imposed no racial ban.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation is investigating the incident, which began when a man drove up to the camp Wednesday and was said to have told Zinn Beck, general manager of the Chattanooga Lookouts:

"Move those Negroes out by sundown and don't bring them back."

Joe Engel, assistant of the Lookouts, reported the second warning. He said an anonymous phone caller told him: "Get those Negroes out right away."

Mayor V. E. Bourland denied the city had imposed a ban.

"We leased the park to the club" the mayor said. "It's up to them whether they have Negro players there or don't. It's none of our business."

Edward J. Powers, chief of the FBI in Florida, said an inquiry was started at the request of the United States department of justice to determine if federal law was violated.

George Johnston, classy senior OLA goalie with Toronto Yorks and last year with Orillia, is going to play for Victoria Shamrocks in B.C. this summer, Bun Morganson reports. That's the team Petes beat for the Mann Cup last September. Scotty McPhail has given up his residence in Orillia to return to Mimico where he'll play this coming gutted-stick campaign. St. Kitts are after a number of former natives and others, and might well be the toughest team in the circuit in '54, though no one around the league will dare sell short the three-times Mann Cup champs from Peterborough. You know, it won't be many weeks now ere the Trailermen commence training. Spring hath come again.

Annual meeting of the Ontario Lacrosse Association will be at Toronto's Royal York Hotel April 3 at 1:45 p.m., Secretary Chuck Rowan advises. Nominations for the 1954 executive close on March 23. Ken Kingston has been the Peterborough member [illegible] OLA for several years. The local club at the annual [illegible] in the lucrative cup finals out west last fall. Petes will seek OLA support in having the ante raised from the $500 share offered to the $2,000 local claim. Fur should fly before this point is settled, as both sides to the controversy appear adamant.

* * * * * *

Some Changes Made?

A copy of proposed amendments to OLA constitution and rules has been received. Mimico is against the residence rule for senior clubs, probably still having hopes of getting Denny Peterson back from Peterborough. Parkdale asks senior clubs to pay $100 for each over-age junior or junior age player taken up, pay being to the minor system. Other financial angles will come up for votes, too. OLA wants to register clubs and players by March 1 instead of May 1. That body also proposes a fine up to $100 per club for unsportsmanlike play, conduct, etc., giving the OLA autocratic power on a wide scale as to fines. A guilty club could even be summarily expelled. A recommendation will be made to have the junior age limit 21 years. Another will be to investigate group insurance for players.

* * * * * *

Let us not rush madly into lacrosse when there's still some important hockey ahead. OHA senior "B" group finals resume at 8:30 Saturday eve in Civic Arena, meaning another jam-packed house. Petes tied Oshawa Truckmen 5-all in overtime to open the best-of-seven set in Kingston on Wednesday, so this second game in a sense is really the opener of the series. Unless it, too, ends in a draw. Don't be too surprised if that happens, as these two classy group finalists are really well-matched. But they don't play it cozy and try to settle for a draw—no, they turn it on in wide-open, pleasing fashion, and they dish up dandy positional and passing hockey. Third tilt is back in the Limestone City on Monday night.

* * * * * *

Makings Of A Champ

After several lean years, senior "B" hockey has come back with a bang in this borough. Not only did we get a fine, strong group in a long and close schedule, but the Petes have iced their best squad in a lengthy period. They got busy last summer lining up good imports to go with the pick of the Petes and the former Eagles—and look at the result. They're in the finals of the strongest group in Ontario. The winner of this set steps into provincial semi-finals, and should take it all. Kingston did last year, and they were erased a week ago by Oshawa. Yeah, these are two smart squads going all-out in a hot series which may go the limit. Looks like we'll have topnotch hockey around these parts for a few weeks yet, at least.

Pat Doherty's local Shamrocks (sponsored by the police) rolled up a nine-point lead here last eve to tote down Kingston way Saturday aft in OMHA midget "A" semi-final playoffs. They earned the 11-2 win with a smart showing before several hundred puck fans, and should romp into provincial finals without too much trouble. Their two-way hustle, good combination and finish, plus that digging in the corners and around the rival net gave the Peterborough a goodly margin on play. Gary Darling and Bill Mahoney were each in on four goals for the Shamrocks, Frank Daley, Jim McCarthy and Pat Baker also being prominent on the score-sheet. Whole crew clicked well from Goalie Terry Welsh out. The K's didn't show too much after the first frame.

West Indies Leads Test Cricket Match

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad (Reuters)—A magnificent record stand of 338 by Everton Weekes, who made a double century, and Frank Worrell (167) helped to put the West Indies in a commanding position against England on the second day of the fourth test cricket match here.

The West Indies, who lead by two victories to one in the best-of-five series, had scored 546 for five wickets at the close of play Thursday.

The England attack, depleted by the absence through injury of pace bowler Brian Statham, rarely threatened the supremacy of Weekes and Worrell. Their third wicket stand of 338, scored at a run a minute, is the highest for any West Indian wicket in a test match. Previous best, also by Weekes and Worrell against England, was 282 for the fourth wicket in the 1950 test at Nottingham.

First Round Deadlock In Miami Tourney

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Art Wall Jr., of Pocono Manor, Pa., stood out with a hot round of 62 Thursday as two teams of professionals battled to a first round deadlock in the $15,000 international four ball golf tournament.

Wall rattled the cups for eight birdies to carry himself and his Partner, Fred Haas, Jr., of New Orleans, into a tie for the lead with Julius Boros of Mid Pines, N.C., and E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of Ardmore, Okla.

The Canadian team of Rudy Horvath, Windsor, Ont., and Gerry Kesselring, Kitchener, compiled rounds of 32 and 34 for a 66.

P Of W Boy Gain School Puck Crown

Prince of Wales intermediate "A" team captured the Public School Hockey League championship in the intermediate division by defeating Confederation 3-2 in an overtime playoff.

The first period ended 1-1 with D. Drummond scoring for Prince of Wales, and Ruttan counting for Confederation. The same pair scored again in the second to leave the count 2-all. They battled right through regulation time with the count the same, until within seconds to go in overtime Burns tallied the winner for Prince of Wales.

It was a fast, clean and really close contest, marked by some outstanding netminding by Donaldson and Sutton. Teams:

Prince of Wales — Donaldson, Davies, Thompson, Currie, Hatton, Burns, Jacques, Drummond. Downer, Henderson, Todd, Andrews, Cannon.

Confederation — Sutton, Kinniburgh, Webbdale, Pulkinghorn, Ruttan, Parry, Montford, MacLellan, Passmore, Weaver.

U.S. Speed Skaters Want To Meet Reds

JAMESTOWN, N. Y. (AP)—American speed skaters served notice Thursday that they are only too willing to meet the world championship Russian team—and "on their own ice" at that.

Dick Shearman, president of the Amateur Skating Union of the United States, said he had written Russian skating team manager to explain that expenses kept the American skaters from travelling to Japan for the 1953 meet, which the Russians won.

The letter added:

"We are very anxious to skate against your athletes and on your own ice. We will do everything in our power to aid you in your quest for the next world meet."

Afton Prince Wins Double Heat Victory

TORONTO (CP)—Afton Prince, driven by Hugh McLean and owned by N. McLean of Port Elgin registered an easy double-heat victory in the class A pace, top harness attraction at Dufferin Park Thursday.

Prince Britton, owned and handled by Alcides Griese of St. Bruno Que., and Glocca Morra, owned by Parker Locke of Morrisburg and piloted by John Zeron, each accounted for a heat in the class BB trot, the secondary offering.

Bill Durnan of Montreal Canadiens won the Vezina trophy nine years ago today as the National Hockey League goalie whose team had the fewest goals scored against it. That was the second of four straight Vezina awards for Durnan. Toronto's Walter Broda took it in 1948, but Durnan came back to win again the next two seasons.

Hergesheimer Chosen Rangers' Best Player

NEW YORK (AP)—Wally Hergesheimer, leading goal scorer of New York Rangers for three straight seasons, Thursday was chosen as the team's most valuable player by the New York Hockey Writers Association.

The 27-year-old Winnipeg right winger will be released from St. Claire's hospital Saturday so that he can receive the west side association's trophy before the Rangers seasonal windup against Montreal at the Garden Sunday night.

Bruins, Red Wings Fight To 3-3 Tie As Detroit Slumps

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Labine . . . Godfrey . . . Martin. Three distinguished names in Boston Bruins' Stanley Cup assault and ones Terry Sawchuk would rather forget. Those three Bruin players scored Thursday night as the Bruins and the league-leading Detroit Red Wings fought to a 3-3 National Hockey League tie. They shoved Terrible Terry behind the eight ball in his race for the Vezina trophy and hockey's prized goal-keeping award.

Sawchuk, winner of the Vezina for the last two seasons, was only two goals behind Harry Lumley of Toronto Maple Leafs before the game. Leo Labine made it three, Frank Martin four and Warren Godfrey five.

Sawchuk was the only fellow that had anything at stake and he was put in a tough spot. There are only two games left for each club in the regular 70-game schedule. Sawchuk and Lumley face each other at Detroit Sunday night.

The Red Wings, in a slump for the last week, had to come from behind to gain the tie at Detroit Olympia. It was too late as far as Sawchuk was concerned.

FIRST-PERIOD LEAD

It was the only game of the night and Gordie Howe sent the Wings into a lead in the first period before the fourth-place Bruins took over. Other Detroit scorers on netminder Sugar Jim Henry were Bill Dineen and Ted Lindsay.

Sawchuk has been scored on 125 times and is having the toughest Vezina race of his [illegible] in the big-league.

Sawchuk has had troubles with other players besides Labine, Godfrey and Martin. He has been scored on 14 times in the last four games, as compared to six goals against Lumley.

Sawchuk picked up one of the game's oddities Thursday night. He got an assist when he stopped a Boston shot and deflected the puck to Howe, who went in alone on Henry for the first Detroit goal. The last time a goalie was given an assist was in the 1950-51 season when Bill Durnan of Montreal Canadiens turned the trick.

Only one game is scheduled for tonight. The Bruins take on the last-place Black Hawks at Chicago.

Owen Sound Mercurys Humble Indians By 8-4

OWEN SOUND (CP) — Buck Forslund, 25-year-old, 160-pound leftwinger, scored four goals Thursday night to lead Owen Sound Mercurys to an 8-4 victory over Stratford Indians. The victory gave the Mercurys a 1-0 lead in the best-of-seven Ontario Hockey Association Senior A finals.

The Indians, who have breezed through two rounds of playoffs this season over favored opponents, might have pulled another surprise Thursday night. Their biggest en[illegible] crowd of 2,200 fans saw the Mercurys score five goals while the Indians were short-handed.

Stratford, who defeated the Mercurys for the league championship in the 1951-52 series, took a 3-1 lead in the first period. Mercurys scored three goals while the Indians were short-handed in the second period for a 4-3 lead and took advantage of another penalty in the last stanza for another two goals. In addition the Mercurys scored one goal while they were one man short themselves.

19 PENALTIES

Forslund, just back from an attack of influenza, scored the first four Owen Sound goals to give the Mercurys a lead they never relinquished. Jerry Reid, Herb Carnegie, Doug Gillespie and Jaydee McArthur followed up with singles. Lou Bendo, Mike Delich, George Aitken and Dinny Flanagan tallied for the Indians.

The Indians were tagged with 10 of the 19 minor penalties handed out. Bill McComb served five of Owen Sound's nine. Aitken took four of Stratford's total.

The Mercurys, in the league final for the fourth consecutive year, play the Indians in the second game at Stratford Saturday.

4th Concession Edges Liners, Ends Win Streak

MILLBROOK —(ENS) — The lengthy winning string of the high riding Mt. Pleasant Mountaineers was finally snapped by the Liners in Wednesday evening's 5-2 struggle in Millbrook. The talented crew from the Fourth Concession demonstrated that they have again been smitten by trophy fever—an annual occurence for some years past. Although the score might easily have been much closer they did demonstrate a superiority in the evening's play.

The heat was on early. While the soft ice didn't appear to slow the action it did contribute to bouncy, rolling pucks and most of the early shots on goal were handled as routine procedure by the custodians. At the 13.00 minute mark in the first period Earl Hutchison, in attempting to clear from behind his own net, laid a perfect pass on Gary Carr's stick. The 'Comet', who was parked on Hubbeard's doorstep, didn't look the gift horse in the mouth but promptly blasted it past a somewhat confused goalie. Two minutes later McDowell tore in fast and although he was spilled at the defender's blue line managed to get his pass over to Walling who finished the job in his own breezy fashion.

Don Friar, a flying featherweight, set up Thompson with a neat passout for the Liners' second marker. Ken Bryan was upset when in close but got a shot and a rebound away while on his knees but the prayerful attitude didn't pay off.

Late in the period Jamieson drew a penalty and was hardly seated on the penitent's perch before Thompson and Friar picked up their second tally. The pace was sizzling in the second and referees McIntosh and [illegible] to have them off in order to maintain the cold war status. McDowell clicked on Allan Hutchison's pass and later Agnew, McDowell and Walling with Lady Luck also drawing an assist wound up the Liners' scoring for the evening.

The Mountaineers fought back gamely in the third and at times had the Liners bottled up in their own zone but Hubbeard wasn't giving anything away and the sole goal, a D. Crawford-Armstrong effort, was well earned.

Ten minor penalties were handed out in this excellently refereed contest with the victors drawing four to the losers six. Unless there is an early and decided change in the weather it will be necessary to move the remaining games in this three out of five series to a centre with artificial ice.

Fourth Line—Hubbeard, Fallis, Thompson, Agnew, E. Hutchison, A. Hutchison, Walling, Friar, Olan and McDowell.

Mt. Pleasant — B. Evans, J. Evans, Fisher, Armstrong, Carr, A. Ruth, B. Ruth, Fox, Parker, Jamieson, J. Bryan, K. Bryan and Crawford.

Referee—Perry McIntosh, Sixty Coombes, Lindsay.

HE'S NO FAKE — Furman's Frank Selvy, NEA All-America and an all-time point machine, fakes Wofford's Dennis Mathis into pretzel-shape as he sails up for another two points.

Russian Press Crowing Over Canadian Hockey Loss

By BILL BOSS

MOSCOW (CP) — The Soviet press is crowing over Russia's best-yet sports achievement in 1954 —capture of the world amateur hockey championship.

It takes special pride in defeating Canada.

The Soviet victory in Canadian-style hockey (with puck) occurred in Sweden. The 7-2 score even surprised Russian fans.

Russian hockey, called "bandy," is played with a rubber ball, curved sticks resembling those used in field hockey, and with 11 from each team on the ice at a time.

An article in Soviet Sport said the victory was the more significant since the Canadians were defeated in their own national game, introduced here only seven years ago.

The article also said Canadian "rudeness" didn't get the defeated team anywhere.

CAN'T STAND TEMPO

Of the greatest importance is the victory over the Canadians, who won the world title 14 times and to whom hockey is the national sport.

"The Soviet team decided to exploit all the Canadians' weaknesses and to create on the ice situations which the Canadians were not used to.

"Canadians cannot stand a high tempo of play.

"Therefore, the Soviet team decided to play at very high speeds and use very accurate passes to throw the Canadians off balance.

"The surprised Canadians could not repel the Soviet hockeyists' attacks. Canadian defence, too, is not very well played. They just knock the puck anywhere. . . .

"The Canadian defencemen often rudely met Soviet wings and pushed them onto the boards. But this rudeness did not help them."

May Strike

NEWMARKET (CP) — Employees of one of Canada's largest calf leather-tanning companies Thursday night voted to strike if the company fails to negotiate a contract under recent recommendations of a conciliation board. Davis Leather Company in this town 25 miles north of Toronto has about 100 employees, members of the United Packing House Workers of America (CIO-CCL).

Questions Names On Petition For Gas Station

"You're not suggesting that some of these signatures might be forgeries are you?," queried J. Arthur Fair, QC, of planning board member, Mrs. W. H. Morton on Thursday night, when the board considered an application from John Conlin to erect a service station in Parkhill Road, on the property just east of Donegal St.

Conlin submitted a list of signatures of Parkhill residents agreeing to his proposal. Included in the list was one signature opposing the proposal.

Mrs. Morton had intimated to the meeting that someone, (she mentioned two women), had told her that they had signed against the proposal, but that on the document their signatures showed agreement.

Mr. Conlin said he had personally taken the petition round the residents. Two had not signed because they were neither for nor against. One had signed against. All the rest had signed for.

Mayor Norman Graham rose to the defense of Conlin, who he said was a police constable with the city force and a man sworn to his oath.

"I don't want to be biased towards Conlin in any way, but I would not like to think of him being mixed up in anything suggestive of forgery."

He also mentioned that the petition had been witnessed before a justice of peace.

Board chairman Hubert Sills threw a metephorical spanner in the works by stating that area in which Conlin proposed to build was marked as residential on the official registered plan.

"We would have to ask the city council to propose an amendment [illegible]," he said. "This board is tied to the regulations of the plan."

Mr. Conlin cited one or two instances where commercial enterprises, such as his proposal, had been built in residential areas. The chairman agreed that exceptions had been made in the past.

Mr. Fair: "I don't know that I have ever heard of any official city plan."

The chairman replied by extracting a plan from the pile of documents before him, and showing it to Mr. Fair.

After a quick perusal Mr. Fair said: "Evidently there is an official registered city plan. It seems, then, that there is nothing we can do about it until it is amended."

"However, perhaps the board would recommend this application to be accepted an dan amendment made."

Chairman Sills: "I think we would like to think that over."

Messrs. Fair and Conlin retired.

The board also considered applications from M. K. Reid for permission to erect a service station on the north-west corner of Park and Chamberlain streets and from W. T. McKillop, representing Twin-Kist ice cream co., to build an ice cream store at the corner of McKellar and Monaghan Rd.

These two applications, along with Conlin's, were turned down by the board, because they conflicted with the plan. The applicants wanted to erect commercial buildings in residential areas.

Chairman Sills added, however, that the applicants would be informed that there was under consideration a general investigation of land use in those areas, with a view to revision.

Manager Of Nepheline Talks To Farm Forum

KEENE (ENS)—The Drummond Line Farm Forum met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Keith McIntyre Monday evening with 20 members and guests present. The subject for the evening was "From Under the Earth." Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Spurway, Peterborough,, and Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Deeth, Lakefield, were present. Mr. Spurway introduced Mr. Deeth, manager of the Neptheline Mines. The latter led in the discussion and answered various questions relating to mining and relative subjects.

Plans are under way to attend the closng meeting of Farm Frums at the Normal School on March 22. The group also made plans for their annual oyster supper to be held March 29. Lunch was served by the ladies.

Toronto Car Damaged

A Toronto car received about $250 damage, Thursday morning, when in collision with a car driven by Robert Lawes, 44, of 109 Alymer St. Clarence Lavack, 42, of 1523 Lawrence Ave., North York was travelling west on Townsend St., and the Lawes' car north on Alymer St. The right rear fender and under skirting was damaged on the Peterborough car.

PC Victor McConnell investigated. A minor accident occurred Thursday, at the Simcoe—George St. intersection involving a York Trading truck driven by Kenneth Metcalf, 31, of RR 7, Peterborough and a car driven by Andrew Cadigan, 32, of 649 George St. Damage to the truck was estimated at $35 and to the car about $15. PC Don Erskine investigated.

Juvenile Hockey

STIRLING (ENS) — Stirling juvenile hockey team will meet Kincardine in the OMHA juvenile "C" finals. The first game of the home and home games will be played in Kincardine on Saturday and the second game in Belleville arena a week from Saturday night.

WILL INVESTIGATE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Attorney General Brownell said Thursday he is having the Federal Bureau of Investigation look into reports that city officials at Winter Garden, Fla., Wednesday ordered seven Cuban Negro baseball players out of town.

The group is training in Florida with the farm system of the Washington Nationals of the American League.

In a last-minute revision of an address before the sixth annual conference on civil liberties here, Brownell quoted a story appearing in Washington newspapers headed "Town evicts seven Negro Nat players." He noted that city officials at Winter Garden were reported to have told the seven Negroes to "get out of town by sundown."

"The story implies a possible violation of civil rights," he said. "Now, we don't know whether federal law actually was violated. But the FBI has started a preliminary investigation so that the criminal division of the department may determine if a full investigation should be ordered."

WITH CANADA

MONTREAL (CP) — Bobby Locke, internationally famous golfer, has accepted an invitation to play as a member of the Canadian team in the third annual Hopkins Trophy matches, it was announced Thursday.

The matches are between teams representing the Canadian Professional Golfers Association and the PGA of the United States. The two previous matches, with Locke playing on the Canadian team, were held at the Montreal Beaconsfield course and won by the American pros.

The tournament this year will be held June 10-12 at the Toronto Mississauga Club. It is a 72-hole match play event between six-man teams.

Jimmy Murrell, 1953 CPGA champion from Edmonton, has been named a member of the Canadian team. Five more members will be named later.

✦ ✦ ✦

BIG LITTLE MAN

TORONTO (CP)—Charlie Snelling, 16-year-old Toronto student who figure-skates at least four hours a day the year round, could be a big man for Canada in the 1956 Olympics, his coach says.

Charlie, who weighs only 130 pounds, won the Canadian senior men's championship in Calgary last week-end. His coach, Marcus Nikkanen who was Finnish figure-skating champion for 10 years, says he's "the most talented pupil I ever had."

Charlie was Canadian junior champion in 1951. At the recent world championships at Oslo, marking his first trip abroad, he placed seventh.

KEEP PLANTE

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League dismissed plans to send substitute goalie Jacques Plante back to Buffalo Thursday when Gerry McNeil, the regular netminder, was cut on the forehead during a workout.

McNeil needed four stitches to close the wound but returned to action after medical attention. He has been out of action for a month with an ankle injury.

The Canadiens had planned to send Plante back to Buffalo for the American League playoffs. playoffs. Now, he is expected to play the last two games of the NHL schedule with the team.

Graduation Day To Be June 23

Graduation exercises for Peterborough Civic Hospital nurses will likely be held on June 23, if a suitable site is available. This was a recommendation of Dr. G. S. Cameron's student school of nursing committee, confirmed at a meeting of the Board of Governors Thursday.

Last day of classes for the girls is June 23. Miss Evelyn M. Robson, director of nursing, will act with superintendent John Hornal to arrange the graduation as near as possible to this date.

Major difficulty before the committee is a site for the graduation exercises. The Peterborough Summer Theatre has booked the PCVS for the week of June 21, and it is not known what accommodations are available elsewhere.

Miss Robson reported to the committee that three students from the school of teaching and supervision at the University of Western Ontario will be here [illegible] April 20 to May 18. Three other students, in teaching and supervision, and in administration will be here from the University of Toronto in May.

7 Planes Take Off To Press Search

EDMONTON (CP) — Seven planes took off during a light snowstorm early today to begin the second day of a search for a two-engined RCAF expeditor aircraft missing with three men aboard in Alberta's timber-studded Peace river block.

The plane disappeared on a 340-mile flight from Edmonton to Fort St. John, B.C.

The RCAF identified the two passengers aboard as Flt. Lt. V. C. Dillabaugh of Ottawa, and Flt. Lt. R. C. Seale of Vancouver. Name of the pilot was not known.

ROYAL DRUMS—Leslie Joynes of Farnham, England, holds a military drum he has just finished making. It is the last of nine made for the Fourth Battalion of the King's African Rifles. Queen Elizabeth will present them to the battalion at Zinza, Uganda, next month. They are valued at $1,100 each.

Mining Industry Sets Record

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario's mining industry reached record levels in 1953, the department of mines preliminary report shows.

Total production was valued at $460,476,118, the highest in the province's history and well above 1952's $444,669,412. Prospectors staked 29,019 claims; the previous record was 23,763 in 1946.

One of the department's biggest recent projects, construction of mining access roads, is now in full swing and almost 200 miles were completed or under construction at the year's end.

The report cited development of several resources as follows:

Gold—The "one dark spot in an otherwise extremely bright mining picture" as construction and mining costs continue to mount although the price of monetary gold remains fixed by international agreement.

Natural Gas Reserves—At their highest point in Ontario. Drilling in the last two or three years has more than quadrupled Ontario's known reserves.

Iron—Assuming an increasingly important role in the mining industry with eastern Ontario ore attracting attention after 150 years of disuse.

No Definite Plans For Marriage–Actor

PANAMA (AP) — Actor Fred MacMurray said Thursday night he and screen star June Haver will leave by plane for Hollywood Sunday but added they have no definite plans for marriage.

MacMurray said a statement attributed to actress Joan Fontaine that he and Miss Haver 27, planned to fly to Kingston, Jamaica, for an immediate wedding [illegible] Fontaine's

HOW TO KEEP TIRES SAFER--LONGER

Keep air pressure equal in all tires, especially for winter driving!

Be sure air pressure is correct for your car.

- Rotate all tires, including spare, at least every 5,000 miles. Rotating tires gives longer life, greater safety, smoother riding.
- Be sure wheels are properly balanced and aligned to avoid flat spots caused by excessive wear and continuous "scuffing".
- Avoid quick starts, sudden stops, and sharp turns—causes of unnecessary and dangerous tire wear.

Proper rotation adds 20% to tire life!

Power Packed OHV* engine

*overhead valve

The new overhead valve high compression engine that powers the Morris Minor gives greater all-'round performance and smooth power-packed driving on low octane gas without increasing gasoline consumption or the price of the car. This Morris OHV engine is manufactured on the same principle as those found under the hoods of nearly every racing car in the world. The advanced design means extra power for faster pickup—easy hill climbing—high speed cruising—and a reserve of passing power when you need it.

Your local dealer invites you to drive a Morris . . . you be the judge.

Poor Beginning Seen For Season Of Navigation

MONTREAL (CP) — A spokesman for the Great Lakes shipping industry said the "worst beginning" in Great Lakes navigation in 15 years is likely.

He predicted that two weeks after opening of navigation half the bulk carriers will be idle. The Great Lakes fleets, including tankers, total around 225.

The spokesman said 12 grain-laden ships wintered in Montreal. Harbor authorities have said they will be discharged by the start of the season. But there are 30 other ships reported between Montreal and Kingston, all earmarked for Montreal with their loads of grain and for which there is no space here.

CANALS DRAINED

Shipping companies have been advised that the St. Lawrence canals—Lachine, Soulanges, Cornwall, Morrisburg and Cardinal—will be drained this week-end and kept closed 30 days for repairs and cleaning. Last year the canals opened April 8 and grain ships moved down through the lakes to this port.

Ship owners have indicated they are little concerned about the late opening of canals in view of the current situation. They also foresee unemployment among lake seamen.

Food Caused Death

TORONTO (CP)—A small quantity of porridge lodged in her wind pipe killed [illegible] as she was on her way to school, a medical examiner said Thursday. She collapsed on the sidewalk and died en route to hospital. Dr. Wilfred Christie, who performed an autopsy, said there was nothing her parents could have done to prevent the accident.

PREPARING BOOK — Adrian Liddell Hart, 31, son of the famed British military writer, B. H. Liddell Hart, has just completed three months as a laborer at the Kitimat, B.C., aluminum project to gather material for a book on Canada's industrial boom. The Cambridge-educated author and adventurer will work in Alberta's oil fields, Saskatchewan's uranium country and Quebec's Ungava development before starting his book for a London publisher.—(CP Photo).

DO YOU KNOW ME?—Chicago cab driver Harry Fink, right, greets six-day-old Juanita Jean for the second time as her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Russell, bring their baby daughter home from Lewis Memorial Maternity Hospital. Name W. H. Collings To Replace MacOdrum

TORONTO (CP)—W. H. Collings (PC—Toronto Beaches) Thursday was named chairman of the select committee on re-distribution of the Ontario legislature.

Mr. Collings replaces the late C. G. MacOdrum (PC—Leeds) who died suddenly Monday. Mr. MacOdrum was named chairman of the committee the week previous and the group was scheduled to hold its first meeting Wednesday.

In proposing Mr. Collings' name in the house, Premier Frost did not indicate when the committee would meet.

Frost Pays Tribute To J. D. Nault

TORONTO (CP)—Premier Frost Thursday paid tribute to J. D. Nault (PC—Russell) who died suddenly in Ottawa, as a man of "exemplary character" who left behind him a "great record" of public service.

"Representing the fine French-Canadian folk who sent him to this legislature, their culture and their ideals—he did so in a manner which won for him, and for them, the respect of all members of the house," the premier said at the opening of the legislature.

Found Job

STRATFORD (CP) — A youth who appeared in court Thursday was found a job by police and told to keep out of the company of his step-father. Leonard Sullivan, 17, of St. Pauls, was given a two-year suspended sentence on charges of stealing chain saws. His step-father, George Leversage, was granted an adjournment until March 25 on a charge of theft of a chain saw.

French Show Off Atomic Plant

LE CHRIST DU SACLAY, France (AP)—The French showed off their newest atomic plant Thursday but said it was aimed at scientific and industrial uses—not bombs.

The plant is small by comparison with British, American or Canadian projects. There is an atomic pile with a core of uranium weighing three tons. That is about equal to one-fifth of a cubic yard, one of the experts explained.

Also there is an atom-smashing cyclotron, a small one about two yards in diameter compared with the 135-foot job recently installed at the University of California.

Pierre July, secretary of state for atomic energy, told a group of correspondents that France is today having atomic energy available for industry.

"We are not doing anything here that was not known long ago to atomic scientists," one spokesman said.

Cut 7,066 Children Off Family Payments

OTTAWA (CP)—The government cut off family allowance payments for 7,066 children in the 10 months from last April 1 because they were not attending school. Payments were resumed in 4,538 cases where the child resumed attendance.

The figures were contained in a government reply tabled in the Commons for James E. Brown (L—Brantford). Family allowances are paid for children up to the age of 16.

Trade Unions Told To Clean House By MP

TORONTO (CP)—The Rev. D. M. Kerr, Progressive Conservative member of the Ontario legislature for Toronto Dovercourt, Thursday likened some members of trade unions to the cuckoo bird.

"In the old country we have a bird called the cuckoo. He flies from one nest to another and is finally pushed out by the other birds. It's time the trade unions cleaned out their nests of the parasites. . . the paid employees whose only jobs are as agitators such as in the strikes in northern Ontario," he said in the legislature.

ASK REFERENCE DROPPED

J. B. Salsberg (Lab-Prog—Toronto St. Andrew) jumped to his feet in protest and asked that Mr. Kerr's reference to trade unionists as "parasites" be withdrawn.

"I am willing to withdraw the remarks," replied Mr. Kerr, "but I am reminded of the story of the Irishman who was hauled into court for insulting his neighbor. He asked the judge if there was any fine for thinking. When the judge said 'no' he replied: 'Well I still think it.'"

Mr. Salsberg called out: "Let's hope his thinking improves."

Accident Rate Up

TORONTO (CP)—More commercial drivers, factory and yard workers in Ontario were killed or injured during 1953 than in any year previously. A report of the workmen's compensation board to the annual meeting Thursday of class 20 of the Accident Prevention Association showed 16 deaths, six more than in 1952. In all there were 8,143 accidents. The report showed $1,253,536 awarded in compensation, $107,584 more than in the previous year.

Nova Scotians Drink 10 Gals. Beer Person

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The "kick" of a bottle of beer got a little booting around in the Nova Scotia legislature Thursday. Nova Scotians were told they drank 10 gallons of beer last year for every man, woman and child in the province.

J. J. McNicol, deputy chief commissioner of the provincial liquor commission, said the strongest beer handled is made in Halifax and is 10.36 proof. The lowest, also brewed in Halifax, is 8.13 proof.

Mr. McNicol told the Liberal government's public accounts committee that the strong Halifax brew is stronger than a popular "strong" ale imported from Scotland which is 9.61 proof.

Harley Spence, Progressive Conservative for Lunenburg, disagreed.

"There's an awful big difference in the kick of it. There's no comparison if you'll try it."

Said Education Minister Henry Hicks: "I don't drink beer."

WHEAT REPORT

At Winnipeg, the Liberal-Progressive administration of D. L. Campbell and the Progressive Conservative Opposition were given figures by a Winnipeg statistician on forthcoming wheat deliveries.

Gurney Evans, Progressive Conservative for Winipeg South said figures indicate a maximum of 263,000,000 bushels of wheat may be delivered to western Canada elevators in the last six months of the current crop year ending July 31. The figures also indicated 186,000,000 as a minimum.

A motion of non-confidence in the Manitoba government, charging it had failed to promote the general welfare of the people by an adequate agricultural development program, was defeated 34 to 20.

The Saskatchewan legislature approved 35 to 6 a resolution that amendments to the Criminal Code now before Parliament give adequate recognition to the rights of labor.

Presenting the 1954 CADILLAC

A General Motors Value

Styled to be Copied for Years to Come...

...and as Thrilling to Drive as to See!

The new "Standard of the World" is now on display in our showroom. It is not just a new model, but a wholly restyled and re-engineered Cadillac—new from its more massive grille to its more distinctive rear deck.

It is lower and longer in silhouette . . . more modern and graceful in its body lines . . . and with greater majesty and dignity in every detail. Beyond question, it is destined to influence the design of motor cars for years to come.

Matching this new exterior beauty, and adding their own full measure of glamour and graciousness to the car, are Cadillac's luxurious new interiors—more generously proportioned and more beautifully appointed than ever before . . . and executed in a dazzling array of gorgeous new fabrics and leathers.

And, what is even more remarkable, this wonderful new Cadillac is as thrilling to drive as it is to see!

Its advancements in performance are legion . . . and encompass virtually every phase of motor car operation.

A great new 230-horsepower engine has added new power and responsiveness. A vastly improved Hydra-Matic Drive provides even greater smoothness and flexibility. Advanced Cadillac Power Steering, now standard equipment on every model, brings with it a whole new concept of steering and handling ease. And new Cadillac Power Braking* has introduced wonderful new motoring safety and conveniences.

This greater Cadillac beauty—and this finer Cadillac performance—are available for 1954 in three series of motor cars . . . the remarkable Series 62, the distinguished Fleetwood Series 60 Special and the magnificent Fleetwood Series 75. And, of course, there is the beautiful Eldorado.

The inspiring Cadillac is in our showroom now—awaiting your critical inspection. We cordially invite you to see and drive Cadillac at your earliest opportunity.

You will find dramatic proof that—once again—Cadillac has provided the standard by which the world's motor cars must be judged.

*Optional at extra cost.

Crippled By Polio In Youth Lawyer Ignores Handicap

TORONTO (CP) — Crippled by polio in his youth, George Ferguson, 30-year-old Toronto lawyer has treated his handicap as a challenge rather than a drawback.

The young Montreal-born barrister has not only built up a successful law practice here but has found time to serve as a member of the Ontario labor relations board and as president of the Society for Crippled Civilians. He is also active in the Candian Progressive Conservative Association.

One of his most recent enterprises is the $10,000,000 housing project at Brooklin, near Oshawa, which Mr. Ferguson will head with a Toronto engineer. Work on the 600-home development, backed by a group of Canadian and American business men, will start this June.

CLOSER TO HEART

Closer to Mr. Ferguson's heart is the work of the Society for Crippled Civilians. "We feel it is of the greatest importance that industry should accept the fact that crippled persons can do good work and be useful citizens," he said.

He added that the society employed 175 disabled persons last year but had to turn away 300 others who applied for training. A $750,000 building to accommodate the ever-increasing number of trainees is planned.

George Ferguson was stricken himself with polio at the age of 14, just when he was beginning to show promise of becoming a star skater and rugby player in Toronto schools where he was educated.

Despite his handicap, he worked his way through Osgoode Hall and qualified as a lawyer in 1948.

Civic Receives 29% Revenue From Blue Cross

The Peterborough Civic Hospital received $203,900 in Blue Cross payments in 1953, nearly 29 per cent of the hospital's net earned revenue, superintendent John Hornal reported to the Board of Governors Thursday.

A letter from D. W. Ogilvie, director of the Ontario Blue Cross, showed that the organization had had its most productive year since 1948. An addition of 175,000 new members, largest increase since 1948, brought the total number of Blue Cross subscribers to 1,825,000.

Over half of the Civic's revenue comes from Blue Cross and from other organizations performing similar functions.

An all-time intensity record was set at the Peterborough Civic Hospital in February as a daily average of 215.68 patients were treated. This was 16 patients over the daily average for January, and four over the previous high total last February.

A total of 261 operations were performed during February. This was a slight drop from the previous month, largely because of a decrease in the number of fracture cases.

MORE PATIENTS

The number of patients treated was up three to 713 from January. This includes 213 in hospital at the beginning of the month, 398 admitted during the month, 75 live births and 27 communicable disease patients.

A total of 514 patients were discharged during the month, according to a report from Dr. J. R. E. Morgan of the Medical and [illegible] these 292 were classed as recovered, 193 were improved, five were transferred, five unimproved and two in for diagnosis only. There were 17 deaths.

X-ray examinations and treatments numbered 843 during the month, including 33 pre-employment chest X-rays. There were 929 physiotherapy treatments and 3,103 laboratory examinations.

The nursing service provided a total of 23,514 hours of bedside nursing during the month. This works out to 839.79 nursing hours per day or an average of 3.89 hours per patient per day. Special nurses were responsible for about ten per cent of this total.

Collect $25 'Licence' In Highway Deaths

TORONTO (CP) — CCF house leader W. J. Grummett said Thursday fining drivers as little as $25 on minor charges arising from fatal accidents "isn't doing more than collecting a $25 licence for anyone who kills someone on the highway."

Mr. Grummett, a coroner for 33 years, told the Ontario legislature that fines or short jail terms in such cases should be supplanted by suspension of driving privileges for up to three years.

Season Opened

SARNIA (CP) — The United States cement carrier S. T. Crapo passed Sarnia Thursday on its trip from Detroit to Alpena, Mich., becoming the first lake vessel of the year to navigate the St. Clair river into Lake Huron. It was the fifth time in six years the Huron Transportation Company vessel has been first to open the lake navigation season in this area.

Newfoundland Beaches Now Littered With Dying, Shark-Like Dogfish

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — The shark-like dogfish, described by fishermen as the devil in disguise, is dying on the beaches of Newfoundland. Fisheries officials are not sure why.

Dog fish, like all members of the shark family, usually head for the warm ocean depths during winter months, but this year beaches of the northeast coast are covered with thousands of the leathery-skinned fish.

Fishermen, who say the only kind of dogfish they like is a dead one, are enjoying the scene. They admit, however, that a good thing can be carried too far.

SEVERAL REASONS

Several reasons have been given for the unexpected appearance of dogfish. The most common seems to be that the fish, finding themselves in cold water, head for shore and surface water, which though warmer than further off shore, is not as warm as certain ocean depths. The fish either get caught in too shallow water or perish and drift ashore. The early appearance of ice along the northeast coast is also thought to be a factor. The matter is still under study.

Dogfish meat and liver oil are processed on the Pacific coast. Here, however, although the meat is edible, no use is made of the fish apart from the few that are fed to dogs.

Oil processing was tried in Newfoundland many years ago, but was given up as unprofitable.

The dogfish, about 18 inches long is hard on nets. The rough scaleless back with a spike projecting from a top fin rips nets to shreds. The fish also eat fish already in the nets.

Horses Die

COOKSVILLE (CP) — Three horses, owned by Clerk Douglas Rowbottom of Toronto township, were killed Thursday when a barn was destroyed by fire. Mr. Rowbottom suffered face and hand burns while trying to save the animals. Cooksville is about 12 miles northwest of Toronto.

Beef Trading Depressed At Stockyards

Steers and heifers were 50 cents lower than last week's mid-market and about steady with its close. Calves lost $2 while hogs were 25 cents higher.

A light cattle run of 5,784 included some brandable steers: Choice light and weight steers $18-18.25, a few tops $18.50; good steers $17.18; mediums downward to $15.50. Good heifers $14-15.50; few tops $16; mediums downward to $14; plain as low as $10. Good cows $11-12, few $12.50; some heifery cows $14. Good heavy bulls $12-13.50; plain downward to $10.

ODD MAN IN—The "white sheep" of these seven boxer pups in Aberdeen, Scotland, doesn't intend to be an odd-man-out at feeding time. He joins the chow line lapping up a saucer of milk just like the other pups.

Choice fed yearlings $18-19; mediums $15.50-17; good light stockers $16-17; plain $14.

Calves totalled 1,129 head. Choice vealers $25-27; few tops $28. Common to medium $10-24.

Hogs were 2,951 head. Grade A made $34.75 with a few at $35.25; sows $26; stags $18.

Sheep and lambs totalled 250 head with medium to good lambs bringing $21-22; common lambs $12. Common to medium sheep $4-7; few good light sheep $8-10.

Can Refuse Appoint Board

TORONTO (CP) — Legislation giving the minister of labor power to refuse to appoint a conciliation board in labor disputes was introduced in the Ontario legislature Thursday.

In introducing the amendment to the Labor Relations Act, Labor Minister Daley said it was "quite a step."

Under present legislation appointment of a board and its report are necessary before a strike can be called.

The legislation would also lower from 50 to 35 days the time in which a union or an employer can apply for conciliation after bargaining starts. Bargaining must commence in 15 days instead of 20.

Another provision would allow the board to order a vote of the employees if there is a dispute on who should be in a bargaining unit.

Pay 50 P.C. Cost More For Hospital Indigents

TORONTO (CP)—Municipalities will pay 50 per cent more for hospital treatment of indigents under new legislation introduced in the Ontario legislature Thursday.

Health Minister Phillips, who presented the amendment to the Public Hospitals Act, explained outside the house that the increases will make the handling of the indigent problem more "equitable" and will lessen the "penalty" some cities pay because of their fine hospital facilities.

The increase for the 13 grade A hospitals in the province will be $2 per indigent patient day—from $4 to $6.

Other schedules: Grade B (more than 100 beds but not "teaching" hospitals) from $3.50 to $5.25; grades C and D (100 and fewer beds) $3 to $4.50; grades E, F and G (convalescent hospitals) $2.50 to $2.75.

Won't Boost Pensions Of CNR Employees

OTTAWA (CP)—The government does not plan to boost the pensions of retired CNR employees, Transport Minister Chevrier told the Commons Thursday.

"The government feels it should not take action at this time," he said, in reply to opposition criticism of the pension plan of the government-owned line.

Mr. Chevrier said the CNR does not feel it should increase its free $25-a-month pension. Employees had been able to increase that amount under an annuity-purchase plan and CNR pensioners now were in a better position than those of many other railways and private industries.

CNR Records Profit During 1953

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's government-owned railway system, aided by a cut in its debt, accumulated a small profit in 1953 for the second year in a row.

Transport Minister Chevrier announced Thursday the CNR made a profit of about $244,000 and expects another good year in 1954.

He told the Commons he expects the CNR's budget this year will be "an optimistic one." The system, largest on the continent, expected its volume of business will be "not much more than one per cent less than last year."

The 1953 surplus follows a $143,327 profit in 1952. The two profits were made possible largely by Parliament's action two years ago in slicing the heavy load of debt owed the government. The CNR had six successive deficits following the war, with a $15,000,000 deficit in 1951.

Mr. Chevrier gave no further details on the CNR's financial position for 1953 and said he expects to give the House the company's annual report Monday.

TO REVIEW RAILWAYS

Mr. Chevrier spoke on a resolution, approved by the House, to set up the sessional committee that reviews operations of government-owned railways, shipping, air services and telegraphs.

J. M. Macdonnell, Progressive Conservative financial critic, expressed surprise at the optimistic forecast for 1954.

"I had felt that the railways, like many people, were perhaps having a rather difficult time," he said. "Carloadings do not show a very glowing picture at the moment."

[illegible] layoffs has not been nearly as serious as some members believed.

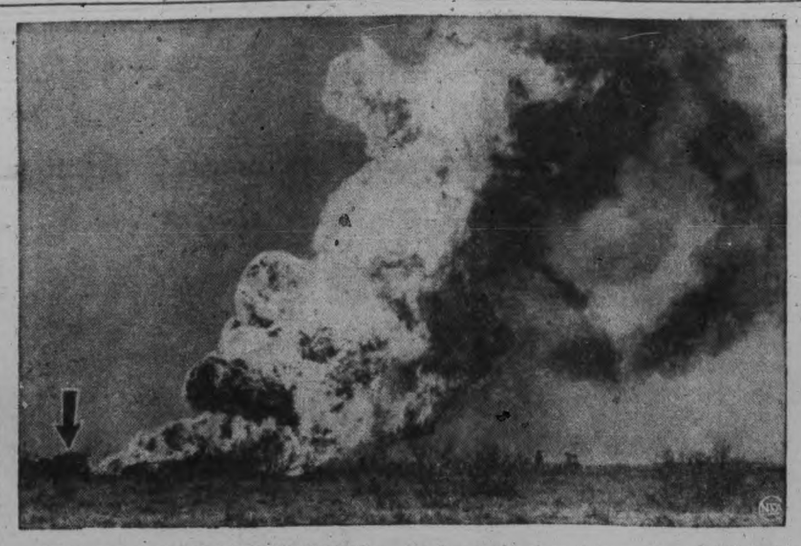
Layoffs in the system totalled 6,400 Jan. 31, but this included 2,200 track maintenance workers, many of whom had since been rehired. The layoffs were a small percentage of the 127,930 employees last year, and were due to a decline in traffic and the change-over from steam locomotives to diesel engines.

At the start of the day's sitting, members gave a desk-thumping welcome to Prime Minister St. Laurent as he returned to the Commons following his six-week world tour.

BUDGET APRIL 6

Finance Minister Abbott said he will present his annual budget message to Parliament Tuesday, April 6. His message will announce any tax changes and the government's estimates of revenue and expenditure for the 1954-55 fiscal year.

A debate on export-import controls raised the issue of trade with Communist countries.



John Dickey, parliamentary assistant to Trade Minister Howe, said government policy is "to give every assistance to Canadian business men in seeking business in Russia or behind the Iron Curtain in non-strategic goods."

The House gave second reading, approval in principle, to a bill continuing for three years government controls over exports and imports, especially shipments of strategic materials to Communist countries.

Approve Estimates

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario legislature Thursday approved $30,850,000 in supplementary estimates for the fiscal year ending March 31.

The estimates were announced by Premier Frost last week during his budget address.

DOLLARS GO UP IN THIS SMOKE—Gas escaping from a well 10 miles southwest of Hobbs, N.M., is burning at the rate of $1.16 worth every second. That's an estimated 100,000,000 cubic feet a day, enough to supply a city the size of Ft. Worth, Tex., with all the fuel it needs. Gas was ignited when it was forced from the well by underground pressure, causing either a friction spark or an arc in a broken electric lamp. The steel drilling derrick over the well melted and toppled over within two hours. The charred mass at left (arrow) was a $38,000 well-cementing truck caught too close to the well when the gas "blew."

VOL. CVII. No. 66 — FRIDAY, MARCH 19, 1954 — PRICE FIVE CENTS

Counsel For CGE Calls For Assessment Cut Back To 1952 Roll Total

Charge Repeated Court of Revision Has No Authority To Hear Appeals After January 30 Statutory Deadline

Describing the Canadian General Electric Company's 1953 assessment of $4,753,868 as a "nullity", Fred Parkinson, QC, called on the court of revision Thursday to reduce it to approximately $2,500,000, the amount shown on the 1952 assessment roll.

Mr. Parkinson also repeated his original charge that the court had no statutory authority to hear appeals after January 30, and that the Charles Warnock company had "disobeyed the provisions of the Assessment Act" in assessing industrial property.

OBJECTION TO MANUAL

In presenting his argument to the court at the conclusion of Thursday's hearing, the Toronto lawyer also added the charge that the manual of assessment values issued by the department of municipal affairs was "contrary to the law right on the face of it."

The court was adjourned Thursday afternoon, pending a decision.

Mr. Parkinson said his main argument was that Assessment Commissioner J. E. Davis had not made the assessment "and if he did, he did not make it on a basis required by law."

Mr. Parkinson was granted permission to see the assessor's affidavits testifying to the correctness of the 1952 [illegible] and [illegible] had to be placed up and a further [illegible] warning that truck dead-line is March 24.

Referring to the Assessment Act, Mr. Parkinson said it had been amended in 1949 to permit the municipal council, with the permission of the minister of municipal affairs, to extend by 60 days from October 1, the time in which the assessor must return the assessment roll to the city.

The statute also required the court of revision to hear appeals on or before November 30.

TIME IS MANDATORY

"I submit that now that the department has taken the responsibility of extending the time for return of the roll by 60 days, that time is mandatory," he argued. "I submit that at no time can the court of revision hear appeals beyond the end of January.

"In attempting to extend the time of this court, the municipality of Peterborough is attempting to do something that they are not statutorily entitled to do.

"The act says the assessment roll last returned shall be the roll on which property is taxed . . . So the city will have to be satisfied with striking this tax rate on the 1952 roll."

Mr. Parkinson then referred to the evidence presented on the Warnock company's work sheets which, he said, revealed that they had evaluated on a cubic foot basis. He argued that the work sheets were used in conjunction with the company's manual which contained three standards of construction.

Mr. Adamson had given evidence, he said, that some changes had been made on the sheets for dilapidation but there was no reference to what the buildings were being used for. Therefore, the assessment department was accepting figures from the Warnock company without taking present use or location into account, as required by section 33 (3) of the Assessment Act. Nor had any consideration been given to the normal rental value of the buildings.

DISOBEYED ACT

"My submission is that although the Warnock company may do good work as evaluators, they have disobeyed the provisions of the Assessment Act."

In regard to whether the court of revision was empowered to decide whether or not it had jurisdiction, Mr. Parkinson said that the matter was not one of substantive rights.

"If we were asking this court to decide whether or not we are

SENIOR BASEBALL

A meeting of some 20 local sportsmen will be held next Thursday to investigate and determine the chances of rejuvenating senior baseball in Peterborough this year. The "thumbs up —or down" signal should result from the meeting.

WARNINGS GIVEN

City police have issued a number of warnings, but no tickets as yet, to drivers still operating cars bearing 1953 licence plates. Chamber of Commerce reports less than [illegible]

SHOULD HAVE STOOD IN BED

A groundhog that like all his cousins went back to bed after February 2 to wait until winter was really finished, should have stayed there beyond his six-week allotment. He appeared Thursday and was shot by Percy township farmer, Jim Sales. To farmers, groundhogs have no attractions and several nasty habits.

HOSPITAL OUTLAYS

The Board of Governors of the Peterborough Civic Hospital on Thursday voted to invest $4,123 for draft controls and boiler meters. The new units, which were recommended when the hospital was built but omitted from plans to save money, will save the hospital an estimated $775 a year. The board also voted to spend $266 on a new meat tenderizer.

INJECTION PRECAUTIONS

To counteract possible detrimental defects from injections of dyes used in the x-ray department to make parts of a patient's body opaque, the staff of the Peterborough Civic Hospital will henceforth use a new precautionary procedure. Patients will be given minute quantities of the dyes to test for possible reactions and, if these are shown, will be given a further injection to neutralize them. The injection will be of chlor-tripolin-malleate, one of the anti-histamine drugs.

PETERBOROUGH CHAMP

Peterborough has produced a skating champion! Joan Shippam, newly-crowned junior figure skating champion of Canada, lived in Peterborough during the war years and will be remembered by former classmates at the Prince of Wales school. Miss Shippam, 15, now makes her home in Schumacher, Ont., where another well-known skater, Ottawa's Barbara Ann Scott, did much of her early skating.

Egyptian Women End Hunger Strike

CAIRO (CP) — Mrs. Doria Shafik and seven followers in the "Daughters of the Nile" suffragette movement today ended their hunger strike after receiving "assurances from President Naguib that our claim for voting rights for Egyptian women will be taken into consideration."

All eight of the "Daughters" had been taken to hospital in weakened condition as a result of the hunger strike which began seven days ago. The decision to call it off came only a few hours after Mrs. Shafik announced they planned to give up the occasional glass of lemonade they had allowed themselves.

Hospital officials said the women will be fed gradually at the start.

City Makes $15,300 In Licence Fines

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto will garner $15,300 in fines in a police drive against motorists driving cars with 1953 license plates after the March 17 deadline.

More than 1,500 Toronto and district motorists will pay the fines. Toronto police summonsed 1,053 motorists Thursday while suburban police charged 477.

Police say the drive is continuing today.

Fire Guts Cheese Factory Second Time In Two Years

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)—For the second time in less than two years, fire Thursday gutted a portion of the Woodland Cheese Factory on Highway 30, about six miles north of Campbellford.

An exploding vat of wax in [illegible] responsible for the fire, Walter Joss, who operates the factory, said "everything just seemed to go 'poof' all at once. All of a sudden the whole factory was on fire." Mr. Joss had been in the waxing room a few minutes before the fire broke out. He said the vat of wax was not even hot, and could see no reason why it should explode with such violence.

An employee who was in the room at the north end of the building at the time, rushed outside to warn Joss, and Mrs. Joss telephoned the alarm to the Campbellford fire department.

MANY HOSE LINES

Campbellford's pumper arrived on the scene within ten minutes of the alarm and within another few minutes had several lines of hose fighting the blaze. The pumper drew water from a nearby creek, and the ample supply from melting snow swelling the waters of the creek made it possible for the firemen to have the blaze under control within an hour. They played water on the building for almost two hours before all the smouldering embers were out.

The fire started at the north end of the building, in the waxing room, and although it spread quickly to other parts of the stone building, damage was confined to the north end.

In August, 1952, flames all but destroyed the factory when fire broke out in the boiler room at the south end of the structure.

Mr. Joss paid tribute today to the work of firemen and neighbors. Light trucks were recruited and were put to use removing cheese from the blazing northern section of the building. This cheese, mostly small five pound moulds, was later placed in the south section of the factory, which was relatively undamaged by the flames.

RESCUE OPERATION

The owner said that while production can be started again in the near future, several thousand pounds of cheese earmarked for the tourist business were destroyed. Mr. Joss sells a great deal of swiss cheese to tourists, who make it a habit to stop at his factory to obtain cheese that cannnot be obtained elsewhere.

An accurate estimate of the damage has not yet been made, but it will run into several thousand dollars. The loss is only partly covered by insurance.

STILL CHECKING ON FIRE

Fire Chief William Sorrie and Inspector George Halliday of the fire marshal's office, Toronto, are still investigating the $7,500 fire that broke out shortly before midnight Monday at 459-461 Chamberlain St. Eleven people in the Trotter and Lackey families had to evacuate the double house while firemen fought the flames. Cause of the fire is still undetermined.

Close To Budget

February balance sheets show that the Peterborough Civic Hospital is sticking pretty close to its 1954 budget. Total expenditures during the first two months of 1954. were $179,341.54, while one-sixth of the year's budget is $177,573.50.

Total operating expenses for February were $90,684.69, a figure nearly $7,000 below total gross expenditures. Lodging and cafeteria revenue brought the expense total down.

Major debit during the month was, as usual, salaries which took $64,481.23. Other outlays were for medical and surgical supplies, $1,845.04; drugs and medicines, $3,949.05; administration, $3,888.74; care of paitents, $3,996.49; general service (dietary, laundry, etc.), $12,915.92; physical plant, $6,078.41; miscellaneous, $284.91.

Total gross earnings from patients amounted to $67,424.89. This was reduced to net earnings of $61,577.05, due to provision for doubtful accounts, rebates, etc. Provincial and county grants realized $8,115.16, while the city budget appropriation, less a deficit in the budget provisions, brought the total revenue to $90,684.69, including various miscellaneous income items.

The statement of accounts receiveable shows a balance up nearly $7,000 from January. The balance as of the end of February is $153,292.43.

$245,000 Expenses For U.S. Engineers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House of Representatives appropriations committee today recommended that $245,000 be allowed for expenses of the U. S. section of the St. Lawrence river joint board of engineers.

The board, with equal United States and Canadian membership, is charged with reviewing, co-ordinating and approving plans and specifications for the proposed $600,000,000 hydro-electric development of the river.

Maj.-Gen. Bernard L. Robinson, deputy chief of army engineers, said the money would cover the estimated total cost of the U. S. section's operations for the year ending June 30 and for the year beginning July 1.

Russia May Get Ships

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain can supply Russia with 10,000-ton cargo ships "within certain security limits," J. P. L. Thomas, first lord of the admiralty, told the House of Commons Thursday night. A Russian trade delegation now in London has been informed of this, he said.

Hope Brightens Campaign Will Reach Goal

[illegible] Peterborough Red Cross and Community Fund campaign look much cheerier today. Chairman Alex Elliott says the campaign is going better than last year, and there is an excellent chance that the $100,000 objective may be exceeded.

Although official totals at the campaign headquarters are only $74,373.52, which would not appear to be a very encouraging figure, at least two large pledges have bolstered the figure to better than $83,000.

In any case, Mr. Elliott told the Examiner today, the success of the campaign depends "largely on how well we clean up the tag ends." He said that last year's $90,000 objective was not reached until well after the campaign had officially closed.

Not including at least $8,600 in the hands of fund officials, but not yet officially tabulated, totals are:

Special names $16,592.50; industrial $39,209.50; retail $11,416.12; women's $6,382.80, penny-a-day $772.60. Total $74,373.52.

All four major sections have actually raised more than the totals shown above, said Mr. Elliott. The special names and retail sections, in particular, are doing much better than the figures would indicate.

Board Rejects Motel Request

Thursday night the city planning board rejected an application from Neil Sloggett who wants to build an eight-unit motel at 390 George St., a section on the east side near Romaine St.

Board chairman Hubert Sills said that the section was in a commercial area according to the official city plan and he was not sure if motels were allowable in a commercial area.

There was no provision in the existing bylaws for motels and the matter would have to be given consideration.

Members of the board voted to reject the application in the meantime.

Will Vaccinate Calves Against Brucellosis

Nine townships in Grey county have passed Brucellosis control bylaws, as reported by the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Several Peterborough townships have been planning petitions from their farmers. Asphodel township will likely be the first in this county to adopt calfhood vaccination. One report says only a small number of farmers have been indifferent, and there is hardly any opposition.

Bruce farmers are fertilizing pastures to carry a larger than average number of cattle. Farmers who tap their maple trees have been active, especially in eastern Ontario. Sunny days this week and frost at night promoted the flow.

Dominion Stores Planning Large Shopping Centre On Chemong Rd. In City

City Planning Board Endorses Plan To Erect Commercial Building Be Ready For Business Early In 1955

By early 1955 the city of Peterborough will have added yet another large block of stores to its already fast expanding outskirts. The city planning board Thursday night gave its approval of a proposal from Dominion Stores of Canada Ltd. to erect a large commercial building on Chemong Rd. between Bellevue Ave. and Highland Rd.

The board's blessing actually informs the company that it is in agreement with the proposed building and expects the area to be zoned as commercial when the zoning bylaw is tabled within the next few weeks.

329 FOOT FRONTAGE

Estate realtor A. B. Sands, who represented Dominion stores before the planning board, said that the company planned to erect a building with a frontage of 329 ft. Actually it would house one big grocery store, 126 ft. x 158 ft., a second store, probably variety, 80 ft. x 158 ft., and beside that an adjoining building to house about four small businesses. The frontage of this latter would be 123 ft. with a depth of 100 ft.

Mr. Sands told the board that the company planned a set-back to allow parking space for 286 cars at the front of the building.

He informed the board that [illegible] not yet [illegible] All the company was asking was that it be told whether or not the area would be zoned for commercial purposes. Knowing this the company would go ahead with building operations.

GIVES SUPPORT

Ready support came from Gordon Hancock who was apparently quite satisfied that the area would be zoned as commercial in the new plan. He suggested the board go on record as approving the application.

This is a new area under development in the city and these things must be provided for," said Mr. Hancock.

Chairman Hubert Sills struck a more cautious note. "I'm just questioning our jurisdiction in zoning an unzoned property," he said. "This is outside the official city plan and I don't know whether we can prejudice zoning or not."

Mr. Sands: "All we are asking is whether or not we will be contravening any future zoning bylaw if we build there; I don't think that is too much to ask."

Chairman: "I'd like to read the bylaw first."

However, the enthusiasm of other board members apparently influenced the chairman who raised his hand with the others in a motion to bestow planning board blessings upon Dominion Stores and a new shopping centre for Peterborough.

A. J. Grant Heads RCAF Association

A. J. Grant was this week elected president of the Royal Canadian Air Force association at the annual meeting. Other officers elected were: vice-president, T. D. Plewman; 2nd vice-president, E. A. Adams; treasurer, T. R. Canden; recording secretary, G. Grierson; corresponding secretary, D. Rymer; directors, E. B. Leadley, J. J. Bencze, H. Schacher, C. Scott, K. Spencer, F. K. Harvie.

Frank Harvie, the outgoing president, asked for the co-operation of not only the members of the association but also all ex-RCAF personnel in the city of Peterborough and district as the association besides being the sponsors of the Air Cadet squadron has recently taken on further commitments in co-operation with the Air Observer corps.

Out Of Control Truck Hits 2 Cars, Wrecked

WARKWORTH (ENS)—A halfton truck driven by 27-year-old Gerald Greenly went out of control at 5.30 p.m. Thursday as it was coming down a hill into the village. It sideswiped a parked car and then struck a second car causing a total damage of about $600.

Both the truck and the second car turned over on their left sides.

Greenly, the truck driver, is a Percy township farmer. He later told spectators that he was going downhill on the main street when he had to swerve right to avoid an oncoming car. He sideswiped a car parked [illegible] Chemong Rd. [illegible] Canadian Acme, Peterborough, causing about $175 damage to it.

HIT OLD CAR

Then the out-of-control vehicle continued west for another 95 feet and struck a 1928-model car owned by Arthur Meneilley, 44, of Percy township. The old car, valued at about $120, was wrecked.

The impact knocked the old car around to face in the opposite direction and it ended up on its left side on John Grant's lawn near the Greenly truck.

OPP Constable Douglas Ross investigated.

Gets Spring Fever

Strange antics and spring fever go hand in glove. Golf clubs, that may lie idle in a corner all summer as well as winter, suddenly are swung with frenzy at a cotton ball; fishing rods, reels and baits are fondly handled and repaired; winter clothes are flung with relish into mothballs; and husband and wife take on the role of sweethearts. And one gardener was stricken Thursday. He was seen, happily plodding in the wake of a power lawnmower at the corner of Parkhill and Armour Rd.

Labor Leaders Disappointed With Act Changes

TORONTO (CP) — Some labor leaders today expressed disappointment with Labor Relations Act amendments introduced Thursday in the Ontario legislature by Labor Minister Daley.

Under the amendments, the labor minister would have power to refuse to appoint a conciliation board in a labor dispute, pre-conciliation time would be cut from 70 to 50 days, and employees would have more say in determining the size of a bargaining unit.

A. F. MacArthur, president of the 200,000-member Ontario Federation of Labor (AFL - TLC), called the changes "definitely inadequate." He expressed regret the government had not introduced the voluntary revocable checkoff and he said the amendments are "far removed from the constructive amendments proposed by labor."

Said Eamon Park, legislative director of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL): "Mr. Daley's proposals will introduce a political element into collective bargaining because pressure will undoubtedly be applied when the minister has to appoint a board or to refuse."

James Robertson of the Street Railway Union (AFL-TLC) said if the conciliation amendment means a union can go on strike without going through the delays of conciliation, "it's a good one."

IN THEIR POLICY OF PROMOTING the "black and white" dairy cow, Ontario Holstein Breeders' Association had a display booth at the Spring Show at the Exhibition Park. George R. McLaughlin (left to right), whose farm is north of Oshawa, is a director of the Canadian Association; Gerald Nelson, of Brooklin, is fieldman in the Central Ontario counties; and Francis Jose, of Newcastle, is a son of a Durham family that has been in purebreds for many years.

Veteran Driver Killed On Highway

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—A 55-year-old Sarnia man, James Benson, was killed Thursday night on highway 2 near Lesperance road. A Welland man received slight injuries.

[illegible] Welland, was [illegible] pital, then released in custody of provincial police.

Benson, a veteran driver for Overland Transport was headed for Windsor when he ran out of fuel just west of Lesperance and set out on foot to find a telephone.

Laurie Allison Barkhouse of Pictou, N. S., driving a pickup truck, stopped to give Benson a lift. Benson had reached the rear of Barkhouse's truck when Toth's car approached.

Police said Toth jammed on his brakes and skidded 75 feet into the rear of the pickup, throwing Benson across the highway.

Benson landed on the pavement, police said, and was struck by another oncoming car and knocked a further 25 feet along the road.

The front of the Toth car was wrecked. Police said Barkhouse's light truck was tossed across a narrow ditch into [illegible] field, 200 feet from the point of impact.

Counsel For CGE

assessable, then you would have to refer it to a court of law. But we are saying that this assessment is not the one on which we should be taxed. I am asking this court to say that this assessment is not valid.

"Mr. Adamson's evidence that the overall rental value of the buildings is $2½ million exactly coincides with the amount on the 1952 roll, with the sworn affidavit of Mr. Davis attached [illegible] Warnock company [illegible] the merits of this case this court has the power to say the assessment should be reduced to $2½ million."

Mr. Parkinson concluded his hour-long argument with a reference to the manual of assessment values issued by the province, indicating that it provided, in some cases, for assessments based on the cubic measurements of buildings.

"I can find no authority for a legal argument being made to any court with respect to the manual," he said. "It is contrary to the law right on the face of it. I don't say that the legislature could not say that this manual could be used as the basis for the assessment. But I do say that section 33 of the Assessment Act is the legal basis for assessment values."

PRESENTS CITY'S SIDE

T. J. Carley, QC, representing the city, undertook his argument after the noon recess and also spoke for an hour.

In answer to Mr. Parkinson's argument that the court was sitting "out of date," he argued that the assessment act, as amended, provided an extension of 120 days within which the assessor was to return his roll, provided that the time of the court of revision was extended 60 days.

Mr. Carley submitted that no evidence had been given that there was any such thing as normal rental or sale values for industrial properties in Peterborough and that there was no evidence that the assesor had not taken these factors into consideration.

"We all know that the manual is not law," he said in reply to Mr. Parkinson's argument that the manual was contrary to law. "But it still has an effect on what is endeavored to be done in the matter of assessments."

"What evidence has been given of normal rental values?" he asked. "The Paquette property was used for storage. We are asked to believe that the old roller rink was used for manufacturing when it was used for the very difficult task of nailing crates together and partly for storage.

"A portion of the Sealright building was used for assembly work. If that is light manufacturing, as was said, then every garage in Peterborough would be manufacturing cars. Furthermore, it's an old building and Mr. Adamson didn't know whether it had one or two storeys.

FACTS FOR OPINION

He took his rental values [illegible] we asked him for information on which he based his opinion and it was not forthcoming. An opinion can only be as good as the facts on which it is based. That has been a wholesome principle of our courts for years.

"Mr. Adamson says that by some mysterious method he established a rental value of $2½ million; then in the next breath he says he took short cuts.

"He added 30 per cent for maintenance. But I submit the cost of maintenance varies from building to building. Then he deducts 25 per cent for non-rentable space —washrooms and stairwells. Isn't CGE bound under law to provide them? And how would you use the second floor of a building if you didn't have a stairway?"

Mr. Carley argued that the deductions from height made by the Warnock company were to allow for the present use of the buildings. The cost of replacement was worked out according to a schedule but Mr. Adamson had not produced cost schedules of his own.

He submitted that the CGE buildings had the best location in the city as regard to bus service and municipal services.

"As for their location in relation to one another, are we to say that the CGE engineers were stupid in planning their layout? I think it one of the most efficient plant layouts in the city and I think we can give such a huge corporation credit for placing emphasis on efficient operations.

"The act requires the assessor to give consideration to these factors. He is not bound to adopt them. He must use his judgment. And the actual amount of the building assessment he arrives at must be the amount by which the buildings increase the land value.

ASSESSOR FAMILAR WITH PLANT

"The Warnock company did not do the assessment . . . There is no evidence that Mr. Davis is not familiar with the CGE plant . . . He has not only the right but the duty to obtain all the information he possibly can from whatever sources he possibly can to arrive at a judgment that will be a proper assessment under the assessment act . . . Having got information from specialized sources, he goes over it.

"Mr. Adamson says he doesn't know how the Warnock formula is made up. I think we can take it for granted that the assessor has gone into the formula and decided to adopt it. . . . As to the question of whether the square or the cubic measurements should be used, I submit that the cubic rate is a very good way of arriving at the replacement cost of a building.

"This court is not trying the accuracy of the Warnock work sheets or the method used. What they are trying is whether or not CGE have been assessed in excess of what is required by the assessment act.

INTERESTED PARTY

"With regard to Mr. Adamson's evidence, you cannot accept the opinion of an interested party in the same way as you would a disinterested party, however specialized his knowledge is.

"I think it would be agreed that since there are errors in the calculations, the amount should be deducted from the assesment.

"My submission is that the assessment appeal should be dismissed and the assessment confirmed, subject to the errors I have mentioned," Mr. Carley concluded.

In his reply, Mr. Parkinson said he thought Mr. Carley had misconstrued his attack on the Warnock methods. He said that the residential assessments had been done by the assessor and the industrial assessments had been done by the Warnock company. Two different methods had been used, resulting in a disparity.

"Mr. Carley has said that 120 days have some significance in regard to this court's jurisdiction. I submit it has no application at all. The legislation has said that if the municipality has given more time to the assessor, then the time for closing the court of revision shall be extended in accordance with the time given for closing the roll. . . My submission is that under no circumstances can council extend the time beyond January 30."

Hastings County Woman Marks 100th Birthday

MARMORA (ENS)—Mrs. Urena Pinner, former highly esteemed resident of Marmora, celebrated her hundredth birthday at the Hastings [illegible] in Belleville on Thursday.

In her honor there was a handsomely decorated birthday cake bearing 100 candles, which she cut. Wearing a special corsage for the occasion, Mrs. Pinner entered into the spirit of the occasion, greeting friends and relatives who called to extend congratulations.

Although she lived for the greater part of the century in Marmora, she was born in the neighboring village of Springbrook. Mrs. Pinner is a member of the McWilliams family, associated with Marmora for so many years. A brother, the late Gordon McWilliams, operated the Royal Hotel here for many years.

Until a little more than a year ago, Mrs. Pinner was surprisingly active. But there came a day when she fell and broke her hip, to be confined since to a wheel chair. Up to an advanced age she had been nimble on her feet and was a dancer few could compare with. Her eyes, it is said, have not lost their old sparkle, and her hearing has not become impaired.

While in Marmora she was a member of St. Paul's Anglican church and took her part in the activities of the Ladies' Guild. She was also one of the original members of Marmora Women's Institute. When the Plaza Theatre was opened a few years ago, she was chosen to cut the ribbon. Her husband, George Pinner, died in 1915 at their home across the road from St. Paul's church. Until she entered the county home in 1950 she and her son Fred, with great attachment for each other, retained the home where friends received a warm welcome.

Mrs. Pinner, who is of short stature, has outlived six of her seven children. One daughter, Mrs. George Hartley, resides at Marmora.

Port Colborne Man Made Into Woman

WELLAND (CP)— [illegible] Wilson said today he recently completed the final step of transforming a young Port Colborne man into a woman. So far as is known, the case was the first in which the medical transformation was finished in Canada. Name of the Patient was not disclosed.

He said his patient left Port Colborne about a year ago and, somewhere in the United States, underwent the initial operations to change his sex.

The youth had been born with the sex characteristics of both male and female and was brought up as a male.

"But there was no doubt that the patient was mostly a woman," said the doctor.

Rescue 3 Children In Burning House

LEAMINGTON (CP) — Three children were rescued from their burning home by a neighbor this morning.

They are Johanna, 4; Cornelius, 3; and Clara, 2; the children of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Vandenberg.

The parents were a few doors away when the fire broke out in the kitchen. Neighbor Clair Brown saw smoke, and rescued the youngsters from the front room. His right ear and some of his hair were burned.

The Vandenbergs, Dutch immigrants, were burned out at Kingsville soon after they arrived in Canada two and a half years ago.

Charles Y. Harrison N.Y. Novelist Dies

NEW YORK (CP)—Charles Yale Harrison, novelist, publicist and former newspaper man who once lived in Montreal, died here Wednesday night. He was 55.

A veteran of the First World War, Harrison was a pacifist when he wrote a best-selling novel "Generals Die in Bed," in 1930. In later years he renounced pacifism.

Stolen Goods Dangerous

NEW YORK (AP) — Blow-gun darts are missing from the Museum of Natural History here, and the museum warns that the toothpick-like weapons may have been dipped in curare, a poison. The darts and a gourd container, part of an exhibit depicting life among Indians in the Peruvian forests, disappeared Thursday.

Snipers Wound Two Officers

CAIRO (AP)—The British embassy announced today that Egyptian snipers wounded two British medical corps officers in the Suez canal zone and that one of the officers later died.

The embassy said Maj. W. R. Burhill died of bullet wounds in the stomach and that Capt. I. Wilson was wounded in the shoulder.

The attack occurred at El Ba[illegible] [illegible] reported today in the disputed Suez, where two British soldiers were killed earlier this week, three others were wounded and two are missing. Earlier, an Egyptian policeman was slain.

In the other incidents today the embassy reported: (1) Five Egyptians fired sten guns at two British army vehicles in Fayid, but no casualties were reported; (2) Fifty minutes later an Egyptian threw a hand grenade into a British army vehicle at Suez, but the passenger tossed it out before it exploded.

Commercial Games Target Of Churchmen

TORONTO (CP) — A group of church officials Thursday asked Premier Frost to make it clear that commercial public games and sports are one of the issues when Sunday sports votes are held.

The deputation, whose views were presented by Toronto's Canon W. W. Judd of the Church of England in Canada, asked that the Lord's Day Act be changed with this in mind. The act was passed in 1950.

The deputation asked that the word "commercial" be inserted before the words "public games and sports" in the question submitted to voters.

Vote For Co-operation

TORONTO (CP)—Delegates to the Toronto district Trades and Labor Council (AFL-TLC) Thursday night voted for co-operation with rival CCL union members to solve unemployment.

Delegates said the unemployment problem was more important than inter-union warfare.

Irishman's Body Stays

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain has turned down a fresh Irish request that the remains of Sir Roger Casement, Irish patriot hanged here in 1916 as a wartime traitor, should be returned to his native land. Under British law, condemned men must be buried in the prison where they are executed.

Canada Wins Title In Army Basketball

ALDERSHOT, England (CP)—Canada Thursday won the British army basketball championship for the second time, whipping a British squad 53-31 in the finals.

The Canadians are from the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery, with the 1st Canadian Infantry Brigade group at Soest, Germany. Five players performed for Canada without replacements. They were Lieut. Jim Lowe of Ottawa, captain and coach; Maj. [illegible] [illegible] Alice, B. C.; and gunners Ron Aubie of Bathurst, N.B., and Ken Newman of Ottawa.

Deny Princess Smoking Cheroots

LONDON (Reuters) — "No, no, no," gasped the indignant Buckingham Palace official, "the Princess does not smoke cheroots."

And up in smoke went the rosy dreams of makers of the baby cigars, who had hoped for spiraling sales after word got about that Princess Margaret puffed an occasional cheroot.

The official added: "We don't know how such a rumor was started. No one has ever seen the princess smoke one."

U.K. Reporter Must Choose

LONDON (AP) — Daily Worker correspondent Alan Winnington, one of the two Western reporters who covered the Korean war from the Communist side, today was reported faced with the choice of coming home or losing his citizenship.

The Worker, organ of Britain's Communist party, said the British [illegible], refused [illegible] Winnington's passport and confiscated it when he presented it for renewal Thursday.

Winnington and Wilfred Burchett, an Australian who worked for a Paris Communist newspaper, were the only Western correspondents with the Chinese and North Korean forces. Winnington has been accused by the United States of helping extort a germ-warfare "confession" from U.S. Air Force Col. Walker Mahurin, a war prisoner who later was freed. Winnington has denied the charge.

Ruins Yield $11,200

ROUEN, France (Reuters)—Two cub scouts found $11,200 worth of gold coins in a ruined medieval abbey during a recent hike. Part of the money will go to the Benedictine monastic order which owned the abbey.

An odd bird, the Grebe is quite contrary. Though it resembles the larger Duck, its foot is lobed instead of webbed. Reluctant to fly, it uses its wings and lobed feet for diving and underwater swimming.

Homely Men Best Dates Actress Says

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—With women who know dating best, it's homely men 2 to 1. That's the claim of Patricia Medina, one of Hollywood's most beautiful actresses.

"You can have the pretty boys," says Miss Medina. "I'd rather have homely men for dates. They are more attentive. They are not conceited. They listen to what you have to say. They appreciate what they have, since they haven't relied on their looks.

"Homely men have a sense of humor about themselves, and that's important in a man. They are inclined to be more old-fashioned in their wooing; you get more flowers from them. They put more effort in their courting of a girl."

On the other hand, she added scornfully, there is the handsome Harry.

"He spends half his time looking in mirrors to see if his hair is combed properly. He over-dresses and tries to steal the spotlight from the woman. He considers his date fortunate to be out with him, and expects her to hold up the conversation. He is forever making entrances. I'm sick of entrances!"

She threw caution to the winds and offered to name the 10 most attractive homely men she knows.

"Humphrey Bogart is one of the sexiest men on the screen, but even the kindest person wouldn't call him handsome. Jack Palance has a tremendous appeal in a menacing sort of way. Frank Sinatra certainly made hearts flip, and he's no pretty boy.

"Jerry Lewis is a charming person with a very comic face. Alex Guinness is perhaps the most successful English actor today. He probably wouldn't have been half so successful if he had been better looking. Nor would Danny Kaye, who has a wonderfully expressive face, although not a handsome one.

"Kirk Douglas has a rugged charm that appeals to women. I also consider George Raft homely, yet he has a terrific appeal. The same is true of James Cagney. And Bob Hope may hate me, but I would include him on my list. He has a puckish quality."

But she quickly added she didn't want her thesis to sound like sour grapes. She was once wed to Richard Greene, one of the prettiest faces that ever hit the screen.

"My ideas don't apply to Dick," she remarked. "He was one of the most unconceited men I have ever known. He did everything he could to play his handsomeness down."

Happy Accident

BLIND RIVER (CP)—A traffic victim was killed by a police cruiser on highway 17 and the two provincial policemen in the car were delighted. The victim was a wolf and constables J. P. McDonald and E. Cooke hope to collect the bounty on it.

Won't Take Chances In Doing Business

TORONTO (CP)—Premier Frost said Thursday he doesn't take chances in doing business.

He was replying to opposition leader Farquhar Oliver in the Ontario legislature during consideration of supplementary estimates. Mr. Oliver suggested if he were provincial treasurer and had the surpluses Mr. Frost has had he'd "take a chance on next year" and pay a supplementary allowance to old-age pensioners.

"Taking a chance isn't the way I do business," Premier Frost replied.

J. B. Salsberg (Lab-Prog—Toronto St. Andrew) wondered why supplementary allowances were not considered.

Mr. Frost said old-age pensions are a "national matter," but for persons 65 to 69 pensions were paid on a 50-50 basis between the federal and provincial governments.

"Our position is that if the federal government raises the level to, say $50, then we'll pay our shot."

Mr. Oliver said Mr. Frost had a "very weak case" and pointed to British Columbia, Saskatchewan and Alberta which pay supplementary allowances.

To this, the premier replied that all three provinces have sales taxes.

Russian Students Interested In Canada

By BILL BOSS

MOSCOW (CP)—The best way to describe Canada to a Russian seems to be as a republic.

Ivan Sergevitch is so full of "capitalism," "imperialism" and "colonialism," and his knowledge of Canada is so vague that that seems the simplest way of making clear its independence of both the United States and Britain.

It's no good saying that the positions of both the Queen and her governor-general in Canada are merely symbolic, or that American investments in Canada are subject to Canadian law. He just doesn't believe it.

"Respubiika," however, is a term he understands. But in his view Canada won't really qualify as an independent country until it is a "people's republic," that is, a Communist-run state.

USUALLY RESERVED

Occasions on which Russians overcome their diffidence about speaking with foreigners are rare. But they occur, especially with taxi-drivers and in restaurants.

Most who approach our table or invite you to theirs (a rare thing) are students.

Three students joined the table in succession, attracted by my green maple-leaf lapel button, emblem of the Canadian War Correspondents Association. They were keen to know about Canada.

"Do you have things as well in Canada as we do here? Is Canada as advanced as the Soviet Union? Is your system as good as ours? Does every one receive an education? What do you pay your university students? Do you really have to pay for medical attention?"

To their disbelief you reply that the average living standard is unquestionably higher now there than in the U.S.S.R. In some respects Canada is 50 years ahead of the U.S.S.R. In others the countries seem approximately abreast.

CANADIAN EDUCATION

Education, you say, is compulsory in most provinces to the age of 16. We don't pay our students anything. Some earn scholarships but most who want to can work their way through college. Medical care is paid for by the individual but we have health-insurance plans.

As students they are enthusiastical for the Russian system which gives those with good marks a monthly stipend, drawn by an estimated 80 to 90 per cent.

A university student with a cousin in the United States said he'd like to write to him and compare notes. "But I'm afraid that if I do I'll get him into trouble with the authorities there."

Talks about "world tension," "peace" and "disarmament" are tricky because the local mind is so convinced by available accounts of the genesis of NATO and the periphery of bases.

"We are very disappointed in our wartime allies," they say.

HOPES DASHED

"We all hoped, when the war against Germany ended in 1945, that the era of peace would open. Instead you have dashed our hopes."

"But really," you reply, "you are in no position to say that. You know only one-half the picture—what your press has thought you ought to know. We also are disappointed and we think that a good part of the responsibility is yours."

The answer:

"It is easily seen that you have a prejudiced mind. Our press looks at world events with our collective mind and interprets them to us in terms of our collective interests. Our press keeps us fully informed."

The Voice of America doesn't often reach Moscow but the BBC does. Do people listen? I've spoken with university students who do.

"In our discussion groups we openly say that the BBC has such-and-such a line on a given point. It is interesting to know what the other side is saying. But it is still the voice of the imperialists."

HARRY A. BRUNGER

YMCA Secretary To Visit City

Harry A. Brunger, a YMCA world service secretary from Hong Kong, will be in Peterborough next week, speaking to the Kiwanis Club and also to a combined meeting of the Y's Men Club and the Y senior membership committee next Thursday.

Mr. Brunger, a native of Michigan, started his world service career in China in 1948. He was program director at the Canton Y when the Communists took over, and was forced to evacuate his association to Hong Kong. Since then he has been working in the shadow of Communism, seeking to provide a stabilizing influence in a country rocked with unrest.

In Hong Kong Mr. Brunger has been especially busy, for this cosmopolitan city teems with 2,500,000 refugees in a 400-square mile area. The YMCA is meeting unprecedented needs for education, recreation, job-training and other basic services.

Mr. Brunger is a sociology graduate of Michigan State and a theological graduate from the Yale Divinity School.

Advocates Sighs To Ease Death Toll

TORONTO (CP) — CCF house leader W. J. Grummett said in the legislature Thursday that a skull and cross-bones sign should be erected along the highways to mark each highway fatality.

Mr. Grummett said he thought the accident toll would be cut if such signs were there to remind motorists. He criticized allowing a driver who had been involved in a fatal accident to be freed with a $25 fine.

Mrs. Peoples Hostess To Norwood Auxiliary

NORWOOD (ENS)—The Evening Auxiliary of Norwood United church held their March meeting at the home of Mrs. George Peoples.

The president, Miss Pauline Weir, opened the meeting. Mrs. S. Flett accepted the responsibility of sending the supplies to headquarters. Upon completion of the business the program was in charge of Miss Clara Jenkins.

Mrs. LaBrash read the scripture, Mrs. A. Weir, the prayer. Miss Jenkins introduced a dialogue by Miss B. Borland and Mrs. R. Pakenham.

The meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction. Lunch was served and a social half hour followed.

Suggest Drew Given Trip Around World

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has been asked to make it possible for Opposition Leader Drew to make a trip around the world.

The proposal was made Thursday in the Commons by J. H. Ferguson (PC—Simcoe North) after leaders of opposition groups had welcomed Prime Minister St. Laurent back to Ottawa after his six weeks' tour of Europe and Asia.

Mr. Ferguson said such a trip would enable the leader of the opposition to see world conditions with his own eyes and speak with greater authority on international affairs and conditions affecting Canada. He said he was confident his proposal would be supported by the Commons as a sensible and sane move.

Commonwealth Talks Open At Lahore

OTTAWA (CP) — The Pakistant high commissioner's office announced that Prime Minister Mohammed Ali of Pakistan Thursday opened the 10-day fifth Commonwealth relations conference at Lahore.

The Pakistan Institute of International Affairs is host to delegates representing Commonwealth countries, in[illegible]nada, and dependent territo[illegible]dvancing towards self-government.

Heading the Canadian delegation is Roland Michener, Progressive Conservative member for Toronto St. Paul's.

Other countries taking part in the conference include Australia, India, New Zealand, the United Kingdom, and the Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland, and Malaya.

Radio Maple Leaf In Korea Part of Recreational Program

BY JACK BRAYLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

IN KOREA (CP) — The gay whoop-te-do of the Happy Gang radio show, disturbing the watchful quiet of a tented Korean hillside, marks the land of the Canadians and their impressive recreation and welfare facilities.

On a clear night the voice of Bert Pearl and his wacky crew may carry into the Chinese lines facing the 25th Canadian brigade across the demilitarized zone north of the Imjin river.

In fact, high - powered radio Maple Leaf can be picked up as easily by the Chinese as it is by neighboring allied formations who write it cordial fan letters. It's probably more popular than other armed forces radio station because it isn't always butting in with propaganda for safe driving and tips on what to do when stuck in a rice paddy.

Radio Maple Leaf is part of the entertainment and recreation program designed to keep the brigade busy playing when it's not busy working.

SPORT FACILITIES

There's an 800-seat theatre for films, live shows and music; a hockey rink; an outdoor arena for football and baseball; a gym for badminton, basketball and boxing.

A 5,000-book bilingual library and reading room is stocked with hometown newspapers and magazines. Another big quonset hut houses a hobby shop. One of its most popular functions is its photography classes, the idea of Maj. Bill Pearce of army public relations who watched the troops buy complicated Japanese cameras and then try to use them.

At a Naafi gift shop you can buy at reasonable prices and mail home Japanese and Korean gift goods. The shop sold $2,500 worth of gifts the first day. A wet canteen has the look of a Canadian pub and the dry canteen serves all the drug-store favorites.

MEMORIAL THEATRE

The recreation plant is a practical memorial to the Canadians who have died in Korea. A monument of Korean marble carries the dedication. The auditorium is called the Stillwell Theatre in memory of Lieut. Frank Stillwell of Montreal, a Royal Canadian Dragoons officer who died in January. He was on the recreation staff and had done most of the work on the theatre's sound system.

Supervising the rec centre is Maj. Tony Condy of Springhill, N.S., and Vancouver, and his staff includes the only two girls associated with the brigade—Naomi Griffin of Kelowna, B.C., and Adele Roy of Ottawa, both of the Red Cross.

Nearly everybody in the brigade had a hand in constructing the facilities. At one time more than 600 men were digging to lay the ground system for the big aerials of the 1,000-watt transmitter.

The plant also houses welfare agencies like the gift cigaret organization whose supplies included two lots of 5,000,000 cigarets from the Canadian customs. The smokes were American brands intercepted in smuggling attempts across the Canadian border.

ELABORATE RADIO

A couple of "hams" were largely responsible for the elaborate radio set-up. The commonwealth division station couldn't be heard. Besides, its programs were heavy on cricket and soccer in which Canadians have little interest.

So Lieuts. Larry Cote of Winnipeg and Aylmer, Que., and Jean Baby of St. Foy, Que., were assigned to see what could be done. The result is a radio station that cost a third as much as it would in Canada. It occupies two six-ton vans and can move to a new location in half an hour.

Two-thirds of its programs are Canadian and some of its shows are live. For instance, there's a western string group composed of Edgar Caissie of Moncton, N.B., Ron White of Grand Falls, N.B., Ivan Biro of Abbotsford, B.C., Al McIsaac of New Waterford, N.S., Howie Kent of Saskatoon, all NCOs and men, and Lieut. Dick Arthur, harmonica.

The quilted and carpeted interior of the studio is the work of S. Sgt. Dick Fairchild of Lisle Village, Ont., who says he never had a lesson in interior decorating in his life but is "handy around the house."

Fifty per cent of the fan letters come from Canadian troops, 29 per cent from [illegible] and 19 per cent from Britons, New Zealanders and U.S. marines.

A favorite program is "Night Mail," a sentimental link with home through which relatives send dedication requests from Canada.

A regular standby is a church-of-the-air program by the brigade padres.

Lieut. Peter Churchill of London, Ont., is program director.

Small Number Of Doctors Fail Get Commission

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defence Secretary Charles Wilson said today the armed services have 51 drafted doctors and dentists who have been denied commissions—20 because of "very questionable loyalty."

Wilson said the remaining 31 were refused commissions because in some respect other than serious loyalty doubts they failed to qualify as officers.

Of the 51 physicians and dentists, he said, two are in the air force and the rest in the army. The navy has none.

Wilson gave the figures to the Senate armed services committee.

NOT LARGE NUMBER

"Twenty out of the 15,000 doctors we have drafted is not a considerable number," Wilson said. "I do not want anyone to get the idea we have many disloyal doctors."

Wilson led a group of top defence officials, including Army Secretary Robert Stevens, before the committee for a discussion of how the armed services are handling the problem of Communist infiltration and subversion.

Specifically, they want a change in the doctors draft law to make it clear that a drafted doctor or dentist need not be commissioned if there is any question of his loyalty.

There has been a ruling by one court that a commission is mandatory.

Wilson said doctors of questionable loyalty will not be commissioned.

"We'll discharge them before we'll commission them," he declared.

Polymer Sales Reached New High In '53

OTTAWA (CP) — The government-owned Polymer Corporation Ltd., Thursday reported that volume of sales reached a new high last year and forecast another good year for 1954.

The corporation's annual report tabled in the Commons said the record year "is especially noteworthy in view of the fact that for the greater part of the year all grades of natural rubber sold below the prevailing prices for synthetic."

Volume of sales rose by 13 per cent compared with 1952 despite a slackening of domestic sales during the latter part of the year. This was brought about by a continuing growth in export markets on the basis of quality and service."

GENERAL OPTIMISM

With the market for rubber continually expanding "general optimism is expressed for the future," the report said.

Gross income in 1953 amounted to $50,614,959, resulting in a net profit of $5,097,638 after allowances of $5,036,831 for depreciation $4,946,000 for income tax and $254,904 for debenture interest. The company paid $3,000,000 in dividends and retired $3,000,000 principal of four per cent serial debentures, leaving $4,000,000 outstanding.

Labor Congress Demands Gov't-Sponsored Lottery

OTTAWA (CP)—The Trades and Labor Congress of Canada Thursday repeated demands for a [illegible] Ottawa on capital punishment, [illegible] and lotteries.

The 580,000-member labor organization suggested an amendment to the Criminal Code allowing the federal government to set up a national lottery. The proceeds, after prizes and administration, should be placed in government coffers instead of being used for a specific purpose, the brief added.

The TLC also recommended that labor organizations and service clubs be permitted to hold raffles and draws up to any amount which in the opinion of provincial attorneys-general are reasonable. The criminal law limits to $50 the value of raffle prizes.

PRESENT BRIEF

The two recommendations were made in a 1,500-word brief prepared for presentation to the Commons [illegible] on capital punishment, [illegible] and lotteries.

On lotteries, the TLC said they find favor with many Canadians who participate in lotteries sponsored in other countries.

Its two reasons for proposing a government-sponsored national lottery:

"First, we believe that the widely expressed desire of Canadians to participate in lotteries should be recognized and steps taken which will make it possible for our people to participate in lotteries legally, and secondly, we believe that this form of raising revenues is sound and proper, if administered efficiently and objectively."

All prizes would be subject to income tax.

Water Workers In Lindsay Get Pay Boost

LINDSAY (ENS)—The Lindsay water works commission Wednesday decided to increase the [illegible]mum pay for outside emp[illegible] from $1.05 per hour to $1.35 per hour.

[illegible] Supported by another four workers M. C. Col[illegible] Robert Reynolds told the members he could not com[illegible] labor work outside at the rates being paid on a scale [illegible] cents to $1.05 an hour. The superintendent told the board [illegible] of his four permanent outside employees had been with the commission for more than five years and could not be readily replaced.

The commission also placed the four men on a standby basis with pay for two hours for every week on standby; previously only two of them had been on a standby working week in and week out.

A special meeting was scheduled for next week to examine the wages of employees of the water-[illegible] plant. This group includes [illegible] was [illegible] to $1.05.

[illegible] of the board presented a summary of the balance sheet and auditor's statement for 1953.

REVENUE UP

This showed that net revenue for the year rose by $1,810 to a high of $15,427 from 1952. Expenses he noted increased by $9,734 during 1953 due mainly to a large programme of expansion and repairs during the year; according to the report, 2,594 customers were served by the commission including 2,333 residential, 32 industrial and 229 commercial and other customers. This was an increase of 57 more than for 1952. Water consumption rose in 1953 by slightly over a million gallons a day. The average bill [illegible] to $14.64.

Details of work done during the year were also outlined and plans for future expansion reviewed including those for the new 500,000 gallon tank on Colborne street east.

Mayor Hick, ex-officio member of the commission passed on a request from council that the board refer to council in the future any requests for water service outside the town limits. The object is to keep the services in line with the planned areas of town, he said.

Says Soldier "Wasn't Sorry"

CALGARY (CP) — Cpl. W. J. Brazeau testified Thursday that after the fatal shooting of a private in a Currie barracks washroom Jan. 5, Pte. Walter Cierpisz, 17, of Windsor, Ont., said he had done the shooting and "wasn't sorry."

The evidence came during the fourth day of Cierpisz's trial here before Mr. Justice [illegible] Bride and [illegible] Court jury on a charge of murder in the death of Pte. Robert Bilow, 21.

Cpl. Brazeau said he had been NCO in charge of the detail which took Cierpisz to the guardroom following Bilow's death.

On the way, Cierpisz said he hadn't slept for four nights because of the "bugging" (teasing) he had gone through from Bilow.

"I can't stand it any more," he quoted Cierpisz as saying.

"I shot Bilow and I'm not sorry."

The trial is continuing.

Investigate Dumping Of Onions From U.S.

OTTAWA (CP)—Revenue Minister McCann says he will investigate the possibility of United States onions being dumped in Canada during the next few months.

Mr. McCann was asked Thursday in the Commons by Hon. Earl Rowe (PC—Dufferin-Simcoe) if the [illegible] special tariff of one cent per pound on U.S. onions will be removed. Mr. Rowe said Canadian onion supplies were sufficient to last well into May and that growers should be protected from low-priced imports.

Decide On Welfare Work

The WMS of Bridgenorth United church met this week at the home of Mrs. J. Johnston. Miss O. Sidey presided and 12 members were present. Theme was "Jesus Christ, Son of God, Saviour", taken from the Missionary Monthly. Mrs. C. Telford read scripture verses from John pertaining to this. It was decided that welfare work is to be carried on in connection with the Save the Children fund, or any other worthy emergency arising. Current event related to WMS work are to be given by members at the regular meetings. Each member is asked to enlist the co-operation of at least one associate member. Mrs. J. Johnston spoke on the Indo-China death rate, Mrs. S. Grant on temperance, and Mrs. O. Friskeen on the Save the Children work in Greece, giving suggestions for the group's future work. A quilt has been sold by the Society, at $8 and the collection at the meeting amounted to $4.80. For the program, Mrs. Johnston read the hymn, "Go To Dark Gethsemane" and Mrs. J. McClay followed with appropriate scripture. Several members led in prayer. Miss Sidey and Mrs. C. Telford sang a duet, "Alone". The study period was in charge of Mrs. C. Staples, Mrs. Telford and Mrs. R. McConkey. Lunch was served by the hostess at the close, with Mrs. P. Pettersone, Miss Sidey and Miss Lusher assisting.

SA Home League Raises Money For Re-Wiring

A donation of nearly $100 is forthcoming toward the expense of re-wiring the Byersville Salvation Army hall as a result of the St. Patrick's tea held by the ladies of the Home League.

More than 100 guests were welcomed to this affair. In addition to the tea room proceeds there was sale of home baking, candy and aprons to add to the take.

The officer in charge, Lieut. N. Wood, led the opening exercises, with home league secretary Miss Clara Barnes offering prayer and Mrs. H. Hedge reading scripture. Mrs. H. G. Roberts then declared the tea officially open.

Horseshoes, clay pipes, top hats and shamrocks, all the symbols of St. Patrick's Day, were used to decorate the tea room. Daffodils and 'mums were donated for the tea table bouquet and small tables were centred with Irish crosses.

Mrs. A. Paget Sr. was taking the tea tickets. Mrs. C. Hunter and Mrs. Hedge poured tea and servers were Mrs. G. Kemp, Mrs. H. Tippett, Mrs. A. Meeks, and Mrs. M. Tully. The tea was made by Mrs. W. Winterbottom and the plates prepared by Mrs. V. Bellos, Mrs. W. Simmons and Mrs. L. Ford, assisted in the kitchen by Mrs. G. Rayment, Mrs. A. E. Gilpin and Mrs. Griffin.

The candy table was attended by Mrs. Fred Christmas, the aprons by Mrs. G. Allport and the home baking by Mrs. D. Best, Mrs. W. Halstead, Mrs. J. Gibbs and Mrs. J. Bullied

Council Of Women Regular Meeting

Local Council of Women voted to stand behind the recommendations for penal reform for women as outlined in a pamphlet prepared by the Penal Reform for Women Joint Committee on which the National Council of Women is represented. The recommendations were read by president Mrs. A. W. Nelson at the meeting Thursday afternoon.

It was strongly suggested to the ladies that they buy goods made in Peterborough whenever possible in view of the unemployment situation now existing.

Report on the fashion show held last week has been delayed owing to convener Mrs. G. H. Hewitt being called out of town. However, the president remarked that attendance had been disappointing, more than 500 less than last year, and the financial return would therefore be considerably smaller.

Permission to add the name of the chairman of finance to the sub-execuitve was received. A letter from Mr. W. S. Goulding of Toronto who spoke here recently on housing for aged people, inquired what is being done on this project.

The laws committee is now studying "Dower Rights of Women" and convener Mrs. F. W. K. Harris has held a meeting at her home.

Hall's Glen LOL Holds Box Social

HALLS GLEN (ENS)—The Orange lodge sponsored a very successful card party and box social. Eight tables were in play for cards. William Edwards was auctioneer for the boxes. The evening's proceeds, $32.00, will go towards buying new chairs for the hall.

Prizes were: lucky chair, Mrs. Reg. Williams; spot prize, Allan Oliver; high for cards, Percy Little and Mrs. Ivan Clysdale; low, James Dockerl and Mrs. William Crowe.

Liaison Officer Describes Integration In Three Phases

Three phases of integration of the immigrant into Canadian life, as they are seen by the liaison officer for the Department of Citizenship and Immigration, were outlined to Local Council of Women Thursday afternoon by Miss Constance Hayward of Ottawa.

The address, titled "Citizenship" included suggestions on how to be good citizens toward immigrants, the first step for the Canadian being to realize what the newcomer is up against. For instance, Miss Hayward said she knew of one who had been quite worried about a blank cheque book which in his country was the the same as a signed bond. Another had been embarrassed by the Canadian habit of not shaking hands which was a custom in her country.

Miss Hayward said at this point she always qotes the immigrant who said to her "I like Canadians all right now that I have gotten used to their queer ways." This points up a fact which very few Canadians ever consider.

In the first phase of immigration the newcomer adopt enough of Canadian manners to give him a feeling of assurance, Miss Hayward has observed. He is also learning the language during this time. In the second phase he has a need for more knowledge of Canada such as the social and economic problems. When the final phase is reached, the immigrant feels he is a part of the community and is accepted without being marked off.

Most communities hade a coordinating committee (called by various names in various places) which contacts these newcomers, inviting them to a party or some social gathering. They are most easily found through the language classes, but the committees also make us of the ethnic societies and the churches.

Miss Hayward advised [illegible] some places, information [illegible] newcomer needs to know first, such as how to shop in a chain food store, etc., has been prepared in simple English by the co-ordinating committee, and copies made available in various public places.

Opportunity to introduce the newcomer to organizations or clubs he will be interested in exists in the second phase. Miss Hayward cautioned that he will want to be accepted as in individual now, not as an immigrant. She said the Home and School Association is one of the best places because of the common interest of children.

'Remember that integration is something you do with, and not to, people", said Miss Hayward. "We have learned in the past few years that assimilation is a process which the immigrant does not do all by himself, as we had previously thought."

She defined "integration" as the building up of a whole by parts that are in some ways distinctive. "The unity is the common bond of citizenship."

The interest being shown in citizenship today has been helped by the newcomers and Canadians have a new connotation of immigration, and now recognize there are many cultural groups. "In practice we show what we really believe citizenship to be," she concluded.

Miss Hayward was introduced by the convener of citizenship and immigration for the Council, Mrs. James McClenaghan, and was thanked by the laws convener, Mrs. F. W. Harris.

In the audience were two immigrants who are now in the third phase, she mentioned, Mrs. John Lenart and Miss Bea Pelsis.

Home and School Association News

Home and School Council met Wednesday evening at the YWCA with some students from the Ontario Teachers' College being present.

In absence of Mrs. V. Reynolds, the meeting was presided over by Mrs. F. Gray, vice-president. Opening devotions were led by Miss E. Spence of Armour Heights School. Mrs. C. G. Collins outlined the radio program until the close of the school term.

Feature of the meeting was a parent education play, the "Case of the Missing Handshake", presented by some members of the Confederation Home and School Association. Those taking part were Mrs. A. Watkins, Mrs. H. Sutton, Heather Powell and Mr. Clare Jones. Stage manager was Miss E. Carroll, and director Mr. G. Hagerman.

The play was introduced by Mrs. L. Raper, who also led the lively discussion which followed the play. The cast was thanked by Mrs. D. Rostocky.

Members of Queen Elizabeth school were hostesses for the social hour which followed.

Operating Table To Be Aux. Project

A table for the operating room at St. Joseph's Hospital was decided on Thursday evening as the 1954 project of the Ladies' Auxiliary.

Ways and means convener Mrs. M. Armistage outlined the plans now being carried out in preparation for the first money-making event toward this end, the annual Violet Day which will be April 24.

A membership drive is now underway and results so far are very satisfactory, with increases being shown, convener Mrs. Leo Martyn reported.

President Mrs. J. L. Paquette presided and heard reports from all committees. The meeting was opened by Sister Josepha, Mother Superior.

Lakefield IODE Holds Bridge

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—The Catherine Parr Traill chapter IODE held a successful St. Patrick's bridge on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. A. W. Newson. The regent, Mrs. T. W. Chaplin, welcomed the guests.

The tea table decorations, the work of Mrs. William O'Brien, drew many favorable comments. A cloth with shamrocks covered the table and centering it was a Irish couple made of potatoes. Green and white candles and a green top hat, said to have been worn by St. Patrick himself, completed the arrangements.

Prizes were won by Mrs. L. Griffith, Mrs. A. W. Stewart, Mrs. N. McPherson, Mrs. G. Winder Smith, Miss K Westlake and Mrs. G. Staples.

During the evening, Mrs. Donald Hendren sang some Irish songs, accompanied by Mrs. Smith.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and her committee.

Education Theme Of Stirling WI

STIRLING (ENS)—The members of Stirling Women's Institute met in the community hall for their March meeting with a good attendance.

President Mrs. S. McMurray opened the meeting with the WI Ode and repeating the Mary Stewart collect. The minutes were read by Mrs. E. Foster and approved. Mrs. [illegible] West, treasurer, gave the financial report. It was decided to hold a Work Day on March 18, with a pot-luck dinner at 12 o'clock.

Mrs. George Sarles presented a paper on "Education Principles" and why a child must be educated.

The meeting closed with the Lord's Prayer. Conveners were Mrs. S. McMurray, Mrs. S. Kirby and Mrs. Maggie Ward.

Cliff Scriver directed the show.

Something New A Mystery Tea

All mysteries are not stories. There is a "Mystery Tea" to take place this Saturday at the Mark St. church, and since there has never been an affair just like this in Peterborough before, it seems to be a real mystery to all except the two WA groups who are arranging it. The hours are from four to seven and the gentlemen are invited as well as the ladies, with children under 12 years to be admitted free with their parents. Two clues to the "mystery" discovered so far are: There will be a menu; Irish dishes are to be served. Coconveners are Mrs. H. Allen and Mrs. Robert Russell.

Explain 4-H Plan To Hall's Glen WI

HALLS GLEN (ENS) — The Women's Institute met in the hall with 17 members present. The president, Mrs. Ralph Hamilton, presided.

Society Presents Irish Comedy

MARMORA (ENS) — A three-act comedy in which in turn each character becomes intensely suspicious of the sanity of the others was presented by the dramatic club of the Sacred Heart church in the Sacred Heart parish hall on the evening of St. Patrick's Day before a record audience. "The Nutt Family" with a well chosen cast, directed by [illegible] added another chapter to the annals of the club. The scene of the play is the living room of Crestdale a large summer home formerly a sanitarium for patients with nervous ailments and the arrival there of a Dr. Nutt, his wife and son and daughter, the former to purchase it through the medium of a real estate agent, entails situations for each of the family from which they find it difficult to extricate themselves.

Following is the cast: Dr. P. Nutt (Phineas), William Meehan; Meta Nutt, his wife, Mrs. P. Brawley; Ima Nutt, their daughter, Miss Verna Black; Wall Nutt, their son, James Hughes; Orestus, colored caretaker, James Black; Sylvia Gaylord, a movie star; Cerise, her colored maid, Mrs. Patricia Clairmont, Mrs. H. Brady; Bea Wise, a real estate agent, Mrs. C. Crawford; Helene Shelton, owner of "Crestdale" Mrs. C. Brady; Larry Smart, in trouble, Leonard Begley; Vivian Tepper, his aunt, Miss Mary Huges; Charlotte Neal, charming young girl, Miss Anne Clairmont; Lila, an unexpected arrival, Mrs. J. Loveless. Before the first act, a quartette of colored boys namely Pat Bertrand, James Terrion, Ford Woodhouse and Jack Grant sang some choruses with Jim Terrion doing a step dance.

Between the first and second acts, Dean H. J. Farrell of Perth, former parish priest sang "The Rose of Tralee" and "Galway Bay."

An Irish fantasy was presented with Carl Clemens as narrator of Irish history. Others in the cast were Emerald Isle, Mary Nicholson; Faith, Joanne Bertrand; King Malachi O'Reilly, James Shannon; Shamrock, Rosemary Brady; Fairy, Kathleen Jones; Wild Irish Rose, Dianne Belanger; John the Leprachaun, Barry Mantle; Spirit of Erin, Susan Callery.

Dressed according to their [illegible] these young people [illegible] their offering with the chorus, "Did You Ever Hear the Story How Old Ireland Got Its Name?"

Between the second and third acts an Irish jig was danced by the cousins Rosemary and Mary Louise Brady.

Pianists for the evening were Mrs. Kay McCoy, Mrs. James Black and Mrs. Hugh Brady. The cast was served refreshments by members of the Catholic Women's League.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Woman Ashamed Of Friend She Sponsored For Her Club

DEAR MISS DIX: I am faced with a very delicate problem that really is a puzzle.

Several months ago a young couple moved into our neighborhood, and we struck up a friendship. Our children played together and, while we never became overly intimate, we did go out together, baby-sit for each other, etc.

Through this friendship, and a few other circumstances, the girl joined a club to which I have belonged for 10 years. This is a group of very fine women, members who are not addicted to repeating gossip or carrying tales, yet the newcomer did exactly that. She has turned out to be a social climber, willing to use anyone and do anything to attain her particular end. Owing to some of her doings, which I would not care to repeat, our friendship ended. Since I feel responsible for introducing her to the club, I wonder whether I should withdraw from it. While most of the women realize the sort of person she is, others are openly on her side, and are actually upholding her unethical practices.

Helene G.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Don't let an interloper push you from a group with which you have worked so long and faithfully. And don't magnify your own guilt in introducing the obnoxious member. Things like that will happen and the lesson learned will make you, as well as other members of the club, more careful in the future. The serious trouble at present seems to be the rift made by one person in a group that was quite closely knit. The widening dissension may possibly make this break permanent, and there's not much that you, as an individual, can do about it.

AVOID BACKBITING CHARGE

Any attempts you make to warn the lady's friends against her will be construed as backbiting, or as a desire to work off a personal grudge. Avoid this by all means. Maintain the friendliness toward her that group work demands, be pleasant at other times. Try, by cultivating other friendships, to divert your children from hers, but don't make an issue of forbidding all association between your youngsters and hers.

Being able to handle a delicate situation like this tactfully, without rancor or ostensible unpleasantness, is the hallmark of intelligence. You have integrity and can hold your own in these circumstances. Don't let yourself be pushed into a corner.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Six months ago I had a boy friend who was 18—one year older than myself. We live about 50 miles apart. He's very nice, and I fell in love with him. I know he likes me, but he goes with other girls, and only calls me when he hasn't another date. He knows I like him. How can I win him?

MARTHA.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: By patience, mostly. The boy is very young, and is doing exactly the right thing by dating several girls. You are probably misjudging his attitude when you infer that he comes for you only when he's dateless. I'm sure with all the other dates he has, he wouldn't come 50 miles to see you unless he was sincerely interested. Do try to remember that most boys of 18 like a girl who is a pleasant, agreeable companion. Continue in that role and you may get to be leading lady.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My neighbor visits me two or three times a day, and lets her children romp all over the place. My own youngsters have been brought up to respect a well-ordered house. How can I tell this neighbor that I don't like her children's behavior, yet remain friends with her?

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I would be easier to stop the sun in its course. A mother will take almost anything in stride — except criticism of her young. However, before your nervous system goes berserk, it might be better for you to remonstrate with her and take a chance.

TWO FASHIONS to be modelled in the International Collection of Couturier Fashions presented for the first time this season in Canada in Montreal next week. Designer Jean Desses (left) goes back to the shepherdess of Versailles for this gala evening gown in champagne lace of acetate and silk. Its handkerchief pointed skirt is banded in pale pink grosgrain ribbon. A touch of pink also appears at the flattering new neckline, which dips low in the back and swirls out in a petal formation in the front. Schiaparelli uses jersey of acetate (right) for her "Abracadabra" dress in navy-violet hue—no hooks, buttons or fastenings—that slips on like magic and molds itself in a fluid line. Note the beautiful drapery at the off-shoulder neckline and flattering hipline; the reed-slim skirt that scoops up on the side for easy walking.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Readers' Friday Column

QUESTION: Would you please help me with a few of my baking problems? Now that we have a propane stove my cakes raise very high, but when they are ¾ done they drop about an inch, my angel food drops about 1½ inches, also my chiffon cakes. I have the glass in front of my oven and I never open it until it is in the right time and then I usually have to bake it about 10 to 15 minutes overtime. . . would you please send me an angel cake recipe, which I could bake on a propane stove without dropping, and a very light in color fruit cake, and could I use cake flour for fruit cake?

MRS. G. T.

ANSWER: Because you said you had to leave the cakes in overtime that gave me a clue, for whether your fuel is electricity or natural or manufactured gas or propane does not figure. It is the temperature that does. Your oven thermometer must be registering low. Try setting the control 25 deg. higher than you have been. If you have to still bake the cake overtime boost the temperature a little higher. I have mailed you the recipe for white fruit cake which appeared on this pag Nov. 30. Many readers wrote to me saying it was tops.

ANGEL FOOD ((10-inch tube)

(Please do exactly as recipe says if you want your cake to be tender and fluffy.)

Sift cake flour and measure 1 cup; sift it 3 times with ⅞ cup granulated sugar (⅞ cup is 1 measuring cup less 2 level tablespoons.) Onto a large deep plater or into a large mixing bowl measure 1½ cups egg whites (about 12), 1½ teaspoons cream of tartar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1½ teaspoons vanilla, ½ teaspoon almond flavoring, and beat these with wire whip until [illegible] but not at all stiff, then [illegible] tablespoons sprinkled over at a time, an additional ¾ cup granulated sugar (making 1½ cups sugar in all). Beat until this meringue-like mixture will stand up in stiff peaks. Then sift over it in about 3 siftings the sifted-together flour and sugar mixture, folding gently until flour-sugar mixture just disappears. Push this batter into your ungreased 10-inch tube pan. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 35 to 45 minutes. (In your case, Mrs. G. T. I would raise the temperature to 375 deg Fahr. to see if it is the thermometer on your propane stove that is registering too low. If it still takes more time than 45 minutes at 375 raise it to 400 and try again.) Your propane stove thermostat may need re-calibrating. Let me know how you make out.

QUESTION: I would like to have a few friends in for breakfast and would like to have some suggestions from you as to what would be nice to serve, apart from the usual grapefruit, bacon, eggs, toast and coffee. This is to be very informal, but I would like something different. Could you help me. I would like to have a copy of your recipe for Six In One cookies.

MRS. A. L.

ANSWER: I sure can help and would love to. Why not have a mixed grill? Grilled lambs' kidneys, fluffy scrambled eggs with bits of crisp bacon in them, maybe grilled boneless smoked kippers. Then there are popovers or hot cornmeal gems, or warm freshly made coffee cake. Buy some unusual marmalade such as lemon or ginger. Serve cafe au lait, French style — that is half double-strength coffee and half boiling hot whole milk. A fruit that we found popular at a breakfast party was ice cold canned fancy figs. If you decide on grapefruit you could section them in the half-skins by cutting out with scissors the membrane after it is loosened from the pulp, with a knife, and insert wafer-thin slices of banana, between the pulp pieces, and a cherry—green—at centre.

I've mailed the six-in-one cookie recipe.

WI Hears District History

WESTWOOD (ENS) — The Women's Institute met in the community hall Tuesday afternoon, with 14 members present.

A St. Patrick's Day program was enjoyed sponsored by the [illegible] committee: Mrs. William Post, Mrs. E. Puffer, Mrs F. Faux, Mrs. R. Walsh, Mrs. A. Wood and Mrs. H. Neilson. Each member was responsible for an item.

A humorous reading "A letter to the gang back home," by Mrs. Walsh and "Only a pen" was read by Mrs. F. Faux.

A contest on Irish cities was won by a group: Mrs. R. Wilson, Mrs. Walsh and Miss M. Comstock. A St. Patrick's contest was won by Mrs. F. Neilson. Mrs. Post was the winner of a game, and also displayed a hooked mat made from nylon stockings.

An historical sketch of pioneer families of the north shore of Rice Lake, principally in Asphodel and southern Otonabee, compiled by F. Everet Birdsall, was read.

This account will be preserved in the Westwood Tweedsmuir History book. Mr. Birdsall told of the Indians who camped on their shores every summer; of their habits and customs and said his family had always found them to be honest and friendly.

Many names of early settlers were mentioned and their methods and manner of developing the new, unbroken country.

One particular incident involved [illegible] lawsuit ever held in Peterborough. The northeast corner of Georeg and Simcoe Sts was a crown lot, owned by Richard Birdsall, four generations ago. In 1828, he sold it to John Graves for $30.00 to be paid in wagon and cart wheels. Graves sold it to John Crawford, but no payment was made to Mr. Birdsall. John Crawford moved a house onto it by ox team and then refused to move. This preamble caused the first lawsuit in Peterborough, of which Mr. Birdsall was the winner.

In conclusion, Mr. Birdsall recorded everything is constantly changing. The Indian no longer paddles his canoe; he uses an outboard motor. The passing boats have registry in perhaps Rochester, New York or Hamilton. The cars you meet on the roads may be from Ohio, New Mexico or Michigan and the numerous cottages on the shores are occupied by residents of West Virginia, New York, Illinois or Canadian cities, all looking for recreation either in fishing or just relaxing.

Children's Aid Society

From time to time the children's aid society is asked to take on responsibilities usually associated with some provincial or national service.

At the present time the society when requested by the director of family allowances reports on situations in regard to the allowances being paid for rcertain children. Thesee requests may be the result of complaints forwarded to the director of family allowances about missuse of funds, it may be difficulty in regard to birth certificates of the children or it may be a uestion as to whom the allowance should be paid when parents are living apart. The society itself does not accept complaints directly but such complaints may be forwarded to the director of family allowances in Toronto.

The society has found that on the whole family allowances are used for the benefit of the children and this is borne out by the fact that in 1953 only six requests for reports were received.

Another service being given at the present time is to the Official Guardian in cases of divorce where there are children under 16 years of age. An act, called the Matrimonial Causes Act, provides that in such divorce cases a report be made giving a picture of the situation particularly as it relates to future plans for the children. This report is to help in deciding who should have the custody of the children.

All the services mentioned in the articles, 'Your Children's Aid Society' are given by the Peterborough society to people living in the city and county of Peterborough and to all regardless of race or religion. They are given by a staff at the office, corner Brock and Sheridan streets, consisting of a superintendent, four social workers, a bookkeeper and a stenographer and at the children's home, 140 Princess street, by a matron and caretaker.

A board of directors of 30 members, serving without remuneration, is responsible for seeing that the work of the Society is carried out and for providing adeuate facilities and finances. Field supervisors from the division of child welfare of the province also have a responsibility in seeing that certain functions are carried out and for giving advice when it is requested.

Perhaps you may feel there is no place for you to give of your services when the staff, board and supervisors seem to do all of the work. Next week we will tell you some of the volunteer work done for the children's aid society.

Cure, Prevention Theme of WI Meet

CAVAN (ENS)—Cavan WI met at the home of Mrs. W. Robins on Tuesday evening.

There were about 30 present. The president Mrs. D. Nill opened the meeting with Institute Ode and Mary Stewart Collect. She then introduced Miss Raikes the school health nurse who gave a short talk on TB and its cure.

W. Elson assisted by Peter Crawley of Millbrook showed two instructive films showing what could be done for TB if caught in its earliest stages. Miss Railkes then explained the need for cod liver oil for small children of preschool age particularly and answered a number of questions on the help the government is giving to stamp out the disease, stressing the need of buying Christmas seals and giving aid to affected families.

The president brought some discussion on sending some financial help to widows of Korea and $10 was voted for that purpose.

Mrs. N. Braithwaite said she still needed about 10 blocks for crazy quilt and asked that blocks be left at her home.

The WI are sponsoring a survey of the community for chest X-Rays in May to be held in Cavan. Mrs. G. Clarke's group are sponsoring a dance and basket social to be held in Cavan Community Hall on March 26.

Mrs. M. Pringle Resigns As Registry Head

A meeting of the board of the Community Nursing Registry was held Thursday in a classroom of the nurses' residence at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Mrs. Margaret Pringle's resignation as director of the registry, which had been before the board for some time, was accepted with regret. Mrs. E. Wellman was appointed to succeed her.

The following appointments were made to registry personnel, effective the first of April, 1954: director, Mrs. E. Wellman; night registrar, Mrs. A. Wade; relief registrar, Mrs. W. Jones.

The following committees were formed:

Finance: Ford Warren, chairman; Dr. W. I. Taylor, Don McGillis, Mrs. E. McIntyre, Miss K. Doherty, Mrs. E. Brackenridge, Max Swanston, Fred Overend, Mayor Norman Graham.

Registry committee: Miss S. Brown, chairman; Miss H. McGeary, Miss I. Corkery, Gordon Powell, Dr. H. M. Yelland.

Public relations: Don McGillis, chairman; Dr. W. I. Taylor, Miss R. Cunningham, Mrs. J. McParlan, J. Brown, Miss C. Sorby, Dr. H. M. Yelland.

Credential committee: Sister Gonzaga, chairman; Miss E. Robson, Miss S. Brown, Miss K. Doherty, Miss S. Wood.

Educational Committee: Dr. R. Chenoweth, chairman, Mrs. R. McIntyre, Miss M. McIlwen, Mrs. J. Ryan, Dr. R. Bell, Dr. C. F. Cahill, Miss H. McGeary, Mrs. P. Barton.

Nominating Committee: Miss S. Wood, chairman, Miss K. Doherty, Miss R. Cunningham.

It was decided by the board that efforts should be made to enlist the support of all the graduate nurses in the city with a view to obtaining as associate members those graduate nurses who are not at the moment interested in becoming full members.

The associate member fee will be $1. Mrs. J. Ryan was appointed convener of the associate membership drive.

Financial statements for operations from the first of January to the 15th of March were presented showing a small credit balance on operations for the first two and a half months of this year.

Ford Warren, as chairman of the finance committee, is assisting the registry in establishing their operating budget.

Government Contracts Given To 3 Car Plants

OTTAWA (CP) — Federal contracts totalling $4,359,000 have been awarded to Chrysler, Ford and General Motors, the three major car manufacturers in Canada.

A contract valued at $2,089,000 was awarded General Motors at Oshawa for cargo trucks and parts. One to Ford at Windsor, Ont., for maintenance spares was valued at $1,150,000 and another to Chrysler at Windsor at $1,120,000, also for spares.

Wanted In Lindsay Caught In St. Thomas

LINDSAY (ENS) — Wanted by Lindsay police for forging and uttering a worthless cheque, Victor Bezzo was arrested this week in St. Thomas on a similar charge.

Chief John Hunter said today that the charge in Lindsay against Bezzo was of cashing a worthless cheque for $35 at a service station in January. The charge will be sent through to St. Thomas to be disposed of there.

Ontario MPPs Suggest Slogan Be Used On Licence Plates Issued In 1955

TORONTO (CP)—Inclusion of a slogan on the 1955 licence plates will be recommended to the department of highways.

The proposal was made today by the Ontario legislature's committee on travel and publicity on a motion by B. L. Cathcart (PC—Lambton West).

Committee members bandied about several suggested slogans but reached no decision.

Mr. Cathcart's suggested "Tourist Paradise" brought a chorus of "Ughs."

"Stranger in Paradise," quipped Alfred Cowling (PC—Toronto High Par).

"The Progressive Province'—with 'Conservative' written in small letters," suggested G. C. Wardrope (PC—Port Arthur).

H. F. Fishleigh (PC — Toronto Woodbine) offered "Ontario Canada" as a means of advertising the province and country to United States residents.

W. J. Stewart (PC — Toronto Parkdale) wanted the emblem of the crown retained.

Don't Intend Buy Off Reds U.S. Indicates

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — French hopes that the United States will try to buy peace in Indo-China by making concessions to the Chinese Communists seem destined to end in disappointment.

A check of official opinion indicated that the U.S. has no intention of holding out to Red China at the forthcoming Geneva conference on Far East peace problems either the prospect of recognition or the lure of trade as payments for peace.

There have been news reports from Paris that at least some responsible French leaders believe only such U.S. inducements can offer any real hope of an end to the Indo-China fighting.

U.S. officials do not necessarily agree with this point of view. There is no indication that the Reds at Peiping care about U. S. recognition or are enough in interested in trade. But the U.S. to obtaining

DIFFERENT APPROACHES

The real difficulty between Washington and Paris however is their different approaches to the problem of Indo-China peace. The French are said to feel under pressure to get peace in Indo-China at some price. But the U.S. has been willing to consider only a settlement which would secure the strategic land against new Communist aggression.

Diplomatically the French and U.S. governments have handled the problem gingerly.

In the Geneva talks, the world powers will tackle first the problem of Korea and second that of Indo-China.

Youth Had Liquor Fined $100

LINDSAY (ENS) — Charged under a new section of the Criminal Code, Howard Sedore, 18, of Brown Hill, near Sutton, Ont., was fined the maximum $100 and $2.50 costs or three months in jail in magistrate's court today when he was found guilty of having beer while prohibited and unqualified.

The charge was laid after OPP Constable Clive Naismith investigated a suspicious car February 27 on Highway 7. He found five occupants ranging in age from 12 to 19 with part of a large case of beer.

He testified that the driver of the car, Fred Roberts, 17, and another passenger, Louis Rose, 19, as well as Sedore had been drinking.

They at first refused to say who owned the beer, but when he threatened to charge all five with possession of it, Sedore admitted ownership.

However, in court today, Sedore refused to say who had supplied him with the beer although he was questioned closely by Magistrate R. I. Moore and threatened with a month in jail for withholding information. He said he couldn't remember the name of the man.

It is the first time in Lindsay that anyone has been charged under this section of the act.

With The Boy Scouts

TRINITY 16TH TROOP

The weekly meeting was held on Wednesday, with 22 Scouts in attendance.

After the opening, a new Scout, David Hancock, was welcomed to the troop and took his place as a tenderfoot in the Beaver Patrol.

After a lively game, the instruction period commenced. Ab. Thompson continued his course in semaphore with 12 first and second class Scouts while the tenderfoots were instructed by the Scoutmaster.

The evening was rounded off by knot relay organized on a patrol competition basis and points were awarded for the Honour Patrol Flag. Following the closing, the Court of Honour discussed plans for a hike, tentatively scheduled for April 3.

Plan Modern Plant

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Vancouver News-Herald announced Thursday it will establish a modern publishing office and plant here this year. The announcement was timed to coincide with the 21st anniversary of the morning daily newspaper.

Estimated cost of the project was not announced.

Obituary

JOHN FRANCIS QUIRK

A veteran of the British Navy in the Boer War and in First World War, John Francis (Paddy) Quirk of 214 Braidwood avenue died at St. Joseph's hospital Thursday after a long illness.

Born in Ireland 82 years ago, Mr. Quirk married an Irish girl, Kathleen McMahon. After serving through two wars with the British Navy he moved to Canada and settled in Peterborough, 40 years ago.

Mr. Quirk is survived by one son, John Quirk, also of Peterborough.

The funeral service will be held Monday from the Anglesey funeral home to St. John the Baptist church of which Mr. Quirk was a parishioner. Requiem mass will be held at 9 a.m. and burial will be in St

Talk Mossadegh Out Of Strike

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Ex-premier Mohammed Mossadegh, 74, was talked out of a new hunger strike Thursday by army chief prosecutor Brig. Hossein deh, an informed source said today.

Mossadegh, in an effort to force the authorities into faster action on his appeal against an army court's three-year solitary confinement sentence, proclaimed a hunger strike in the morning, the informant said, and passed up breakfast and lunch.

His action followed a letter by Mossadegh to the president of the army revision court complaining "my bowl of patience has overflowed."

Mossadegh was sentenced Dec. 21 after conviction on charges that he sought to overthrow the shah.

The informant said Azemodeh told Mossadegh the delay is not the army court's fault but is caused by the fact Mossadegh's case has 1,000 pages—all of which must be studied by the judges. He assured Mossadegh the government is anxious for an early trial.

Jebb Thinks Chinese Should Join UN

LONDON (AP) — Britain's former United Nations delegate, Sir Gladwyn Jebb, thinks the Communist Chinese should be admitted to the United Nations as soon as most UN members believe the Reds "have purged themselves of their aggression and are not likely to engage in a further one."

He spoke Thursday night at the annual dinner of the Pilgrims, a society for promoting British-American understanding, a few hours after Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., United States delegate to the UN, told a press conference in New York that he would use the veto if necessary to bar the Chinese Reds.

Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold of the UN, another guest at the Pilgrims dinner, backed up Jebb's sentiments, saying: "If the world organization is a 'sheer necessity' in President Eisenhower's words and a 'heart's desire' in Sir Winston Churchill's, then the representatives of all the main centres of power in the world must be there."

Demonstrators Smash Consulate Windows

ATHENS, Greece (Reuters) — Anti-British demonstrators have smashed windows in the British consulate at Rhodes, in the Dodecanese islands, it was reported here today.

The demonstrations followed the arrival in Rhodes Thursday of Archbishop Makarios, leader of a Cyprus movement demanding union of the British colony with Greece.

Sir Charles Peake, British ambassador here, has lodged a protest with the Greek government against the demonstrations.

Young Soldier To See Service 3 Continents

PTE. RAYMOND FEELEY

A 19-year-old Peterborough boy, Pte. Raymond Feeley, left Canada today for 19 month's duty in Korea when the Hastings and King Edward Regiment sailed from Quebec.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Geoffery Feeley, 1035 Western Ave., Pte. Feeley returned to Canada in November, 1953, after serving with his regiment in Germany for 12 months. He first joined the army at the age of 16.

His brother Tommy, 18, is also serving in the army and is presently stationed in Quebec. He expects to begin a period of duty in Korea this summer.

Will Aid Twins

INDIANAPOLIS (CP) — Physicians were hopeful today that x-ray photos taken of the Hartley twins will show the cause of breathing and circulation difficulties.

The three-month-old twins have two heads and four arms attached to a single torso. The circulatory disorder has appeared only in the left twin, Daniel Kaye Hartley.

The x-rays were made after the boys were brought to the James Whitcomb Riley Children's Hospital in Indianapolis Thursday from the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Hartley, in Petersburg, Ind.

The hospital said today the twins' condition was fair, although they still are on the critical list. Oxygen has been administered frequently.

Industrials, Oils Strong On Market

TORONTO (CP)—Industrials and western oils were strong and active in early afternoon stock market trading today as other groups were steady.

Although western oils retained the market lead, they were slipping a little under profit-taking pressure. Industrials were moderately strong in mixed trading. Golds, uraniums and base metals were steady with gains and losses in balance.

Utilities, papers, foods, financial institutions and refining oils were stronger in moderate industrial trading. Liquors and motors were slightly lower and constructions and steels were steady.

Most mining activity was in base metals where seniors were stronger but juniors and Manitouwadge-area issues slipped. Uraniums were mixed. Golds were quietly lower in all categories.

Raising African Violets Explained To WI

BAILIEBORO (ENS)—The Bailieboro Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Douglas Fisher on Tuesday afternoon with a large attendance.

It was voted to send a donation of $25 to the Gideon Society, and also $25 to the Crippled Children's Fund.

The committee reminded the members of the baking sale to be held March 27.

Mrs. John Gaynor had charge of the program. She gave a very interesting paper on "African Violets and How to Grow Them."

The lucky ticket on a potted African violet donated by Mrs. John Gaynor was won by Mrs. Alex Watt.

The door prize and lucky chair were won by Mrs. Ted Grey and Mrs. Harold Thorne. These were donated by the hostess.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Fisher and the committee in charge.

Dance Star Five Years 'Congo Prince' Just Hoax

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—"Prince Onaga of the Watsui in the Belgian Congo"—star of a five-year song-and-dance hoax and of television shows and a movie—turns out to be plain Fred Williams of East St. Louis.

But Fred refuses to abdicate.

"I think a black face should be somebody," the middle-aged son of a Negro laborer said today.

Before Williams and his wife donned their regal robes, he said, they often were hungry. Then he discovered it was so much easier for a royal dance team to find work than for two ordinary dancers.

APPEARANCE CANCELLED

The Williams' scheduled appearance at Memorial Auditorium here April 5 has been cancelled.

"It was a bit unfair of the immigration people to reveal this now, just before our concert," he complained. "I haven't passed any bad cheques or hurt anyone. The people have got their money's worth from our shows."

People have been seeing Fred and his wife on tours of the United States and Canada, on television; in the movie "King Solomon's Mines," at opera and ballet first nights.

Williams was exposed because the Belgian consul-general here couldn't understand why a Watusi prince who'd been here for days hadn't made an official call. He queried the immigration office.

Williams later told reporters:

"Princehood was conferred on me by a secret cult of Africans in New York." He insisted he still be called prince.

5 INJURED IN TRAIN-TAXI COLLISON

THREE HOSPITALIZED IN CAR-TRAIN CRASH — Three Peterborough people, Miles Rundel, Mrs. Florence Rundle and their daughter, Ann, were hospitalized today when the taxi in which they were riding collided with the Belleville-Peterborough CNR train at Townsend St. Stewart Rundle and Leona Lucano were also taken to hospital but after treatment were released. The 1954 model taxi, owned by Richard Toner who was unhurt, was completely wrecked into a v-shape when dragged 200 feet down the track. Taxi drivers, Phil Rochetta, Harry Dunford and Wilf Phillips (top photo) look over the wreck as trainmen gather information. Rail signals (behind car, lower photo) were also damaged. —(Examiner Staff Photos)

Rail Service Disrupted On Two Lines

Cab Demolished In Crash At Track Diamond

A train-car collision about 7 a.m. today on Townsend St., sent five people to hospital, demolished a taxi, and disrupted train schedules on both CNR and CPR lines passing through Peterborough.

The taxi, owned and driven by Richard Toner, 41, of 832 Lansdonwe St., collided with the CNR Belleville-Lindsay morning train and was dragged about 200 feet. The driver and his five passengers escaped death in the mangled car. Three were admitted to hospital and two more received treatment for bruises as out patients.

Most seriously injured is Miles Rundle, 41, of 429 Arndon St., who suffered a fractured jaw, concussion and a lacerated right hand. His condition is satisfactory. Also in hospital are his wife Florence Rundle, 39, with a lacerated foot, and 18-year-old Ann with a lacerated forehead and bruised back. Stewart Rundle, 10, and Leona Lucano, 20, of 513 Albert St., were treated at Civic Hospital and released. The driver, Mr. Toner, was shaken up but required no medical treatment.

Police reported Toner as admitting he had failed to look for approaching trains at the intersection.

FLAG DOWN TRAINS

The accident occurred just north of a track diamond where CPR and CNR trains criss-cross while approaching the centre of the city from the east. Three CPR trains, one a special to the Sportsmen's Show in Toronto, were flagged down and required to wait until the CNR train involved in the accident, backed out of the way. P. E. Cotton and J. Graham were identified as conductor and engineer of the train by police.

The other two trains delayed were the 7:10 a.m. to Toronto and a small freight which were following each other on the line.

Both City and Nisbett ambulances arrived quickly at the scene, but only one was required to transport Mr. and Mrs. Rundle to hospital. The other three were taken for treatment in a police cruiser.

In addition to the complete loss of the taxi valued at $2,400, a CNR signal switch and tower located at the intersection, were damaged.

PC Edward Patterson investigated.

Ah Spring

NEW YORK (AP) — Spring arrives tonight. The vernal equinox will occur at 10:54 p.m. EST. With the end of winter the axis of the earth will be at right angles to the direction of the sun. Day and night are equal the world over at the equinox.

Flying Boxcar Crashes In U.S. 18 Said Killed

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Wreckage and parachute-draped bodies littered a cornfield where a big United States Air Force plane crashed in flames Friday night, killing all 18 aboard.

It grazed the edge of a wooded area and exploded at or shortly before the crash, scattering its victims over several acres of the rain-soaked farm.

The C-119 crash was one of two involving USAF planes Friday night, At Amelia, Va., an air force B-26 crashed into a swampy area and exploded, and police reports indicated all aboard were killed.

NUMBER UNKNOWN

The exact number on the plane, en route from Vance air force base, Enid, Okla., to Langley air force base near Washington, could not be determined.

Virtually all the victims of the C-119 crash appeared to have been military personnel. Pieces of sailors' uniforms were found on the fringe of the crash scene. There was also a sleeve bearing the chevrons of a marine corporal.

For a radius of 500 yards pieces of the plane, bodies and parts of bodies lay under the harsh glare of ambulance and fire-truck searchlights. Red-and-white striped parachutes had been spread over some of the victims.

Far East Approach Big Difference With Canada-U.S.

CHICAGO (AP)—L. B. Pearson, Canada's external affairs minister, said Friday night that the principal differences between Canada and the United States centre on the approach to the Far Eastern democracies such as Pakistan and India and the part they should play in the security of the free world.

Addressing the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations, Pearson also cited the differences between the Canadian and the American outlook toward Communist China.

"There is a strong attitude against recognition of the regime in the United States," Pearson said. But we in Canada are a little more cautious. We feel that if there are no new aggressions in the near future [illegible] another look at that problem — a more realistic, less emotional [illegible] earlier.

Pearson mentioned Canada's misgivings about State Secretary Dulles' "new look" announcement on U.S. military and foreign policy —the policy of instant retaliation.

Referring to assurances given in Washington Friday by Dulles, that NATO members would be consulted before retaliation occurred, Pearson said: "The misgivings have faded away."

Asked about Canada's support of U.S. policy, Pearson replied:

"You can, of course, count on us for support, as you can count on us for criticism when we think you are wrong."

Asked about the Canadian seaway, Pearson said:

"If Congress doesn't act in the present session to make it an international seaway, I can assure you that this summer we will begin a Canadian seaway. But the use of that seaway will be without discrimination."

Canada, he assured another questioner, is abiding by the NATO agreement not to send strategic materials behind the Iron Curtain "but that doesn't mean we should shut off all trade with China."

Earlier today Pearson said "a sense of perspective, a sense of balance and a sense of humor" are necessary in international dealings.

APPLAUDS PEARSON

NEW YORK (CP)—The New York Times says today in an editorial that External Affairs Minister Pearson again has stressed "the importance of Canada in our security and the necessity of keeping her fully informed and winning her support."

The Times, commenting on the Canadian minister's speech last Monday in which he said U.S. allies must be informed before the U.S. decided to retaliate against an attack, says "our good Canadian friend . . . told us in plain language that 'easy and automatic relations' between Canada and the United States were a thing of the past."

"He was right in the sense he meant it, which was that Canada was no longer willing to be 'merely an echo of somebody else's voice.'"

2 Miners Die In Nova Scotia Mine Blaze

GLACE BAY, N.S. (CP)—Fire system raged out of control through a coal tunnel [illegible] ground here today and two miners were known to have perished in the gas-filled shaft.

Another was missing and feared dead.

Draegermen, veteran mine rescue workers, toiled in the smoke and darkness all night trying to bring the menacing blaze in No. 26 colliery under control. They were repulsed many times by the searing heat.

The dead men were identified as Donald MacLellan, about 50, and Malcie O'Hanley, about 35. MacLellan rose to the stature of a hero some years ago by leading trapped miners to safety when an explosion tore through No. 25 colliery.

CHARGE FIRED

The entire night shift of several hundred men was working Friday night at 7 p.m. when the fire spurted out of control.

All except MacLellan and O'Hanley were believed to have escaped unhurt.

The colliery employs 1,000 men altogether.

The fire started when an explosive charge was fired into the coal face to loosen the coal. This normally causes a slight blaze but the one Friday night got out of control.

It turned the tunnel, which runs laterally between No. 26 and No. 1-B shafts, into an inferno. Company officials tried again and again to enter the tunnel for an inspection but smoke and flames beat them back.

A fourth draegerman relief squad went below ground early today in an attempt to deal off the tunnel and pump in water to put out the fire. Previous attempts failed.

Lawson Orders Change In Blood Transfusions

PORT COLBORNE (CP) — Dr. Smirle Lawson, Ontario's chief coroner, said Friday the technique of blood transfusion used on the late Mrs. Harold Knox last week must cease in the province and a new technique be put into practice.

Dr. Lawson spoke as presiding coroner at an inquest into the death of the 22-year-old mother. She died March 8 in Port Colborne General Hospital, four days after giving birth to her fourth child.

Testimony was that equipment used in the transfusion had no safety device and that no nurse was in Mrs. Knox's room when the blood bottle was drained. Air then entered her veins and heart, causing convulsion and death.

The five-man jury, which attached no blame to any person, recommended that the hospital's blood transfusion equipment be replaced with equipment having a safety valve pump. It als o recommended that, if the old technique is used, a qualified person be present constantly.

"Had someone been sitting there and shut off the bottle, the woman's life would have been saved," Dr. Lawson said.

NEW DEVICE AVAILABLE

He said that the old transfusion method, used on the battlefield during the Second World War, has been superseded by a safety device not yet in general use in Ontario hospitals but which has become available in recent weeks.

This device automatically shuts off a pressure valve when the blood bottle empties.

Dr. Lawson asked that photographs be taken of blood transfusion equipment, "new and defective," and published in newspapers across Canada to prevent another death.

"Things like this don't occur only in Port Colborne, but in Toronto and elsewhere," he said.

Dr. Lawson said he believed Dr. E. W. Mackenzie Jr., attending physician at the time of the transfusion, did "everything possible" to save the woman's life.

DOCTOR TELLS OF DEATH

Dr. Mackenzie testified he went to Mrs. Knox while the transfusion was going on. Blood had stopped flowing from the bottle into her veins, he said, and he used a pressure bulb to resume and hasten the flow by forcing air into the blood bottle.

He left the room to visit another patient, expecting the blood to take about an hour to enter Mrs. Knox's veins.

New Suspension Now Predicted

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto Telegram says today that investigation of irregularities in the Ontario highways department is expected to result "in at least one more suspension of a high official within two weeks."

The suspension of the department's chief engineer, C. H. Nelson, has already been announced by Highways Minister Doucett.

The Telegram says in a newspage story that enquiries by the provincial auditor and the specially-appointed firm of independent auditors ar being pressed and should be complete before a select committee of the legislature takes up the enquiry, probably next month.

The Toronto Star, meanwhile, quotes Albert Wren (Lib-Lab—Kenora) as saying that when the select committee convenes he will produce witnesses who will swear they were subject to pressure by highways department officials.

His Last - No Fooling

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Abbott said Friday night his April 6 budget will be his last—positively. "I though the 1953 one was going to be the last, but this one is it," he said in an interview.

Tank-Truck Hits Tree Sulphide Driver Injured

MADOC (Staff)—A tank-transport carrying 500 gallons of sulphuric acid crashed into a tree east of Madoc early Friday, critically injuring the driver, 25-year-old Fred White of Sulphide. His condition is reported improved today but he is still being x-rayed to determine the full extent of his injuries.

White was trapped in the burning cab of his truck for a couple of minutes but was pulled to safety by two nearby residents—Ted Meraw, a farmer, and Hugo Neumeyer, a recent German immigrant.

He was taken to Belleville hospital in critical condition. His injuries included a broken back, concussion, a possible fractured skull, a leg injury and shock.

The accident occurred at 10:30 a.m. on Highway 7, a half mile east of Madoc. White was taking a 500-gallon load of sulphuric acid from Sulphide to Deloro in a Provost Transport truck.

TIRE BLOWS OUT

Suddenly his left front tire blew out. The transport veered across the highway and struck a tree on the south shoulder.

The impact wrecked the cab of the transport and it toppled on its left side, temporarily trapping the driver. Then the spilled gasoline ignited and the cab burst into flames.

Seaway Park Being Planned

TORONTO (CP)—Plans for a parkland in conjunction with the St. Lawrence seaway which would rival Niagara as a recreation area and beauty spot are now on the drawing board, C. D. Crowe, deputy minister of travel and publicity, said Friday.

Speaking to the members of the legislature's committee on travel and publicity, Mr. Crowe said a large acreage of land has been set aside in the Morrisburg area for the project.

"It should eventually equal Niagara as a vacation playground," he said.

The committee recommended that the government appoint a select committee to study all aspects of the tourist trade.

Commitee chairman R. E. Elliott (PC—Hamilton East) said the province was planning the development of 60 parks under the new Parks Act now before the legislature.

U.S. Enlarges H-Danger Zone

TOKYO (AP)—The United States has enlarged the danger zone around its Pacific hydrogen bomb testing grounds where 23 Japanese fishermen were showered with radioactive ash March 1, Foreign minister Katsuo Okazaki said today.

Okazaki told the diet the Marshall island area barred to navigation during the tests now has a radius of 450 miles—considerably larger than the previous danger area.

Meanwhile, doctors said two new drugs will be used to treat radiation burns suffered by the Japanese fishermen injured in the March 1 hydrogen blast.

One is the American-developed EDTA (ethylen-diamin-tetraacetic acid). The other is Tokyo University's triloysin, which Dr. Kentaro Shimizu said helps build up white corpuscles destroyed by radiation.

White corpuscle counts of the two most badly burned sailors today were reported down to 4,200 and 4,800, from 6,000 each earlier in the week.

1 Dead, 4 Hurt In Wild Shooting

MONTREAL (CP) — Police said today that a 16-year-old girl was killed and four persons were injured by a man who wildly fired a gun in a St. Dominique street home.

Dead is Giselle Brunet. In hospital were her 53-year-old mother, Mrs. Joseph Brunet, her 24-year-old sister, Georgette, and Gerard Leveille, 38, and Armand Grenon, 37. The hospital reported condition of the wounded is not criticial.

Police said they were holding Eddie Lavigne, 47, for questioning in connection with the shooting.

Police said Lavigne spent the evening drinking with a brother of the dead girl.

Joseph Brunet told police he was asleep on the third floor of the building at the time of the shooting. When he got downstairs he found his daughter dead, another daughter shot in the mouth and his wife and two friends also suffering bullet wounds.

Police said the shots were fired from a .22-calibre automatic.

Plans were made for an inquest.

40 More Helicopters Urgent For Malaya

SINGAPORE (AP) — The Straits Times reported today that Gen. Sir Gerald Templer, British high commissioner, has sent an urgent call to the war office in London for at least 40 more helicopters for use in the jungle war against the Communists in Malaya.

Ten American - built helicopters are being used now to carry troops and supplies into jungle clearings and fly out spent troops and wounded.

Will Extend Municipal Grants

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance Minister Abbott today gave notice of government legislation to extend benefits of the Municipal Grants Act.

No details were given in the resolution placed on the Commons order paper.

However, it was reported that the government plans to pay 100 per cent of regular municipal regular and school taxes on its crown property to Canadian municipalities where the government's assessment figure on such property represents a minimum of two per cent of the municipality's total assessment.

Under the present plan for federal grants to municipalities in lieu of taxation, the government pays 75 per cent of regular taxes where crown property represents a minimum of four per cent of the municipality's total assessment.

Took No Steps To Detain Chief Engineer Before Going To Florida Doucett Says

TORONTO (CP) — Highways Minister Doucett said Friday the government took no steps to detain C. H. Nelson, chief engineer of the highways department, until his retirement last fall "because I don't think anyone knew he was going away."

Mr. Doucett was replying to a question in the legislature put by opposition leader Farquhar Oliver.

The highways minister announced in the house Thursday that Nelson was suspended for failure to co-operate with the provincial auditor and other officials in answering questions relating to alleged irregularities in the department. Nelson, although retired from the department, was still considered an employee of the government and was drawing sick leave pay.

Appointed chief engineer in 1951, he became ill last year and handed in his resignation. Mr. Nelson has been given sick leave pay but no superannuation. The announcement by Mr. Doucette cancelled the sick leave pay. It is understood Mr. Nelson is in Florida.

C. H. NELSON

Mr. Doucett, replying to another question by Mr. Oliver, as to why and on what grounds Mr. Nelson refused to co-operate, said he was not present at the examination "but I understood from the provincial auditor and the solicitor that he would not answer questions put to him."

BRAINWASHING CHARGED

Outside the House, Albert Wren (Lib.-Lab.—Kenora) claimed in an interview that departmental personnel were being "brainwashed" by investigators.

Approached by reporters on the Wren interview following the session, Mr. Doucett said: "Why doesn't he get up and make that statement in the House?"

"I don't think there is any intimidation involved. They just want to get the facts."

He said the personnel were being frank with their answers.

Mr. Doucett said he did not know when the select committee to be appointed to investigate the alleged irregularities would hold its first meeting.

"They should be meeting shortly . . . But after all, they haven't even named a chairman yet."

Speculation has it that W. M. Nickle (PC—Kingston), a prominent eastern Ontario lawyer, will be named chairman by Premier Forst.

Believe Meteorite Ripped 30-Mile Hole In Quebec Millions of Years Ago

OTTAWA (CP)—A vast meteorite plunging from outer space hundreds of millions of years ago may have ripped a 30-mile-wide hole in what now is northern Quebec.

This year, government experts are going to try to find out if a circular oddity in the region's geography — spotted from aerial maps—is really a meteorite formation.

If it is, it will dwarf any known ones on earth. For the largest located to date is the Chubb crater, also in northern Quebec, which is a relatively small two miles across.

Existence of the possible record meteorite became known Friday night when Mines Minister Prudham told of the finding of "circular features" up to "tens of miles" in diameter.

Circles in the landscape, often only visible from the air, are a good clue to meteorites, usually buried well below the surface and covered with water or the accumulated debris of eons of time.

While Mr. Prudham gave no details of Quebec's possible meteorite whopper, Dr. C. S. Beals, Dominion astronomer, said it has been under study for some time in an area about 100 miles west of Sept Isles, Que.

ONTARIO CRATER

Mr. Prudham also told the House of discovery of a possible meteorite crater near Brent in Algonquin National Park that would be a rival of the Chubb crater with roughly the same diameter.

INTERESTING FIND

Like the big Quebec one, it goes back hundreds of millions of years. And like it also, it can only be spotted from aerial photographs that show up distinctions in topography not visible to the eye.

Dr. Beals described the Ontario formation as a "perfect circle," an indication of meteorite origin.

The circle is at the top of a huge hole, it has been determined by tests. Over the ages, the hole has been filled in by rocks and other debris and smoothed off by the glacier movement of the ice age.

Dr. Beals estimated the depth of the hole as 1,000 feet, from soundings taken by investigators. But as to what is at the bottom, he could not say. The tests will be continued this year—the second year's investigations since the circle was discovered in 1952.

Amery Suggests U.S. Join Commonwealth

LONDON (Reuters) — Leopold Amery, 80-year-old British Conservative statesman, suggested today the United States might join the British Commonwealth.

The only things stopping American membership in the world-wide commonwealth, he said, are "memories of George III (British king at the time of the War of Independence) and our own fears of being overweighted by such a hefty member."

Amery, a long-time fighter for high Commonwealth preferential tariffs, said the latter reason may be less important in the next century.

"There is nothing to prevent the Commonwealth in the next 50 years from drawing level with the United States or even outstripping them," he said.

Runaway Daughter Works As Domestic

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP) The runaway daughter of wealthy sportsman Lindsay Howard returned home today with her girl friend after a two-day absence during which they changed their names, dyed their hair and got jobs here as household assistants.

Linda Howard, 13, of Beverly Hills, daughter of film actress Judith Barrett, divorced wife of Howard, and Judy Geller, 14, of Palm Springs, vanished Wednesday from Los Angeles "for the fun of it."

The girls were found here Friday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Murray A. Reynolds, who had hired them as domestics unaware of their identity.

Abbott Welcomes U.K. Widening Use Of Sterling

OTTAWA (CP—Finance Minister Abbott said today he welcomes Britain's move to widen the free use of sterling in the non-dollar area.

Mr. Abbott was commenting on one of two British treasury announcements unfreezing the flow of sterling between sterling and other non-dollar areas with the exception or Iran, Turkey and Hungary.

"I welcome this move as further evidence that exchange restrictions are being relaxed," he said.

Mr. Abbott, however, declined to comment on Britain's other move to re-establish a market for free gold in London.

HAVE LITTLE IMPACT

Generally, it was felt in other financial quarters that reopening of the London bullion market will have little impact on Canadian gold exports or operations in Canadian gold mines.

While it is considered that the London market will be more "reputable"—than free markets operating in other areas of the world, the big problem for Canada is that the free-market price has dropped to just about the official price of $35 an ounce in U.S. funds.

Canadian mine operators who sell on the free market must forgo federal gold subsidies. Thus free market prices must rise sharply before any Canadian mines would be willing to switch from sales to the Canadian government. And there is no immediate prospect of any such rise.

$3,000,000 Ring Broken

NEW YORK (AP) — Brooklyn authorities said early today that they have smashed a $3,000,000-a-year policy ring which may involve police officers.

The Brooklyn district attorney's office announced that 25 arrests have been made. Three of those seized were women.

Julius Helfand, assistant district attorney, said the ring "could not have been operated without the connivance and protection of police officers."

Helfand said the policy operation had been under surveillance for several months. He said it had a take of $10,000 a day, six days a week.

The policy racket is a form of lottery in which numbered tickets are sold, the winner determined by some arbitrarily selected figure. Some years back the daily figure for bank clearings was used to determine the winner in a similar venture.

Polio Epidemic Causes Anxiety About Tour

ADELAIDE, Australia (Reuters) Crowds clustered around Government House today to see Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh drive to the airport for a tour of two large south Australian country towns, Whyall and Port Lincoln.

The royal couple will fly back to Adelaide late today and will be free until Monday, except for divine service at St. Peter's Anglican cathedral Sunday.

Meanwhile, further talks about possible changes in the royal tour itinerary for west Australia because of the polio epidemic there were discussed Friday night.

More than 250 persons have been stricken with poliomyelitis in west Australia, where the Queen and the duke are due March 26.

Australians have suggested that no one should come nearer to her than six feet; that her food should be brought from other states or the royal liner Gothic; and that she and the duke should live on the Gothic during their tour.

Holland To Reject Protest From Soviet

THE HAGUE (AP) — Well-informed sources in The Hague said today the Dutch government will reject the Soviet note protesting against the establishment of a U.S. air base in the Netherlands.

A foreign ministry spokesman this afternoon said the Dutch reply would probably be given next week.

The Soviet note was handed to Dutch minister J. M. A. H. Luns in The Hague on Thursday.

The note did not come as a surprise to the Dutch; similar Soviet protests have been sent to other countries.

11 Of Crew Missing From HMCS Ontario

BRISBANE, Australia (CP) — The Canadian cruiser Ontario sailed Friday for home leaving 11 of her crew behind in Australia.

Two seamen were missing when the ship left Sydney last week and nine more were missing when she sailed from here.

Red Troops Digging In

HANOI, Indo-China (AP) — The French bombed, strafed and raked with artillery fire the Vietminh rebel forces besieging Dien Bien Phu today. Some Communist-led troops were digging in only 200 yards from the main barbed-wire barricades of the fortress.

In the 120th day of siege, defending ground forces clashed in minor skirmishes with rebel units probing the defences of the northwest Indo-Chinese stronghold in the heart of the mountainous Thai country which borders on Red China.

There were no screaming frontal assaults by the enemy, however, such as marked the first four days of this first major open batle in the seven-year-old war.

But Vitminh artillery fire continued to pour into the 24-square-mile French-held plain, and the enemy carried out elaborate digging-in operations in front of the fortified area. This indicated that they intend to try to crush the French at Dien Bien Phu in their first major military victory of the war.

Will Reconsider Banks' Permit

OTTAWA (CP) — The government is considering whether it should review the permanent residence permit it has granted to Harold C. Banks, Canadian director of the Seaferers' International Union (TLC-AFL).

The immigration department gave the information Friday in a parliamentary return tabled in the Commons for Mrs. Ellen Fairclough (PC—Hamilton West).

Mrs. Fairclough questioned the appointment of Mr. Banks as a Canadian labor delegate to an International Labor Organization committee on the ground he has a number of court convictions in the United States.

Mr. Banks was nominated by the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada as its representative at a meeting of the ILO industrial committee on inland transport, held in Geneva, Switzerland, Feb. 15-28 last.

Fake Charity Racket Makes $100,000

MONTREAL (CP) — Police and better business bureau officials said today Montrealers may have been mulcted off as much as $100,000 by what they described as a fake charity racket.

One man and one woman have been arrested in connection with the case and police said they are seeking a third person.

Using the names of non-existent boys' camps and of veterans or safety organizations, police said the operators are alleged to have solicited donations by telephone and by door-to-door canvas.

The collection book of one of two youths questioned yesterday showed that he collected an average of $75 a day for the past three days police said.

Maiden Voyage

LIVERPOOL, England (CP)—The Saxonia, 22,000-ton Cunard liner, will start her maiden voyage to Montreal Sept. 2, it was announced. A sister ship, the Ivernia, is scheduled to be launched later this year.

Canada Heading For Pipeline Building Era

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada is headed for a period of large pipeline construction to the east from southern Alberta and to the Pacific coast from the Peace river area.

Mines Minister Prudham forecast the construction program Friday night as the Commons launched consideration of his department's estimates. The study got under way after the government's bid to extend for three years the life of its export-import controls reached its final stage in the Commons.

Mr. Prudham said natural gas reserves have been increasing at an unprecedented rate in the last year. There seemed little doubt that the next two or three years "should witness a very large pipeline building program with gas eventually moving eastward from southern Alberta to supply central Canada and gas moving from the Peace river area to supply Vancouver and the Pacific coast area of the United States."

URGES QUICK START

Rodney Adamson, a mining engineer and Progressive Conservative member for York West, urged that a start be made as quickly as possible on the pipelines or else the great gas reserves would have to be burned off in producing oil.

The gas would have to find outlets in industry and in the development of new industry. Once Canada's needs were fulfilled, it would have to find a market elsewhere on the continent.

Mr. Prudham listed natural gas with oil, coal, electricity and perhaps atomic energy as the keys to developing natural resources.

He outlined government plans for a $1,500,000 hydrographic ship to chart Arctic waters, particularly sea routes and harbor sites for transporting iron ore from the arctic. Biggest known ore reserves are in Ungava bay. An aerial geological reconnaissance is planned of the area west of Hudson bay and east of Great Slave lake.

Gen. Fenwick Dies In Montreal

MONTREAL (CP)—Maj.-Gen. C. P. Fenwick, 62, wartime director-general of medical services for the Canadian Army, died today.

Since 1946 he had served as chief of the medical services of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Gen. Fenwick was a veteran of the two world wars and a militia officer in between. He joined the Canadian Army's medical services in September, 1939 and served throughout the war, rising to the post of director-general. He was deputy director of medical services for the 1st Canadian Army during the invasion of Europe on D-Day.

HONORED TWICE

The king honored him twice for his services making him commander of the British Empire in 1944 and Companion of the Bath in 1946. He won the Military Medal in the first war with the Canadian expeditonary force in 1917, a year after his graduation in medicine from the University of Toronto. He also was mentioned in dispatches.

A native of St. John's, Nfld., Gen. Fenwick was married at Toronto in 1921 to the former Jacqueline McCullough of Alliston, Ont. He is survived by his widow and two daughters, Mrs. B. P. Hennessy, in India, and Jacqueline Anne, at Winnipeg.

TCS, St. Catharines Tied With 4 Wins

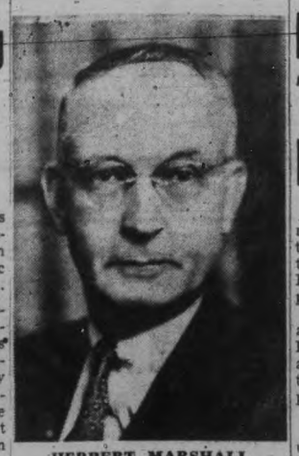
TORONTO (CP)—Bishop Ridley College of St. Catharines and Trinity College, Port Hope, were tied with four wins each after morning play today in the Little Big Four squash tournament at the Badminton and Racquet Club.

Upper Canada College, the only other team competing in the tournament went winless in six games.

Ridley, last year's champion, has four games to play this afternoon and Trinity, five. UCC has four matches left.

Guerrillas Using Dum Dum Bullets

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya (AP) British authorities said today Malayan Communist guerrillas now are using dum dum bullets—bullets with soft heads which can mutilate a man.



The bullets, banned by all conventions of war, were found among a supply of ammunition taken from a dead guerrillas, they said.

The bullets apparently are being made in jungle workshops from bicycle tire valves.

Liberal Executive Asks Pension Raise

OTTAWA (CP) — The executive of the Eastern Ontario Liberal Federation has urged the Ontario government to add $15 a month to the old age pension subject to a means test.

A resolution passed Friday at a meeting of the executive said the present $40 a month pension is insufficient. It will be sent to the Ontario Liberal party convention in Toronto April 8 and 9.

HERBERT MARSHALL

Statistician To Speak In Peterborough

Herbert Marshall, dominion statistician, will be guest speaker Tuesday night at a meeting of the Peterborough chapter of the Society of Industrial and Cost Accountants of Ontario.

The meeting will be 6.30 p.m. in the Empress Hotel's television room.

Mr. Marshall has headed the bureau of statistics since 1945. He will speak on "The Function of the Bureau of Statistics in Post War Canada" and he will assess the value of importance of statistics to Canadian industry.

Born in Toronto, Mr. Marshall graduated from the University of Toronto, where he was awarded a fellowship. [illegible] the World war and after he was discharged he became an economics lecturer at the University of Toronto.

He was appointed to the bureau of statistics in 1922, and he has since been chief of the internal revenue branch and assistant dominion statistician.

His written works include a report "The Canadian Balance of International Payments: A Study of Methods and Results", for which he won the medal of the professional institute of the civil service in 1939. It has received world-wide recognition. He collaborated with Prof. F. A. Southard and Prof. K. W. Taylor (the latter now deputy-minister of finance) on "Canadian-American Industry, a Study of International Investment".

During the nine years that Mr. Marshall has headed the 36-year-old bureau of statistics the coverage has steadily expanded and improved. Today it compiles facts on practically every aspect of Canada's social and economic life.

Plunges 30 Feet Man Catches Him

PORT ARTHUR (CP) — Robert Youmans, Port Arthur transport driver, plunged 30 feet and landed "like a baby" in the arms of another man early today while fighting a fire just over the United States border at Pigeon river.

Youmans was drinking coffee in the Ryden hotel during a stop in his trip when he noticed a small nearby building on fire. With Ed Ryden, hotel proprietor and several others, Youmans ran to try and quell the blaze.

Flames jumped to a nearby hydro pole and Youmans scaled it to try to stop the wires from burning. He was overcome by smoke at the top of the pole and let go, tumbling earthwards. Ryden broke the fall in attempting to catch him.

Loss from the fire was small.

Youmans is reported not in serious condition in hospital at Fort William.

Boy Always Liked To Knit And Sew

WELLAND (CP) — Frances Marie Jefferson, 24, whose change from a man to a woman by surgical means was announced Friday, as a child always liked to knit and sew.

Her mother, Mrs. Kenneth Jefferson of nearby Port Colborne said today in an interview with the Toronto Telegram. The child, seventh in a family of 11, always was different from the others. As a boy named Francis, the child was neat and clean and took a great interest in helping her around the house.

"Why, he could get as good a meal ready as I could from the time he was very young," said Mrs. Jefferson. "And he was always good at baking and loved to knit and sew. Whenever he saw me washing dishes, he wanted to help."

A Hot Dog

Ever hear of a hat dog? Inspector of detectives W. A. Clarke insisted today that such a species of canine is harboured at the station for the purpose of providing material for wooly winter hats for the boys on the beat. This bit of knowledge was brought to light following the inquiry of two small boys as to what kind of pup was stretched contentedly on the guardroom floor. The dog, a Blue Kerry terrier with a thick coat of tightly curled hair, makes casual visits to the station for warmth and a place to stretch.

Dulles Explains 'New Look' Military Plans

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Secretary Dulles says selectivity—in terms of weapons, time and places to fight—is the key to President Eisenhower's "new look" military program.

Testifying Friday before the Senate foreign relations committee, Dulles also put into focus his ideas about presidential powers to take the United States into war without prior action by Congress.

Dulles said, in effect:

1. The president has the right under the constitution to act "in the interests of the United States."

2. How he shall act in an emergency is a matter for his judgment, and in deciding he may take into account the fact that there are treaties, like the North Atlantic Pact and the Inter-American Defence Treaty, which set up special relationships between the U.S. and other countries.

3. Congress would be consulted if there were time.

4. "The heart of the thing is that we can make aggression so expensive to the aggressor that it would not be worth while."

CANADIAN COMMENT

(In Chicago, Canada's external affairs minister, L. B. Pearson, who last Monday had said his government and other North Atlantic Allies should be consulted before the U.S. decided to retaliate against any opponent, said Friday night that Dulles' explanation was "a very heartening statement."

(The Canadian minister said: "It is what we had hoped we would hear. Of course, if there is an attack on the United States there's not going to be any consultations. But we had always believed that Mr. Dulles meant in the [illegible] of NATO if a situation arose involving the North Atlantic treaty.")

BOOSTERS

A Toronto man had occasion to spend most of the past week in Peterborough. Wanting something to do one evening he decided to go to the music festival in Queen Mary auditorium. He called a taxi and on the way out said to the driver, "You, know, the more I see of this city the better I like it." The taxi man replied, "Best city in North America." The visitor took in the festival and had a look around the school, and was greatly impressed. Returning to the hotel by another taxi, he said, "You have some mighty fine schools in this city." The reply for the second taxi driver was, "Best schools in Canada."

Yanks Go Through Georgia State Industry Booming

WASHINGTON — Agriuclture and industry, southerner and northerner today are marching hand in hand through the booming State of Georgia.

"The weary plowman and his mule are passing from the Georgia scene," writer Howell Walker reports in the March National Geographic Magazine.

In their place, purebred cattle and diverse crops flourish on abandoned cotton land. Expanding factories make synthetic fabrics that challenge time-worn textiles. Areas once ravaged for cotton, now reforested, supply chemical plants, paper and lumber mills.

MORE JOBS

Ninety years after Sherman, Georgians no longer go north to earn a living, and the Yankee practice of visiting Georgia only in the winter is a bygone custom, Walker points out in his article, "The Greener Fields of Georgia."

"Now Georgians turn to promising jobs at home," the author says. "Northern families and northern enterprises are moving south for good. Even dyed-in-the-west cattlemen shift here to profit from pasture with plenty of water."

Since 1940, income from beef cattle has increased 466 per cent. Total pasturage has more than doubled, to three and a half million acres. Cotton acreage has shrunk from five to about one and a half million and continues to dwindle.

Long second among the States in cotton production, Georgia now ranks only sixth. Yet cotton remains the chief cash crop. All except five of 159 counties raise it for textile manufacture, Georgia's largest industry.

Throughout the state, new industries are springing up, Walker says. Huge factories tower above white-columned mansions converted into offices and guest-houses.

INDUSTRIAL TREND

Typifying the trend is the little town of Jesup near the Altamaha River. A site has been cleared for a $25 million plant to manufacture purified wood cellulose for cellophane and rayon. A $15 million kraft-type paper mill is also planned.

Among new enterprises moved to Albany, one of the fastest-expanding communities in the entire southeast, are food processors from Wisconsin, fertilizer works from Illinois, chemical laboratories and a thread mill from New Jersey. A meat-packing plant handles 2,200 cattle a month.

Augusta, once a small, quiet southern town, is the bustling hub of the Atomic Energy Commission's biggest baby, the Savannah River Plant, with 29,600 employees.

Industry notwithstanding, farms still cover nearly two-thirds of Georgia, Walker found. The state leads the nation in production of broiler chickens, peanuts, watermelons, pecans and pimientos. Traditionally the Peach State, it has relinquished its leadership to California in recent years.

Brodie Twin Learning How To Walk

CHICAGO (AP) — Rodney Brodie has passed another milestone in his struggle toward a normal life. He's learning to walk.

The 2½-year-old boy, born a Siamese twin, can bear his own weight and propel himself forward, but still needs the guiding and supporting hand of a nurse.

Doctors at the University of Illinois medical centre predict he will be able to walk as normally as any child who has had a crippling condition to contend with.

Rodney still has not developed the power to recognize objects by touch with his left hand or foot. Thus, when he steps with his left foot, he must watch it to see it is on the floor.

The portion of the brain that translates an impulse into recognition on his left side is not functioning. However, he has shown steady improvement in this respect.

Rodney and his twin, Roger, were born joined extensively at the top of the skull. Roger died after they were separated Dec. 17, 1952. Rodney's skull opening is protected by skin transplants, but surgeons have not decided when they will insert a hard covering of bone, metal or plastic under the skin.

The parents are Mr. and Mrs. Royt Brodie.

Truck Hits Culvert Two Men Killed

DRAYTON, Ont. (CP) — Two Drayton men G. Chester Storey and Carman G. Fletcher, were killed early today when their truck struck a culvert on the 10th concession of Peel township, three miles east of here.

The side of the truck apparently struck the side of the culvert and the vehicle turned over. Both men were thrown onto the road.

The bodies were found on the road by a motorist, Leonard Jackson of Drayton. There were no eye-witnesses.

Storey works for the Wellington county roads department and Fletcher operates a farm on the outskirts of Drayton.

The large truck is frequently used for hauling junk. It is not known who was driving.

Tank-Truck Hits

There is a tree on the south shoulder of the road. The shoulder then slopes down into a depression in the land so that the top of a farmer's fence, 25 feet south of the highway, is just level with the road surface.

When the transport struck the tree the trailer section containing the sulphuric acid swung loose from the cab, cleared the fence completely, and landed in the muddy field. The tank jarred loose from the trailer proper and the acid drained into the field.

Meraw, who owns the field where the trailer landed, heard the crash. So did Neumeyer. They ran to the scene and lifted the badly injured driver out of the smashed and burning cab.

White was taken to Belleville by ambulance.

OPP Constable Arthur Bolyea of Madoc investigated.

Girl Accuses Piccioni In Italy Scandal

ROME (AP) — A letter signed by pretty Anna Maria Caglio claiming that Piero Piccioni, son of the Italian foreign minister, killed party girl Wilma Montesi was read in court today.

The Montesi scandal has reached into high places in Italy and has shaken the new government of Premier Mario Scelba.

Written last Oct. 3 by Miss Caglio to her landlady, the letter said:

"Only now have I found out that the Marquis Ugo Montagna is the chief of the gang. He is the brains. Piero Piccioni is the murderer of Wilma Montesi."

The body of Miss Montesi was washed up on the black sands of the Roman seaside resort of Ostia last April. Silvano Muto, handsome 25-year-old magazine editor, is on trial for "false and alarmist" reporting for claiming that the shapely brunette was killed or left to die while under the influence of drugs after a wild party attended by social and political notables.

Miss Caglio in earlier testimony had implicated Piccioni. His father, Attilio Piccioni, Italian foreign minister and respected member of the anti - Communist Christian Democrat party, offered to resign after his son was involved. Scelba rejected the resignation, however.

Police Smash Way Into Press Club

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Provincial police smashed their way into the Border Cities Press Club Friday night and questioned some 50 persons found on the premises.

Armed with sledgehammers and crowbars, the provincials, 11 strong, made the raid shortly after midnight. They questioned "club members" until 2.20 this morning.

OPP Constable Jack Shrubb of Chatham said this morning police "did not obtain the necessary evidence to lay gaming-house charges." All 50 persons were released.

The constables pried open the barred front door. When they walked in, the patrons were either looking at television or watching a movie in the game room at the back.

New Variety Oats Brings $4.50 At Show Auction

At $4.50 a bushel, the new variety of Simcoe oats which was introduced in Durham county last year, was an outstanding price at the auction sale Friday of close to 1,000 bushels of seed grain winding up the Central Ontario Spring Show.

Two ten-bushel lots were offered by their producers, Robert Armstrong of Cavan and Garnet Rickard of Bowmanville. Ed Summers, agricultural representative in Durham, said Simcoe rated as an early oat, and in the experience of the two district growers yielded better than 90 bushels to the acre.

At the opposite end of the price record was a $10 bushel lot of the new Hardome variety of soybeans. Reflecting the spread in interest, locality and price was the top of $73 for this variety at the recent London, Ont., seed fair. Only nine bushels were shown here this week, one of Hardome, six bus. of Flambeau at $4.75 a bus., and one bushel each of Mandarin and Earlyana at $4.25.

NOT YET INTERESTED

Soybeans are rapidly expanding their acreage in western Ontario, and although some farmers in the eastern counties are experimenting with this legume, and reportedly with satisfactory results, it is still comparatively scarce east of York. In the panel discussion Wednesday, Norman MacKenzie, Chatham, predicted an enlarging market for soybeans to the end of this decade at least. The bidding Saturday chiefly indicated that farmers generally in this area are not yet interested.

The bidding Saturday [illegible] appeared [illegible] expectations.

[illegible] was the $2.25 paid for the first ten-bushel lot offered to the crowd by the auctioneer, Gordon Hancock. That was another Garnet Rickard lot. High for Abegweit variety was $3 for ten bushels grown by Robert Armstrong. The solitary lot of Erban brought $1.60; Galore also sold at that price, and the newer Fort $1.75; Lanark $1.90 to $2.05; Cartier $1.80 to $2.

LARAIN PRICES

The Larain prices ranged from the top of $2.25, all registered, to $1.90 and $1.70, with one lot at $1.50. Top for the Beaver variety was $2.05, down to one lot at $1.50.

There was probably the odd Barboff barley bargain, but the grain market generally is somewhat under the levels of a year ago. The high price for Barboff was $2.20 for a G. B. Rickard ten-bus., and that price was also collected by A. G. Anderson. Other offerings sold at $2.10, down to the low of $1.60.

In the commercial section Fort sold at $1.95; Montcalm $1.75; Barboff $1.70, Galore $1.50. Beaver oats also in bushel lots, went for $1.30, Abegweit $1.15, Larain $1.05; and several bags of Cartier 75 cents a bus.

The best price for foundation stock potatoes was $3.50 for Warba grown by Harold Norton, and $3 for Warba shown by Ernest Cavano. Top Cobblers paid $2.75 to Ronald Pomeroy; Katahdins $2.50, Chippewa $2.75; Sebago $2.25.

Gov't Spending $5,000,000,000

OTTAWA (CP)—Federal spending in the fiscal year ending March 31 will be almost $5,000,000,000.

The government Friday sought parliamentary authority for the expenditure of $98,214,350 in addition to estimates of $4,433,466,000 already approved. Friday's supplementary estimates, tabled by Finance Minister Abbott, will be the last of the fiscal year.

They bring to $4,531,680,000 the amount of government spending in 1953-54 for which parliamentary authority is needed by way of estimates. Besides, the government will have disbursed around $300,000,000 in old age security payments, which are covered by a special tax.

The $4,531,680,000 figure in itself is a peacetime high. It compares with the all-time peak of $5,332,000,000 in the 1943-44 war year.

For the coming fiscal year that starts April 1, the government has tabled main estimates of $4,491,751,000, not including the old age security payments.

Missed Chance Of Discovering Rich Metals

PORT ARTHUR (CP) — A northern Ontario timber expert said Friday he almost had to fire a helper last summer to stop him from discovering the rich Manitouwadge base metals area.

Charlie Miles, a timber cruiser with the Ontario Paper Company, said that 10 months ago, when ordered to record timber stands in the area about 150 miles northeast of here, he took along a helper, Boris Karpoff.

Karpoff, a student of Mcgill University at Montreal, whose father was a prominent geologist in Belgium, had been brought up to spot minerals. Soon Miles began to miss Karpoff and would find him later grubbing around with dirty rocks.

Miles told him to get on with the work he was supposed to be doing. Karpoff replied there was good stuff in the rocks.

But, Miles said ruefully, he just couldn't see the rocks for the trees. He said he is positive he had to boot Karpoff off almost the exact spot where three Geraldton men later became millionaries by staking a vast nickel and copper deposit.

Says Ontario Not Tied Up With Pipeline Commitments

TORONTO (CP)—Attorney-General Porter said Friday the Ontario government is not tied up with any commitments over the proposed natural gas pipe line from Alberta.

"The main line is a private enterprise. . . . The company will find, transmit and sell the gas and if they can't sell the gas then it's their loss."

The attorney-general was replying to a question in the Ontario legislature put by opposition leader Farquhar Oliver during second reading of a bill setting up the Ontario fuel board.

The board will have power to fix the rate of gas to the ultimate consumer. Under a proposed amendment to the bill to be introduced at a later date, the board would also fix the price of cross-transmission and storage.

"There is an element of risk involved in the project and I believe the government shouldn't be in the competitive market in providing public services."

LITTLE COMPETITION

The attorney-general saw little competition between gas and hydro. Some competition may occur in hot water heaters in homes but hydro, faced with a power shortage, "would be quite glad" to step out of that particular field.

Full use of gas reserves in southwestern Ontario "appears to be a very risky proposition" and some supplementary supply from the United States during the period before Alberta gas arrives, probably in 1957, would be desirable.

Ontario production, if it should be increased, would probably become a cheaper fuel because of the short deliver mileage. Mr. Porter asured Mr. Oliver that the southwestern Ontario industry would not lose its market.

The attorney-general supported the suggestion of W. J. Grummett, CCF House leader, that municipalities in northern Ontario be allowed to pool their resources on the construction of feeder lines.

Truck Passenger Hurt In Fall At Depot

COBOURG —(ENS)— The... from a construction company truck as it was rounding a turn at the ordnance depot here, Christopher Sanci was knocked unconscious when his head struck the pavement. He was taken to Cobourg general hospital where x-rays determined that his skull was not fractured. Driver of the truck was P. Riverson of Cobourg. Police were informed that the truck was making a sharp turn and Sanci, who was riding in the back was not prepared for the lurch and fell out.

Twenty Reservists Receive Promotions

COBOURG —(ENS)— Twenty members of the 33rd Medium Regiment and the Midland Regiment received promotion certificates last night at a ceremony held at the armouries. The men were inspected by Lt.-Col. R. S. Lucas, OC of the 33rd Med. Regiment and Lt.-Col. J. G. Leuty, OC of the Midland Regiment. The certificates were presented by Major P. R. V. Carr-Harris, OC instruction and administration, HQ, Kingston.

Commanded by C. W. Groome, Port Hope, Midland Regiment, the junior NCOs marched past the saluting stand where the salute was taken by Lt.-Col. Lucas. The men who received their promotions were privates in the Midland, who were moved up to corporal, and gunners of the 33rd Medium who were promoted to bombadiers. They have been on a three weeks' special training course at the local armouries. Marching music at last night's parade was by the newly-formed regimental trumpet band.

Members of the Midland Regiment who received certificates were P. G. Berry, J. M. Boyd, R. N. Daniels, O. W. Drinkwalter, G. W. Eggleton, G. W. Gaffield, C. W. Groome, R. K. James, D. A. Locke, G. M. Schwab, H. G. Tobin. All are of Port Hope except Daniels, James and Locke, who come from Brighton

Those from the 33rd Med. Regiment, all of whom are from Cobourg, were D. A. Calnan, J. R. Gabourie, A. E. Godsell, C. S. Harden, L. P. Karpinski, J. As Knox, E. A. Searle, S. M. White and G. Seymour-Taylor.

PRESTON, England (Reuters)—Cancerous sections removed from a 46-year-old woman's gullet have been replaced by a piece of the aorta, largest artery in the human body, taken from a dead accident victim, hospital authorities here have announced. Use of aorta tissue instead of a plastic tube is believed to be unprecedentd in this type of operation.

Junior Fish and Game Club Develops From Rifle Group

Twenty-six members of the newly - formed junior Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association held a short and ... meeting with president Joe Murdock in the chair. Other executives under him are vice-president Mike Stock, secretary Cam Rowatt, Jr., and treasurer Keith Brown. Club directors are Larry Griffin, Jim Foster and Newman Olmstead and there are four groups under leaders Bill Crowley, Paul Brown, Jack Davidson and Pete Ashby.

The junior club was the brainwave of senior club executive member Don Blondeau who has been in charge of the junior rifle club this winter at the Armouries butts. Mr. Blondeau chose George Walton and conservation officer Stan Windsor to aid him as steering committee of the boys' group.

It seemed on the Friday night meeting that the enthusiasm of youth in quest of knowledge about general matters pertaining to outdoors problems was overflowing. There were more motions asked for—some adopted—and free speaking from the floor than takes place in many senior organizations, according to Mr. Blondeau.

LIMITED NUMBER

The club had to be limited in membership to start with because of lack of space to accommodate members on the indoor shooting range which was the prime reason for their formation. It is planned now that the boys will have clubhouse and ground space at the ... Park Creek on a considerable acreage that has been recently acquired.

The senior steering committee feel that if boy members can be prevented—by study of existing game laws and general good sportsmanship—to stop shooting songbirds and glass insulators from telephone poles that the project will be worth while. Besides inside winter shooting and outside range shooting, it is hoped that the boys will have archery groups.

A motion was adopted at Friday's meeting to determine the age range for members of the club and it was passed that from 13 to 17 years would be the suitable allotment although it was pointed out that boys past 17 could continue with club work or join the senior group.

It was decided that rules should be submitted at a near future meeting to discuss ways and means of disciplining spirited members of the club, careless gun handlers, first-time law breakers and so forth.

President Hugh Plowman of the senior club dropped in for a short while and voiced encouragement and promised loyalty from the older men. The meeting closed following the showing of two films.

U.S. Government Studies Consumers For Future Clues

By WALTER BREEDE Jr.

NEW YORK (AP) — The consumer and his state of mind went under the microscope this week as government planners and business men probed for clues to the economic future of the United States.

At first glance the consumer seemed to be doing all right. Department store sales, measured from Jan. 1, were running within three per cent of last year's record clip. A somewhat more pronounced lag in recent weeks was attributed to a later Easter shopping season.

Sales of new cars were picking up, although not as fast as dealers plagued with heavy inventories might have wished.

Attention focussed on the federal reserve board's annual survey of consumer buying intentions. The survey, which has a reputation for calling its shots with uncanny accuracy, indicated most Americans are more apprehensive about the future than they were a year ago, and that this apprehension is likely to be reflected in fewer purchases.

"A majority of those expressing an opinion felt that economic prospects for the country this year were generally good, but a sizable number felt that the prospects were unfavorable."

Slightly more optimistic than the consumer poll was a government survey of business opinion. Heads of 2,500 companies queried by the commerce department and the securities and exchange commission leaned toward this view: That business sales in 1954 will be down only about three per cent from last year's rate. By and large, they said, "durable" lines won't do quite as well, but "soft" goods should do better.

The auto industry had its biggest production week since the middle of last October. Output totalled nearly 121,000 passenger cars and 23,000 trucks. It was the first time since last July that all auto makers were in production.

Two Local Girls Become Nuns St. Joseph Order

The Very Rev. V. J. Corkery, Vicor Capitular of the Diocese of Peterborough presided at the annual ceremony of reception and profession held March 19th at Mount St. Joseph. He was assisted by the Rev. C. Donoghue D.C.L. and the Rev. G. Sullivan. At 9:30 mass was celebrated by Father Corkery, after which the ceremonies of the day took place.

Eight young ladies changed their bridal robes for the plain black habit of the Sisters of St. Joseph. They are: Miss Margaret Moran, Kirkland lake, to be known in religion as Sister Mary Evelyn; Miss June Nash, Ottawa, as Sister Immaculata; Miss Anna Summers, Ottawa, as Sister Mary Emma; Miss Joan Driscoll, Peterborough as Sister Mary John; Miss Ruth Gosselin, Peterborough, as Sister Mary Thomas; Miss Agnes O'Neill, Almonte, as Sister Bary Bernarda; Miss Dora Reinhart, St. Benedict, Saskatchewan, as Sister Mary Clare; Miss Mary Liptay, Bowmanville, as Sister Mary Teresita.

First vows were pronounced by: Sister M. Christine (Berrea); Sister M. Veronica (Gorman); Sister M. Bertille (McLaughlin); Sister M. Eugene (Kunkel); Sister M. Pauline (Lavell); Sister M. St. Teresa (McGovern); Sister Margaret Rose (Pelletier); Sister M. Lidwina (Smeets).

The following Sisters made final vows. Sister M. Frances Clare (Bergin); Sister M. Carmelita (Stephens); Sister M. Imelda (Ludwig); Sister M. St. Philip (Benoit).

The sermon for the occasion was preached by the Rev. Bertrand McDewell, C.P. of New York, who had conducted a retreat for the sisters during the eight preceding days.

Child Poisoned

BREMEN, Germany (Reuters)—Three - year - old Inge Hartmann swallowed a few drops from a bottle of deadly E-605 insecticide before her mother's eyes Friday and died later in a hospital. The child found the poison used in more than 30 suicides during the last month in Germany and Austria, on a rubbish pile and drank it before her mother could take it from her.

Business On The Outskirts

"The enormous growth of the U.S. population has meant vast new markets in everything from baby carriages to washing machines and wrist watches. Will every retailer cash in on the bonanza? Not at all. The reason is that since 1940, almost half of the 28 million national population increase has taken place in residential suburban areas, anywhere from ten to 40 miles away from traditional big-city shopping centres. Thus, to win the new customers' dollars, merchants will have to follow the flight to the suburbs". That paragraph from an article in the current issue of Time magazine, was written in Rockefeller Centre N.Y. City. But change U.S. to Canada and reduce the figures (for instance, the Canadian growth of population since 1941 has been 3½ millions) and the words are applicable to Canada. They apply even to cities the size of Peterborough.

* * *

Cities and towns and their habits do not change overnight. That is why [illegible] marked, because they take place gradually. But consider the innovations in the life of Peterborough since the war. The new housing districts. Highways that have become streets. Hundreds of Peterborough workers living in suburbs (yes, even Peterborough has them) and commuting each day to work. Then think of the stores, factories and variety of enterprises which have been set up on the outskirts, or even a couple of miles from the boundaries. A modern fruit store on Highway 28. Retail lumber, plumbing and heating firms on Highway 7. Branches of banks in the south end and not up town.

* * *

The trend began after the war. It has been accelerated in the last two years to the point that elaborate shopping centres are being built at the town's ends. Simpson-Sears are putting up their vast store at the corner of Lansdowne and Monaghan Road and will be selling everything from hot dogs to hot water heaters. The Dominion Stores are planning a big market block at the other end of the city, on the Chemong Road.

This flight to the otuskirts will give a new pattern to business methods as well as to shopping in Peterborough. It will also bring problems to the city council and the tax and assessment departments. Properties and land in the central shopping district have become extraordinarily expensive (it is one reason stores are building outside this central district; land beyond it is not only available but is also cheaper). Will this revolution in shopping practices also bring about a revolution in the pattern of commercial taxation? Is down-town Peterborough going to pale before the neon of the outskirts?

* * *

We suspect that no matter how many drive-in retail establishments are set up in isolated corners of Peterborough, people will still want to come "up town" or go "down town" where there is the bustle of the streets, the lights, the theatres, the restaurants and a great variety of shops to choose from and windows to inspect. Yet, as citizens will not ignore the new shopping areas on the outskitrs, so official Peterborough cannot ignore them, either. A really significant change is taking place in the buying and selling habits of our people, a change even more radical than that from the days of stools for customers in drapery shops, where clerks really "waited on" the patrons and measured potatoes by the peck and suiting by the yard.

* * *

We should remark, too, that while the flight to the suburbs is occuring, a great change has taken place in shops down-town. Both the new stores on the outskirts and the ones in the central district are providing more attractive shopping than Peterborough customers have ever had before. The stores look well. They are kept fresh, bright and varied, and the goods displayed are more plentiful and in greater variety than ever before. The new stores, the additions, the renovations and merchandizing methods are wooing Peterborough people to their own shops where formerly many of them shopped in Toronto. The "flight to the suburbs" means not only from the centre of Peterborough to its outskirts. It means also from the big metropolitan cities to their suburbs; for instance, from Toronto to Peterborough. Peterborough's established firms and the new one setting up here are able to offer varieties, values, qualities and quantities formerly only to be found in Toronto; and they do it in stores as attractive in many ways as the Toronto shops.

Not Downheartening

Stock market prices are down, employment is less, prices are lower, production is off, and so on. A depressing list could be made to indicate that economic activity and all that flows from it are far from reassuring. Take, for instance, marketing difficulties, the surpluses of foodstuffs which the Government has had to acquire under its guaranteed floor prices, the millions of pounds of butter which nobody seems to know what to do with. These surpluses, here and in the U.S., and the generally flattening of trade were the chief reason for the descent on Washington of senior Canadian cabinet ministers. Take, also, the facts and figures given in the recent issue of the "Economic Review of Ontario". The page listing the indicators of economic activity in the province is full of minus signs, showing that the current rate is less than it was in the previous month.

We should not be depressed by such signs. The figures are for mid-winter, when employment, pay and construction always fall off. Further, there are signs which government and business leaders are looking at hopefully, signs that employment is increasing again. Then, too, one should ask what the falling off is from? Find the answer to that and the whole economic picture takes on a much brighter light.

Canada sold 523,000,000 bushels of wheat in the 1952 crop year.

We could not have done that had we [illegible] average wheat harvest in Canada over a long period prior to 1951 was 375,000,000 bushels. It used to be 350,000,000 bushels.

Had we had average crops the past three years we would not have sold more than 325,000,000 bushels last year. The rest of an average crop would have been used on the farms as seed and feed and would never have got to market. Our actual sales were 200,000,000 bushels over the average figure.

That's the measuring stick to use in estimating our sales success.

So one must look at the current Ontario figures not in the light of last month, or January alone, but in terms of twelve months ago and five years ago. It will be seen then that nearly all the current minus signs become plus signs.

In every item the figures are higher than those of a year ago, except in car loadings, the wholesale price index, the Ontario Farm Price index, industrial stockprices and the number of contracts awarded to build commercial premises. For instance, retail trade is higher than it was a year ago and contracts let for industrial plants are 329.6 million higher than last year.

Now, consider the present levels of employment in Ontario industries with what they were five years ago. Only in the forestry industry has there been a decline. In all other business and industry, there is a twenty per cent. increase. Look at today's figures not for narrow comparison with a few months ago, but to set them against the figures of last year and five years ago. Then take confidence.

As Premier Frost said in his budget speech last week, "there are many strong and vigorous elements in our economy which justify an attitude of confidence". There are, if we want to see them—the growth of population (thereby increasing the domestic market), the tremendous investment in and development of mineral resources; the potential of hydro power being tapped in the St. Lawrence and elsewhere; the seaway development; the large volume of construction; the natural gas pipeline from Alberta to eastern Canada. These are all making and will make great demands on the labour force of Canada. There is work to be done and jobs in the offing requiring workers and making work.

This century shows every sign of being Canada's, as Laurier foretold. Why become faint-hearted midway through it?

The Site Is Set

After all these years of questing for a site for the Memorial Centre, after all the plans proposed and found faulty, all the suggestions offered and not acted on; after all this which has been one of the principal reasons for the delay in getting on with the Centre, quietly in Queen's Park and without a whisper of dissent, the matter was ended. The private bill before the Ontario Legislature authorizing the Morrow Trust to release part of Morrow Park (the Exhibition Ground) to the city for the purpose of erecting thereon a Memorial Community Centre passed its second reading. Third reading and vice-regal signature will follow automatically. The site has been found; the site is set.

Considerable preliminary work was done, of course, before the matter was so quietly settled. Local authorities in conjunction with Morrow Park trustees ironed out their differences, the way was cleared before two Justices of the Supreme Court, and the passing of the Bill in the Legislature was almost certain before it came up for debate.

The Kremlin & Village Ghost

By EDWARD CRANKSHAW

HARDLY a day passes now without some fresh sign that for many years the men in the Kremlin have been dupes of their own propaganda I am not thinking now of the spectacular examples of exaggerated optimism, such as Government unawareness of the disastrous state of Soviet agriculture. I am thinking of illusions about the ordinary conditions of life in the villages and small towns scattered over the great Russian plain. Tractors, combines, silos; compulsory education and scientific "enlightenment"; village clubs and ideological lectures—all under the auspices of the local Communist Party committees, are supposed to have changed the face of the Russian countryside and to have bred a new type of Soviet man. The propaganda about this has been so tremendous and incessant that it has taken in not only sympathisers outside Russia but also the highest Party and Government functionaries inside the Soviet Union.

✧ ✧ ✧

NOW for the first time the Kremlin seems to be taking notice of the real state of affairs, and, in order to change it, has been driven to admit it publicly. Thus, also for the first time in a quarter of a century, the Soviet Press is allowing the reader frequent glimpses into life as lived in the obscurer places of the Soviet Union—in, that is to say, pretty well every place outside the great cities and the farmlands immediately surrounding them.

✧ ✧ ✧

WHEN I was last in Russia after the war the ordinary village away from the railway was scarcely less primitive in its outlook and its material amenities than it had been under the Czars. The children could read and write; some of the young men could drive tractors; the young and middle-aged women were emancipated and very much in command. These were the main differences. But, in spite of the perpetual hectoring and driving of the Com- [illegible] continued. Now we get a picture of one of these villages painted for all to see in, of all things, the organ of the Young Communist League: Komsomolskaya Pravada. It all comes out in the drive to do away with religion and superstition. Why, in the brave new world of the Soviets, should religion and superstition linger? It is, the newspaper says, because nothing is done by the local Party branches to fill the lives of the villagers with interest.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT INSTANCES the village of Ivanovka deep in the great plain. Odd things have been going on in Ivanovka. First there was a ghost—a "great white figure," which took to wandering about in the village at night, striking terror into the souls of the villagers, so that after dark nobody dared go out. In the end some bold spirits among the young men resolved to lie in wait for the ghost. "For a long time the Komsomol members sat in darkness. Then the moon rose and suddenly the sinister figure loomed up out of the snow. The huge white thing slowly moved toward the village. The young people were almost scared out of their wits. But at last, plucking up courage, they made a combined dash at the apparition. Then something unexpected happened: the "evil spirit" took to its heels and disappeared without a trace. In the morning, among the bushes, the intrepid youths found a pair of stilts and several white sheets loosely joined to make an overall.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT IS the old-fashioned ghost story, the spoof ghost, familiar all over the world. But the Communist newspaper prints it in order to press a sharp attack on the local Communist leaders, who allow the minds of the Ivanovka villagers to sink so low in superstitution that they can be frightened by white sheets.

Nor was the bogus ghost the only disgrace. Shortly afterwards there was a "miracle" in the village church. An ikon was seen to materialise out of nothing—seen not merely by some stupid old woman, as had already happened in the neighbouring village of Yurmanka, but actually by two members of the Komsomol, the two young girls, who had no business in the church anyway (they can be expelled from the Komsomol for attending a religious service), and who completely disgraced their generation by believing in miracles. It was not only they who believed. Soon the two adjoining villages were in a turmoil. And from all over the district "believers" came to gape at the "miracle." The old peasant woman of Yurmanka, not so stupid perhaps after all, "collected one-and-a-half buckets full of coppers and nickles" from those who came to stare and pray.

✧ ✧ ✧

THIS TIME it meant real trouble for the local Komsomol officials. It was not simply that they had neglected their ideological teaching. They had done nothing at all for the well-being of the villagers.

"The young people of Ivanovka have nowhere to spend their time usefully and sensibly after the day's work," says the critical newspaper. "The village club is in a state of disrepair, and it is cold even if the youngsters keep their coats on. Yet it could all be set right by a small effort led by the Komsomol. Nobody has bothered to do anything."

✧ ✧ ✧

THE VILLAGE has no radio—again the fault of the Komsomol leaders, who can command the necessary resources. It has very little to read. "In the village library you cannot get hold of a new book, nor can you get the central newspapers and magazines—there simply are none."

✧ ✧ ✧

IT IS this state of affairs, says Komsomolskya Pravda, that makes a breeding ground for every kind of superstition. And it is not confined to the Ivanovka district. In the Province of Ulyahov there is a "holy" mountain and three "holy" springs. Believers crowd to them for miles around to be cured. "Even young people go"—all under the eyes of the local Party officials. In the same province school children have for years been allowed to "dress up in cassocks, read the lessons, sing in the church choir and assist the priests." What has the Komsomol done about this shocking state of affairs? It has done nothing at all.

✧ ✧ ✧

ALL THIS is part of the background to the growing campaign to banish religion from the Soviet Union—religion which, the Party now admits, is gaining ground rapidly, especially among the young. It is the background of eternal Russia.

TESTING RADIOACTIVITY IN BANCROFT

Sir: Having noted the recent interest in the uranium mining activity in the Bancroft-Haliburton area, I would like to make the following points regarding his autoradiographic tests of material taken from the district:

1. The effect of radioactive minerals on a photographic plate is extremely slow and 10½ hours is quite inadequate. The Atomic Energy Commission suggests exposure of a week or longer even with the sample ground flat to make close contact with the film.

2. The content of Uranium Oxide in our material of ore grade is roughly one part in one thousand. This means that the total area of radioactivity expectable on a 1" square sample face would be about the size of a pinhead, and furthermore it would be distributed as microscopic specks. Except when dealing with pure pitchblende or uraninite this makes concentration by panning necessary before photographic tests.

3. Three random pieces of rock do not represent any sort of sample whatsoever. At the Centre Lake property literally thousands of dollars and hundreds of man-hours have been spent on meticulous sampling and chemical analyses. Is it fair for any sort of comment to be published on the results of one invalid and insensitive test of unrepresentative material?

I write this because several people have mentioned gaining the impression that the tests threw doubt on the existence of radioactivity in these deposits. In justice to responsible mining endeavours in the district I would be glad if you would publish this letter and correct that impression.

A TECHNOCRAT AT HEART

Sir: You reported on March 18th a Mr. De Graff as saying in the Y.M.C.A. that we must stop dreaming because the Reds mean business and eventually they will be sitting on the rocks of Gibraltar and Cape Town and watch the Western world crumble without a shot being fired. He says that with no trade, and we would be unemployed. The dreamer.

First of all what is the problem? As I see it, it is Capitalism against Communism or I should say Totalitarianism.

I will agree with De Graff on one point, that is if Capitalism does not get the west conditioned for Fascism or turn to a system like Technocracy it will surely fall to Russian domination. It seems De Graff does not realize that North America is as good as self-sufficient.

What the West won't realize is the influx of the machine age overproducing their products and they can't loan enough money to other countries to buy the products, so we give most of it away and have a man-[illegible] ducing manpower off.

A sad, sorry, rotten state of affairs. But it's O.K. St. Laurent just got home and says there won't be a war and unemployment is no problem, yet. As far as I, a citizen, am concerned, it is my duty to tell you and everyone that our problem is physical, it is to produce what we consume and an administrative task to distribute the plenty. As simple as that.

What your press harps at is you have to produce at a profit, which involves money, which has outlived its purpose on this continent, the same as the barter system in horse and buggy days. Instead of a medium of exchange you have to keep track of what you use to produce more.

Religion would come into its own if the church preached to abolish the root of all evil, namely money. But, there would be no material gain for them so they go along with any type of Government and keep people blind.

I would gladly elucidate further to anyone interested but I know you will treat this as a jumble from a radical and forget the issue.

I remain a Technocrat at heart,
BERT ADAMS

ON CITY TRAFFIC

Sir: Your article, on traffic lights, of Saturday, March 13th, was read with avid interest. This problem is just another little rivulet which contributes to the flood of accidents that our Federal Government is finally getting alarmed about.

As you state, traffic in Peterborough is abominable, as it is in many similar centres in Ontario. Little more need be said on this. And here is a safe assumption; that the rate of car ownership per capita is not going to diminish in the future. So, expect bigger traffic headaches in 1964 than ever before,—unless we do something,—now!

About five years ago, Inspector Paige of the Toronto Police Traffic Dept. was invited to, and made a traffic survey of, our City. Unfortunately, advice as usual is most freely given, but least heeded. You make reference in your last paragraph to the Police Dept. Traffic Branch—there is none! It was one recommendation which is very badly needed. The Motor Cycle Policemen are doing a grand job, but they need to be organized into a separate Department.

Another aid, I think, would be to give real power to the Traffic Committee. Before the loading zones were installed, a survey was carried out, I understand, among the truckers, Expressmen, and others, to see where the best places would be. Recommendations were made, but again not carried out.

How about routing 5 o'clock traffic? Certainly the paving of Townsend St. was a good move, and undoubtedly diverts some traffic off Sherbrooke and other streets, but why leave a death trap at Stewart St. intersection? We may write off one of our new garbage trucks one day, the speed they go through this neutral intersection—or do they know what a neutral intersection and rule of right of way is?

So it is, I feel, that we must co-ordinate our forces, and organize a traffic division in the Police Department; make traffic Safety a part of this; make a real connection between this and the Traffic Committee; make a direct link of that committee to the City Council with a means of checking to see all recommendations are acted on. Let us seriously and conscientiously sit down and see what needs to be done with our small problem here, and then, DO SOMETHING ABOUT IT!

As you also mentioned, while we are at it, why not houseclean a few traffic By-Laws. Let's plug the leaks and lay more charges under By-Law rather than under the Highway Traffic Act and so let the City Treasury get more of the fine; to go directly back to traffic improvement, along with the revenue from parking meters, which is a direct levy on motorists (the same as gasoline tax) and should therefore be a direct benefit to them. A sensible bylaw might save the life of some pedestrian at George and Simcoe Streets, where pedestrians completely ignore the colour of the traffic lights.

We have a problem here—this City was laid out mostly in the horse and buggy era, and must now handle a tremendous volume of traffic, on streets far from adequate. But solutions are available—other cities are licking the same problems—we can too! Then, maybe, "rush" may mean "an orderly quick flow of traffic".

Yours very truly,
WM. D. JOHNSTON

How Time Flies

MARCH 20

1924 From Apsley comes word that four families in the district have been burned out recently.

Thomas Murray is elected president of the Peterborough Trades and Labor Council.

J. H. Spence of Peterborough is chosen Grand Director of Ceremonies of the Orange Grand Lodge of Ontario East.

1934 The Board of Health asks the Ontario Milk Control Board to investigate the producer-consumer spread in milk prices here.

It is reported that the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co. has purchased the Cordova Gold Mine.

1944 Arthur Geraghty is the first Peterborough boy to receive his commission with the Imperial Fleet Air Arm.

Mrs. Thomas Dennis of Warkworth celebrates her 99th birthday.

Miss Greta Clark, Church of England missionary from Peterborough, is at present teaching in China.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

The wise men are ashamed, they are dismayed and taken: lo, they have rejected the word of the Lord: and what wisdom is in them? . . . For they have healed the hurt of the daughter of my people slightly, saying, Peace, peace; when there is no peace . . . We looked for peace, but no good came; and for a time of health, and behold trouble! . . .

Is there no balm in Gilead; is there no physician there? why then is not the health of the daughter of my people recovered? (Jer. 8:9, 11, 15, 22.)

[illegible] when Jesus was entered into Capernaum, there came unto him a centurion, beseeching him, and saying, Lord, my servant lieth at home sick of the palsy, grievously tormented.

And Jesus saith unto him, I will come and heal him.

The centurion answered and said, Lord, I am not worthy that thou shouldest come under my roof: but speak the word only, and my servant shall be healed. For I am a man under authority, having soldiers under me: and I say to this man, Go, and he goeth; and to another, Come, and he cometh; and to my servant, Do this, and he doeth it.

When Jesus heard it, he marvelled, and said to him that followed, Verily I say unto you, I have not found so great faith, no, not in Israel . . . And Jesus said unto the centurion, Go thy way; and as thou has believed, so be it done unto thee. And his servant was healed in the self-same hour. (Matt. 8:5-10, 13.)

City Trust Was the Financial Overlord Of Even The New Public Lavatory, Manipulated Bonds To the City's Benefit

By HARRY THEOBALD

(Eighth in a series of articles on the Peterborough City Trust.)

As a variant of its relations with the council, the City Trust Commission was visited in May 1924 by Frank Adams, city treasurer. On behalf of the council he requested the Commission to "pay off $21,000 of city debentures falling due June 30, for which no sinking fund had been levied."

The money was borrowed by the council to be applied to the cost of the George St. trunk sewer, years before the administration of the 1924 members of the Trust.

Mr. Adams was told that the Commissioners would have to consult their solicitor, E. H. D. Hall. At the next meeting, Vincent Eastwood, chairman, reported the solicitor's opinion that the Commission had authority to comply with the council's proposal. The resolution by J. J. Hartley and G. A. Gillespie explained that the $21,000 was to be paid out of the surplus that was credited to general debentures.

Although the Commissioners were scrupulous in observing their statutory duties, this was one instance in which they actually made a gift without strings to the city treasury. It foreshadowed their eventual dispersal of all their funds for municipal requirements.

BUYING FROM CITY

Trust funds were only briefly idle credits. In July the Commissioners had further money in hand. They decided to buy $16,000 Peterborough debentures from Dominion Securities, earning 5.3%, and also $26,000 of a 6% issue by the city.

It is all a story that is told now, but a question that arises in the scanning of the Trust minutes looks for information as to how the Commissioners kept themselves [illegible] markets.

Part of the answer is in this entry of Dec. 1, 1924: "The secretary reported $40,000 becoming available for investment. It was decided to ask brokerage firms for offers."

That was one source of current prices, and presumably of information about securities market trends. The chairman, Mr. Eastwood, was a retired banker, with a long and trained interest in financial affairs, including securities. Communications were received by Arthur Stevenson, the secretary of the Trust, and presumably there would be consideration of such details as prices and values, with further discussion of the facts at meetings of the members. There were the financial companies, the financial press, and so on, for guidance within the fixed limits of the Trust as drawn in the special act of the Legislature.

On Dec. 10, the Commission ordered purchase of $40,000 province of Ontario debentures due in 1948 at $100.25.

Its business had expanded to a volume that suggested at a February meeting, 1925 the printing of a report separate from the council's financial reviews, but there was to be no action if the printing charge was more than $15. Nothing further was heard of that idea.

In the vernacular, the Commission was interested in a "fast buck ($)", as shown in this minute: "May 18, 1925—

BUYING AND SELLING

"The chairman suggested the advisability of selling part of the Victory Bonds held by the Commission and purchasing with the proceeds debentures to be issued by the city, pointing out that about $800 might thereby be made. Authority was given a committee, Mr. Eastwood, Mr. Peck and secretary, to buy and sell at their discretion (but only in this particular prospect)".

There was a trifling matter about the right of the market clerk, obtained from the council, to erect pumps on the market and sell gasoline. This appeared to be an infringement of the Commission's rights as trustees of the municipal properties. On that point the solicitor was to be consulted. Presumably, Walter Stocker was market clerk, and in August he was ordered to remove the tanks within 30 days. He appeared before the Commission in September, affirming that he had the written consent of the council to erect the pumps and use them.

Mr. Stocker was informed of the Commission's responsibility, but a compromise was suggested to charge him $100 a year rental.

A letter in June 1925 offered the Trust $132,000 5% pavement debentures and $14,000 in the name of the Utilities Commission. Both were accepted.

The council of Fort William enquired by letter about the policy of the Commission in the use of its sinking fund.

BONDS, DEBENTURES

Bank of Montreal apparently found that the increasing volume of debentures was worth more than goodwill. "They asked for a reasonable amount for the care of the city's securities." The Trust agreed to paying the bank $100 a year for that service.

Purchase of $100,000 debentures is reported on Nov. 2, but there were no funds on hand for Peterborough and Dominion Government bonds [illegible] Toronto Stock Co.

A statement from A. E. Ames Co., Jan. 4, 1926, showed the amount due by the Trust for purchase of $100,000 4½% federal bonds. Trust's demand on thhe council, to be collected from the ratepayers, was $328,159 in 1926.

June 30, the middle of the year was customarily a time for meeting debenture obligations. June 6, 1927, Mr. Gillespie moved, seconded by Mr. Hartley, that the secretary be instructed to have $50,000 of 1934 Victory Bonds and $10,000 of other bonds changed from being payable to bearer instead of to the City Trust (thereby making them negotiable by a purchaser), "that this be done about June 20, and the secretary, before the end of the month, ask the Bank of Montreal, Wood, Gundy & Co. and Dominion Securities Co. for prices, the chairman and secretary being authorized to complete the sale."

On June 29, the bank asked for the names of the Trust members authorized to withdraw securities from their holding.

That was followed by a Peck motion to the effect "that whenever the Trust desires to withdraw securities for sale, a resolution of the Commission shall be passed, and a copy delivered to the Bank of Montreal as their authority for the delivery of securities."

$140,182 AVAILABLE

In Dec. 1927, the Trust had available for investment at the end of the year: cash on hand $7,000; payable by the city $285,000; coupon interest $21,000; total $313,000. Provision had to be made for: debentures falling due June 1928 $25,182; interest due that date 115,000; total $140,182.

Mr. Eastwood explained that the finance committee of the council wanted the Trust to buy $100,000 local improvement 5% debentures to be issued in April, and to advance the purchase price on Jan. 1, receiving the debentures at par when issued. He said he had spoken to the solicitor who doubted the legality of the proposed loan before debentures were issued or a bylaw passed. This matter was left to Mr. Peck and Mr. Hall, the Trust solicitor.

W. R. MORRIS

W. R. Morris was appointed a Commissioner by the council to succeed Richard Hall, deceased. He was a chartered accountant. The other members then were E. A. Peck, G. A. Gillespie, V. Eastwood and J. J. Hartley.

June 5, 1928, minute: "To meet interest due June 30, and provide for purchases of $132,000 city debentures to be issued and bought by the Commission, the chairman and secretary be authorized to remove from the Bank of Montreal and dispose of $188,000 of the 1940-46 Dominion of Canada bonds".

Mr Morris moved a year later that all offers of bonds for purchase or sale should be confirmed by letter.

DENNE ERA

Mayor Roland Denne asked the Trust in Feb. 1929 to provide $14,000 for the extension of sewers and other costs incurred by the annexation of 12 acres in the west end. That early detail of expansion (which may have been north of Charlotte St. and west of Monaghan Road) is lost in the mists of memory. The Trust was agreeable to buy the city's debentures if consent was obtained from the Railway and Mu[illegible]

A deputation headed by Mr. Denne was the council's plan for building a public lavatory on Charlotte St., opposite the Empress Hotel. The Trust expressed its assent of the financing, and arranged to call for tenders. The estimated cost was $10,500.

PUBLIC LAVATORY

The late George N. Graham, proprietor of the hotel at that time, was a bitter critic of the project which, he said, was unnecessarily placing opposite the Empress a public service building, detrimental to his investment, that could be easily located elsewhere. However, it was central and conveniently placed, and the work went ahead.

Archibald A. McIntyre was appointed by the council to the Commission after the death of John J. Hartley. Both were building contractors to whom the Commission referred many of the details of the maintenance of the city's buildings.

The old powder magazine down stream several hundred yards from the foot of Park St. was rented to Johnston Motors at $50 a year in Oct. 1930.

Explosion of a stock of gunpowder a generation or more prior to that time in the hardware store at the Bank of Toronto corner of George and Hunter Streets agitated the council in concern for public safety down town. The hardware shop was owned by a man named McKellar

"POWDER MAGAZINE"

Council built a "powder magazine" out on the point of the present park overlooking Little Lake, but when Alfred McDonald proposed to erect a sawmill at that location, the "magazine" was transferred to the river site at the foot of Park St.

Johnson Motors were interested in the small building for convenience in the testing of their outboards on the river.

134 Years of McIndoo Family At Cavan

Six generations of a well-known district family have lived on the same farm for 134 years. They are the McIndoo family and their long years of farming is a splendid achievement. They live in Cavan township, seven miles south-west of Peterborough.

Tom McIndoo celebrated his 88th birthday early in February and he is the oldest of four generations. His son and his grandson and his great-grandson are all at the family farm. They are Fred McIndoo, 46; Don McIndoo, 21; and Warren McIndoo, eight months.

It was 134 years ago when the late William McIndoo came to Canada from Ireland and settled on Crown land at the present site of the McIndoo farm. He was 98 when he died. His son, Matthew, was the second generation to operate the farm and he died at the age of 83. His son, Tom McIndoo, was one of eleven children and he is the only one of the family still living.

Tom McIndoo lived on the family farm most of his life. Nineteen years ago, he and his wife moved into a new, comfortable home on the same concession road as the farm. When Tom McIndoo retired, his son, Fred, took full charge of the farm.

Fred and his wife have a son and a daughter. Betty, 17, is a student at Peterborough Collegiate Institute and Vocational School. Don, 21, is a partner with his father.

Don McIndoo took a two-year course at the Ontario Agricultural School and then returned home to work the farm with his father. Don is married and he and his wife have one child. He is a pretty, healthy eight-months-old baby and his name is Warren McIndoo.

Some years ago, Fred McIndoo began to specialize in poultry and became well and favourably known in the poultry industry. The total poultry flock at the McIndoo farm runs as high as 23,000 birds. The farm also has 40 head of beef cattle.

There is always plenty of work to do on the big farm. There are 150 acres at the home site and an additional 100 acres of ranch land a short distance away. The farm keeps a hired man and he and his wife and two children live in a comfortable house near the big McIndoo farmhouse.

The large home is a well-built one erected many years ago. Fred and his wife and daughter live in one section and there is a new apartment for Don and his wife and baby.

At the age of 21, Don McIndoo is one of the youngest farmers in the district and he is well capable of looking after the big-scale operations in a thorough manner. Recently, he was in full charge when his mother and father took a well-earned winter vacation to Florida. They returned home late in February.

Over the 134-year period, the McIndoo family have been highly-respected residents and each generation succeeded in building up the farm and assisting in the betterment of both rural and city life. They have been board members of Peterborough Exhibition and have been active in a number of agricultural and other enterprises throughout the years. And they have been active in their community church all their lives.

"I have been going to Fairmount United church since I was eight years old," Tom McIndoo recalled. He remembers well the early days when he first went to Sunday School and to church and he remembers his school life at the small country school. His wife is also a most active member of the church and she has been the organist there for 37 years.

Tom McIndoo has another son besides Fred. He is Matthew McIndoo and he is a contractor in Toronto. He and his wife have one daughter, Judith, 14.

Many years have passed for Tom McIndoo but they have been happy years. He is bright and active for a man of his advanced years and he and his wife are happy. "The community has always been a good community with fine neighbours," Tom McIndoo said. "It has been like that all through the years," he added.

The people in the district agree the community is a splendid section in which to live. And they have always found the McIndoo family to be good neighbours.

With a total of six generations on the same farm, the McIndoo family have contributed well to the building of the district.

A·F·I·E·L·D with NICK NICKELS

We visited the Canadian National Sportsmen's Show this week to gather some general impressions of the continent's greatest spring-time spectacle. After five footsore hours we found that:

—The exhibits were better arranged than ever before with boats, cars, travel and retail displays sectioned off for accessibility and comparability.

—City manufacturers of boats, outboard motors and trailers were well represented, although we would like to have seen Harry McGinnis' products in the same general trailer section where the oggling traffic flow was more dense.

—The most spectacular travel display was from the province of Alberta with Quebec following right on the foothills.

—The wrestling alligator act in the tank show was a phony but Sharkey the seal hammed his way through innumerable acts with as much loving gusto as ever.

A resume: There was an absolute absence of Kawartha boosting.

Nine days ago, we hear, officials of the Canadian Travel Association bombed the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce with phone calls. Would we please take the booth space that was tentatively reserved? Sorry, we have no dough for this.

So, we refuse to display our tourist-country wares. We are content to sit beside our "clear lands and shining waters" twiddling our thumbs and hoping that the tourist trade will come to us as usual. Business is too competitive these days for this line of thinking.

We hate to be a bit of a bore on Kawartha tourist promotion but we are too late with too little. Too bad.

Coldstorageman Frank Montgomery showed us a clipping this week of a world record steelhead salmon—30 pounds, 8 ounces—caught last fall at the mouths of the Kispiox and Skeena rivers, B.C., by Jeff Wilson of Hazelton. The local angle is that the lure that caught the monster was manufactured by his late uncle's bait company in Vancouver; he was Peterborough-born Rufus Gibbs.

THREE LITTLE WORDS (MISSING)

Judging from the number of phone calls we have had lately, and letters to the Chamber of Commerce and mysterious clippings mailed to us [illegible]

They have a point there, and an important one.

Each piece of writing lambasts the apparent fact that visiting women and children will each have to have individual licenses and the costs per family are going to be high.

All this ill will results from an omission of three little words "UNDER SEVENTEEN YEARS" following the $6.50 non-resident tag. We have been assured by department officials that that was MEANT. But it wasn't put in print.

Somebody boobed badly and somebody else is going to have to correct the information and try to smooth a lot of ruffled feathers. They have also got to work fast before families have made their final decisions whether or not to strike Ontario from their holiday spots this summer.

♠ ♠ ♠ ♠

IT ALWAYS AMAZES US why resident summer folk who visit in Ef-el-ay slip up on sending us pictures of their winter fishing prowess in waters of the Sunshine State. One arrived this week from Jack's tackle shop at Riviera Beach showing Rae Williams of Havelock with a whopping sailfish. The picture shows this 6-foot, 11-inch monster posing with Rae who caught it from John Rogers' private boat. Before catching this sailfish we understand that Rae boated a 32-pound Barracuda that lacked only one pound of being the season's largest. We don't know anything about these makes of fish but understand they are just about as scrappy as our Kawartha muskies. We hope Rae will enlighten us further.

DISTRICT FARMERS with sugar maple woodlots hardly needed to heed the breathless announcement of their home-coming school kids that "Sap's runnin'," to know that it is syrup-making time again.

They have been busy for several weeks now and have cut and hauled tinder-dry cedar blowdowns from the swamps to the sap house. They have brushed saplings from the sap trails, dusted off stacks of pails from the drivingshed loft and bought some new spiles. The evaporating pans were turned right-side-up over the boiling hearths.

Snappy nights and warming days have made sap run freely this week keeping the farmer and his men humping to lug the heavy pails through snow to the gathering tank sleigh. Boiling fires in the sap house are rarely cold.

There is something almost ceremonial about running off the first batch of maple syrup as it bubbles brown and heady in the last pan. By the time the liquid comes to boil and just about froths over it takes the experienced hand of the veteran syrup maker to know just when he should add a dollop of fresh cream to the mixture to settle the froth. He throws the hearth damper.

The syrup runs off hot through the discharge pipe into the clean milk pail below and it is a poor run that doesn't almost fill it to the brim. And that first pailful is the choicest of the season which the farmer's wife invariably keeps for home use or shares begrudgingly with her best friends. While still hot the syrup is poured through a felt strainer to remove sugar sand, a product that chemists used to buy in times gone by.

The farmer's wife may have observed Shrove Tuesday by serving pancakes for supper but she also serves them again for supper on the night of the first syrup run. It is the night everyone is urged to eat his fill, and does.

First-run-syrup-and-pancakes-night comes but once a year.

FABULOUS FINDINGS

The Nymph Echo

According to ancient fable, perhaps about the time that Minerva and Neptune were contending for possession of the city of Athens, there was a beautiful nymph called Echo, one fond of the woods and hills. She was popular with Diana and attended her in the chase.

Alas, Echo was not satisfied to let her beauty speak for her—she talked far too much, and always wanted the last word in a conversation.

It seems that one day Juno sought her husband and had good reason to fear that he was amusing himself among the nymphs. Echo talked a blue streak and managed to detain the goddess until the offending nymphs made good their escape.

Juno suspected this and, like any good wife, she preferred to blame the other woman rather than her husband; she said: "Thou must forfeit the use of that tongue which cheated me, except for one purpose—that of reply. Always shalt thou have the last word, but thou can't not speak first."

So it came to pass. Echo one day saw a handsome youth named Narcissus who was lost after pursuing the chase in the mountains. He shouted "Who's here?" Echo answered "Here". When he called "Come", she replied "Come". He then shouted "Let us join together", and she gladly answered in like manner.

Then he saw her, but her form was fading with grief and loneliness, and he would have nothing to do with her, but left.

Poor Echo retired back to the wilderness and, in time, her flesh shrank away and her bones gradually changed into rocks.

Finally, there was nothing left of Echo but her voice as she hid out in caves and among mountain cliffs. But she still to this day has her voice and is always ready to answer. It's pretty hard breaking the habit of always having the last word.

Your Garden:

Control the Grubs Hibernating In Soil of Your Lawn

By HENRY PREE (NEA)

With next summer's lawn troubles in mind, early spring treatments are advised to control any grubs now hibernating in the soil. Some experts suggest getting the grubs when they wake up and start feeding on the grass roots.

Japanese beetle grubs of the common May or June beetle may cause severe injury to lawns, he said. Grubs feed about an inch below the surface of the soil, cutting off roots, and, in severe infestations, actually rolling back the turf. In addition, moles prize grubs as food, and the activity of moles can ruin a fine lawn.

Dieldrin or chlordane usually kills grubs within three to four weeks if rains wash it into the soil, according to experts. Chlordane should be applied at the rate of one pound of 40 to 50 per cent strength to each 1,000 square feet of area.

Six ounces of dieldrin is the correct quantity for a similar area. Either of these will control grubs for at least three years because of residual action. They may be applied as powder or mixed with fertilizer.

The chemical has a better chance to seep down into the soil if the lawn is cut and raked before treatment.

Malathon, a powerful insecticide recently introduced to the home gardener, has been given a satisfactory report by many entomologists.

Tests indicate that it has a wide range of effectiveness, controlling mites, aphis, scales, mealy bugs, lace bugs, leaf-chewing caterpillars, Japanese beetle and leaf miners.

Malathon has been found to be safe for use on plants in recommended dosages, but caution should be practiced with any new material until it has been proved safe on all plants.

Act early in the season and get rid of grubs before they start feeding on grass roots.

It is relatively low in toxicity to man and animals; in fact, its toxicity is less than that of DDT. A disagreeable odor is evident, but it does not persist.

Malathon was suggested for trial use in 1954 as an all-purpose spray, as follows: Four tablespoons of 25 per cent malathon, plus two tablespoons of 50 per cent DDT wettable powders to a gallon of water.

An alternative is one and one half teaspoons of 50 per cent malathon plus two teaspoons of 25 per cent DDT emulsifiable liquids to a gallon of water.

Either should be applied first between May 10 and 15, second, between June 1 and 5 and, third, between July 1 and 5.

Gardening Questions

Q—What do you recommend for the improvement of a heavy clay soil? We cannot afford to replace it with topsoil.

A—A two-inch layer of sandy gravel plus a two-inch layer of any organic materials such as manure, peat moss, compost and decayed leaves applied to the surface and thoroughly incorporated by digging or plowing will improve the soil.

Whitening the surface with agricultural lime before spreading the sandy gravel is likewise helpful. Do not rake smooth but allow to stand rough over winter. Next spring work in a 4-12-4 fertilizer when preparing for planting.

Q—Please recommend a fast-growing vine to cover an ugly steep bank.

A—The climbing honeysuckle, lonicera japonica halliana, provides a quick and easy covering. Space five to eight feet apart and plant in a fairly good soil.

Q—What are the broadleaf plants so often recommended in garden magazines?

A—Broadleaf is any plant with a flat leaf but is generaly used to differentiate rhododendron, mountain laurel, box bush, holly and spruce, hemlock, yew and other similar evergreens from the pine, needle evergreens.

Peterborough, Canada

GEORGE STREET, at the corner of Charlotte, more than fifty years ago. The face is somewhat familiar, but the big puzzle in this old postcard is the tramcar way down the street. It looks like an electric street car, but there are no overhead lines anywhere visible. Hydro and telephone wires show but not any for the tramway. Was it a horse-drawn tram? That invisible black spot in front of the tram could be a horse. Does anybody know if Peterborough ever had horse-drawn trams?

GRANT'S SPORT CORNER

By DON GRANT

Like many spring brides, this corner today will have something old, something new, something borrowed and something blue.

Something Old

A number of readers will likely rebel at our something old, namely Jack Dempsey and boxing.

The Manassa Mauler ruled over the main bout at the weekly wrestling matches, much to the Tex McKenzie fans' satisfaction.

Chatting before the match, the former world's heavyweight boxing champion, now restaurant owner and advertising agent, claimed TV was gradually forcing the small boxing clubs out of business. Therefore TV was actually detrimental to the sport despite the rise in popularity.

Dempsey didn't seem to think much of Canadian champ, Earl Walls, passing him off with "I had a boy two years ago who knocked Walls out in the first round."

Incidentally the Alpha Boxing Club will resume its bimonthly cards beginning April 12. Although the first card last Monday was highly successful, the club has been forced to forget the next card, scheduled for a week Monday, due to boxers' commitments in the British Empire Games trials.

Something New

Football is getting to be a year-round topic, so these bits (actually predictions) are appropriate and new.

There'll be some drastic changes this season in the Orfuns' lineup, especially the coaching.

Rumors, backed by the knowledge that the Orfuns are in the red, have it that Tony Kotowski, '53 coach will likely be replaced unless the former American college player works for practically nothing.

Those same rumors, persist in naming lawyer, Don Bark, newcomer to the city last summer, as Kotowski's possible successor if there is a change. Bark was a standout defensively with the Orfuns in their search for the Eastern Canada intermediate title.

Something Borrowed

Our borrowed item is from the typewriter of the Tely's Bunny Morganson. From the old Orillia Yorks club he discloses that George Johnston, stellar goalminder for the lacrossers, will play this season for the Victoria Shamrocks.

That the Rocks were scouring the East for a good goalie wasn't news in lacrosse circles. In fact this corner knew that fact before the Mann Cup finals started against the Trailermen.

After that series and also throughout it, Victoria took more than a fatherly interest in Lloyd (Moon) Wootton. But the Trailermen's netminder shrugged off these feelers and never gave them another thought.

About a month ago the Moon received a stronger approach from the Shamrocks in the form of an out-and-out- offer. His opinion of their future for him was "ridiculous".

His refusal apparently sent the Shamrocks running to Johnston, Canada's second best. Since the likeable chap is a free agent (Orillia's not operating this year) he scooped up their offer.

The Shamrocks have the best drawing team in Canada, running about 3,000 per game in league and jumping to the 5,000-mark in playoffs. They want that Mann Cup badly for their enthusiasts. Therefore they're bolstering.

Expect more announcements of Eastern stars heading west. Arn Dugan's Nanaimo club is also looking over a few of OUR favorites.

Something Blue

Water is blue and so these paragraphs are about swimming, the synchronized variety.

This is new, not only for Peterborough but for Canada. Boys, perhaps we should say young men, have taken up synchronized swimming.

These ballets in water are increasing rapidly in popularity among the girls throughout Canada and the United States. Interest is also growing among the young men in these graceful routines.

Recently three young fellows, Bill Davies, Johs Rose and Ken Hicks, entered this sporting field through the Peterborough Ornamental Swimming Club and the YMCA. During the past two months under Fraser Wade and Pansy Forbes they have developed a routine, Let's Dance, with club swimmers Donna Bristow, Pat Nickles and Joan Craig.

To create greater interest in the sport, the new mixed group and swimmers from the club will demonstrate their skills next week at the YMCA pool. Bert Hubbard, the American synchronized swim solo champion, will show just how far the sport has advanced among men in the U.S.A.

Who knows, perhaps in several years men might win the U.S. synchronized swimming championship? One never knows, does one?

And Some Things

To settle many arguments the series between the Petes and the Truckmen is now a best of seven series, not a four of seven.

What does that mean? Well, the series works on points, totalling 14. That means complications.

Dealing with the most obvious complication, both teams can win three and tie one for seven points in the seven games. In that case the OHA would likely decide whether the teams would play (a) a sudden-death game; (b) a two-game home-and-home series, goals-to-count, and (c) a whole new series.

That complication seems most likely, especially after that first game.

ALWAYS ABOUT THE GOAL — In lacrosse, Lloyd (Moon) Wootton plays goal; in hockey, Moon plays defence. In either case, he is always about the goal. Wootton (centre, above) fights with Marmora's Glen Lavender (right) for the puck near the Havelock goal where Ross Nicholls waits for a possible shot. Havelock staved off elimination in the northern section TVL finals with a 9-1 victory.

When Eakins interfered in this week's match Atkins promptly lined him up as a partner. McKenzie was fortunate to secure the huge Hombre. Eakins and Atkins loom as the roughest twosome to ever step in a ring, and McKenzie and Montana will have to be super to take them. But with Montana's experience and McKenzie's youth and speed they could chalk up at victory. The semi-final pits Mike Paidousis, all-American gridder, against Jack Bence, while the opener brings together Jan Gotch and Alan Garfield.

Hamilton Edges Biltmores 4-3

GUELPH (CP)—Withstanding a list-ditch rally, Hamilton Cubs downed Biltmores 4-3 here Friday night to give them a 2-0 clutch on series C of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A quarter-finals. Cubs opened with a 4-2 victory in Hamilton Wednesday. The teams tangle in Hamilton again tonight.

The teams ran through the first frame scoreless and completed the second 1-1. Cubs struck for two goals within 44 seconds as the third opened and ran their lead to 4-1 at the halfway mark. Then the Bilts started back clicking twice within a minute at the 17:00 mark. The Cubs were on the ropes but Guelph failed to land the key blow.

Bill Binnie scored twice for Cubs, Martin McAlendin and Brian Kilrea once each. Hillary Menard notched two and John Gillis one for the losers. Kilrea also collected three assists.

Bowling Results

Frank (Barney) Worsencroft had high three of 759 in the Mercantile Bowling League this week, as Jack Martell and he tied for top single of 280. Barb Siddall led lasses in this loop with 299, and Winnie McCarrell got top three for girls in a 689 effort. Nicholl's team rolled 3047 top pinnage. Austin's and Empress split 2-2, as Baker's blanked A & P No. 1, with 3-1 wins going to East City over Crowe's, A & P No. 2 over Prudential and Nicholl's against Neill's.

Phyl Selby led with 345 in the YM lasses' circuit, D. Martin hitting a 318 single. Commandos got 3217 pinnage as they and Hurricanes took six points from Tigers and Bombers. Glens and Aces won four from Lucky Strikes and Corvettes.

A. Reed had top singles of 280 and M. Knights best trio of 605 in the Lucky Strike League. The 3-1 wins went to Parsons, Callaghan, and Butcher over Dunfield, Miles and Reed, as 2-2 counts were registered by McBride vs. Gibbons, and Knights vs. Pope.

The standing in this league for the second series is: Knights 27 points, Miles and Parsons 22, Reed 20, McBride, Callaghan and Butcher 17, Gibbons 16, Pope 15 and Dunfield seven.

H. Gordon Leads

H. Gordon had high three of 870 and best single of 388 this week in the men's City Bowling League. McGillis led teams with 3,529 and Edward hit a 1,345 single for teams. The 6-0 triumphs were taken by Monumental, MacDonald, Primeau, York Trading and McGillis over Stop-awhile, Golfers, McBride & Anderson, Family Credit and Cookie's; the 4-0 wins went to Sunocos, Edwards and Ferguson against Payne's, Parkhill and Novelty Shoe.

Havelock Routs Marmora Hannah, Doris, Mason Star Marmora Still Leads Series

That Marmora had beaten Havelock three straight in the northern section of the TVL was practically unbelievable Friday night. For then Havelock completely routed Marmora 9-1 at the Civic arena.

Previously Havelock had taken 11-4, 8-4 and 4-3 shellackings from the youthful Marmora team, leaving Marmora with only one game to win for the northern honors. Perhaps it was the heavy schedule, four games in five nights, that made the iron towners play such a poor game.

At the same time Havelock, faced with elimination, played the hockey they're capable of playing since most are former senior "B" players.

At any rate Marmora was far from a match for Havelock Friday night.

Havelock spotted Marmora their lone tally to begin the scoring, but after that it was Havelock all the way. They jumped to a 4-1 lead in the first period and romped ahead 9-1 in the second before playing a scoreless third.

GOOD HOCKEY

Actually the first period was one of the best periods of hockey played this season at the Civic. Both goalies, Ross Nicholls of Havelock and Al Killian of Marmora, played stellar goal as the play went up and down quickly. The backchecking of Marmora forwards was excellent.

After that the tempo slowed, breaking out in several fast spurts. But on the whole it was choppy hockey as both teams concentrated on stiff checking and short passing plays.

Despite the rugged checks there were only seven penalties (four to Havelock) handed out by referees Red Carson and Vern Goyer of Belleville for minor infractions. Only once did a fight threaten and then the players, Jack Kane of Havelock and Bill Brown of Marmora, were seperated before trouble really started.

GOALIE HURT

Playing sensational goal, Killian went out for a 20 minutes midway through the second period when his right leg was hurt. Despite the injury he played until a stoppage of play, even then making a save, before slumping against the goal-post.

Noticably favoring his leg, Killian returned to the game and held Havelock to two goals in the final 30 minutes of play.

Former Perth (Scottish League) player, John Hannah sparked Havelock. With shifty poke checks (the best by far this season at the arena), the odd body check, and fast rushes he gave Marmora more trouble than they bargained for.

Nicholls, former Peterborough Legion-Eagle goalie, matched his rival, Killian, stop for stop. He rose to starry heights several times as Glen Lavender, Bill Jones and Bob Maynes broke in.

PERFORMS HATTRICK

Lefty Doris and Curly Mason were the main stalwarts on the Havelock offence. The roaming Doris performed the hattrick while the stocky Mason scored a pair.

Lavender batted in a corner passout from Ray Darrah to open the scoring. But 17 seconds later from the faceoff Jack Kane set up Don Floyd for the tying goal. Then Hannah with a long blueline slap shot sent Havelock up 2-1.

Mason put Havelock two ahead minutes later when he rifled in a screen shot, set up by Doug Mortimer. The Trailermen lacrosse player was rewarded for stiff fore-checking in the last minute of play when he helped Stew Brooks score Havelock's fourth goal while Fred Mortimer sat out a high sticking penalty.

Three goals in 61 seconds early in the second gave Havelock more than a comfortable winning margin. Doug and Fred Mortimer worked in with short passes for the first, Doris scoring the others, the first from a faceoff and the other on a corner faceoff passout from Kane.

Two three-way passing plays ended the game scoring after Killian returned to the ice. Doris scored his third ending a neat play with Hannah and Kane while Mason scored the last one with Fred Mortimer and Hannah assisting.

The fifth game will be played in Marmora on Monday night.

Havelock: goal, Nicholls; defence, Hannah and D. Mortimer; centre, Floyd; wings, Doris and Kane; alts.: Wootton, F. Mortimer, Brooks, Mason, Ruttan, Laing, Kelly, Scott.

Bolt, Mayer Tied For First

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Despite tricky 30-mile-an-hour wind gusts, Tommy Bolt and Dick Mayer knocked 11 strokes off par for the Normandy Shores Golf Course Friday to move from nowhere into first place in the $15,000 international four ball golf tournament.

Bolt, the stormy Texan, fired an eagle and four birdies and Mayer, the blonde St. Petersburg, Fla., expert, contributed five birdies as they registered a best ball score of 61, the lowest of the tournament.

It gave them a 36-hole total of 128 and brought them from a tie for 22nd place into a one-stroke lead over the field at the halfway point.

Rudy Horvath of Windsor, Ont., and Gerry Kesselring of Kitchener, added a 67 to their previous round of 66 for a total of 133 to stay among the leaders.

Chicago Hawks Crush Bruins With 7-0 Victory

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The long, tough grind of the 70-game regular National Hockey League comes to an end Sunday night. The finish will provide the answers to the two questions that NHL fans have been wondering about for days.

The answer to one of them, whether Montreal Canadiens or Toronto Maple Leafs will take second place, could possibly come tonight. The results of the windup games Saturday night will be necessary before it will be known whether Terry Sawchuk of Detroit Red Wings or Harry Lumley of the Leafs wins the Vezina trophy in the goalies' race.

The Leafs, in second place over the Canadiens by a single point, can wrap up the runner-up spot tonight with a win over New York Rangers in Toronto should Detroit beat the Canadiens in Montreal.

Otherwise the issue won't be settled until Sunday night when the two Canadian clubs reverse opponents, the Leafs tangling with the Red Wings in Detroit and the Habitants meeting the Rangers in New York.

Taking into account tie games, the Leafs and Capadiens could finish with an equal number of points. In that event, second place would go to the team having the greater number of wins.

The second-place winner will meet Boston, who have clinched the fourth spot, in the Stanley Cup playoffs. The club which ends up in third place will go against the NHL champion Red Wings.

Lumley is in the drivers' seat in the goalies' race between him and Sawchuk for the Vezina Trophy. Lumley has had five fewer goals scored against him and the margin looks pretty big for Sawchuk to overcome in the final two games.

Goalie Gerry McNeil of the Canadiens injured a month ago with torn ligaments, may return to help the Montrealers in their battle for second place. He will accompany the club to New York for its final game Sunday.

Boston and Chicago Black Hawks played their next-to-last game of the regular schedule Friday night. The Bruins, with their worries about a playoff berth over, took things easily and the Hawks rode over them for a 7-0 victory.

Pete Conacher scored three goals to lead the Hawks' attack. Rookie Ken Wharram, centring a line with Conacher, had four assists and a goal. The other Chicago tallies went to Jack Price, Jack McIntyre and Larry Wilson.

The Bruins and Hawks wind up their regular schedule when they meet again in Boston Sunday night.

Red Raiders Score Win

Seek 4th Title

WINDSOR (CP)—Niagara Falls Red Raiders, Sault Ste. Marie Wildcats and two local quintets, Petterson Panthers and Kennedy Clippers, scored victories Friday night in the opening of the annual all-Ontario high school basketball tournament.

Niagara Falls, seeking its fourth straight title, scored its 70th consecutive victory by defeating Etobicoke High School Rams 57-49. Sault Ste. Marie clipped Toronto Central Commerce 65-54, Windsor Patterson walloped Hamilton Central 62-41 and Windsor Kennedy trimmed Kingston Collegiate Blues 70-45.

The pairings for today's sudden-death semi-finals have Niagara Falls facing Sault Ste. Marie and Patterson meeting Kennedy. The final will be played tonight.

Niagara Falls had its hands full for the first three quarters of its clash with the Toronto district champions from Etobicoke. The lanky 'Cokes held a 19-8 lead at the first intermission and a 32-27 bulge at half time. Then, with Larry Triano and Ray Nagy leading the way, Jim Rose's defending champions tied the score late in the third stanza and moved out in front to stay.

Nagy paced Niagara Falls scoring with 16 points while Triano and Bill Burleigh clicked for 13 markers each. Six-foot, eight-inch Mike Syron tallied better than half of Etobicoke points with a total of 26.

Sault Ste. Marie and Central Commerce were deadlocked at 14-14 after one quarter of their game but the Sault cagers took command in the second period and won going away.

Ray Burns and Allan Carscadden hooped 21 and 14 points respectively for the Sault while Ray Kuzmyk led the losers with 17.

Windsor Kennedy was never in trouble in its game with Kingston. Ron Brown lead the Clippers to their win with a 23-point spree. Kennedy had its troubles for the first 10 minutes of play as the determined Kingston cagers broke fast and piled up a 13-3 lead before the locals started to roll.

With Brown sparking the attack, Kennedy caught the visitors early in the second quarter and did not let up until it had marked up the top score of the first night's play.

Hal Glasser was runner up to Brown for top scoring honors with 17 points while Chuck Pester and Murray Prior were best for the losers with 15 and 14 points.

Smythe Wants To Get Brian Cullen

TORONTO (CP)—Conn Smythe, managing director of Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League, said he is "interested" in Brian Cullen, the centre for St. Catharines TeePees who set an Ontario Hockey Association Junior A scoring record this season.

Smythe added, however, that he doubts the 170-pound native of Ottawa could move directly into the NHL from junior A hockey. "I think he might need a year in a minor league," Smythe said. "He's ... I think the thing that makes him great now is that he's a great fighter and that he keeps himself in top physical condition."

"But in the NHL he would be up against players who outweight him by 20 pounds or so. Most of them are also great fighters and also in top condition. That could make a big difference."

WANT HIM ON LIST

Smythe said the Maple Leafs will try to have Cullen placed on their list. Montreal Canadiens are also reported to be after him. His record 161 points also included a record 68 goals—three more than the previous league mark.

Rudy Pilous, coach of the TeePees, said Cullen is the property of Buffalo Bisons of the American Hockey League.

"Cullen signed a form with Buffalo before he came to St. Catharines," Pilous said. The Bisons are a farm club of Montreal Canadiens.

Giardello Floors Troy 3 Times To Win Fight

NEW YORK (AP)—Joey Giardello, the world's second ranking middleweight contender from Philadelphia, Friday night floored durable Willie Troy three times and handed the young Washington Negro a savage beating to win on technical knockout in 39 seconds of the seventh round.

Giardello, a 13-to-10 favorite, weighed 159 to Troy's 156½.

The clever, hard-hitting Giardello dropped the 21-year-old Troy twice in the first round and once in the second round with right hand smashes. Each time the game youngster staggered to his feet at the count of three, but was given the mandatory eight count.

Troy, winner of his last seven fights by knockouts, took a brutal beating from then on but he wasn't floored again. Referee Al Berl finally stopped the slaughter after Joey walloped Willie with eight straight punches to the jaw.

The cocky Philadelphian hit the strong seventh-ranked contender with everything he had, but he never stopped Willie from moving in.

Even when he was obviously out on his feet, Troy gamely plodded forward as the crowd of 8,159 marvelled at his ability to absorb the fearful punishment. The gross gate was $31,225. The scheduled 10-rounder was broadcast and telecast nationally.

Before the fight, Giardello said "he's a sucker for a right." He was 100 per cent correct.

INVESGIGATE STUD FARM

LONDON (Reuters)—The government Friday appointed a committee to look into one of Britain's earliest experiments in nationalization—a racehorse stud farm.

The horsey set both inside and outside Parliament are not happy about the condition of the national stud, a department of the ministry of agriculture.

They say the public is losing money at the rate of £5,000 a year — though it has also shown about £200,000 profit since it was founded in 1916 as a gift from Lord Wavertree.

The farm really upset the racing experts for losing £35,000 on the sale of Gay Time to Japan. Gay Time, which ran for Queen Elizabeth and was runner-up in the 1952 Derby, was bought by the stud for £55,000 as a potential stallion. But he developed a throat ailment and was sold.

This caused a flare-up of the controversy which has raged around the stud ever since it began operating: Should it be run solely to improve British bloodstock or as a profit-making concern.

Steering a course between both points of view, the government has told the committee to consider whether present methods are best suited to maintain the development of British bloodstock on a sound financial basis.

LEAHY'S QUIT FOR GOOD

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Former Notre Dame football coach Frank Leahy was quoted Friday as saying he had turned down a million-dollar offer to coach a mid-western professional team.

Tom Siler, Knoxville News Sentinel sports columnist, said Leahy told a group of sports writers in Tampa that the offer was for $100,000 a year for 10 years.

Siler quoted Leahy, who quit at Notre Dame because of ill health, as saying: "A midwestern professional team offered me $100,000 a year on a 10-year contract, but I turned it down. I'll never coach again anytime, anyplace, anywhere."

NEXT RACE IN BRITAIN

NEW YORK (AP)—Native Dancer probably will fly to England in July for the rich King George VI and Queen Elizabeth Stakes at Ascot if he is handicapped with "prohibitive" weight in the United States.

The four-year-old Dancer, who was two-year-old champion in 1952 and the three-year-old champ last year, has lost only once in his 19-race career. He has been sidelined with a hoof injury since he won the American Derby at Chicago last Aug. 22. The injury has since cleared up.

ESKS SIGN QUARTER

EDMONTON (CP) — Edmonton Eskimos announced Friday the signing for a third season of Claude (Cobra) Arnold chosen last season as quarterback on the Western Interprovincial Football Union all-star team.

The former Oklahoma player completed 54 per cent of his passes last season for an aggregate gain of 1,171 yards.

ARGOS SIGN IMPORT

TORONTO (CP)—Gene Wilson, 23-year-old, 180-pound backfielder from the University of South Carolina, has been signed by Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four.

The six-foot player, who was captain and leading ground-gainer for South Carolina, was 11th draft choice of Washington Redskins but rejected the contract of the National Football League team.

Wilson is the fourth import signed by the Argos this year.

The tour, under the direction of team captain Don Raleigh, is sponsored by Gerry Regan of Windsor, N.S. The Rangers have been eliminated from the National Hockey League playoff race.

Tri-Bells Defeat Sault Ste. Marie 82-66

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Nortown Tri-Bells defeated Sault Ste. Marie (Ont.) Gunners 82-66 Friday night to take a 1-0 lead in the best-of-three Ontario senior basketball final. Second game will be played here tonight.

Tri-Bells took a 21-12 lead in the first quarter, increased it to 53-30 by the half and held a 64-50 margin after the third quarter.

Ray Monnott paced the Tri-Bells with 20 points. Fred Thomas counted 14 and Leo Madden 12.

Strong men for the Gunners were Lou Lukenda with 15 points, Ray Siltanen with 12 and Jerry Kahle with 11.

Black's Rub Out Lindsay In Cage Series

Black's defeated Lindsay Neill's 20-16 at the YWCA last night to move into intermediate finals in the Girls City Basketball League. They swept the semi-final series in two straight. The senior Collis champions downed Nurses 44-22 in their exhibition.

In the intermediate playoff, Black's led 5-3 at the quarter but it was tied 9-all halfway through. Each side scored six in the third frame of the tight tussle, but Black's had a 2-point edge in a driving finish. Some close-checking was seen in the lively duel before the Lindsay lassess bowed out.

R. Naylor and C. Gibson led the winners with seven points apiece, as two each were counted by J. Kearns, J. Barnett and R. Butcher. Tops for Lindsay was M. Owens with eight points, as D. Copp counted four, H. Robertson three and J. Humphries one. Neither side clicked too well on free-throws. Teams:

Black's: J. Kearns, E. McIlhagga, R. Naylor, C. Gibson, M. Middleton, J. Barnett, R. Butcher.

Lindsay: M. Owens, D. Copp, M. Vanstone, J. Humphries, H. Robertson, P. Hodgin.

LED FROM FIRST

Collis had a 12-5 quarter lead on Nurses and made it 24-14 at the halfway mark. They outscored their rivals 9-4 in the third heat and 11-4 in the windup chapter. It was a clean, fairly speedy fray.

P. Stewart was the big scorer for Collis with 22 points, J. Dunk, comiag through with 16, N. Rose, four and M. McIlvena two. For Nurses, J. Bell clicked for nine points, S. Slater and D. Mark five each, and P. Peryer three. Teams:

Nurses: J. Bell, B. Dawe, P. Peryer, M. Flavelle, J. Elgetti, N. Heard, D. Mark, S. Slater, B. Lewis.

Collis: N. Rose, J. Dunk, P. Stewart, M. McIlvena, S. DeWarga.

Referee, Fraser Wade.

Young Cripple Becomes Fastest Miler

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP) — Four years ago, Murray Halberg, a slight 16-year-old football player, suffered permanent disability to his left arm and shoulder in a game. Doctors said that if he lived he would be a life-long invalid.

Today, the 137-pound Halberg is the fastest miler New Zealand has ever produced and he is not yet at peak form. The five-foot-ten student is a cinch to compete in the July 30-Aug. 7 British Empire Games at Vancouver in at least a three-way assault on the four-minute mile.

Also competing at Vancouver will be Australia's John Landy and England's Roger Bannister. Both have been clocked at 4:02, just 2.4 seconds faster than Halberg.

Halberg's story is one of perseverance against great odds.

Doctors said that strenuous sport was out for him after his 1950 accident. But he was determined to be an athlete and to build up his strength, he started a track career.

Within a year he was wining

NEW ZEALAND RUNNER — Murray Halberg, lean 20-year-old New Zealand runner who is training in Auckland as a schoolteacher, is regarded as a leading contender for the mile championship at the British Empire Games at Vancouver this summer. He recently ran a mile in four minutes, 4.4 seconds. He will compete in the games against two other runners, world-famous John Landy of Australia and Roger Bannister, Britain's highest hope. Halberg was crippled by an injury in a fotoball game in 1950, but learned to walk again, and then to run. One arm was permanently damaged in the football accident.—(CP Photo).

junior events. Two years ago he recorded 4:18.0 for the mile, lowered it to 4:12.2 and last Feb. 13 attracted world-wide interest when he covered the mile in 4:04.4, just three seconds off Gunder Haegg's world record set nine years ago.

Last September he started running 440-yard races to increase his speed, and switched to the mile a couple of months later.

At Auckland on Feb. 13 he ran the mile in 4:04.4.

Now that he knows he is capable of challenging the world's best he is working on a schedule to bring him to the peak for the 1956 Olympic Games in Australia. His trainer is confident he can run a four-minute mile.

100 Delegates Attending Baseball Convention

CHATHAM (CP) — More than 100 executives, delegates, umpires, and team officials were on hand Friday for the opening day of the 37th annual Ontario Baseball Association convention.

Delegates were divided into their respective groups for discussion. [illegible] conducted with Jack Craig of Port Dover, John Bell of Listowel and Pete McMullen of Milton in charge.

A spokesman said decisions will be made public today.

Twenty-five delegates representing intermediate and senior baseball clubs met with C. G. Ridell of Milton as chairman.

RESOLUTION PASSED

Purpose of the meeting was to discuss ways of promoting senior baseball in Ontario. After a lengthy discussion, it was moved by Albert Walker of Oshawa that a delegate from this meeting take the following resolution to the OBA sessions today when all proposed amendments to by-law changes [illegible]

"That the OBA designate an executive member to make an attempt to contact all leagues or associations with teams desirous of making entry in the OBA senior series before July 15, 1954, and notify the OBA secretary when this is completed."

Spero Annis, secretary-treasurer of the Western Counties Baseball Association, host to the affair, seconded the move.

Bea Ross Enters Bowling Finals

TORONTO (CP)—Millie McCabe of Toronto West, who has bowled a total of 1,582 points, and Bea Ross, the Peterborough regional champion who has a total of 1,437, have entered the finals of the Ontario ladies' singles bowling championships.

Each will bowl eight games at the Canadian National Sportsmen's show today for the title.

Bill Hoult of Toronto East, 2,168, and Stan Battersby, Hamilton regional champion with 2,078, will play for the men's singles championship. The men will bowl 10 games today for the five-pin title. Forrest Richards of Windsor and Jim McKenzie of Kingston dropped out of the men's play Friday.

Kingston Alcans still lead the men's handicap teams events.

2nd Ballot Needed

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—Chiang Kai-shek ran more than eight to one ahead of his only opponent today but failed to win the overwhelming majority of National Assembly votes needed for first-ballot re-election as president of Nationalist China. The assembly postponed until Monday a second ballot—which is certain to give Chiang victory. Chiang polled 1,387 votes to 172 for Democratic Socialist candidate Hsu Ful-lin. But to win on the first ballot Chiang needed 1,523 of the votes cast.

Baseball President Resigns After Year

CHATHAM (CP) — Archie Stirling, president of the Ontario Baseball Association, threw a bombshell into the association's 37th annual meeting by announcing his resignation after a year in office.

"One year is enough as president for any man," said Mr. Stirling. He added he was appreciative of the honor of being president but pressure of business and other duties made his resignation necessary.

Plays Game Despite Threat

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Whitey Lockman, New York Giants' first baseman, played in an exhibition game with Cleveland Indians here Friday, aware that a man had warned police he would kill Lockman at the ball park.

Police said an unidentified telephone caller said, "Whitey will be shot today at the ball game." The man gave no reason.

Police were planted at various points at Cashman Field and assigned to accompany Lockman from the field to the locker rooms and later to his hotel and the airport.

The first-sacker told reporters he could not think of anyone who would want to take his life. "And I have no relatives in southern Nevada either," he added, with a chuckle.

Cleveland won the game 2-1.

2 Oshawa Rinks Survive 3rd Round

LINDSAY (CP)—Oshawa rinks skipped by J. Helliwell and C. Peacock survived the third round of play Friday in the Dr. H. D. Logan Trophy, premier event in the annual invitational schoolboys bonspiel.

Helliwell defeated K. McKague of Woodville 7-4 and Peacock downed B. Goodwin of Hamilton Delta 13-2 in third-round play.

Hamilton Delta's Forester and T. Stibbards of Welland skipped winning rinks in the second round of the second event.

STOCKING UP — During a fashion show, there's scant time for changing costumes. The other day a bevy of New York models rashly boasted, "We are the world's fastest stocking-changers." One of them said she could take off a pair of stockings and don another in 38 seconds flat. Slow-poke of the group took 52 seconds. A bevy of Columbus, Ohio, models emitted a ladylike "phooey to you-ey" and went to work, timed by a stopwatch. Shirley Lewis, second from right, above made the quick change in 25 seconds. Slowpoke of the Ohio bunch was Beverly Robinson, centre; who made the quick change in a fast 45 seconds. Other hose-hoisters are Sue Key, left, Barbara Jo Hilliker and Barbara Ann Harper, right.

Will Attempt To Photograph Light Before Sun Appears

WASHINGTON—Shortly before sunrise on June 30, astronomers in southwestern Nebraska and eastern Colorado will attmpet the first observation of the zodiacal light while the sun is in total eclipse below the horizon, Dr. Gilbert Grosvenor, president of the National Geographic Society, announced today.

The scientists are members of a project sponsored by the society and headed by Dr. George Van Biesbroeck of the University of Chicago's Yerkes Observatory.

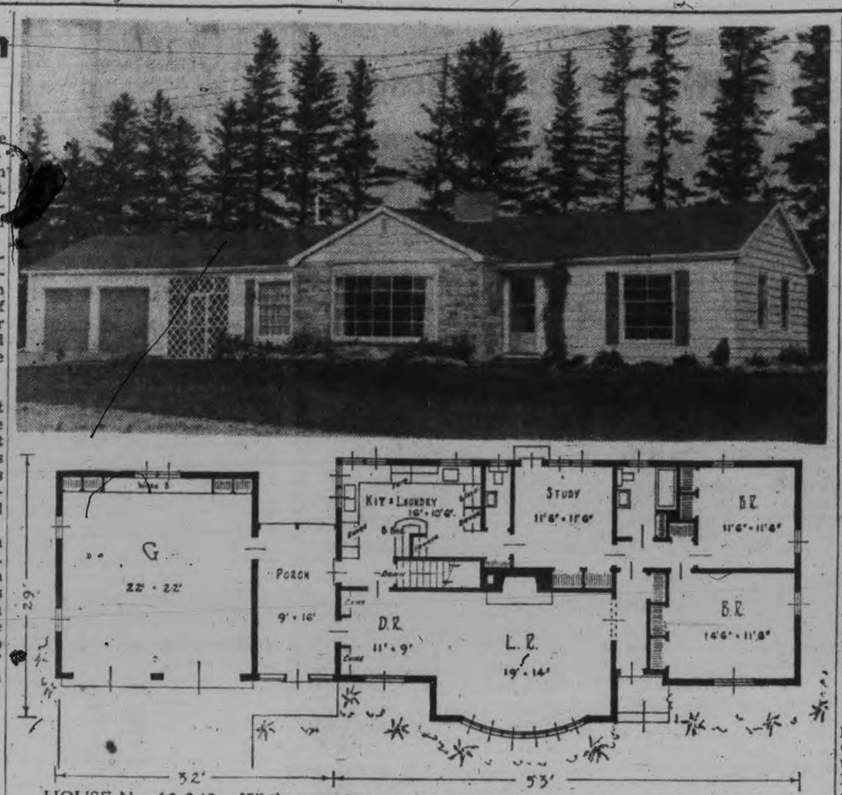
Greater knowledge long has been sought concerning the unusual light—a faint hazy band which extends upwards from the sun. In the forthcoming study photographic stations will be set up at three stations along a line southwest of North Platte, Nebr., extending into eastern Colorado.

The total eclipse will not be visible in that area. It will occur just below the eastern horizon a few minutes before sunrise. Observers are hopeful that the dawn light's intensity will be sufficiently reduced by the eclipse to permit definitive photographs of the zodiacal light.

ELECTRIC EYE SCANNERS

The astronomers will make horizontal sweeps along the orizon with fast photoelectric scanners in an attempt to distinguish the zodiacal light from the dawn.

Efforts to photograph the elusive light during total solar eclipses in 1937 and 1952 proved unsuccessful. On both occasions the eclispe was taking place above the horizon when the pictures were made, and bright sky glare hindered operations.



The zodiacal light is best seen before sunrise or after sunset. During daylight hours the sunlight disturbs the atmosphere and makes observations difficult.

Earlier plans to establish camera stations in high mountain altitudes west of Denver have been abandoned. Although chances of transparent sky might be better in that region, it is considered too far west for the effect of the eclipse to be noticeable.

BRIGHT IN TROPICS

Heretofore, the zodiacal light has been best observed in the world's tropic regions, where it sometimes extends entirely across the sky. In northern latitudes it is most prominent after sunset during the spring months and before sunrise in autumn.

The light was named by Jean Dominique Cassini, a French astronomer, in 1683. It is known to have been observed 22 years before, however, by an English clergyman-scientist. A reference in one of Shakespeare's plays to a "meteor that the Sun exales" suggests it may have been known even earlier.

HOUSE No. 53-249—While requiring an unusually large frontage when built with breezeway and garage as shown in the above photo, the house itself measures a more limited 53'—and would be at home on a 65-70 foot lot. The huge bay picture window lends a note of distinction to this home—and provides a cheerful bright interior to the spacious living-dining area. The study is a real all-purpose room so necessary for changing family needs. Of equal importance is the need for efficient kitchen-laundry planning—particularly well laid out in this design. Contains 22,733 cubic feet with basement but not including breezeway or garage. House area is 1,398 square feet. For working drawings, write Home Building in Canada, 2842 Bloor St. W., Toronto.

Calgary Formation Disposed With Units On 3 Continents

By JACK BRAWLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

IN KOREA (CP)—There's nothing more comforting to an infantryman than well-placed tank fire supporting him. That's what the tanks and armored cars of Lord Strathcona's Horse can do for the men of three infantry battalions in the 25th Canadian Brigade's defensive position.

The squadron is trying out new wrinkles in tank-infantry co-operation with hard-hitting Shermans and speedy armored cars, and doing it just out of sight of the Chinese.

The Strathconas, under Maj. W. H. (Bill) Ellis of Ottawa, is engaged in intensive day and night exercises with men of the Royal Canadian Regiment, Royal 22nd and Black Watch.

"If the balloon goes up some of our new methods in co-operation and consolidation of fire power will be really valuable," Maj. Ellis said.

ON THREE CONTINENTS

The Calgary formation is a proud crew. They claim some sort of distinction in being disposed on three continents—Europe, Asia and North America—and they point out that each unit is strong enough in men and tanks to provide its own replacements.

The Korean squadron will be relieved in May by the Royal Canadian Dragoons which the Strathconas refer to only as "that other regiment." As a matter of fact, mention of the rival dragoons by name in the Strath mess brings a penalty of a round of drinks.

The Strath squadron here has a three-fold job: Anti-tank defence for the brigade, harassing fire on [illegible] of defensive fire for our own troops.

The Straths are housed within hearing distance of the Chinese practice firing. The officers' mess is one of the most impressive in the brigade area with its wood-panelled interior and its bar with a brass rail made from shell casings welded together by craftsman

HELMET LITTLE USED

On the bar is a Chinese steel helmet inscribed with the phrase "War Stories." It must be worn by anyone disposed to tell such stories.

"We don't have to listen to too much of this kind of entertainment," the major said.

In a recent scheme to consolidate fire-power, the Straths worked with the Black Watch, sweeping their fire just ahead of the advancing forward platoon. The guns plastered the fictional enemy while the infantry moved in to make the final rush and occupy new positions.

Maj. Ellis co-ordinated his fire using a walkie-talkie carried by Pte. Jack Shaw, Black Watch soldier from Calgary and Medicine Hat, Alta.

The crew of one tank was composed of Sgt. Allan Minette of North Battleford, Tr. Hank Craveling of Wood Fibre, B.C., and Tr. George Hoskins of New Westminster, B.C.

Sewer Rental Coming Thing

TORONTO (CP) — "Sewer rental" to the householder is seen as the coming thing in Ontario by Dr. A. E. Berry, director of the health department's sanitary engineering division.

Speaking to the legislature's health committee Friday, Dr. Berry said the sewage service rate system—the householder pays for discharge of the water he uses, [illegible] was by the far the most equitable way" of meeting the cost of sewage disposal plants and trunk sewers. The rate system would be in addition to any regular assessments now paid for sewage installations.

The cost of sewage-treatment plants and trunk sewers needed by Ontario municipalities has been estimated at $113,000,000.

"The municipalities just have not the money to do this work."

Thatcher Eased Off Commons Committee

OTTAWA (CP)—The CCF Friday eased off the Commons banking committee a member of the party's House group who disagrees with its policy of nationalizing Canada's chartered banks.

Ross Thatcher, prosperous hardware merchant of Moose Jaw who has been in conflict with his party on other occasions, was replaced by Mervyn Johnson of Kindersley, Sask., a farmer.

The replacement was made as the committee was in the early stages of dealing with the government's banking legislation. This includes a decennial revision of the Bank Act and changes in the Bank of Canada Act that will give the central bank more control over bank credit.

Committed For Trial

TORONTO (CP) — George A. (Mickey) Wilson, Toronto hotel owner and harbor commissioner, Friday was committed for trial on a charge of assaulting a woman who said she visited his hotel suite with a man Feb. 9. Magistrate Fred Gullen said testimony at the preliminary hearing corroborated Mrs. Margrethe Knudsen's story that she went to Wilson's suite and that some sort of struggle ensued.

Insurance Bill Defeated

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Republican-controlled New York state Senate Friday defeated Republican Governor Thomas Dewey's controversial compulsory auto insurance bill. The vote was 29 to 26. Another effort will be made to push the Bill through the Senate. The assembly approved it Tuesday with Democratic support.

Charitable Foundation Started in Ontario

TORONTO (CP) — Two charitable foundations, which will operate in London and Hamilton and are the first of their kind in Ontario, were created in private bills approved Friday by the legislature's private bills committee.

The foundations, based on a pattern devised in the United States, will act in perpetuity in receiving and distributing charitable requests in Ontario.

Manitoba is the only other province which permits establishment of a foundation of this type.

Argue Martin, solicitor and a member of the Hamilton Foundation's First board, told the committee that the foundation has been set up to allow charitably-inclined people to make bequests to a central agency.

"The objects of the foundation are to receive, maintain, manage, control and use donations for charitable purposes within Ontario," sponsors of the identical bills told the commitee.

Committee Passes Two Health Laws

TORONTO (CP) — The legislature's health committee Friday approved of two pieces of government legislation giving increased aid to mental health programs.

Under the new Mental Health Act the government intends to further community mental health by providing advice and assistance to hospitals and local public health agencies under a new director of mental health.

Under an amendment to the Mental Hospitals Act, public hospitals will be authorized to extend treatment of persons suffering from mental disorders.

The two bills now go back to the legislature for third reading and royal assent.

Rush Food To Eskimos

OTTAWA (CP)—Some 35 Eskimos living on Flagstaff island in Queen Maud gulf are "dangerously low" on food, an official of the northern affairs department said Friday. Arrangements are being made to fly at least a ton of buffalo meat to the island as soon as possible. A ton of meat was flown into the same area a month ago for starving Eskimo huskies.

Guiding School Administrators In Planning Future Building

By CLARKE BEACH

WASHINGTON (AP)— A neighborhood might have twice as many children at one period in its growth as it will in a later period, a Columbia University study shows.

If the houses are new and low-priced, expect lots of babies. And in a few years look for kindergarten and first-grade tots to crowd into the schools, says the report.

If the houses are new and high-priced, expect a bulge in high school enrolments and relatively fewer children in elementary grades.

The report, published by the Metropolitan School Study Council, a research affiliate of the University's Teachers' College, is intended to guide school administrators in planning for future school construction.

60-YEAR CYCLES

A typical neighborhood passes through a cycle in 60 years in which there are radical changes in the child population.

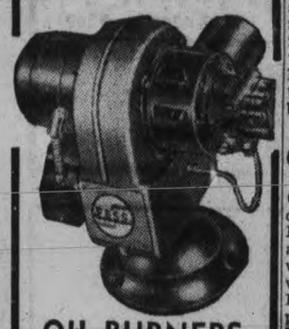
"In the first 15 years of new housing exceptionally high birth rates are to be expected, because from 75 to 85 per cent of all new single-family dwelling units are initially occupied by couples who are in the first five years of married life," says the report.

In the second 15 years, the families in the houses are older. They have few babies but many children of high-school age.

CULTURAL STATUS LOWERED

In the third 15 years, according to the report, "the older inhabitants tend to move out and are replaced by the families of lower cultural status.

"This decline in cultural status seems to precede a decline in economic status. The new families tend to be younger and the number of children increases again."



The neighborhood from 45 to 60 years old, says the report, is likely to be blighted. As it becomes a slum area, the child population rises sharply.

"GRAND" GARAGE IDEA — Prof. Peter Birkenholz thinks his "ball garage" would be the answer to Munich, Germany's, parking problem. Shown with a model of his invention, he claims the circular garage would accommodate 1,000 cars. The project would be 170 feet high and could be built by a new, non-scaffolding method.

Says Trailer Camps Just Big Headache

TORONTO (CP)—C. D. Crowe, deputy minister of travel and publicity, said Friday trailer camps "are just a headache" and do not contribute to the tourist industry.

Mr. Crowe, speaking during a discussion in a meeting of the legislature's committee on travel and publicity, was supported by A. H. Cowling (PC—Toronto High Park) who claimed the camps "are no credit to a community."

WHICH PAINT?

Alkyd and Latex (rubber) are the two new "wonder" paint vehicles. Either will make your decorating much easier and better. Which should you use?

Young vs. White: Battle For A Rail Empire

BY DOUGLAS LARSEN

NEW YORK— (NEA) —Slight, peppery Robert R. Young darts about his modernistic canary-yellow suite on the 45th floor of the Chrysler Building, brandishing a letter which he has personally written to New York Central stockholders.

He says it must be printed on light blue paper. The inserts go in just so. He demonstrates how it is all folded.

His expensive moccasins and sagging socks are visible as he paces. He hates conventional laced oxfords and garters. Sleekly groomed young assistants move in and out soundlessly, summoned by a hidden intercom system.

Young's pale blue eyes sparkle beneath white eyebrows. He's obviously enjoying his favorite sport —jousting with the mighty moguls of Wall Street.

Only a few blocks away in the drab New York Central building, president of the road William White sits in his somber, dark-paneled office roaring with indignation because his antiquated inter-office phone system failed in the middle of a conversation. He pokes a button that drops a small white metal tag into view in the next office, the way butlers used to be summoned in the old-fashioned mansions.

White is big, dark, smokes cigars and pipes and is so majestically conservative he'd look zooty in a Brooks Brothers suit. His fun is running a railroad—coordinating maintenance crews, making sense out of a jumble of division reports, sparking his program for more courtesy among Central's employees who deal with the public.

Unfortunately, for White's preferred way of life, Young is trying to grab the Central from its blue-blooded board of Wall Street bankers. As usual Young has picked his own battlefield which is in the press, on TV and over the radia. And the Central's [illegible] apparently unwilling to [illegible] in this undignified phase of the skirmish, has aded the task of fronting for them to White's normal railroading chores.

White's background qualifies him to run the Central. At 16, to bolster family finances, he quit school for an office job on the Erie Railroad. At 30, the smart, hard-driving White was a superintendent.

He became general manager of Erie's eastern district in 1938, then switched to a vice presidency with the Virginian Railroad. In 1943 he began a highly successful 11½-year career as president of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, which led to his present job in August, 1952.

Young's background qualifies him for railroad stock fights. His father, a small town Texas banker, sent him to Culver and then to the fashionable University of Virginia. He left there after two years with a record of "devilish conduct" behind him.

Declining to enter his father's bank Young got a job with DuPont, learned a little about stocks and investments, then lost an inheritance on dried food and Mexican oil schemes.

Recovering, he rose rapidly in General Motors, accurately called the big depression by selling "short" on the market and then turned the profits into reorganizing parts of the crumbled Van Sweringen railroad empire.

Young's most barbed shaft at White is his offer to keep White on the Central's payrool.

And would White accept? Apparently this has become a more personal fight to White than to Young. White grates through his clenched teeth:

"I won't even answer that question. I'm not a yes-yes-man."

An aide in White's office says of Young:

"Did you see that crazy picture of Young walking on the railroad track? That proves he'd do anything for publicity and doesn't know beans about the railroad business. A real railroad man knows it's a prime safety rule never to walk on tracks."

In Young's office you hear White and the Central typified:

"They agreed to let us copy their stockholder's list. But when Young tried to have it photostated they refused and made us copy each name off by hand."

To the casual observer "White versus Young" is a scrap between fabulously wealthy men who will go on drinking champagne, wintering in Florida and clipping coupons regardless of the outcome.

This is certainly true of Young. His personal resources are said to be almost unlimited. Able assistants like Tom Deegan, who gave up a big job and security at the C and O. to get in the fight, will continue to serve and advise Young. Young's fabulous mansion and holdings will remain intact.

It's doubtful that White will ever go hungry even if he never does another day's work. But he has far more at stake personally in the fight than Young. White's contract with [illegible] Young denounces as [illegible] gives him $120,000 per year until retirement at the end of 1962, $75,000 per year through 1967, and $40,000 annually thereafter "as long as he manages to breathe," as Young puts it.

Last year that gave White an estimated take-home pay of about $1,000 per week from Central, which probably wouldn't pay the rent on Young's various fancy homes around the country. White owns 700 shares of Central stock, which his aides claim, is about the extent of his railroad holdings. He is a board member of several other corporations.

It's easy to see why White doesn't take this fight impersonally. Jobs as president of a railroad don't grow on trees.

(See New York Central prize on Monday.)

Goodfellow Describes Emotional Neglect

TORONTO (CP) — An Ontario father, who took a dislike to one of his many children, erected a curtain over the dining room table, separating the child from the rest of the family at meal time.

Welfare Minister Goodfellow told the story in the legislature Friday in defining emotional neglect under the new Child Welfare Act. The act was given second reading.

Mr. Goodfellow said that such circumstances would constitute emotional neglect and would give welfare officials power to bring evidence before the courts to have the child taken away from its parents.

Troops Korea Bound

Jet Crashes At Windsor

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—An RCAF jet trainer, swooping low over Windsor airport Friday, suddenly dived into the ground and exploded in a ball of fire.

The plane had just taken off on the final leg of a flight from Portage La Prairie, Man., to Centralia. The pilot landed at Windsor to drop off a passenger.

PO. P. C. Cadegan of Glace Bay, N.S., was killed in the crash. He is survived by his widow who lives at Grand Bend.

To The Hills Men!

TORONTO (CP) — The newly-formed Women's Community Clean-up Committee plans to shame Toronto men-folk into cleaning up the city. The Young Men's Canadian Club has campaigned for a clean-up each spring for the last three years with only moderate success. This year the women's group, which plans to recruit Toronto's 250,000 club women in the task, plans to help.

Four Granted New Remand

FORT WILLIAM (CP) — A further remand was granted four former employees of the Fort William branch of the department of highways when they appeared in court Friday on charges of conspiring to defraud the government. Magistrate William Davies set the preliminary hearing over to April 9.

Thomas Ayres, 56, of Guelph, Douglas Cutting, 41, Donald Gandier, 30, of Fort William, and G.W. Turner, 29, of Cochrane, were represented by counsel. The accused are charged with conspiring together by fraudulent means to defraud the government.

Arthur M. Mills, 60, of Port Arthur, former division engineer at Fort William for the highways department, appeared on remand Thursday and was remanded to April 8 on charges of authorizing payment for work not done, and of misrepresenting the amount of work actually performed under highway contracts.

Opposition Fails To Limit Export Controls To Year

OTTAWA (CP)—An opposition attempt to limit to one year the life of the government's export-import controls law was defeated Friday in the Commons.

However, the government agreed to accept two other opposition suggestions for changes in the bill which would renew for a three-year period the trade controls.

J. M. Macdonnell, Progressive-Conservative financial critic, proposed the one-year limit on the bill's life. He repeated during clause-by-clause study of the measure his party's objection to a three-year extension on grounds that Parliament should make frequent reviews of laws granting the government wide executive authority.

Trade Minister Howe said the government cannot accept the opposition view. The export-import controls law was an emergency measure and the government did not foresee the emergency situation ending within a year.

Under the legislation, the government could control export and import of materials, particularly strategic goods which might go behind the Iron Curtain.

Howard Green (PC—Vancouver Quadra) successfully proposed that the government delete from the bill a provision which would have made it a crime to attempt to have someone else break the export-import laws.

He said he agrees that it is necessary to make it a crime to induce, aid or abet a breach of the law. But it was going too far to make it a crime to have someone else do those things. Penalties included fines up to $25,000 maximum, five years in prison or both.

Weekend Handyman Can Change Kitchen

BY MR. FIX

Many a modern man takes an active interest in the kitchen and what goes on there, but none to the extent of the man who has modernized the family cooking centre all by himself.

Kitchen remodeling is definitely a man's job, and he can make it simple or complex, depending on his skill or lack of skill with tools. One man we know bought a power table saw just to build cabinets for his kitchen. Starting from scratch, he built them from the floor up, and made the saw pay for itself.

New cabinets give a drab, old kitchen a substantial lift, but it isn't necessary to build them, thanks to manufacturers who prefabricate metal or wooden units. The cabinets are light-weight, easy to install and versatile. The combinations and arrangements you can make of them are numberless.

Extensive kitchen streamlining, complete to tiled walls and built-in ovens, cannot be done on a shoe-string, but it's actually amazing what changes can be wrought with a coat of paint, soft indirect lighting and new modern base and wall cabinets.

All makes of the latter are of nearly equal depth and height and are available in widths to fit almost any space. Some come knocked down and are assembled on the job. Wall cabinets are simply hung on brackets fastened to wall studding and are then secured to the wall. Base and sink cabinets are first leveled, then secured in place according to manufacturers directions.

In modernizing an old-style kitchen, it is usually best to leave the plumbing where it is, if the pipes are in sound condition. A practical arrangement can be worked out in most cases, regardless of the sink's location.

It is generally agreed that the best arrangement of kitchen units calls for the sink to be placed between the stove and refrigerator, all close together to eliminate unnecessary steps. Of course this specification cannot always be met, but should be borne in mind while planning the new layout.

Lighting comes next in importance and is of course planned to do away with eyestrain. The homemaker who must work in her own shadow is handicapped. Never place a light source so that shadows are thrown over important work areas.

Soft, general indirect lighting near ceiling level is excellent. Local flourescent lighting beneath wall cabinets is ideal counter-top illumination. Flourescent ceiling fixtures also furnish good overall lighting and are not unbecoming.

To eliminate a good part of the annoying clatter of pots, pans and dishes, ceilings of acoustical tile come highly recommended. The tile can be installed by a handy home owner, and can be painted with brush or roller coater if care is taken not to clog the tiny holes in some makes of tiles.

Another form of comfort insurance is adequate ventilation. And perhaps the most satisfactory way to ventilate the kitchen is to install an exhaust fan in the ceiling over the stove, or on an outside wall near the stove. The fan whisks away cooking odors and grease-laden air.

Canadian Homes To Cost $1,350 Million

According to the Canadian construction association, Canadians this year will spend more than $1,350,000,000 on house construction — around $4,000,000 per day.

Much of this amount will be spent on new developments and equipment designed to provide more comfort in the home. Today's home builder has many improvements and conveniences at his disposal—more than ever before.

There are sound-proof walls, water-tight basements, radiant heating and glass walls. Other innovations include garbage disposal units built into the kitchen sink, indirect lighting and windows that open at the push of a button. In addition, there are prefabricated wood panelling for interiors and acoustic tiling which the home owner can install in a matter of minutes.

These and many more features are available, depending on the preference of the owner. But for the average family, there is always the budget to consider. the type of house depends upon the amount of money available, but this does not mean that a family must deny itself comfort, even on a small budget.

One of the best methods of ensuring comfort, and at the same time saving money, is insulation. Here, mineral wool insulation has been found ideal for the Canadian climate.

Easy to install, it keeps the house warm in winter by sealing in the heat. During the summer months, this principle works in reverse by keeping hot air out. In this way, an even, comfortable temperature is maintained the year round.

Ontario Restaurants Change Fly Killer

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario restaurants have been ordered to stop using lindane as a fly-killer, the legislature's committee on travel and publicity was informed Friday.

J. G. Cunningham, of the industrial hygene division of the department of health, said lindane—a chlorinated hydrocarbon — was a toxic agent and harmful to a person's liver.

It was discovered that lindane, vaporized in the air by an automatic machine, sometimes condensed on walls and later dropped on the restaurant customer's food.

Won't Interfere With McCarthy Speech

OTTAWA (CP) — The government will not try to prevent Red-baiting Senator Joseph McCarthy of the United States from making a scheduled speech in Toronto, April 20.

Prime Minister St. Laurent said Friday in the Commons it would be "inappropriate" to make representations to the U.S. government with a view to keep the Republican senator from speaking in Canada.

Maple Trees Yield Farmers First Harvest Of Year

All along the fence lines and in the woods, wherever lofty maples congregate, little tin pails are sprouting. Once again it is syrup time and all over eastern Canada farmers are busy harvesting the colorless maple sap which is boiled into tasty syrup.

On Thursday an Examiner photographer and a reporter dropped in on Harry McCamus, who farms in the Ida district. After trudging over fields of snow, thawing in the bright sun, they found Mr. McCamus hard at it among his 40-acre plot of maple trees.

Assisted by three neighbors, Tom and John Bryce and Garnett Bidgood, he was busy tapping the first run of sap for 1954. Down the hillside in an old shed, Tom Bryce was stoking the huge fire which will burn incessantly until the sap run is finished—probably four to five weeks.

The fire keeps the sap boiling in the 24-foot-long vaporator. After the first eight hours of heating they begin to draw off syrup and from then on they expect to get a draw every 20 minutes.

Farther back in the shed a battery radio set battled with the dense steam to issue a jazz band version of the blues.

The farmer said that the run had just begun and so far the yield from his 1,350 pails was good. However, he reckoned it too early in the season to predict what the harvest would be like. That depended to a large extent on the "weather man".

Cold nights, with temperatures about 26 degrees and daytime temperatures around the 45 degree mark, are considered ideal for the sap run. If it gets too cold or too warm, then the maples cut off the supply. So it is just another side of farming that has to be a gamble with nature.

During the last few years the sap run has not been good, said Mr. McCamus. He hoped for better results this year.

"I've seen one tree fill a 10-quart pail with sap in one day", went on the farmer. "But", he added hastily, "that was an exceptionally good run of course."

That might sound like a large amount of sap, but actually it takes about 32 gallons of sap to make one gallon of syrup.

HORSE DRAWN TANK

To collect the syrup the men carry a large tank around the woods on a sleigh drawn by two horses. If the run is good then it is just a case of going round and round the woods, continually emptying the pails and carting the tasteless sap back to the vaporator.

To the layman the sap resembles water, and yet it is the life blood of the maple and its product an important addition to every Canadian table.

"No, I don't think drawing off the sap has a detrimental effect on the trees", commented Mr. McCumas. "Some of these trees were first tapped over 40 years ago". They certainly did not appear to be any the worse for wear.

Very young trees are not tapped though. Usually the farmer will wait until the maple's trunk is about a foot in diameter, before boring a hole and pushing in the lip tap.

The sap was flowing fairly quickly on Thursday. About every second, or the time it takes to say "just another dime", a drop would fall from the tap into the waiting pail.

And so it goes on . . . drip, drip . . . with maybe an occasional drop . . .

A farmer's life is not an easy one, but when he can get even the trees to work for him, then things can't be too bad.

Million Hours No CGE Accidents

The Peterborough works of the CGE marked a milestone this month, registering 1,000,000 safe manhours without lost-time accident. The record was set between January 25 and March 1.

This was a "remarkable achievement," said J. E. Girven, presenting a plaque to R. M. Hardie, manager of works services and employee and community relations, on behalf of the Industrial Accident Prevention Associations.

Complete co-operation on the part of each worker was necessary to produce an accident-free record, said Mr. Girven. He felt that the record set so early in the year presaged a 1954 record as good as 1952 "when our company enjoyed a remarkable safety span in comparison with similar manufacturers of heavy equipment."

With the help of the newly-organized safety committee of the Peterborough works, 2,000,000 or even 3,000,000 accident-free manhours is "well within the bounds of possibility." Heading this committee are chairman John Lucas and secretary Tom Lister.

The Movie Column

Writer Refuses To Make Movie Awards

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — This time of year I am usually busy calculating the movie awards that come pouring in from all parts of the globe. But now I have emancipated myself from that chore.

The reason is the deterioration of the award set-up. In the beginning there were the Academy Awards. For years they were virtually alone in the field. Then came other movie honors. Some of them bore merit, notably the New York critics' selections and those of the National Board of Review.

Now everybody is in the act. There are awards for everything, down to the best performance by an animal.

Most of the awards are strictly commercial, made not to reward artistic merit but to win publicity for the award maker. Various outfits will gold-plate some statuettes, then line up coast-to-cost TV shows on which to present them.

Those receiving awards are often chosen not because of their achievements but because of their availability for a telecast. If the honored person has a TV show of his own, so much the better.

AWARDS WIDELY SCATTERED

Another technique used by some award givers is the scatter-shot technique. A dozen or more awards are given in various fancy categories. Thus virtually all of the big pictures of the year and most of the studios get some kind of [illegible] so nobody gets mad [illegible]

That's why I am presenting no awards this year. This honor formerly went to those winning the most awards. But now I just can't figure them all out.

Nor is the August Academy itself above reproach, Oscar will be on the spot next Thursday, when his biggest audience will be watching the presentations over TV, the selections will have to ring true, or the squawks will be heard across the country.

Hospitals And Sweepstakes

BY REC A. C. FORREST

Every little while the pressure for state lotteries begins to mount. With a Royal Commission studying the matter, the campaign seems to be on again. As far as I can see, this urging for some sort of state lotteries comes from three sources: Quebec, the race-horse crowd and the so - called sporting fraternity.

Also there seems to be three lines of argument. People are going to gamble anyway, therefore it might as well be legal. This is a good way to keep money in the country. It's an excellent method to raise money for hospitals and other worthy purposes.

The first argument scarcely appeals to the intelligence. It has been used to promote the legalization of prostitution in certain European countries, and I saw recently where some genius suggested that as a good way to handle the dope problem on the west coast. As far as keeping in Canada the sweep-stake money which now finds itself on its way to Ireland, this could be cut down if the law enforcement agencies had the support of officialdom in cracking down on the sale of sweep-stake tickets.

As to the third argument, I often wonder why those who advance it won't take the reputable charitable agencies and the Hospital Associations at their word. They don't want their money raised in that way. Because over the long run it doesn't work. Only a fraction of the money gets to the hospitals, and in the end the springs of real charity dry up.

Some of the organizations shudder at the thought of raising funds by such a method. Not because they might consider the money tainted, but because the method isn't effective! The Canadian Hospital Association has gone into the matter thoroughly and with a tremendous weight of evidence behind them, say "No." The British Hospitals Association, with the example of the Irish hospitals before them, and 300 years of bitter experience behind them, say, "no."

Here's what William Wand, Lord Bishop of London, said before the Royal Commission in 1949 about the hospital lotteries of Eire:

"The contributions previously given voluntarily to the Irish hospitals have been brought to an end. The financial advantages to the hospitals is not more than 1s3d out of every 10s contributed Instead of the gain being used for capital extension, it has had to be used to make good the annual income. At the same time, the spirit of genuine interest in the hospitals and the work they do has been undermined."

In the City of Toronto about three years ago 16 million was raised for the capital extension of one hospital. If it had been financed like the hospitals of Eire it would have taken about $128 million, or 64 million $2 sweepstake tickets. Of course, the argument could be used that such tickets could be sold across spiration. Among them you could But with all the hospitals going up, what a nuisance such a method would be!

In our community we have been going through a campaign to raise funds for a new hospital. I have watched with appreciation

LEAVING FOR KOREA

Guardsman Wayne Brown, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Brown, 453 Wellington St., is leaving this weekend from Valcartier, on his way to serve with the Canadian forces in Korea.

HOW TO CONTRIBUTE

Several citizens have been telephoning Alex Elliott and other officials of the Peterborough Red Cross and Community Fund Campaign, wordering how they can contribute. Today Mr. Elliott said that these people, and all others missed by canvassers, or who have not yet contributed, can send contributions to the community fund headquarters at 332½ George St. Telephone number is 3692.

WANT MORE MUSICIANS

Conductor Eric Tompkins is on the lookout for prospects to fill gaps in the personnel of the CGE orchestra. The group has already given several concerts and hopes to carry on weekly sessions until June. Business management of the orchestra is under the direction of Sid Hewitson, who hopes to recruit some new members for Mr. Tompkins' Friday night rehearsals in the cafeteria conference room.

26 To Retire At CGE Plant

Twenty-six veteran employees of the CGE will spend their last day on the job Monday, retiring under the provisions of the CGE's pension plan.

The longest continuous service record of the 26 is that of Tom Menzies of Motor and Control Winding. Mr. Menzies has worked at the CGE for 42 years.

Hardest hit department is cleaning, from which nine will be leaving. Four will go from patrol, three from armature, and two each from switchgear and motor control. Employee sales, wire and cable, machine shop, structural steel, the foundry, and repair each lose one.

The 26 retiring CGEers, after a total of more than 300 years of service are listed below:

Ida Whimsett, May Hesmond, Catherine Stevens, James Bullis, John O'Brien, Alec Elliott, Ernie Spinks, Albert Weese and Davis Beavis, all of cleaning.

Fred Burnham, James Pashler, Fred Panter, George Hawkes (all of patrol), George Foster, Alf Brumwell, and George Nimmons (armature).

James Darwin and Ed Maudsley (switchgear), Tom Menzies and Charles Lambert (motor control), Bill Griffin (employee sales), Ed Martinsgaard (wire and cable), Jack Clancy (machine shop), Harry Digweed (structural steel), S. E. Hollingsworth (foundry), and Jack Morden (repair).

Chest Drive Reports $90,505 In

Confident Campaign Will Go Over Top Before Cleaned Up

Already $90,505.53 is in the coffers of the Peterborough Red Cross and Community Fund, $13,000 more than at the same time last year. Chairman Alex Elliott is confident that the campaign will go over the top, possibly as much as $5,000.

"But the campaign isn't over yet," said Mr. Elliott, setting a cautious note in the general spirit of optimism at the closing banquet for campaign canvassers at the CGE cafeteria Friday. "There are still a lot of tag-ends to clean up, and we can't afford to rest on our laurels."

James Wharry's industrial section has gathered in $40,440.50, which is more than $2,000 over the amount on hand at last year's closing banquet. Mr. Wharry thought this especially significant since layoffs, industrial shakeups and the collapse of Timber Structures have meant fewer workers to canvass.

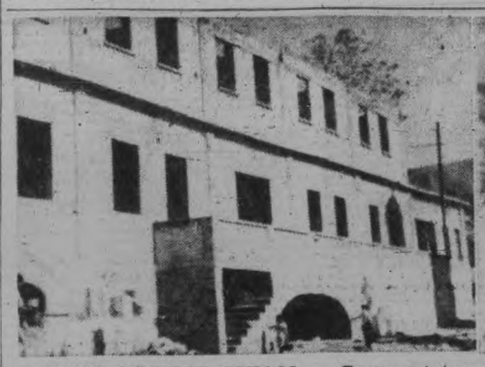
This section is still slightly more than $3,000 short of its $43,572.80 objective, but since there are still five firms which have not made full reports, including De Laval, Mr. Wharry is "sure that when the returns are in we'll be over the top."

Jim McClenaghan, reporting for Mort Knox's retail section, said he had "no alibis" for the relatively poor showing of this group. The retail section has collected $13,972.12 of its $17,500 objective. This is, however, about $900 above comparable figures for 1953.

$1,000 HIGHER

After a slow start, Mrs. J. E. Watters' women's division picked up momentum this week and overshot their objective by nearly $1,000. This group, said Mrs. Watters, has "some of the toughest slugging" to do in the campaign. Chairman Elliott saved an especial vote of praise to the women for collecting $8,147.81 with an objective of $7,250.

The special names section is still somewhat short of its objective, partly, in the words of chairman Samuel J. Whitehouse because some of the special names are in Florida and Mr. Whitehouse could not interest chairman Elliott in the idea of sending one S. J. Whitehouse to Florida to solicit funds. But Mr. Whitehouse is "pretty sure we will make it."



The special names section has $27,172.50 on hand, not much short of its $29,350 objective. Last year at the same time this section had only $19,470. Special names, then, made the most substantial increase in 1954.

The grand total at the 1953 closing dinner, said Mr. Elliott, was $77,462.77, nearly $13,000 short of the $90,000 objective. In the next few weeks, however, tag-end contributions began to come in and the final total of $90,800 was reached by the end of June. One month after the campaign closed, $88,815.94 of this had been raised.

These statistics, Mr. Elliott said, serve to emphasize the continued need for unflagging work by all canvassers. Even if the fund does no better than last year in cleaning up tag-ends, the total would be in the neighborhood of $103,000.

ADOPT MEXICAN SCHOOL — Taxco mining families living high on a mountain are proud of threir new Guadalupe school (left) which they hope will be finished in September. They are grateful too to the Peterborough people who have helped them with donations this last year when their funds were exhausted. Miss Jean Stenton, The Examiner's telegraph editor who has just returned from Mexico, is shown (right) with some of the children who will attend this new school and who carried 10,000 stone blocks on their backs up the mountain. Lower right, Miss Stenton is interviewing Dr. Curiel, president of the Taxco Rotary Club which has been the group responsible for building this school, their second.

Mexican Children Thankful For Aid From Peterborough

By JEAN E. STENTON

One week ago in Taxco, Mexico, 400 bright-eyed children jammed in the courtyard of a tiny house which serves as their school, high up on a mountain, enthusiastically heard the news that Peterborough people had once more sent money to help in the building of their school.

This scene took place the following day after the Rotary Club had received the cheque which the Soroptomists presented to me when I left for Mexico.

As these youngsters, between 5 and 11 years, squirmed excitedly in their seats, their principal explained to them what a wonderful country their hemisphere neighbor, Canada, is. She told the children they must never forget how much they owe to their Canadian friends, for the financial help which they have received in the past year—a large part of which came from Peterborough donations.

Although the Rotary Club of Taxco and the Principal, Srita Irene Castro Gilles, have been the moving spirits behind this little school, it is really the children's school. No task has been too hard for them to undertake and it has all been a volunteer effort on the part of even the smallest.

CARRY 10,000 BLOCKS

In the two years since the school was begun, these youngsters have carried 10,000 stone blocks on their backs up the mountainside—each block weighing 20 pounds. During December they also carried up sections of pipe for the water system. Because the school is being built near the mountaintop and the roads leading up cannot be scaled by car, most of this material has had to be taken by hand.

Moving pictures taken by Rotarians during these long months show the children scrambling up the mountain with their heavy loads like a horde of busy ants. The blocks were so heavy that some of the children were bent almost double, but everyone, boys and girls, insisted on doing their bit, even when the little girls had to carry a block between them.

A year ago, both the club and the people in this area were discouraged about their school which had not even the first floor completed when the money was exhausted. Today, thanks to their hard work, gifts from Peterborough people and a few other Canadians, and some grants, the end is in sight. It is hoped to open the [illegible] school in September. When the rainy season begins in May, it is possible that two or three classes may have to use the ground floor classrooms even if there are no windows and the floor is unfinished.

ROTARIANS GRATEFUL

It was as a guest of the Rotary Club at their weekly meeting I had the opportunity of extending best wishes on behalf of the people in this city and presenting the cheque for the Soroptimist Club. In reply, Rotarians sent greetings to Peterborough and said they would never cease to be grateful for the encouragement which these Canadian gifts have given.

Nearly 500 children will have their chance at getting an education when the school is completed. But there are still another 300 in this area for whom there is no room.

Rotarians stressed that it was not only the money which they appreciated, but the friendly interest and co-operation of another people so far away. They said the international outlook which this illustrated was a wonderful example of goodwill in the uneasy world of today. The president of the club, Dr. Curiel, may be able to visit Canada this summer, and if so, hopes to be able to thank the club's Peterborough friends personally.

Minor Damage Done

A car driven by Carl Simmons, 19, of 273 Dalhousie St., received about $35 damage, Friday, in a parking incident on George St.

The other car, driven by Allan Moldaver, 33, of 433 Gordon Ave., was later stopped by PC Robert Muldoon. PC Wilfred Perry investigated.

A minor accident occurred, Thursday, at the corner of Albert St. and Monaghan Rd., between cars driven by Roland R. Bruyere, 20, of 447 Albertus Ave., and Thomas J. Hulsman, 23, of 479 Brioux St. PC William Scott estimated damage at less than $20.

Engineer, Court Chairman Tangle Over Complaints

Hot words from John Harstone and cold words from city engineer A. E. Chalmers [illegible] sion on legal [illegible] assessments Friday. [illegible] turbed taxpayers left the Court not much better informed than when they arrived.

Brandishing his sewage assessment, William J. Gilders of 737 Third Ave. told the court that he had been charged for two sewage connections when he only has one.

Asked what the situation is at the Gilders' lot, city engineer Chalmers replied: That's right." He went on to say that his records showed two sewage connections at the Gilders' home for which Gilders had been duly and, he felt, correctly charged.

At this point, Mr. Harstone, who is chairman of the court of revision, exploded: "Are you going to stand on your records, Mr. Chalmers, when this man comes here and tells us he has only one connection?"

Mr. Chalmers' answer was as cold as Mr. Harstone's query was hot: "All right, then, I won't say anything more about it."

Said Mr. Harstone to Mr. Gilders: "We'll find about this to our own satisfaction, no matter how long it takes."

ON DIFFERENT LEVEL

J. E. McIlvena's problem is sidewalks. Mr. McIlvena, who lives at 1178 Monaghan Road, protested to the court that when the city was laying a new sidewalk in front of his house, several feet of his own sidewalk were torn up. This, he said, would have been all right, but the city then relaid his own walk an inch or more below street level. He felt that something should be done about this pedestrian hazard.

"This has nothing to do with the Court of Revision," said Mr. Chalmers. The engineer said that the sidewalk was built under the city's own local improvements plan, and the cost was borne entirely by the city. There is, therefore, nothing to assess.

When Mr. McIlvena pointed out that he was talking about sidewalk levels, not sidewalk assessments, Mr. Harstone said, "Surely some city authority should be able to handle this. Whatever department of the city is responsible should rectify it immediately."

This developed into another argument between Messrs Harstone and Chalmers on fixing the responsibility. All agreed that it was not a matter for the Court of Revision, but that something should be done by some department, presumably Mr. Chalmers'.

Said Mr. Chalmers: "This man (McIlvena) never brought his problem to us. If he had, it might have been settled long ago. I'll have to look into it."

SEWER CONNECTIONS

Henry Gilders of 724 Third Ave. told the court that he owned four lots, and saw no reason for the city installing sewage connections for which he would have no use. The connections in question would come in right behind his garage.

The following colloquy on the sewage question then took place:

Mr. Chalmers: The bylaw, instructed sewage connections to these lots so they were put in.

Mr. Harstone: Is Mr. Gilders obliged to have sewage connections he doesn't want?

Mr. Gilders: Mr. Doug Miller (former alderman) told me that he knew of no bylaw existing which would require me to have all these connections. I have a bill for $89 for one connection.

There are two lots on which Mr. Gilders says he has no need for sewage connections. He said he found that the city had installed one, and partially installed another.

T. C. Ephgrave told William and Henry Gilders that their complaints [illegible] Mr. McIlvena's sidewalk problem will likely be handled through the engineering department.

Batch Of Cookies Turns Home Into Business?

Just how a few cookies can break up the home and, in fact, make it a place of business, was shown at the city planning board meeting Thursday night, when Mrs. Agnes Gordon, Rubidge St., applied for permission to make cookies in her house to sell to businesses.

Chairman Hubert Sills opened the batting with: " This would actually make the house a wholesale bakeshop".

Gordon Hancock: "That doesn't come under us."

Arthur Malby: "It's too bad these people ask us for permission."

Chairman Sills: "Well, I don't know. The matter had been referred to us, but I think it should come under home industries".

Mrs. W. H. Morton: "She's honest enough to write to us. There are probably plenty of women doing it who have not said anything."

Mr. Hancock: "If she just wants to make three or four dozen cookies a day, I say let her go ahead, but if it is found that her business requires a license, we should suggest that it be not granted."

Chairman Sills: "Let's pass it back to the city council and Mr. Outram. We don't know anything about the bylaw concerning this."

Members at length agreed to inform the applicant of their views, incorporating the two points raised by Mr. Hancock.

Cutoff Highway To Be Paved Opened In Fall

A new paved highway from south of Peterborough at Kendry Station on Highway 28 over to Highway 35 south of Pontypool will likely be open for travel this fall. This is part of a scheme to join Peterborough with the four-lane highway west of Newcastle, thus making it unnecessary for Toronto-bound travellers to head down Highway 28 to Dale Corners.

It's not yet known what route the highway will follow from Peterborough to Kendry. Surveyors are looking over this area but as yet no tenders have been called. The Kendry-Enterprise section is indicated in dotted lines on the 1954 department of highways road map.

From Kendry the new two-lane highway, to be known as Highway 115, follows a southwesterly course to Highway 35, just south of Pontypool. It then proceeds south on 35 to a junction with four-lane Highway 401.

The department of highways is already at work on the section of the road west of Kendry, and it is now almost completely graded. Paving contracts have been awarded and paving will begin as soon as weather permits.

NOT OPEN YET

There is no traffic yet on this road, nor will there be until the paving is completed, likely this fall. This part of the road, which will be 22 feet wide, forms the [illegible] of a right-angled triangle between [illegible] 35.

South of Pontypool the new road will follow the route of Highway 35, but the road will be overbuilt and widened from its present 18 feet. Paving and rebuilding in this area is not yet under way, and will not likely be completed this year.

A small triangle will be formed half a mile north and half a mile west of Newcastle, and just south of Orono on Highway 35. This small cutoff will take Highway 115 from a point south of Orono to where Highway 2 joins the four-lane Highway 401. This will be the end of the line for 115.

Length of the highway from Kendry to the junction point near Newcastle is 28 miles. Via Highways 28 and 2 the distance from Kendry to Newcastle is roughly 36 miles. But engineers figure that distance is a relatively minor factor. Chief aim is to re-route traffic off Highway 28.

CCF Delegates Arrive For Conference

Delegates to the regional conference of the Peterborough CCF Association have been pouring steadily into regional headquarters today. Bad weather has slowed the pace of registration somewhat but newly-elected president Irwin Yeo is confident that there will be a good enrolment.

Feature of the two-day conference, seventh of its kind in Ontario this year, is a dinner at the Kawartha tonight. Theme speaker will be Donald C. MacDonald, leader of the CCF party in Ontario.

This afternoon delegates are forming in small discussion groups, each group to present recommendations for a socialist platform. It is expected that the best ideas will be co-ordinated to make the voice of the CCF clearer in Ontario.

The aims of the CCF are often [illegible] We're not out to impose any iron-clad restrictions from above, and newspapers give the wrong impression when they continually stress what CCF legislatures would enforce. Socialism implies co-operation, not coercion, and we could be voted out of power".

Asked if the CCF did not plan to nationalize and socialize certain industries if it assumed federal power, Mr. Yeo said that the aim was only to take over "businesses which are already in the grip of monopolies." Some private enterprise, he said, will continue to flourish.

HYSTERICAL AGE

This is an hysterical age said Mr. Yeo. So hysterical that McCarthyism "which is Fascist opportunism" on the part of the senator from Wisconsin, is developing a considerable following. Mr. Yeo felt that one reason for the success of McCarthyism was "a continued noive belief in the myth of capitalism."

Socialism, said Mr. Yeo, is largely a state of mind, exemplified in each individual's urge for freedom. Although he stresses that there is plenty of room for individualism within the party, all socialists are united by an "unswerving belief in freedom."

Mr. Yeo foresees a possible return to a two-party system in Canada, with the "more progressive elements of the Liberals, and CCF DELEGATES

Medal Presented Robert Johnston

Robert Johnston organist of Corinthian lodge No. 101 A.F. & A.M. was presented with a William Mercer Wilson medal at the March meeting on Friday evening. The presentation was made by R. F. Downey the secretary of the lodge and other speakers were R. L. Dobbin the first master of William James Dunlop lodge and Hugh M. Nevin a past master of Royal Arthur lodge.

The William Mercer Wilson medal is an award to a brother mason for distinguished service. Only one medal can be held in a lodge at one time and while there are almost 700 lodges in Ontario only 36 medals have been awarded.

SEVENTH REGIONAL CCF Conference is being held in the city today with 50 delegates expected to attend, weather permitting. Registration was slow this morning Mrs. Irwin Yeo (seated) reported. Behind her, left to right, are provincial organizer Fred Young, Toronto; Bert Brennan, Madoc; Jerry Harris, Marmora, and chairman of the provincial membership educational committee Mrs. Miller Stewart of Sturgeon Point. Party provincial leader Donald C. MacDonald will be guest speaker at a banquet tonight. —(Examiner Staff Photo)

S. American Mountain Weed Could Become Staff Of Life

WASHINGTON—"Junior, eat your quinoa!" may one day supersede parental pleas for spinach consumption at America's dining tables.

U.S. food manufacturers have been experimenting recently with the thin leaves of the quinoa plant, an import from the lofty Andes says the National Geographic Society. It appears to have possibilities as a substitute for much maligned spinach.

GROWS AT HIGH ALTITUDES

For centuries quinoa has been the staff of life for millions of South American natives. It grows only in the cold, thin atmosphere 10,000 to 15,000 feet high in Peru, Bolivia and Ecuador —where neither wheat nor barely will ripen.

Hardy, easy to cultivate, and resistant to pests and disease, quinoa is one of the world's most versatile plants.

Its seeds are eaten raw, boiled, roasted, or ground into flour. They are used [illegible] beer, for medicinal purposes, and as a poultry and livestock feed. Tender young shoots serve as salad greens.

Dried stems make a quick, hot fire — an important element in a land where fuel of any sort is hard to come by, and the dearth of oxygen hampers fire-building. The ash helps flavor the coca leaves which Andean Indians chew.

To the layman, quinoa resembles nothing so much as a large weed. It grows three to five feet high, with a stout, much-angled stem, triangular leaves, inconspicuous flowers and a multitude of tiny, vari-colored seeds.

Botanists call it Chenopodium quinoa and put it in the goosefoot family, a cousin of the common pigweed. Incan arrow is one of its many nicknames, but its old native name, quinoa, has basic significance: It means "mama."

Ancient Incas regarded it as a sacred plant. Ceremonies marked each planting season, and a golden implement was used to open the first furrow.

Quinoa cultivation goes on today much as it did when Pizarro first entered Peru in 1527. Indians sow the seed in the autumn. Seedlings emerge [illegible] planting and a heavy head of seed matures in five or six months. Then the whole plant is cut and left to dry in the sun for several days. It is threshed by flailing with a stick. A quarter to a half ton of seed per acre is the average yield.

Experiments in quinoa growing have been conducted in both Europe and the United States, but results were not encouraging. To produce grain of high nutritive value requires intense heat. But night frosts are also essential to insure complete ripening.

Technologists of the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations believe the plant has commercial possibilities. Their tests show that 100 grams of seed — a very small meal — contain more starch, proteins and vitamins than a plate of eggs, a fresh fish, a side dish of assorted vegetables, and a generous helping of condensed milk.

Veteran Pilot To Direct Fighter Service

OTTAWA (CP)—The RCAF Friday appointed a veteran bomber pilot as director of its fighter operations.

The appointment goes to Group Capt. Richard M. Cox, DFC, AEC, of Sioux Lookout, and Fort Garry, Man. Cox, now 37, joined the RCAF 20 years ago.

RCAF fighter operations have grown to such an extent that a separate directorate was recently set up to handle them. Group Capt. Cox is the first permanent director. He will be responsible for all training, tactics and related jobs in fighter command.

Group Capt. Cox had one of the most exacting roles in the air force during the Second World War. He was commander for a year of 109 RAF Pathfinder Squadron, which marked targets for the following bomber stream. His was one of the few Mosquito bomber squadrons to use the highly - secret "oboe" technique of target-marking.

TWICE DECORATED

Group Capt. Cox enlisted in the RCAF in 1934 as a member of ground crew and later won his pilot's wings. In 1938 he relinquished his commission on appointment to the RAF and in 1939 he was with 207 RAF Squadron, equipped with Fairey Battles. He was awarded the Air Force Cross in 1942 and the Distinguished Flying Cross in 1944. He also served as chief instructor at 82 RAF bomber operational training unit at Ossington, England.

He returned to the RCAF in 1943 and served with the operational training unit at Comox, B.C.

He later attended the RCAF staff college at Toronto and upon graduation became a member of the college staff until 1945 when he took over a similar post at the RAF staff college.

Group Capt. Cox served as air cadet liaison officer at RCAF headquarters before going to the staff college of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization at Paris.

He was the only Canadian equerry to Queen (then princess) Elizabeth during the 1951 royal tour of Canada.

H. J. McCannan Funeral Service

One of Peterborough's more prominent builders and realtors, Herbert Jesson McCannan, died in hospital Wednesday, and was honored with the last rites at a well-attended service in Knox church Friday afternoon.

The Rev. H. G. Douglas led the funeral service and spoke in warm terms of the life of church and community service adopted by the deceased.

He offered thanks for the memories that would be held by many, of a man who had assisted many causes, people and especially his own church, Knox United. His cheerful manner and unbounded enthusiasm for life had been a lesson to all who knew him.

A former minister of the church, the Rev. William McDonald, led the congregation in prayer.

Pallbearers were G. H. Daynes, R. Goodfellow, Jack Fanning, Thomas Taylor, J. R. Sinclair and Dr. W. C. Wedlock.

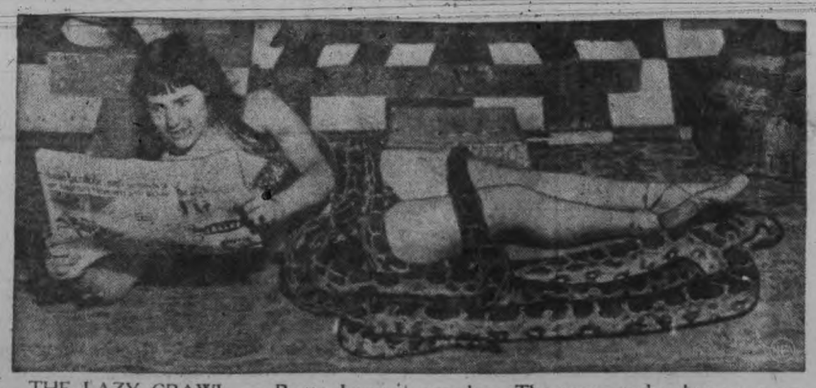
The burial took place at Little Lake cemetery.

Obituary

JAMES WHITTON KETCHEN

HAVELOCK (ENS)—A highly respected resident of the village, James Whitton Ketchen, 81, died at his home Friday, following a lengthy illness.

Mr. Ketchen came to Havelock 30 years ago, and operated a grocery and meat business until his retirement in 1951.



He was born at Burnbrae, a son of the late James Ketchen and Mary Ann Whitton. Before coming here he farmed in Rawdon and Belmont townships.

Mr. Ketchen took an active interest in municipal affairs and for 10 years served as a member of the Havelock council. In Belmont township he was reeve for a year, a councillor for 10 years, and a school trustee for 15 years.

Surviving are his widow, formerly Eva Barton, four daughters, Mrs. John Reynolds of Lasswade, Mrs. George Sisco of Creemore, Mrs. William Copp and Mrs. Bruce Curtis of Havelock; also surviving are three sons, Frank and Clinton of South Bend, Ind.; William of Havelock; three sisters, Mrs. F. C. Butters of Toronto, Mrs. H. Johnson of Brighton, Mrs. T. Sarginson of Havelock.

Four sons predeceased him. Pte. Donald Ketchen of the 48th Highlanders was killed in action in Italy in 1944. F/O Jack Ketchen was killed in an air raid over Germany in 1945. Ronald and Harold died in 1932 and 1937 respectively.

The funeral will be held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Curtis funeral parlors to Knox Presbyterian Church where the service will be conducted by the minister the Rev. R. D. Duncanson assisted by the Rev. L. V. Bigelow of Fellowship Baptist Church. Burial will be in Maple Grove cemetery.

THE LAZY CRAWL — Pretty Laura Zaghi, 18, nonchalantly reads her newspaper while a couple of pythons lazily crawl over her. The young snake charmer, member of a travelling circus playing Milan, Italy, was once nearly strangled by a python, but doesn't seem to have lost her nerve.

Says Soldier Has Mental Age Of 10

CALGARY (CP)—Symbols written on a note the day before Pte. Robert Bilow was slain Jan. 5 in Currie barracks, were explained Friday when the mother of Pte. Walter Cierpisz, 17, of Windsor, Ont., charged with murder, took the stand in her son's defence.

The prosecution has rested and the case for the defence has begun.

R. S. Riddell, of Windsor, defence lawyer, showed the note to Mrs. Anna Cierpisz, of Windsor, and asked her what the initials "J. M. J." meant. They were in the top left corner of the note. She said they stood for Jesus, Mary and Joseph.

And what does the symbol of a cross with two small dots on it mean?"

"It means the crucifixion of Jesus."

Mrs. Cierpisz testified her son for years wandered in the woods near Windsor with a prayer book in his hand. He had been subject to fits and from the age of three days until he was 1½ years old, had "cried continuously, so that we had to work on him in shifts."

She said the fits continued for five or six years. Her son rarely got a pass mark at school. He would often get up in the middle of the night and go for walks, taking his prayer book with him. He joined the army because he could not get another job.

Dr. Morris Carnat, a Calgary psychiatrist, testified he examined Cierpisz March 12 and 13 and formed the opinion that Cierpisz had been so acutely upset at the time of the shooting it was "quite possible" he could have been psychotic (insane).

The psychiatrist placed Cierpisz's mental age at 10, and said he regarded him as a mental defective.

See Good Market For Soybean Crop

ST. THOMAS (CP) — George Phillips of Muirkirk, president of the Ontario Soybean Marketing Board, and Kenneth Standing of Chatham, secretary - manager of the board, said Friday that there seems to be an assured market in sight for Ontario soybean growers.

The two men, speaking to a meeting of growers, said this was partly a result of shipments made to Europe last fall. More than 480,000 bushels of the 1953 crop were exported, they said.

Mr. Standing said there have been recent inquiries from Britain that he will go to Europe next week to study conditions, particularly in Germany and Britain.

Securities Markets Pass First Obstacle of 1954

By BOB JOHNSTONE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Toronto, Montreal and New York stock markets appeared to have weathered their first spell of rough going of the year and were headed in a stronger direction.

This week saw the end, on all markets, of the weaker trend which had begun at mid-February as the first tough going of 1954 after a smooth first six weeks. In Toronto, western oils led the gain; in Montreal the whole list was irregularly stronger, and in New York most groups were higher as the market reached record levels.

A new light oil discovery in eastern Saskatchewan on the basis of Toronto western oil drive that sent the group over the 100 mark on the exchange's index for the first time this year. Canadian Devonian was the feature as it closed the week at $2.25 (up from $1.20 the previous week). Late profit-taking brought the figure down from its mid-week high, $2.95. Pacific was also strong as it added $1.25 and closed at $11.37½.

ISSUES DOWN

Pembina-area issues which had attracted most of the speculative oil interest this year, were down, and Great Plains dropped from $16 to $14.50.

On the industrial list, papers and utilities added to raise their group.

Although base metals were slightly higher, strength was concentrated in Seniors. Manitouwadge-area issues were unchanged.

Golds, uraniums and Bathurst area base metals drew little interest and closed little changed. The Friday-to-Friday indices showed industrials down .36 at 327.84, golds up .10 at 71.40, base metals up .16 at 144.39 and western oils up 1.71 at 100.13.

New York trading opened lower. Railroads led the market lower until Thursday, then suddenly swung higher in a broad, vigorous advance followed by steels, aircrafts and several other divisions. Friday's session showed a broad, although moderately narrow advance, and closed at its highest level since June, 1930 with the Associated Press average of 60 stocks at $116.70 up 60 cents from the previous week.

Montreal prices moved upward Thursday when papers, beverages, oils and utilities climbed. Industrials, papers, steels, utilities and banks were higher at Friday's close.

The week's averages showed banks up .12 at 38, utilities up .1 at 99, industrials up 1.1 at 190.4, combined up .7 at 159.9, papers up 5.64 at 848.72 and golds off .32 at 53.38.

Road Engineer Dies

NAPANEE (CP)—Henry Lewis Schermerhorn, 58, road engineer for Lennox and Addington county for 17 years, died Friday after suffering a heart attack.

Give Details Of Contracts In Legislature

TORONTO (CP) — The Matane Contracting Company and Matane Logging, Registered, were awarded contracts totalling $501,157 by the Ontario Hydro electric power commission in 1949 and 1950 a reply tabled in the legislature shows.

The question had been asked by G. T. Gordon (L—Brantford).

Total amount actually paid for the completed contracts was $463,098.

A tabled reply to a question by Peter Manley (L—Stormont) said the fire at the Chats Falls hydro plant last year caused $1,694,808 damage. The hydro insured itself through a contingency reserve and did not carry fire insurance with commercial companies. No remuneration was given directly or indirectly to the firm by G. M. Saunders and Co. of Toronto.

A total of $76,836 in trucks, materials and other equipment was stolen from hydro between 1950 and 1953, according to a reply to another question asked by Mr. Gordon. In connection with the thefts 186 charges were laid, 161 convictions obtained and $54,141 of the equipment recovered.

Eights Pass Sixes For First Time In Car History

Postwar V-8 Trend Leads to Milestone Late in '53 Sales

THE auto industry has quietly passed a historic milestone.

For the first time, eight-cylinder cars have outsold six-cylinder models.

Registration tabulations of last week showed that, in late 1953, eights finally overcame the traditional margin held by sixes. The trend had been in that direction for some time, but the actual accomplishment was not definitely established until last week because tabulations run about six weeks behind.

The eights have been moving up steadily since the war.

IN 1946, the first full postwar sales year, sixes outsold eights of all types by a margin of 88.4 percent. But the lead held by sixes was inexorably whittled down.

In the 1953 model year there were 21 eight-cylinder models in the field and 18 six-cylinder models. Of the eights, 15 had V-type engines. Six had straight-eight engines.

Used-Car Pace Brisk...

New-Car Sales Gain

By Bob Lienert
Staff Writer

RECENT sharp improvement in the used-car market has extended to new cars, too, reports last week indicated.

After a slow start in the forepart of last month, sales and interest definitely picked up, dealers said. The last week of January was decidedly brisk, some said, while others reported only modest gains — but gains, nevertheless.

The used-car boom, lusty though infant, continues to grow. The demand for used cars at the wholesale level, which has been evident for nearly a month, has firmed up prices considerably. Overall average

AT THE retail level, crisp used-car sales were reported. One new-car dealer said he had hired a fulltime field man just to buy used cars to put on his lot in answer to the sudden swelling in demand.

Another new-car dealer, even though he has made a practice of retailing all his tradeins, has found demand exceeding his supply. He said he intends to double his used-car stock.

Dealers are generally agreed that improving used-car sales will help to boost the turnover of new cars. Some overallowing has become apparent in new-car sales, but it is neither so prevalent nor so drastic as it had been in recent months.

U.S. Farmers Operate Close To Capacity

WASHINGTON (AP)—American farmers will be operating close to their war-expanded capacity this year — despite the prospect of more surpluses — if they carry out planting plans reported to the government.

The agriculture department says a survey taken March 1 indicated that the acreage planted to crops this year may be down less than one per cent from a year ago, even though storage facilities are crowded with the largest farm surplus in history.

Under crop control programs set up by the department, farmers had been urged to divert upwards of 25,000,000 acres—or about seven per cent of last year's crop acreage—to non-crop uses, such as grasses and soil-building legumes.

The survey indicated that wheat plantings will be within the 55,- [illegible] It also assumed that the cotton acreage will be in line with the 21,400,000 acres alloted for that crop. But, the prospective corn acreage appears about the same as last year, although the government had urged a 10,000,000-acre reduction.

U.S. Unemployment Continues To Mount

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unemployment in the United States has continued to mount, the labor department says.

The department's bureau of employment security said Friday joblessness had spread by mid-March from auto, farm machinery, aircraft and household appliance manufacturing to a "wide range of industries" such as basic steel, textiles, shipbuildings, electronics and electrical equipment.

However, the bureau said there were signs that the increase in joblessness had slowed down. There was a slight drop early in March in insured unemployment.

The census bureau's February unemployment count was 3,671,000.

Will Deduct Full Quebec Tax

QUEBEC (CP) — The Quebec government will deduct the full amount of the new provincial income tax from federal income tax collected at source from its employees.

Premier Duplessis made the announcement Friday at a press conference in which he said refusal of the federal governments to permit deduction of the Quebec tax in full "would be neither nice, charitable or just."

The provincial tax, authorized at the last session of the legislature, amounts to approximately 15 per cent of the federal income tax. Present federal law allows deductions of five per cent to meet provincial income taxes.

The premier did not say what would happen if the federal government refuses to allow the full deduction to be made on behalf of Quebec civil servants.

Nor would he reply to a question asking him if he planned to advise Quebec employers to follow the government's lead.

REV. MALCOLM LEHIGH

The Rev. Malcolm Lehigh, a Methodist United church minister for the past 35 years, died Thursday in Picton. He was in his 84th year.

Mr. Lehigh is survived by several relatives in this district. In addition to his wife, surviving relatives include sons Herbert of Coe Hill, Beaumont of Cobourg, and Voctor of Worcester, Mass.

Five daughters also survive: Miss Gladys Lehigh of Port Hope, Mrs. Nora Bond of Milford, Mrs. Lola Ostrander of Montreal, Mrs. Imogene Humby of Hamilton, and Mrs. Fern Poulson of Windsor.

After his ordination in Brockville and early missionary work in Saskatchewan, Mr. Lehigh served parishes in Bishop's Mills, Quebec, Avonmore, Eganville, Metcalfe, Maberly, Coe Hill, Kinmount and Milford. He retired in 1946.

Vodka Drinkers Face New Drink Veesky

MOSCOW (AP) — This country of vodka drinkers is being introduced to veesky.

The ministry of internal trade has put on sale "a new type of drink," called sovetskoye veesky, or Soviet whisky, distilled in the Soviet Union. It is being launched with an advertising campaign.

It costs 24½ rubles for a half litre (just over a pint). The ruble is rated officially at four to the American dollar.

An American who bought a bottle says:

"Far as I'm concerned, I would stick with scotch and bourbon. This Soviet stuff is too sharp for me. I don't want my hat blown off. It's too bitter for my taste."

Masks For Workers

SALINA, Kans. (AP)—A railroad had to rush respirator-type masks to a group of section workers Friday because blowing dust was so htick the men could hardly breathe. I. C. Kirby, Missouri Pacific agent here, said he obtained a dozen masks at an army surplus store.

Cowboy Sued

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Damages of $100,000 are demanded in a suit filed Friday by a clock salesman against cowboy singer Gene Autry. The suit alleges that Autry "wantonly, maliciously and outrageously" assaulted Harrison Willard last April 3 and beat him on the head after a traffic accident.

2 Canadians Return To Patrol Duty

IN KOREA (CP)—Two Canadian soldiers held captive 29 hours by Chinese Communists returned to patrol duty Friday as if nothing had happened.

Pte. James Andrew Piercey, 23, of Toronto, and Pte. Douglas Grant Phillips, 22, of Kitchener, were on patrol duty Wednesday when they were "ambushed" by a nine-man Chinese squad.

Although the Canadians, members of the Black Watch, were carrying out normal patrol duties in the United Nations side of the demilitarized zone, the Chinese accused them of being on unauthorized territory.

The Communists have protested "the entry" to the United Nations, the New China news agency reported.

NOT MOLESTED

The Canadians said that they both "had visions of being shot" when they were captured. However, their captors did not threaten or molest them in any way.

The Chinese escorted them north into the Chinese side of the zone where the Canadians were kept under constant guard and questioned by interpreters who spoke almost perfect English.

They slept for three hours in a grass-covered dugout and were given three greatcoats to cover them. The men said "about five men with rifles looked in on them at all times."

WEAPONS RETURNED

None of the soldiers' equipment or personal effects were taken from them except their weapons, and Phillips' service book. The Chinese returned everything when they released the two.

Asked if their captors attempted to bribe or indoctrinate them in any way, the two said: "[illegible] no propaganda."

They were released about 2:30 p.m. Thursday, to a joint observer team, which included two men from the Black Watch: Lieut. Don Paisley of Toronto, and Lieut. John A. MacDonald of Mitchell, Ont.

MacDonald later told an army reporter that the two men are regarded as good soldiers in the regiment and were always smartly turned out and good military examples at all imes.

The pair said that as many as three newsreel men photoghaphed them at one time during their captivity.

Find Holdup Note 'n Man's Pocket

TORONTO (CP) — Police said a man arrested in downtown Toronto Friday had this note in his pocket:

"This is a holdup. Don't scream or I'll shoot. Put the large bills in the bag."

Officers said they believed the man, carrying a paper shopping bag, was picked up just in time to prevent the holdup of a nearby bank. Several holdups have been carried out in Toronto recently by men who shoved similar notes at tellers.

"20 Years Of Treason" Charge Against Democrats

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Senator McCarthy has accused the Democratic party of "20 years of treason" on 20 counts, and, casting Adlai Stevenson in the role of "attorney for the defence," called on him to plead guilty or not guilty.

In leading up to his charges against the Democratic party, McCarthy said Friday night:

"I shall [illegible] the greatest [illegible] the American people, an indictment of 20 counts, picked at random, which at best constitute gross stupidity—or at worst, treason.

"Twenty years of treason—20 deeds of betrayal."

The Wisconsin Republican senator, making a rebuttal to a March 6 speech of Stevenson's, accused the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee of using the "Communist method" of attacking him and the Republican party.

HAD NO COMMENT

Stevenson, in Cambridge, Mass., said through a spokesman that he had "no comment."

Stevenson had told a Democratic rally in Miami that the Republican party was "divided against itself, half McCarthy and half Eisenhower" and accused McCarthy of sowing "slander and disunion."

McCarthy, who quickly accused Stevenson of a "vicious" personal attack on him, said in his speech Friday night that "Adlai turned some fine phrases at Miami." But, said the senator, "apparently Adlai would rather turn a clever phrase than to be truthful."

The senator charged that Stevenson, at Miami, "acting as spokesman and defence lawyer for the Democratic party, used the officially approved and published [illegible] McCarthy and the Republican party."

He said "the main report" to the national conference of the American Communist Party last September instructed party members to stir up fights between McCarthy and Eisenhower, directing their heaviest fire at the senator.

LISTS CHARGES

Scattered cries of "guilty," and "hang him" came from the audence at a Milwaukee Republican banquet as McCarthy went through his charges.

The 20 deeds ranged from U.S. recognition of Russia in 1933 to the wartime Yalta agreement, events which he linked to the fall of China to the Communists and the Truman administration's handling of the Korean war.

Most were charges he had made previously against the Democrats.

McCarthy's speech was carried by the Chicago Tribune radio station, WGN, which made it available to other stations that wanted to carry it. About a dozen stations picked it up for live broadcast or recorded it for later use.

Spring Model No Shy Violet, Just Well-Turned Comedy

Alex Atkinson's "Spring Model", a comedy being presented by the London Theatre Co., at PCVS auditorium, winds a group of abnormal, but likeable characters round and about the anti-hypocrite theme, providing plenty of laughs, mostly of the belly variety, and ending as all comedies should.

To say that it was daring (although some might arrive at that conclusion), would be to misconstrue. It merely says on a stage what most people would say at a party.

The plot centres around an episode between a shy, young painted, and a not-so-shy, young girl, who finding themselves alone in an apartment on an evening, decide, after some half-hearted attempts at other things, to paint and be painted.

The portrait, an artistic study of the female form, is in the first stages of creation, when the landlady bursts in and offers the couple a bottle of wine and a suggestion to "have fun". From here on in, the couple are subjected to every sort of innuendo, first by the girl's sister, who returns unexpectedly with an old army man (her mate to be), and finally by the boy's father, a righteous old tyrant with a secret yen for Kinsey.

ADDED SCENERY

Mixed into this prescription is an open-minded mother, an affected advertising man, a muscle-bound intellectual, and a hard-drinking, hammer-toting night watchman. What this collection do in two hours, in one little room, is provide two hours of zany entertainment.

To pick any one individual from the cast for special merit would be to openly insult the rest. The ensemble work together like a finely made watch. Each characterization is solidly established and retained throughout; pointing and timing is sharp and some lengthy and complicated bits of business are exceptionally well carried off. The entire production indicates excellent direction on the part of Oliver Gordon.

For a quality of theatre seldom present in Peterborough, there is one more performance of "Spring Model" coming up tonight—J.F.

Dangerous Driving Charge Being Laid

HARRISON, Ont. (CP) — A Welland man was charged with dangerous driving Friday in the death Thursday night of James Benson, 55, of Sarnia.

Stephen Toth, 46, was remanded to April 9 on bail of $1,000. Police said he was the driver of a car which struck Benson as he was crossing the highway to enter a small truck driven by Laurie Allison, Barkhouse of Pictou, N.S.

Toth was slightly injured. Police said the small truck was driven about 200 feet into a field and Benson's body was tossed in front of another car.

Benson, a transport driver, had run out of gas and was hitching a ride into town. He had a 25-year safe driving record.

File Damage Writ Against Bus Line

TORONTO (CP) — As an aftermath of the Morrisburg bus-truck accident that killed 20 persons las July 30, the administrator of the estate of the late Eduard Toom has filed a writ for unstated damages against Colonial Coach Lines Limited.

Toom was killed in the accident when a Colonial bus driven by Lorne Chesebrough plunged into the Morrisburg canal.

The public trustee, administrator of Toom's estate, is suing on behalf of Toom's children, Rein and Ene.

Graham Has Phenomenal Success In U.K.

LONDON (AP)—American evangelist Billy Graham today finishes the third week of his religious crusade in London with a record of having preached to slightly more than a quarter of a million persons.

This was the biggest day of all —three services at the Harringay Arena which seats 12,000, and a special attraction for children at the nearby Harringay Stadium, where 40,000 gathered to see Graham's cowboy collaborator, Roy Rogers, and his horse "Trigger."

"It is a humbling experience," said Graham, who not only conducts his nightly services, but dashes about London to address special groups by day.

In the arena a special block of seats is filled every night with British religious workers who come to discover the "secret" of Graham's appeal. An increasing number of churchmen have rallied to his support.

Well over 5,000 persons have responded thus far to Graham's call to "make decisions for Christ." They have been turned over to British religious counsellors and directed to particular churches.

It was announced today that £33,000 of teh £50,000 British churchmen undertook to raise for the campaign have been subscribed.

TV NEWS

By Ken McCannan

When television, like its older brother motion pictures, first took on the look of mass entertainment medium it is today, alarmists pounced on the notion that watching TV would harm our vision, just as they had claimed the flickers would in an earlier day. Despite official denials, the rumor still persists in some parts as rumors do though the actual experience of V's millions of fans have just about knocked it deader than the theory that spider webs will chase away warts.

For the record, television viewing is harmless to the eyes, though we'd like to pass on a few do's and don't's the medical specialists state will remove any possibility of strain.

In general, the authorities agree that a larger screen is better than a small one because it allows clearer vision at a greater distance and gives a large visual angle. A distance of ten feet or more away from the screen is preferable providing the size of the screen and room will permit. It helps too if you keep a dim light burning in the TV room to cut down fatigue from contrast and flicker.

One last thing . . . make sure your set is FOCUSED PROPERLY. A fuzzy image will do more to produce eye strain than any other factor. If there is any question in your mind that your present set does not provide a crisp, clear image, drop in to see us at McCANNAN ELECTRIC, 274 George Street and compare it with the performance of our new 1954 models. Vertical-Takeoff Fighter Considered By RCAF Heads

By DAVE McINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's defence planners are considering the possibility of RCAF adoption of a vertical-takeoff fighter plane.

They also are mulling over, even while the RCAF's 12 squadrons in Europe are being re-equipped with 300 new Sabre jet fighters, what aircraft will eventually replace the Sabre.

The RCAF is playing two fighter roles and consequently needs two types of fighter aircraft. For home defence, it needs, and now has, a long-range plane to cover Canada's vast distances in a comparatively short time. It also needs a short-range, high-powered fighter in Europe.

The air division in Europe might eventually be re-equipped with the CF-100, the twin-engine, all-weather jet now being produced in Canada for home defence. But there is a snag.

KEEP AS UNIT

Defence officials said that if the CF-100, believed the most heavily-armed fighter in the world, were sent to Europe, North Atlantic defence chiefs might scatter the 12 Canadian squadrons from Norway to Turkey. The RCAF wants to maintain the air division as a unit.

The United States navy has unveiled a vertical-takeoff fighter and Sir Roy Dobson, managing director of the A. V. Roe Aircraft Company, was quoted last week in London as saying that Avro's Canadian plant at Malton, Ont., is designing a vertical-takeoff plane.

Such an aircraft could be posted almost anywhere in Canada's northern wilderness as an interceptor force and without the necessity of building expensive airfields.

Avro also has on the drawing boards the CF-105, a plane with delta-shaped wings and capable of speeds up to 1,000 miles an hour.

Turkey Warned About Bloc By Russians

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Russia has warned Turkey that current moves towards the creation of a pro-Western military bloc in the Middle East threaten relations between the two countries.

A Soviet note handed to the Turkish embassy in Moscow Friday night said that Turkey must bear full responsibility for the consequences, it was officially announced.

The note declared that Turkey's proposed pact with Pakistan apparently provided for comprehensive military and other collaboration and said this "could not but touch upon the security of neighboring countries."

WARNING REPEATED

Later, both Moscow radio and Izvestia, the Soviet government newspaper, reinforced the warning.

The radio charged that the visit of the West German chancellor, Konrad Adenauer, to Athens and Ankara was "closely linked to the plans of American aggressive circles in the Near and Middle East."

Recalling that Turkey and Pakistan are linked by a military agreement, the broadcast charged "aggressive circles" with attempting to create "a large-scale military group on the frontiers of the Soviet Union," extending from West Germany to Pakistan.

Korea Free To Walk Out

SEOUL (AP) — South Korea will be at liberty to walk out on the Far East political conference at Geneva in April if the Communists use the conference to try to undermine the South Korean republic, a highly placed source said today.

American agreement to such an action, he added, came in a "highly secret reply" from State Secretary Dulles to a series of questions raised by Foreign Minister Pyun Yung Tai.

Washington sources said Dulles has assured South Korea that the U.S. will not permit a sell-out of South Korean vital interests.

Toronto Man Fails To Capture Title

LONDON (CP) — Canada's badminton champion, Don Smythe of Toronto, failed today in his bid to win the all-England men's title, regarded as virtually the world championship.

In a whirlwind 20 - minute final he was beaten 15-5, 15-6 by Edie Choong of Malaya, who retained his title.

The nimble Malay, in devastating form, did not even remove his sweater, and was quite unruffled at the finish.

Canadian Paintings In German Exhibition

SOEST, Westphalia (Reuters) — Canada will be graphically represented in an exhibition of paintings here March 25-29, Canadian ambassador T. C. Davis told a press conference today.

The exhibition, the Seagram collection of paintings by Canadian artists, is on a two-year, 30,000-mile tour. Germany is the final stop in the European portion, at the end of which the collection will be flown across the Atlantic. It will then begin a tour of Canada.

Five In Hospital After Head-On Crash

STRATFORD (CP) — Five persons, including three from New York state, were taken to Stratford hospital today following a head-on collision at Little Lakes curve on Highway 7.

Injured were Mrs. and Mrs. Norman Raitar, Waterloo, Ont., Leo Kent, Hinsdale, N.Y., Victor Cline, Belmont, N.Y., and Edwin More, Oleans, N.Y.

Their conditions is described as serious but not critical.

No Marked Change In Twins' Condition

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Physicians said today there is no marked change on the condition of the Hartley twins who are in hospital receiving oxygen and penicillin for pneumonia.

The three-month-old twins have two heads, two chests and four arms but a single lower trunk.

The illness has affected the left twin, Daniel Kaye.

No News Still About 2 Men

HONG KONG (AP) — One year ago this week-end two American news correspondents on a sailing trip to Macao from Hong Kong fell into Communists hands and, as far as official information goes, have not been heard from since.

Richard Applegate, former United Press correspondent in Korea, and Donald Dixon, International News Service correspondent who was vacationing here from Korea, were aboard Applegate's yawl when an armed Communist junk [illegible] recently just outside Hong Kong waters.

A lookout station on British Lantao Island saw the captives and craft taken to the Communist-held island of Lapsapmei and later towed to the mainland.

There have since been dozens of unofficial reports about the captives, but the Communists have never said a word about them.

Six New Members Join Omemee Guild

OMEMEE ENS)—The Women's Guild of Christ Church met at the home of Mrs. H. W. Hill, Thursday evening.

Mrs. N. Rutle presided. Six new members joined.

Mrs. Goddard was appointed to take Mrs. Nurse's place as treasurer in May. There was some discussion about planting at the front of the church, also replacing choir vestments, but no action was taken. The guild will cater for a turkey dinner for the men's fellowship on April 9.

Chennault Helps In Indo-China

SAIGON, Indo - China (Reuters) Claire Chennault, American air general who headed the famed Flying Tigers in wartime China, has joined the bloody battle for the Indo-China fortress of Dien Bien Phu.

Pilots provided by his airline are dodging Communist anti-aircraft fire to drop ammunition to the hard - pressed French defenders awaiting a renewed onslaught by 25,000 Vietminh troops massed outside the fortress.

Nationality of Chennault's 24 civilian pilots has not been disclosed.

Grant Wide Powers To Governor

BELIZE, British Honduras (CP) Three officials and four nominated members of the legislative assembly Friday night outvoted elected representatives to grant wide emergency powers to the governor of this British Caribbean colony.

The leader of the six elected members of the assembly, lawyer Harrison Courtenay, complained that extended powers for Governor Patrick Renison mean "turning the constitutional clock back." He acknowledged that "we are living in troubled times."

The assembly also passed a bill for a new legislature to be created under a new constitution after general elections next month in this 9,000-square-mile colony.

HDQ. WANT GUARANTEE

Before the elections are held, the London colonial office wants to make sure that British Honduras will not become another British Guiana, where first elections under a new constitution led to an allegedly pro - Communist group gaining power.

An official commission has been set up to report before elections are held whether any political parties here are "associated with a foreign power which has openly laid claim to the country." This obviously refers to adjoining Guatemala, whose leftist regime may have helped political groups in British Honduras.

Africa Topic Meeting St. Andrew's WMS

STIRLING (ENS)—St. Andrew's Presbyterian church WMS held their March meeting in the church parlors.

Mrs. Louis Rodgers opened the meeting with a word of welcome followed by the hymn, "Courage Brother, Do Not Stumble". Mrs. C. Tunmore read the scripture lesson and Mrs. Ethel Hoard led in prayer.

It was decided that each member would make three sick calls during the next month.

A poem, "March" was read by Mrs. Ken Ray, followed by an educational reading by Mrs. R. Hermiston. A piano solo was rendered by Mrs. Vernon Matthews.

Mrs. W. H. V. Walker spoke briefly on "The Land of Africa". The singing of a hymn and the Benediction brought the meeting to a close.

400 Japanese Return After 9 Yrs. In Soviet

MAIZURU, Japan (AP) — More than 400 Japanese civilians and remnants of Japan's once - mighty Kwantung army returned to their homeland today from nine years of servitude in the Soviet Union.

The repatriates, aged prematurely, were greeted here by overjoyed and tearful relatives and friends.

The Japanese were either captured or interned by the Russians at the end of the Second World War. This is the second — and presumably the last — group to be returned by the Russians under an agreement reached last year between the Japanese and Soviet Red Cross societies.

Last December 811 Japanese were returned. Fifty-seven Japanese apparently chose to remain in Siberia. Some had married Russian women; others feared punishment.

4 Hanged As Spies

AMMAN, Jordan (Reuters) — Four Jordanian citizens recently convicted of spying for Israel were hanged here today.

All four were tried by a military court and pleaded guilty to communicating military secrets from Jordan and other Arab states.

TOP AIRMAN — Airman First Class James LeStrange, of Elizabeth, N.J., and his British bride of four months are bid farewell b yBrig. Gen. Troup Miller, centre, commandant of the U.S. Air Force base at Burtonwood, Lancashire, England, before leaving on a tour of the continent. LeStrange won the trip when selected Burtonwood's airman of the year.

France Passes Defence Budget

PARIS (Reuters) — The National Assembly today passed France's national defence budget for 1954 by 403 votes to 203.

The budget provides for arms spending of $3,200,000,000, compared with $3,500,000,000 last year.

Chief reason given for the reduction in defence is that the United States this year is shouldering more than 78 per cent of the cost of the Indo-China war.

Police Fire Shots, Halt Stolen Car

BROCKVILLE (CP) — Antonio Sylvain, 17, Claude Bedard, 18 and Jean Paul Gauthier, 27, all of Montreal, were arrested today following a chase by car and on foot, during which shots were fired by police. Police said the three were in a car believed stolen in Montreal. As it passed through the business section, the vehicle went out of control, ripped out three parking meters and knocked over a light standard.

Police overtook and forced the car to the curb. They said Gauthier bolted into the nearby woods despite warning shots. He was picked up later as he emerged from woods west of the town.

100 Rome Students Demand Trieste Back

ROME (AP) — About 100 students paraded along the central streets of Rome today, shouting insults at Communists and calling for the return of Trieste to Italy.

This is the sixth anniversary of the declaration by the United States, France and Britain that the free territory should be restored.

The student march may have been in retaliation against Communists, who spread leaflets Friday calling the 1948 declaration "an American-style fraud."

Siamese Twins Born In Hamburg Clinic

HAMBURG (AP) — Doctors of the Finkenau maternity hospital reported Siamese twins were born in the clinic early today.

The two girls, joined at the chest, are being cared for in an incubator. Doctors said they have a good chance to live.

France Cancels Order To Expel Socialist

PARIS (Reuters)—The French government today issued an order to expel Pietro Nenni, Italian left-wing Socialist leader, from the country. A few hours later, the order was cancelled.

By that time Nenni was aboard a train en route back to Italy, [illegible] the frontier town of Vallorbe. He will be told he can remain in France if he chooses.

The government reversed its decision following a protest by a number of parliamentary delegates who oppose the European army.

Nenni had com here to attend a conference of anti-EDC parliamentarians of several nations.

Huge Diesel Truck Ends Up In Ditch

PORT COLBORNE (CP) — A huge diesel truck carrying a load of fire extinguisher liquid from Buffalo ended up in the ditch on Highway 3 seven miles west of here today.

Driver Wallace Shaver of Port Hope, Mich., was unhurt. But the accident broke his record of 900,000 miles of accident-free driving. Damage was estimated between $2,000 and $3,000.

Schaver said he did not notice a big bend until he was already into it. He stopped and was getting out when he felt his vehicle slipping sideways. It came to rest with the trailer on its side.

keeping the aims of the Community Fund before the public. Friday paid tribute to all those "who have been largely responsible for the big improvement this year." Mr. Baer said he had been "jolted" when he returned from a business trip to read unencouraging figures on the totals Thursday, but felt that this might have had "a good psychological effect" in bringing contributions to the $90,000 mark.

Mr. Baer paid particular tribute to CHEX for organizing the variety show at the Capitol Theatre March 7, to Pete and Bud LaBranche of the Peterborough Review for printing the canvassers' pamphlets, to the Sales-Ad Club for publicity work, to George Cobb for his advertising layouts in the Examiner, and to Dick Campbell of the Examiner for his series of articles on the ten community fund agencies.

Greetings from the city on behalf of Mayor Norman Graham were brought by Ald. Mrs. Alene Holt. "Those of us on the outside," said Mrs. Holt, "are proud of the canvassers and proud of the citizens" for making the campaign a success. All the ten agencies "add strength to our city," and those who contribute "are often helping those who could not help themselves."

Mayor Graham, who sent his regrets, could not be on hand at the dinner because he was in Toronto in connection with the Morrow Park bills before the Ontario legislature.

ROSS DOBBIN

A special guest at last night's dinner was Ross Dobbin, director of the fund campaign for 11 years. Mr. Dobbin, who is just back from the Yukon, said that in Dawson City the Red Cross campaign went over the top in the first day. Dawson, once a fabulous boomtown in the days of the Klondike gold rush of 1898 now has a population of only 700.

Digressing a bit, Mr. Dobbin mentioned that he had met a barber in a small Yukon town who had come from Peterborough and who wished the local campaign well. Mr. Dobbin, one of Peterborough's most indefatigable peripatetics, says he is now "home to stay for a while."

Chairman Alex Elliott voiced a special word of thanks to three ladies who have been adding up the dollars in the community fund offices the past two weeks. The audience of 300 gave a good hand to these volunteer workers—Mrs. Percy Dyer, Mrs. Kenneth Monk and Mrs. Kenneth Beatty.

Mr. Elliott also paid tribute to Outboard Marine, Raybestos, Canadian Sealright and the Peterborough Examiner for underwriting costs of the dinner. Facilities were provided and arrangements made by Ben Smith of the CGE.

Students Visit St. Joseph's

High school students from Peterborough, Norwood, Cobourg, Lakefield, Lindsay, Kirkfield and Omeme,, were guests at St. Joseph's Hospital Friday afternoon on an invitation to tour the hospital and school of nursing.

The students were received by Sister Joseph, the superintendent, Sister Gonzaga, director of nursing, Sister Benedicta, education director, and Maragaret McCarthy, instructor. They were conducted through the hospital by student nurses and later served lunch by nurses, B. Connelly, A. Doris, A. LaPointe, P. Nevill and M. Ross. Misses T. Dion and M. Curtain provided musical entertainment.

Archery Scores

Norm Wood collected 438 of a possible 540 points at the Peterborough Archery Club's tournament this week. Mrs. Marjorie Dollack led the distaff archers with 365 points. Other high scorers were Orville Grant 389, Roland Brier 384, Walter Wood 349, Mrs. Norm Wood 340, Mrs. Orville Grant 323, Warren Taylor 281, Mrs. Walter Wood 236, and Mrs. Warren Taylor 233.

Pays Visits To Russ Embassy Suggests Reds Redeem Bonds

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—Not many callers turn in at the big stone building at 1125 16th street, northwest, home of the Soviet embassy.

But that didn't stop Leo P Bergin, Jr., a farmer from Fallon, Nev. firmly clutching his $450,000 in prerevolutionary Russian bonds. He walked up and rang the bell.

"They seemed surprised to see me," Bergin reported, "but I couldn't have had a more courteous welcome."

Bergin's visit turned on these two things:

His job: for 20 of his 42 years he has been a dairyman. He supplies the Reno area and figures he's the biggest milk producer in Nevada.

INHERITED RUSSIAN BONDS

In 1916 his mother-in-law-to-be bought $450,000 in Russian bonds that paid 5½ per cent interest for two years. They've been kicked around the family ever since and finally wound up with Bergin.

A Nevada newspaper man, Don Bowers, who served in the U.S. embassy in Moscow, told Bergin that sometimes the Soviets pay off, in part, on old bonds.

Which set Bergin to thinking.

With support prices going off milk, the price of cows in the United States should drop. No doubt the Russians could use more cows. Maybe they'd like someone to take a look at their production methods and suggest ways to improve it. Maybe they'd give him a free trip to Russia for his bonds.

SAW EX-FARM BOY

"The attache at the embassy saw me," Bergin said. "Let's see. Here's his card. Nikolai G. Dyukov. We had a nice visit. He was raised on a farm, too."

"He said Russia has a milk shortage—no, that's not quite right. He said it could use more cows. That's the way he put it. And he said he's sure the collective farms have modern equipment."

Anyway, Dyukov took the case under advisement and Bergin is happy.

Protest Bases In Holland

LONDON (CP) — Russia has protested to the Netherlands against the establishment of United States bases on Dutch territory in peacetime, Tass, the official Soviet news agency reported today. The protest was made two days ago by the Soviet ambassador to the Netherlands, S. P. Kirsanov, Tass said.

"The granting of military bases to foreign states and the stationing of foreign troops on Netherlands territory can by no means contribute to the improvement of the international atmosphere and relations between countries," the Soviet protest note said.

A Moscow radio broadcast said Dutch Foreign Minister A. V. Luns promised that his government would "examine the Soviet government's statement and give its reply."

Divers Have Found 4th Jetliner Engine

LONDON (AP) — Divers have recovered the fourth engine of the British Comet jetliner which crashed in the sea off Elba in January, the admiralty announced today.

Technicians of British Overseas Airways Corporation are examining the engines in an attempt to find out the cause of the accident, in which 35 persons perished.

First White Woman Told Dance Legend

WHYALLA, Australia (AP) — A story no other white woman ever has heard was whispered today in the ear of Queen Elizabeth. She promised never to pass it on to another white woman.

It was the legend of the sacred "corroboree" or tribal ceremonial dance performed by the Australian aborigines.

W. M. Macdougall, Australian patrol officer, who speaks the local Aboriginal Pitjanjara dialect, told the story to the Queen in English after getting a special dispensa[illegible]

The native creed says the sacred corroboree must never be danced in the presence of a woman, nor its story told. But it was decided the story could be told to the Queen, who is visiting this South Australian port with the Duke of Edinburgh on their Commonwealth tour.

Detain Three Men On Theft Charges

MONTREAL (CP)—Police said today they were detaining three men following their arrest near the Ontario border on charges of theft and receiving stolen goods.

Police said the men, whom they did not identify, were arrested in connection with the transport of more than $2,000 worth of television sets and musical instruments stolen from a Cornwall store.

$128,000,000 In Sales Tax Is Levy In Five Provinces

By PHILIP DEANE

DELHI (OFNS)—Anxious over the possibility of a new flare-up in Kashmir, India does not want American officers to act as United Nations observers in that area, because she fears that on completion of their tour of duty these officers might then be appointed military advisers to Pakistan — America's new ally—and disclose Indian defence dispositions to the Pakistanis.

This is among the reasons why India instructed her consular staff in the United States not to grant visas for the American officers due to come here as replacements of the observers now serving with the United Nations Commission in Kashmir. The Indian refusal was "diplomatically worded": the Americans were told that since they were — according to Mr. Hammarskjold, the UN Secretary-General—"denationalised" United Nations citizens, then the United Nations Organization should apply for their visas.

Official sources in Delhi express surprise that the Americans asked for the visas at all after the recent statement by Mr. Nehru, the Indian Prime Minister, on United States observers. These sources believe this American request was made in an attempt to ascertain whether Mr. Nehru meant business or whether his statement was made for propaganda purposes only. Official circles here emphasize that Mr. Nehru very much means business. This "business," however, is not going to be violent anti-Americanism. A circular from Mr. Nehru's Congress Party enjoins all party members not to foster anti-American or anti-Pakistan feelings. Diplomats here say that the Indian government has now realized that it was unwise to allow the anti-American statements which have recently been the order of the day at provincial political meetings. The plan is now to keep public agitation under strict control. This, however, I am authoritatively informed, does not mean that India is resigning herself to American military aid for Pakistan. On the contrary, recent developments on the sub-continent have been genuinely worrying the Indian government and senior Western diplomats partly share these worries.

The cause of this concern is the elections in East Pakistan.

Although the results are not yet known, the pro-government Pakistan newspapers seem to have acknowledged a crushing defeat for the party led by the Pakistan Prime Minister, Mohamed Ali. As these elections involve four-sevenths of the total population of Pakistan, such a defeat would be a blow to the prestige of Mohamed Ali and his party. The election, admittedly, was fought on internal issues, and the results are not a reflection on the government's pro - American foreign policy, but they are a reflection on Mohamed Ali who was not a big power in the Muslim League (the government party) before he became Prime Minister.

The fear here is that, alarmed by a big electoral defeat and eager to turn popular attention away from internal shortcomings, the Moslem League Party machine might replace Mohamed Ali with a "strong man," such as Abdul Qayum Khan, the present food minister of Pakistan. An aggressive believer in action, Abdul Qayum Khan or anyone else like him (there is a military junta in the background of Karachi politics, which Indians regard as warlike) might, the Indians fear, try to gain support from fanatical anti-Indian Muslims by causing a clash in Kashmir through the encouragement of tribal raids into Indian-held territory. Such raids were among the origins of the trouble in Kashmir seven years ago. If they were renewed, with Indian public opinion in its present state, they might well touch off a conflict that would be hard to control.

Senior Western diplomats here do not share Indian anxiety about a possible clash in Kashmir. But it is because of this possibility that official Indian opinion turns with much anxiety to the question of military security and possible "security leaks" through American observers.

YOU CAN TAKE A BIG STEP

WHILE SITTING ON THE FLOOR

That sounds like an assignment for an acrobat doesn't it? The fact is though, that it is not hard to do.

We are referring to the old Canadian method of spreading the Classified Ad pages of the newspaper on the floor and reading every ad in search of a wanted item to fill an urgent need.

Uncounted millions of families have found the home of their desires in this manner. And buying a home is the biggest step most families ever take.

Other numberless millions have found the automobile of their choice in this manner. Buying an automobile is a big step too.
Still others have found building lots, jobs, appliances, furniture and hundreds of other needs by reading the Classified Ads.

What do you need? Have you read the Examiner Classified Pages to find it?

What have you to sell? Have you used the Examiner Classified pages to sell it?

You can place an Examiner Classified Ad by dialing 4641.

Wives Need More Money Try New Sales

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK (AP) — A common characteristic of today's women is that they never have enough money.

No matter how much their husbands earn, it never seems to be quite enough.

Some meet the problem with new economies—serving macaroni instead of steak and making over last year's hat.

But there are thousands who have found a more practical way out of their difficulties.

These women make up the majority of an army of about 1,000,000 direct salespeople who sell from three to seven billion dollars' worth of goods annually in the United States on a door-to-door basis.

ALSO RUN HOMES

I'm not speaking now of the one out of every three married women in the U.S. who have regular jobs. I mean the women who have to run their homes and nevertheless manage to add to the family income whenever necessary.

When Mrs. Jones is trying to get the money for a new washing machine, she's the equal of the most high-powered salesman employed by the biggest corporation.

Leaders of the direct selling industry say this method of sales is increasing steadily.

The women sell everything from cosmetics to dresses, from housewares to stockings. Almost always they work among their own friends.

LIGHTER LEATHERS, an airy look and leathers in lighter weights focus attention on feet this spring. Pump with deep plunge at throat (left) is calf in new pine shade, has tapered toe and heel silhouette. It's piped in white kid and has white button trim. Suede in new maple tone (upper centre) makes color news this spring. Sandal is semiformal, has completely open toe and tiny brass nailheads as vamp trim. Sandal that's both banded and open (lower left centre) is in benedictine calf, has narrow straps at heel and ankle line. Mid-heel creates effect of height. Pump in the new basque red (lower right centre) is calf with rectangular sliver mid-heel in matching suede. Another pretty leather combination is the new panama-colored calf (right) paired with black patent in dressy pump. This has closed, tapered toe and sling back with midway shaped heel. Throat has collar of black patent studded with pinpoint brass nailheads. The mid-heel with illusion of height is important.

Gives Commons Example Of Woman's Prerogative

OTTAWA (CP)—Mrs. Ann Shipley Friday gave the Commons an example of a woman's prerogative—to argue one way and make up her mind the other way.

The only woman in the Liberal ranks, she said she will support equal-pay-for - women legislation [illegible] member.

Mrs. Shipley, member for Timiskaming, said the principle of equal pay for equal work is "of such basic importance" that it should be made law.

Before she announced that decision, however, she supported arguments against the bill made two weeks ago by Labor Minister Gregg.

She said that little use has been made of similar legislation in Ontario and Saskatchewan, where it has been in effect for some time, or in the 13 states of the United States which have similar laws.

LAW NOT USED

The Ontario legislation had been in effect for two years. Yet last December women teachers in Ottawa had been refused equal pay with men teachers and none of them had lodged a complaint.

"They had the law. They just weren't using it."

The proposed bill would cover only a limited number of women workers in railways, communications and other interprovincial bus- [illegible] women pay differences, Mrs. Shipley said. Their worst problem was the lack of job opportunities and no legislation could cure that.

The bill, sponsored by Mrs. Fairclough, Progressive Conservative member for Hamilton West, also was supported by CCF and Social Credit members. It did not come to a vote, however, before the conclusion of the hour devoted to private members' legislation.

Modern Garden Must Be Enjoyed Says Architect

There are many versions of the modern garden, but if you are over-burdened with your garden and cannot enjoy—then it is not a modern garden.

This statement by Mr. J. Austin Floyd, landscape architect, to the Women's Art Association Fri- [illegible] afternoon expressed the [illegible] ght in laying out a garden design today.

If this architect finds there is not a window looking out on the garden he is to plan, then he proceeds to persuade his client to put one in, or install a glass wall, or change the house plan in some way that the garden can be enjoyed at all seasons of the year and in all kinds of weather. Working in Toronto he endeavors to have the garden pleasing to look at when snow-covered as well as when green and blooming.

For this lecture he brought a collection of pictures which illustrated the trends and changes in landscape architecture from the pre-Rennaisance peroid. This first style was noted for the symmetrical balance, based on the human face. In the 17th century there was a change because there was then a newly created middle class in England which objected to any control put upon them.

Next step was a landscape with no appearance of being touched by man, and for this an architect called "Capability" Brown became famous. It was not till the mid-18th century that flowers were used as they are today in gardens, Mr. Floyd pointed out.

He remarked that privacy is a main principle to work for in present-day gardens. One illustration showed how a feeling of invitation and of movement is achieved by line. Ground cover for a spot in the direct sunlight might be juniper, which appears to thrive best, and periwinkle was recommended as a plant that grows equally well in shade as in sunlight.

"There is nothing like a tree to give coolness in a garden", Mr. Floyd said, pointing out where he had placed a trio of trees in a Rosedale garden design, and another sketch brought forth the comment, "Nothing in materials will give the beautiful pattern of branch structure of trees."

Large mirrors were shown to be used effectively in gardens, but the speaker warned that a pool or something in front is a good idea, just in cast someone walks into the mirror.

President Mrs. Ford Turner presided for the opening and reminded members of the annual meeting and luncheon on April 9th, at the YWCA.

Fellow Employees Honor J. J. O'Brien

The staff of the materials laboratory of the Canadian General Electric company rendered tribute to a fellow employee, Mr. [illegible] O'Brien, [illegible] one of [illegible] Ave. on Friday evening on the occasion of his retirement from active service.

Those present included all the laboratory staff, their wives, and several other CGE employees with whom Mr. O'Brien has been closely associated.

During the evening an appropriate gift was made to Mr. O'Brien in recognition of the high esteem in which he was held by his fellow workers, and a corsage was presented to his wife.

Progress Report Given

Mount Pleasant Women's Association met at the home of Mrs. M. Handley with 24 members present and president Mrs. J. Fee in the chair. Devotional was given by Mrs. G. McLean, on the "Cross of Jesus," and scripture was read by Mrs. D. Hayes. The biblical fact "Why there are metallic words in the Bible" was given by Mrs. S. Tully. Roll call was answered by giving the reason for belonging to the WA. New creed cards were given out. It was decided to donate $25 to the church and Mrs. R. Graham donated one dozen bowls to the WA. The progress report was given by Mrs. D. Hayes and it was planned to have a sale of plants and bulbs in the spring and fall, a sale of aprons, a tea in July, a pot luck dinner in June and a supper in the fall. Those taking part in the program were Mrs. E. McLean "History of the Presbyterian Cemetery"; Mrs. G. Ruth "Life of Horace B. Powell, the author of several hymns"; Mrs. Jamieson, a contest "Characteristics of WA members"; Mrs. J. Fee, St. Patrick and also a Bible contest; Mrs. A. Bland "Pat's Love Letter". A social half hour was enjoyed with Mrs. Downer, Mrs. Morden, Mrs. Jamieson and Mrs. Althouse serving a dainty lunch.

London County First Lady Youngest Since Year 1889

LONDON (CP)—The next "first lady" of the county of London will be the youngest since the post originated in 1889. For a period early in the Second World War she was a war refugee in Canada.

The new first lady is Mrs. Beryl Mishcon, 29-year-old mother of three, who holds some "delightful" memories of her stay in Toronto. She may be called on for more travelling during the coming year.

For one year, starting April 13, she will be the county equivalent of the wife of London's lord mayor, who presides over the square mile called The City.

GLAMOR LACKING

"Without the pageantry," the slim, dark-eyed woman said somewhat wistfully in an interview.

While London's lord mayor drives in inaugural state through the area that will be his "kingdom" for a year, few people notice the change of leadership in county hall.

Not that the post is unimportant. When husband Victor Mishcon takes over the chairmanship of the London county council, he will preside over the civic activities of the county of London's 117 square miles and the 13 committees that comprise the council.

The Mishcons will be host and hostess in county hall, an imposing building on the south side of the Thames at Westminster bridge. They must be ready to entertain any member of the royal family and civic dignitaries from many parts of the world. They may be invited to visit an overseas capital.

"I'm keeping my fingers crossed," Mrs. Mishcon said in her two-acre garden in Putney. The Mishcons have been on the continent "every year since the war" but a visit in an official capacity would be something different.

HOST TO QUEEN SALOTE

Five-foot, two-inch Mrs. Mishcon is no stranger to civic ritual. Her good-looking husband was a Labor candidate in the 1950 general election and has been a member of the London county council since 1946 and a chairman of committees since 1947. Last year, during heavy Coronation festivities, he played host to Queen Salote of Tonga.

The first official consideration for Mishcon, a lawyer in private life, will be the "welcome home" discussed by the county for the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh.

Mishcon, 38, one of the labor party's most powerful young orators, visited Canada and the United States in 1950 to publicize the Festival of Britain. Mrs. Mishcon went along.

THE ENGAGEMENT is announced of Miss Barbara Poole and Mr. Gordon Parks, both of Peterborough. Miss Poole is daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. F. C. Poole, now of Philadelphia and formerly of this city, and Mr. Parks is son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis R. Parks of Peterborough. The wedding is to take place at the Elim Tabernacle on Saturday, April 10th, at three o'clock.

Cancer Conveners Report Activities

The Peterborough Unit, Canadian Cancer Society, met Thursday evening at the Cancer Office. Dr. Louis Zacks presided in the absence of Mrs. M. Holt, president, who was unable to attend.

Reports were read by the following members: Mrs. V. W. Fisk, social convener; Mrs. Ronald Passey, publicity chairman; Mrs. O. J. Hayward, chairman women's service committee; Mrs. G. Langhorn, dressings; Mrs. J. Lovitz, visiting; Mrs. J. Dunkerley, house committee; Mrs. Stan Braund, transportation; Mrs. Robert Hatton, receptionist; Mrs. E. Collins, lay education.

Details of future meetings were read by Mrs. G. Bennett, which included a meeting at Omemee of the Women's Institute, April 21, and St. James' United church, May 12. Also a meeting has been arranged for April 12 at the YWCA for all canvassers. This will be to make final arrangements regarding the annual campaign. In view of the work that has already been planned for April it was agreed that there will not be another executive meeting until May 20.

Mrs. Bevan MP In Own Right 'Polite Member Of Family'

By ARCH MacKENZIE

LONDON (CP)—Jennie Lee is a Scottish miner's daughter who manages to be both Mrs. Aneurin (Nye) Bevan and a Labor member of Parliament in her own right.

She once called herself the "polite member of the Bevan family" and she holds the distinctions of having been the youngest woman ever to sit in the House of Commons and the first working-class girl graduated in law from the University of Edinburgh.

Miss Lee hopes to make her second trip to Canada in May to address a Toronto meeting of the CCF. Miss Lee's visit will be short and typical of the global ramblings that have made her one of the best-travelled MP's in Britain.

And if she gives an indication or two in her forthright utterances of speaking with top left-wing approval she does so with justification in view of her relationship with the British Labor party's Mr. Controversy whose faction has been dubbed Bevanism and is called worse by some Labor and Tory speakers.

AN MP AT 23

Yet it would be a mistake to assume that Miss Lee's views spring solely from being Mrs. Nye Bevan in private life. By heredity and inclination, she was headed that way long before she met the young Welsh miner's son in the 1929-31 Parliament and found their thinking coincided on a lot of subjects.

The girl from Fifeshire, daughter and grand-daughter of a Scots miner-trade unionist and an ex-school teacher, entered the Commons in 1929 as a slip of a girl aged a record-breaking 23.

The News Chronicle, a Liberal newspaper, recalled recently: "With her black hair and Scottish eloquence, she was one of the most vivid back-benchers of the 1929-31 session. Members still talk of her brief, stinging, passionate interventions on anything dealing with the suffering of the masses."

ROLLED BACK

Miss Lee—as she prefers to be called—was not returned in 1931. She was kept out of the Commons until the Labor landslide of 1945, which rolled her back in the Staffordshire constituency of Cannock. At the last election, she received 32,000 votes and a majority of more than 16,000.

Now 49, she was married to Bevan in 1934. Her strong views, like his, range from the rights of personal privacy—she once came to the defence of the royal family on that score—to the color bar, the future of the Labor party and the theory that guns and planes are not sufficient in themselves to achieve world peace unless "we can give to the world (the) ideas that will warm the hearts and win the loyalty of millions of mankind, colored or white."

RESTRAINING HAND

Although she is one of the staunchest Bevanites, she has dropped hints at times that she has attempted to act as a restraining influence on the fiery Welsh politician who once said Tories were "lower than vermin."

"Although I caution him not to air any criticism about Britain, he lets himself go with frank talks," she told Israel reporters while visiting that country early this year with Nye. He was under fire at the time for writing articles in an anti-British Egyptian newspaper.

is this the way you buy carpet?
From A Push Cart?

If you were looking for fruits and vegetables, you might pick up some bargains from a passing pushcart.

But buying carpet is not that easy. It's hard to choose color and pattern and judge quality. And genuine bargains are rare. You need an informed source—a man who knows everything there is to know about carpets—who earns your confidence and trust.

let's say YOU need good carpet

Naturally, you want carpet that's pleasant to look at, easy to clean. You want good design, good color, good texture, to complement your furniture, walls and draperies. And you want it to stand up to hard wear!

Now, all this must be had at a fair price or, better yet, at a bargain price (if you could be sure you were getting a bargain).

The bargain we give you is in the beauty and quality of our merchandise, and in its lasting satisfaction. But there's a big Plus, an unusual bonus, that goes with this merchandise, and that is our fair price.

DOROTHY DIX

Young Widow Ponders Idea Of Going Out With Man

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 30 years old, a widow with five children. My husband was killed a year ago. I have been so lonely ever since and although the children are wonderful company, it just doesn't seem to be enough. A young man who is helping me with my business has asked to take me out and I wondered if it would be all right for me to go.
Sonia.

SEEK NEW FRIENDS

ANSWER: There certainly would be nothing wrong in going out with the young man; just be careful that you don't rush into a dangerous situation through sheer loneliness. I sympathize with you in your difficulty. You should begin to get out among people and let new friends help you through this tough time.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX. Last summer I met a girl, 17, who is a senior in high school. I am 26, a teacher in another school.

We really love each other, and both our families know it. Her mother likes and approves of me, but her father has forbidden her to go out with me. How can we get him to change his mind?
H. H.

ANSWER: The girl is unquestionably very young for you, and this is doubtless her father's reason for objection. Before making a commitment to you, she really should date other boys for a while. If she's too much in love with you to entertain thoughts of anyone else, you must wait until Dad changes his mind, or have a long, serious talk with him during which you convince him of your sincerity, he'll probably relent and let you continue dating.

DEAR MISS DIX: I became acquainted last year with a young man in service. We corresponded quite frequently on a strictly friendly basis. He's coming home now, and has promised to call me. I know many girls who have been disappointed in these promised calls, so I can't put much stock in this one. However, if he does call, and comes to see me, should I have a welcome-home present for him?

✧ ✧ ✧

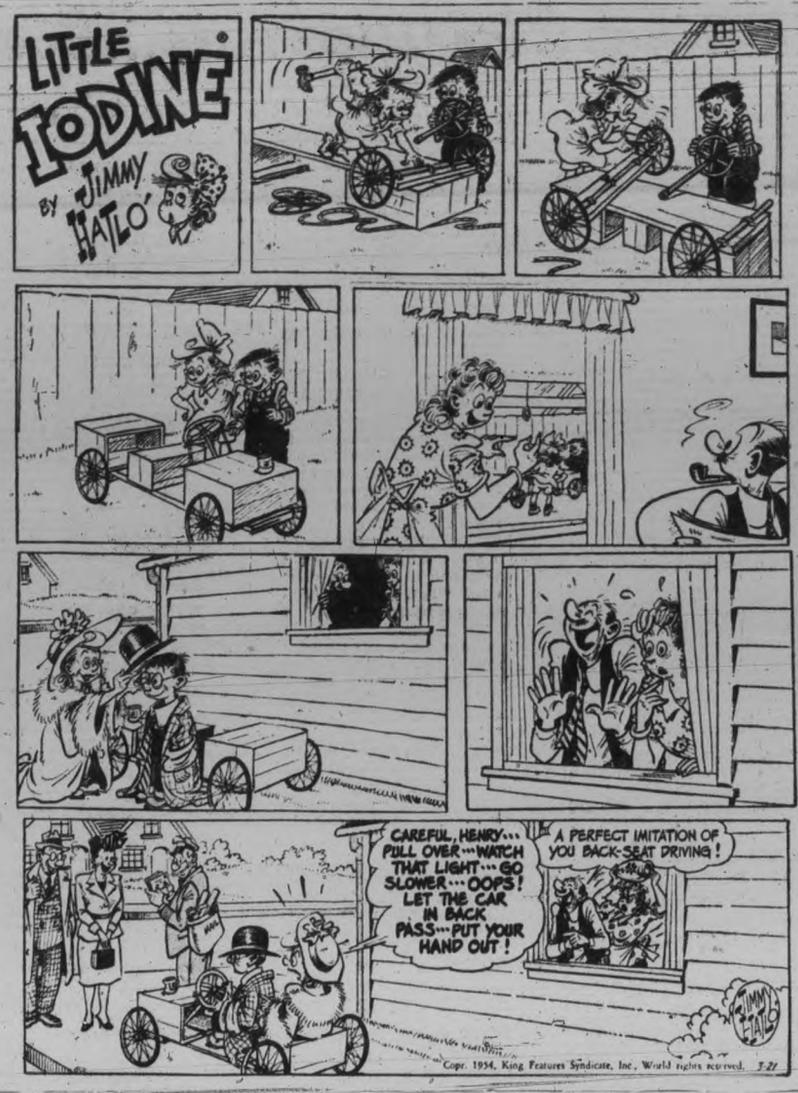
ANSWER: There's no necessity for a welcome home gift. If he does telephone you, and wants to call, you might bake a cake for his arrival, to give a touch of festivity to the occasion.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 15 and have been going steady for two years with a boy the same age. He has many friends, both boys and girls. Most of them are very nice, but there is one boy I do not like. I have asked my friend to stop going with this particular youth, but he refuses. I just don't think the boy is a good associate.
B. S.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Dictating friendships is one project that is seldom successful. Usually—and this seems to be true in your case—the more one argues against a particular friend, the deeper will become the friendship. You're rather young to pass judgment on your friend's associates, and I'm afraid you'll just have to leave the matter in other hands.



✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Shortly after Christmas, my fiancee suddenly left for a distant state, supposedly because of a [illegible] several times but have had no reply.

I met her brother yesterday and he told me she's engaged to a man in the town where she's visiting. She has my engagement ring, and I'd like to know how to go about getting an explanation from her, as well as the ring.
Ted R.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: It is most peculiar that she has ignored all your letters. The story of the engagement may be just a rumor, but her silence would seem to confirm it. About all you can do at the moment is continue writing and urging her to explain why she hasn't answered your letters. Getting your ring back is a matter of patience and tact, unless you find out for sure that she is engaged. Then you are in a position to demand the return of the ring.

Readers' Saturday Column By Mary Moore

QUESTION: Would you please help me by giving me a list of nutritious foods that are soft? My husband is having all his teeth extracted and will not be able to eat his usual meat and potatoes. How are souffles made and and deserved.—Mrs. V. W.

ANSWER: My brother, being a dentist, told me to say the average time that soft diet is essential is from 10 days to 4 weeks, but some patients who have little or no infection can eat meat loaf after 24 hours. However a soft diet is probably what you will have to serve so here are some suggestions: milk shakes, malted milks with eggs in them, split pea soup with ground cured ham, and other pureed soups with meat stock, stews. Vary your ways of making meat loaves, and serve eggs in all forms, and use liver paste and ground chicken for sandwiches. To make up for loss of blood, my brother suggests extra portions of orange juice or tomato juice, as your husband's dentist will doubtless tell him.

CHEESE SOUFFLE

Make a thick white sauce by melting 3 tablespoons butter, stirring in 3 tablespoons flour, then 1 cup milk until thick. Add ½ teaspoon salt, and shake of cayenne. Remove from heat and add 3 well-beaten eggs yolks stirring constantly, then 1 cup grated cheddar cheese or cut up process cheese. Cool. Beat 3 egg whites until stiff and fold them in. Turn into buttered baking dish and bake at 275 deg. Fahr. (having baking dish standing in larger dish containing 1 inch of warm water), for 20 minutes, then increase heat to 325 for about 20 or 25 minutes or until well puffed and attractively flecked with gold. This soufle must be served at once. All souffles fall. Same method may be used for chicken souffle using ground chicken instead of cheese and extra seasonings.

LETTER: I have wanted to write to you ever since I came to this city. I am so curious about you wondering where you live . . . your column is always a delight and one of these days I shall write a real letter and turn your head with compliments . . . I am enclosing a recipe which I modified and like very much. My assistant convenor and I made 1757 of these for a recent Valentine Tea and had many requests to seal the recipe to the other W.A. members for "Talent Money" for Lent. The original recipe had less jello and no almonds, and wasn't nearly so delicious if I do say so myself.

I hope I shall be able to help some other time in future and I shall certainly write for help when I need it. You are always so gracious and really anxious to fill requests for your readers
Kae B.

MOCK MARZIPAN STRAWBERRIES

(Makes 100 Courtesy Kae B.)

One can sweetened condensed milk, 3 packages strawberry jello (reserve one of these), 1 lb. sweetened cocoanut, ½ lb. shelled almonds. Blanch almonds and put through grinder. Put cocoanut through grinder. Combine condensed milk, 2 jello packages, almonds and cocoanut in bowl, adding a few drops of red coloring if desired. Mix well. Form into small balls, and shape like strawberries. Empty third jelly into a saucer and roll strawberries in it. Make a small amount of butter icing, tinted green (I use pistachio flavoring). Put a small dab on top of each strawberry, bringing it down in little points with the tip of knife to resemble a hull.

ANSWER: Thanks Kae. Bless me, what you did say was enough to turn my head. Thanks so much for both recipes. The dainty wafers is like others I received from generous readers. You probably saw the one I printed here on March 8th. Thanks for the offer of more help. I'll doubtless need it.

Miracle Foot Aid,

Dear Sirs:

Just about one year ago I made my first visit to your office.

For 15 years I was practically a cripple and wore arch supports which kept me on my feet. I was continually having backaches and felt poorly all the time; couldn't walk any distance, couldn't stand; in fact, I felt like a very old man rather than a young man in my thirties. The supports I had been wearing were of no further use to me.

On a suggestion I visited your office. Five minutes after I put your Foot Aid Manipulator in my shoes, I felt relief; and have continually improved ever since. No backache; the feeling came back to my toes and legs.

I now enjoy long walks, dance and can stand without thinking about my feet.

It sure was a lucky day I visited Miracle Foot Aid, and I cannot recommend them too highly

Yours truly,
(Signed) Ralph Crossley.

CHINA High-lights by TOM O'CONNOR

WE CONTINUE OUR STORY OF WEDGWOOD

Josiah Wedgwood first went to work when he was 9 years old. In those days child labour must have been taken for granted. As a result of this man's experiments and his impact on the Ceramic Industry, we can see his early labours didn't affect his mental capacity to think, plan and execute great ideas, not only in the field of Ceramics but in other varied fields of endeavour we shall touch as we go along in our story. . .

Now folks, even an insignificant little potterer as your truly gets a bang out of scoops. Last evening we read in this paper, a story of the China Ship discovered off Marseils and those of you that follow this little piece know we wrote it up three months ago . . .

McGEE—In loving memory of a dear mother, Mrs. Wm. A. McGee, who passed away twenty years ago, March 22nd, 1934.
God knew that she was suffering,
That the hills were hard to climb;
So he closed her weary eyelids,
And whispered "Peace be thine."
Away in the beautiful hills of God,
By the valley of rest so fair,
Some time, some day, we know not when,
We will meet our loved one there.
—Ever remembered by, All The Family.

PAMMETT—In loving memory of Elia Ethel Pammett who passed away March 20, 1952.
Your ever loving thoughts are greatly missed by all.
—Frank, Joy, Marion, Harold, Donald, June, the grandchildren and a loving husband Norman.

RIDDELL—In loving memory of my dear mother, Alice Maude Riddell, who passed away, March 20th, 1947.
She wished no one a last farewell,
Nor even said good bye.
She had gone before we knew
And only God knows why.
Asleep in God's beautiful garden
Away from sorrow and pain.
Some day when life's journey is ended,
We shall all be together again.
—Lovingly remembered by son George, daughter-in-law, Florence and family.

VALOIS—In loving memory of John H. Valois who passed away March 20th, 1953.
Nothing can ever take away,
The love a heart holds dear,
Fond memories linger every day,
Remembrance keeps him near.
—Always remembered by wife, Blandina.

WHATMAN—In loving memory of Roy Whatman who passed away March 22, 1953.
One year has passed, dear father,
Since you were called away,
How well do I remember
That sad and weary day
You suffered much, you murmured not
We watched you day by day
We cried and prayed that your dear life
Would not be taken away.
—Ever remembered by the Family.

WHEN TWO LITTLE CHILDREN go for a walk in the woods they should know that certain flowers such as white trillium should not be picked. Others such as the common daisy can be plucked.

For Parents Only

Woods Gay With Flowers

By NANCY CLEAVER

"I will be the gladdest thing under the sun!
I will touch a hundred flowers and not pick one."

Edna St. Vincent Millay wrote these lines in her poem "Afternoon tn a Hill." They are good words to memorize!

Is there any more joyous experience for a boy or girl than walking over hill and dale in the sunshine in the Springtime? The little breeze carries wonderful scents of the good earth, and of growing things. The birds are calling to each other in the trees, and the ground is soft and springey under foot. There is a tang to the air and the sky it deep blue. The clouds are moving swiftly with strange forms and shades blending into their whiteness.

If the hiker is not too near a town or city the woods are likely gay with wild flowers. Fortunate the child whose parent teaches him at an early age to enjoy the wild flower friends without picking them! It is tragic that some of our loveliest wild flowers such as the trailing arbutus, the white trillium and the Lady's Slipper are becoming very rare in some areas. They have vanished completely from others because they have been thoughtlessly and ruthlessly picked.

Although the Maple Leaf is recognized in the four corners of the globe as Canada's symbol, it is interesting to know that each of our ten provinces chose a flower as its emblem. You will see by the following list that the majority of these are wild flowers:

1. Newfoundland — Pitcher Plant
2. Prince Edward Island — Violet
3. Nova Scotia — May Flower (trailing arbutus)
4. New Brunswick — Blue Violet
5. Ontario — White Trillium
6. Quebec — Iris
7. Manitoba — Anemone
8. Saskatchewan — Prairie Lily
9. Alberta — Rose
10. British Columbia — Flowering Dogwood

The youngster who has a talent for sketching may want to attempt some wild flower studies. Snapshots are not too easy to take in the woods, but a clump of wild flowers, or even a single plant presents a real challenge to a photo enthusiast.

Boys and girls like to make a log of their expeditions and on an outdoor hike it is fun to keep record of the wild flowers, the birds and the trees or any interesting nature lore observations. Eyes which are eager to see make all kinds of discoveries. Perhaps that was in Blake's mind when he wrote:

"To see the world in a grain of sand
And a heaven in a wild flower."

The iris and the rose have been widely cultivated for centuries throughout the world. But the ancestors of every tame flower were found first of all in their wild state. Scientists like Burbank performed miracles by cross-breeding various species of the daisy—the American Wild Daisy, the English Daisy and the Japanese Daisey to produce the superb ornamental Shasta Daisy. Flower lovers are constantly experimenting with fresh strains and brand new tested varieties are advertised each year by the large Seed Houses in their annual Catalogues.

What determines what kind of wild flower will grow in any area? The prairie, the woods, swamp, cliffs and dunes each have their own special plants. Sunshine is one necessary condition, although many of the delicate woodland flowers become very rare in sections where the trees have all been cut down because they grow best in a partially shaded habitat. But scientists tell us that it is the amount of moisture and the type of soil which determine to a great degree which flowers will grow.

In the pine woods the soil is quite acid from decaying needles and special varieties of wild flowers such as Trillium and Dutchman's Breeches grow readily in this soil. Thus it is difficult to transplant these flowers successfully into ordinary garden earth. It is best not to disturb the wild flowers by picking or attempts to move them. Too many of them have already disappeared not only as the lumbering industry has demanded more and more trees, but as marshes have been drained and the prairies have been cultivated.

The more that is known about any subject the more interesting it becomes. Getting acquainted with Wild Flower Friends is a fascinating hobby—There are a number of good, inexpensive wild flower guides in color and one of these should be in every home. The Canadian Nature Magazine has published a most attractive booklet on "Wild Flowers". In it are fifteen reproductions in full colour by Barrie Rennie, which are suitable for framing.

Bomb Explosions Upset Cairo

CAIRO (Reuters) — Three bomb explosions and a student demonstration today reflected continuing political unrest in Egypt.

One bomb damaged the clock tower of Cairo university during a demonstration by rival student groups for and against the government. Another blast did some damage in the telegraph office of Cairo's main station.

The third blast smashed windows in a Cairo hotel where Tewfik Hefnaoui, director of the east Mediterranean regional office of the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization, was giving a dinner.

No casualties were reported.

Some student groups demonstrated in support of President Mohammed Naguib's administration; others for the Wafdist party, the Moslem Brotherhood and the Communists.

The outbreaks coincided with the arrival of King Saud of Saudi Arabia on a week-long state visit. Diplomatic sources expect the king to hold policy talks with Naguib and Vice-Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser on strengthening Arab forces, Middle East defence and other problems.

Color Models In Television Two Years Off

An official of CGE has stated that Canadians can expect color TV receivers to be available in test quantities in the latter part of this year, at which time a few programmes will be seen by viewers close to certain U.S. border points.

The size of the picture will probably be smaller than the ordinary black nad white, about 12 inches. Incidentaly, the color receivers will cost more than three times as much as a black and white model.

However, it is expected that it will be at least two years before color models form a significant part of set sales.

The extra expense in a color receiver is due to the fact that it has more components than a black and white set. An ordinary set requires from 20 to 23 tubes while a color model will have from 38 to 45 tubes.

The advantages of color will also require the added attention of a qualified TV serviceman as there will be about 30 pre-set controls, compared with the six on a black and white set. However, the owner will only have the same number of dial adjustments to make.

While color transmission system has been standardized, the development of color receiver circuits, components and tubes is still in its infancy. Most authorities consider that black and white programmes will always outnumber color telecasts. Even today, black and white motion programmes still outnumber color films.

Small Tornado Strikes Ohio

LOGAN, Ohio (AP) — A wind storm—called an "unconfirmed tornado" by the weather bureau—hit the small towns of Laurelville and Adelphi in southern Ohio for one frightening moment Friday night.

Nobody in either town was injured but roofs were blown off houses, garages were levelled and buildings destroyed. Damage was put at $25,000 to $30,000.

The towns have less than 1,000 combined population.

A strong wind earlier struck Dayton and the village of Arlington, about 75 miles northwest.

Arlington officials calculated $35,000 worth of property was destroyed in an area 300 by 700 feet. Ten homes were severely damaged in Dayton.

Find Body Of Princess

SANTIAGO, Chile (Reuters) — The perfectly preserved body of a girl of about 12, believed to have been a princess from the days of the Incas, has been found in a mountain shrine in the Andes.

It had been preserved by the snow and ice where it lay at a height of over 16,000 feet on a mountain 25 miles from here.

The body is believed to be 500 years old and that of a princess of the sun-worshipping Quechua people, who under the Inca sovereigns during the 13th and 14th centuries subjugated all South America from Ecuador to Bolivia and Chile.

Surrounding the body, which was dressed in equally well preserved clothing, were small images of gold and silver of great archaeological value.

The body has been taken to the Institute of Anatomy of Chile University.

Man Tosses Daughter Out Window In Rage

PARIS (AP)—When his wife refused to give up divorce plans, a young French truck driver Friday night picked up their four-year-old daughter and pitched her through a window to the street five storeys below. Little Yvonne Lemire died instantly.

An angry crowd of more than 150 later surrounded the father, 24-year-old Henri Lemire, as he ran to a nearby cafe, and threatened to lynch him.

Squads of police stopped the mob and carted Lemire to jail. He was charged with murder.

SUB-HITTING WINDMILLS — Five planes of the British Navy's first anti-submarine helicopter squadron fly in formation near their Gosport, England, base after the unit was formally placed in operation. The squadron, equipped with U.S.-made Sikorsky S-55's, will leave for Malta at the end of March.

PUSS RETURNS—After 11 weeks spent fending for himself on windswept Pelee Island in Lake Erie, Sandy, a four-year-old pedigreed Siamese cat, is pampered on his return to his home at London, Ont. He escaped from his owners, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Howsack, when they visited relatives on the island at Christmas. The cat's weight dropped from 12 pounds to four when he was forced to live on mice and birds. An island resident found him and returned him to his owners. —(CP Photo).

Send Canadian Soldiers Back To School

By JACK BRAYLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

IN KOREA (CP)—Lieut. Doug Wallace, the army's schoolmaster in Korea, gets a bang out of the way Canadian troops have tackled the army's back-to-school movement.

Wallace, from Barrie, Ont., supervises the simplified and standardized "three R" coorses aimed at bringing men up to grade eight standard, and the voluntary spare-time courses in subjects ranging from navigation to beekeeping.

The compulsory courses are conducted by unit officers in makeshift classrooms in tents and quonset huts. These consist of four one-hour classes a week. At the moment, 1,000 troops are attending these classes to bring themselves to the grade eight level. Most of these quit school in grades five, six or seven. The classes also include a small number, illiterate when they joined up.

RESENTED AT FIRST

Wallace said the first reaction of most soldiers when they hear of the compulsory education program is to resent it. They feel they didn't join the army to go back to school "but the great majority soon realize they can't win promotion unless they improve their educational qualifications so they dig in and get the most out of the courses."

The courses are designed for practical application not only for army promotion but to make them more useful citizens when they leave the army.

This program is supplemented by voluntary spare-time courses which at this moment have an enrolment of more than 500. [illegible] are improving on their present standing and branching into special subjects, some leading to senior matriculation.

Most popular subject is mathematics and this is because it is the foundation of so many army activities. The higher the standard in this department the better the chance of promotion.

Also in this brigade, which includes the predominantly French-speaking Royal 22nd Regiment and predominantly English - speaking formations, there is an unusual amount of study of both languages.

GOOD AVERAGE

Do the troops continue this part-time work with consistency? "More than 50 per cent do," said Lieut. Wallace. "This compares favorably with the write-off in civilian night schools at home."

Instructors for both programs are selected from the officers and NCOs of each unit who have received teaching technique as part of their own training programs.

"And it's surprising how keen these instructors are and how successfully they handle courses," Wallace said. "Why some of them are almost like some of the dedicated teachers at home."

Another segment of the educational program is the compulsory weekly hour on current affairs. This is conducted as an open forum and complete freedom of discussion is encouraged.

An officer or senior NCO acts as moderator and guide for the discussion which covers every aspect of the world and its problems. Each discussion arrives at some conclusion.

"You'd be really surprised how conservative our troops are," said Lieut. Wallace.

Plan Crackdown On Hunters Of Big Game

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Saskatchewan plans to jail hunters convicted of shooting big game after blinding the animals with lights.

Offenders will get an automatic seven to 30-day jail term, besides the present fine of $200 and $500 on a first offence for "jacklighting." A bill amending the province's game act to this effect was given third reading in the legislature Friday.

The bill also reduces the hours of hunting, lopping a half-hour from the one hour before dawn and after dusk limitations.

TEACHER SHORTAGE

In Alberta, the legislature's committee on education urged the Social Credit government to expand its program of teacher training to relieve the teacher shortage. It also urged consideration of increased school construction grants to cities.

In the Manitoba legislature, Agriculture Minister R. D. Robertson said Ottawa will be asked to make low-interest loans through the banks to farmers who haven't been able to get grain to elevators.

This would prevent farmers being handicapped in planning 1954 operations, the Liberal-Progressive cabinet minister said.

Third Successive Surplus Recorded By TCA President

OTTAWA (CP) — Trans-Canada Air Lines had record revenues and its third successive surplus in 1953.

But the annual report of the publicly-owned corporation, tabled Thursday in the Commons showed the surplus down to $256,230 from $807,879 in 1952, mainly because of a new high in operating expenses.

With TCA carrying more traffic and flying more miles than ever, operating revenues grossed $62,236,564, up 13 per cent from the 1952 peak.

At the same time, operating expenses went up 16 per cent to $61,153,736.

President G. R. McGregor said in the report the lower surplus was due to higher costs and to development expenses for which there was no compensating 1953 revenue. With an expensive fleet expansion program continuing, it was expected 1954 net results would not be as satisfactory as in recent years.

The company's 1953 surplus was reached after making provision for $300,000 in federal income tax. That was the second year crown companies have been charged the tax. In 1952, TVA set aside $1,200,000 for this on an income of $2,007,000.

A record 1,307,810 passengers were carried last year, up 15 per cent from the previous top in 1952. Passenger revenues were $48,249,942.

U.K. Bullion Market Opens Doors For Gold Trading

By MICHAEL NEWMARCH

LONDON (AP) — Six wealthy bankers Monday morning will throw open the doors for deals in gold at Britain's bullion market—up to the Second World War the largest and busiest in the world—which has been closed for 15 years.

The government also announced Friday night that it will simultaneously sweep a whole range of [illegible] restrictions on trading deals [illegible] gest steps toward sterling convertibility in years.

But, a treasury announcement made clear, there will be no lowering of the main barrier erected during and since the war to sterling convertibility—the ban on the conversion of pounds into United States or Canadian dollars.

The bullion market will reopen in temporary offices in Rothschilds, London bankers. The firm of Rothschilds and five other London bankers will be the only bullion brokers [illegible] their own regulations for running the market. But other banks and private persons now permitted to deal in foreign exchange automatically will be recognized as dealers in gold.

Since the London gold market was closed in 1939, the nationalized Bank of England has been the only body permitted to deal in gold in Britain.

NO PRICE FIXING

A qualified source said today neither the Bank of England nor the government will attempt to fix maximum or minimum prices of gold.

The source said the government consulted U.S. authorities before reopening the market, and that Washington raised no objection, although it is understood that if buying pressure develops the London price may rise above the U.S. level of $35 an ounce.

Although prices will be free to move as they like, the resumed London gold market will operate under heavy restrictions.

Britons themselves will continue to be barred from possessing bullion—so that sterling-area traders will be able to sell, but not buy gold. The source said Commonwealth producers as well as the Soviet Union are expected to make use of the London market to dispose of their newly-mined gold.

Trading in the market will be in sterling—but a special kind of sterling. Only buyers who have purchased their sterling funds for U.S. or Canadian dollars or gold in the first place will be allowed to use their money for buying here.

The central banks of other European countries, and holders of American or Canadian dollars who need gold thus will be almost the only persons likely to buy for the time being in London.

But the government clearly hopes that the move will help restore London's position as a centre of world bullion trading, and enable the market to swing into top gear if and when the barrier between sterling and dollars can be knocked down.

The treasury also announced it is sweeping into oblivion hundreds of bilateral agreements and restrictions on sterling in countries outside the U.S.-Canadian dollar area.

There will be no change in restrictions on direct sterling-dollar convertibility by traders inside the sterling area.

Hitherto, hosts of separate resolutions have governed sterling transactions with almost every country in the world. But now, with three exceptions, governments and traders outside both the sterling and dollar [illegible] allowed to transfer their cash where they like, and even convert it into dollars.

Only three non-dollar countries are excluded from the new "transferable sterling" area. They are Hungary, Iran and Turkey.

IODE Committees Named, UN Speaker Planned

MARMORA (ENS)—The March meeting of the Marmora Chapter IODE was held in the Masonic hall on Thursday evening. Mrs. J. R. Aitchison, the regent, presided.

The meeting opened with the prayer of [illegible] and the presentation of [illegible] Minutes of the January and of the special February meeting were approved as read by the secretary, Mrs. D. P. Marett.

A letter of thanks was read from Mrs. Howell Evans, now of Niagara Falls, N.Y., thanking the chapter for the gift of a spoon as a parting present. The treasurer's report given by Mrs. C. R. Whittemore, showed finances to be in good condition. Mrs. G. H. Rennie reported that the chapter had done its allotted part in the canvass for funds for the new Belleville Hospital.

Mrs. Charles Brady as educational convener, reported the formation of her committee to include Mrs. W. M. Regan and Mrs. M. Borland.

The slate of conveners as appointed by the executive was then presented and approved of. They are:

Services at home and abroad, Miss M. Savage; sewing, Mrs. M. Borland; knitting, Mrs. W. Tupper; publicity, Mrs. A. M. Jones; flower and gift, Mrs. F. R. Loveless; membership, Mrs. J. M. Brownlie; empire study, Mrs. E. A. Manchester; film, Mrs. R. G. Walsh; hostess, Mrs. J. R. Reynolds; press, Mrs. G. H. Bennie.

In her report, Miss Savage mentioned that food parcels to Britain are being replaced by other efforts and drew attention to the order's declaration that help is much needed in Korea. She further reported that in answer to an appeal for hearing aids, one had been turned in. Mrs. W. Tupper was asked to order wool.

Mrs. W. M. Regan reported the completion of the scrapbook which will be sent to provincial headquarters by April 1.

Mrs. E. A. Manchester for empire study, gave a reading on "The Canadian Way of Life", as written by Mrs. Cecil Brown.

Mrs. D. P. Marett reported on the interior decorating school to be held in the town hall on March 29 and mentioned the receipt of favors to be given away at the door that evening.

The regent appointed a committee to attend the April meeting of the Home and School Association to contact Mr. Weir of Belleville who is in charge of adult education under the department of education [illegible] hobby craft, Mr. Weir being the guest speaker that evening.

Mrs. C. Brady was appointed as delegate from the chapter to attend provincial annual meetings in Hamilton April 7, 8, 9.

Support was solicited for the afternoon tea and bake sale which the Marmora Girl Guides were holding on March 20. Attention was also drawn to the appearance of the Leslie Bell choir in Campbellford on March 26 under auspices of the IODE there.

Two new members were next enrolled.

It was decided to invite Miss N. Arkles of Belleville who has been a delegate to the United Nations to address a gathering of the IODE and others and show colored films in the Masonic hall in the last week of April.

Three new applications for membership were received and accepted. The flag was brought forward and the national anthem sung after which refreshments were served.

Double Bed Grants To Institutions

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario government grants for beds in all provincial institutions will be increased to $2,000 from $1,000, Welfare Minister Goodfellow has announced. The grants go to such organizations as the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

Mr. Goodfellow said that, for children's institutions, the province will now pay 20 cents a day for each child, instead of the former five cents. This brings the payment into line with that made to persons in charitable institutions for the aged.

Coldsprings YP Plans Drama Festival Play

COLDSPRINGS (ENS) — Mr. and Mrs. Herb McKinley were host and hostess to the Coldsprings YPU on Thursday evening. There were thirteen members and two visitors present.

Ivan West, Missions and World Outreach convener, was in charge of the program, and opened with the call to worship. Elva Willis led in prayer. Bruce McIntosh read a poem, "We can never build God's Kingdom."

Mrs. Wilbert McMann gave the topic on the hymn "In Christ there is no east or west," followed by everyone singing the hymn.

Jean Willis gave a reading entitled "Affirmation of Faith". Peter May received the offering followed with a closing prayer by Ivan West.

Bruce McIntosh, president, conducted the business. Jean Willis, secretary, gave the minutes of previous meeting.

Plans were made to start rehearsing the play for the drama festival being held the end of April.

Lunch was served by the hostess and committee in charge.

Leslie Avery moved a vote of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. McKinley, and the Mizpah benediction was repeated in unison.

Big Ticket Response

TORONTO (CP)—John Hladun, anti-Communist lecturer who heads a 100-member committee sponsoring a visit of Senator Joseph McCarthy to Toronto April 20, says his committee has already received 8,000 requests for tickets. He said he hoped to conclude final arrangements soon for the use of the 15,000-capacity of the Maple Leaf Gardens for the U.S. senator's address.

STRANGE PLACE FOR SKIS—Marine Pfc. Robert G. Everett, training at Ft. Richardson, Alaska, would be first one in the world to agree. But after reading his story you'll probably be sympathetic with his predicament. While practising his skiing, Everett ran into a moose. After a lengthy staring period, the moose made the first move and Everett made the second move—straight up the tree, skis and all. After a half hour he was rescued by a group of men who scared the moose off with blank cartridge shots.

Hospitals

as some of the finest citizens have taken over and made plans and organized that campaign. Every one of us, (about 13,000 families) has been asked to contribute. The service clubs and other organizations have stood behind it. Recently the well - organized teams of canvassers were brought together for an afternoon session in the high school auditorium. What a thrill it was to see about a thousand of them packing that hall to get their instructions and inspiration. Amongthem you could see the most public-spirited persons of the community. When that hospital goes up we'll all feel interested in it.

I could imagine what a collection of characters we'd have gathered about us on a sweepstake selling spree.

The United States, with all its difficulties over gambling, has been learning the hard way. Many of us have read what Governor Dewey and the Kefauver Commission have had to say. Kefauver points out, "the legalization of gambling would not terminate the wide-spread activities of criminal gangs and syndicates." The Encyclopaedia Americana says: Government lotteries "have always been found to exert a mischievous influence upon people and they are now prohibited in all the States and Territories of the United States." Those who know their British history will remember that the darkest pages were written during the years when the state was undermined by government lotteries.

I have noticed that some of the young Conservatives from Quebec have been speaking out in favor of such lotteries. They might be interested in what the last Conservative Prime Minister had to say about it. It was in 1934 when Hon. E. Bertrand presented a bill to permit the legalizing of lotteries saying it would help the Roman Catholic University of Montreal. Prime Minister R. B. Bennett said:

"When I am asked to exercise my vote as a member of the House of Commons of Canada to say that we shall legalize that which has brought the misery to the human race that games of chance and lotteries have brought, I propose to exercise my vote against any such thing. If I were to sit on a jury, I would have to find the evidence against lotteries far outweighs any support that can be found in the past or present." Mr. King, the leader of the opposition at the time, agreed.

I am hoping that the men who are looking into this in 1954 are as much influenced by the lessons of history as they were in 1934.

Oil Well Given Explosive And Fiery Birth

LEGAL, Alta. (CP) — Another Alberta oil well was given an explosive and fiery birth Friday.

Porous underground mud gave way under an oil contractor's drilling and released to the surface a high-pressure jet of natural gas which exploded and sent a conical tower of flame roaring 150 feet into the air.

The early-morning blast awakened residents of the bush-fringed Prairie for 10 miles around. The top half of the 126-foot drilling rig was twisted crazily against its crumbled base. None of the drilling crew was injured.

Actual damage was limited to the $200,000 drilling rig being operated for Imperial Oil Ltd., near this farming community 33 miles north of Edmonton. The loss through burning natural gas is believed to be about 7,000,000 cubic feet daily, enough to heat a modern eight-room house for more than 30 years. It's expected to be about a week before the well can be brought under control and capped.

The fire was thought likely to have started when the gas, followed up the slim well casing by spouting mud, came in contact with the hot running motors of the rig.

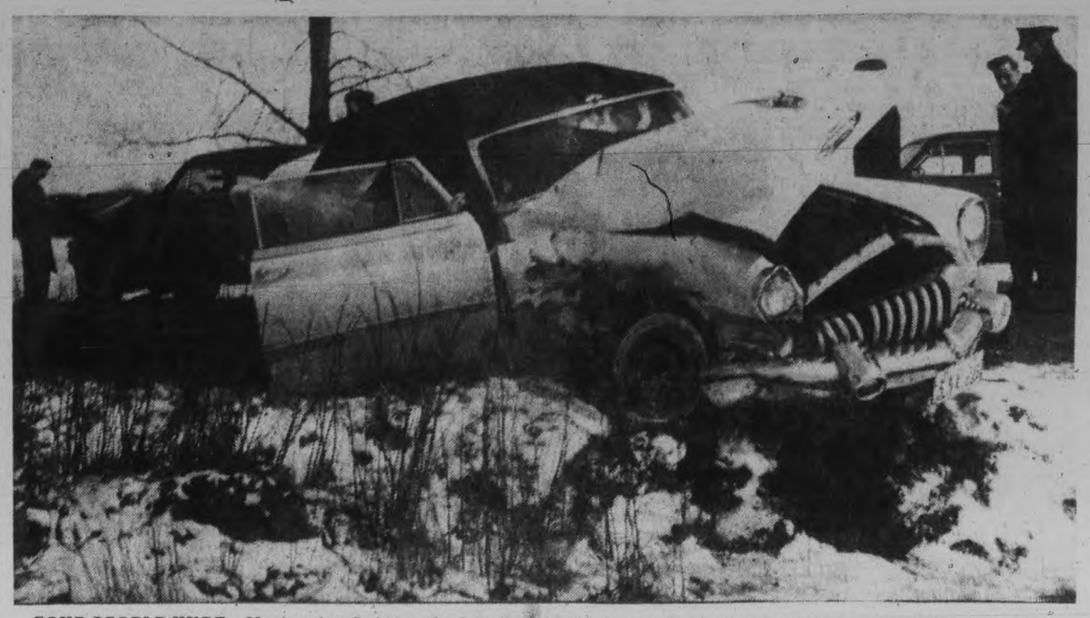
MAN KILLED AT BRIGHTON CROSSING

Queen Will Live On Royal Liner In Polio Area

ADELAIDE, Australia (Reuters)—Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies announced here tonight that the Queen will live aboard the royal liner Gothic instead of staying in hotels ashore during her visit to the polio-threatened state of Western Australia.

Menzies made the announcement after flying here from Tasmania to confer with the Queen on proposed changes in the royal tour.

Tight restrictions will be enforced, including a ban on handshaking, to prevent the Queen from catching polio. Anyone presenting a bouquet will not actually give the Queen the flowers, but place them near her, Menzies said.



All meals the Queen, the Duke of Edinburgh and other members of the royal household eat ashore will be prepared aboard the Gothic.

Menzies said some indoor functions—including a parliamentary dinner and a church service—have been cancelled.

The royal liner was due to sail from Adelaide for West Australia tonight instead of Thursday. The Queen and the duke are to fly to Perth, the state capital, Friday.

School children, instead of being massed to see the Queen, probably will be assembled in small groups.

The Queen has given approval to the changes.

FOUR PEOPLE HURT—Most seriously injured when four people were casualties in a near head-on collision south of Kendry station was Marjorie Wood, 24 Stewart St. She received cuts and bruises to the head and face. The car in which she was riding was a convertible, driven by John Cavanagh, 467 Gordon Ave. Miss Helen Dinsdale, another passenger in the Cavanagh car, said the car "turned around three or four times" after crossing the CPR tracks and met in collision with a northbound car, driven by Leston Jones in Port Hope. CPR officers (right above) stand by the Cavanagh car getting information from witnesses. The Jones car rests partly on the highway and shoulder across the highway.

Train Drags Car Quarter Of Mile; Companion Injured

COBOURG (ENS)—Dumped out of the wreckage of his car as it was dragged a quarter of a mile along the tracks by a CPR train about 2:15 a.m. today, James Harold Van Meer, 56, of Trenton, was killed and his companion injured in a level crossing collision at Brighton.

His companion, Mrs. Sadie Howe, 40, of Smithfield, trapped in the car suffered a broken right arm, broken ribs and concussion. Spectators had to use crowbars and cables to pry open the wreckage and then cut through part of her clothing to free her.

She was taken to hospital in Trenton, where doctors said she is expected to recover.

STRUCK AT CROSSING

Investigators said the car, believed driven by Van Meer, was struck by a Toronto-to-Ottawa train at the Presqu'ile [illegible] a quarter of a mile west of the Brighton railway station and about 22 miles west of Belleville.

Van Meer's body was dropped off about 100 yards before the train ground to a stop with the car jammed under its front.

Cpl. C. Lyle of the Brighton detachment of the OPP investigated.

Grand Mixup As Time Zone Changes Made

SEOUL (AP) — South Korea finally declared her independence from the Japan time zone and you should see the confusion.

The national assembly, fiercely patriotic, carved out a Korean time zone half an hour behind the Japanese. The change was made Saturday.

Now appointments are confirmed with the question: "Japan or Korean time?" The 4 o'clock plane for Japan leaves at 4:30. And the 3 o'clock plane arrives at 3:30. International commuters and telephoners are having the time of their lives making connections.

Fifty years ago Japan ordered Korea to set her clocks on Japan time. It was done to simplify commerce. And while the political course between the two countries often was rough, they operated smoothly in a single time zone. When the sun rose in Japan, it brightened the Korean hilltops and rice paddies, regardless of the facts of nature.

Now South Korea is back on its own time.

FALLS IN LINE

The U.S. state department was the first to fall in line. International etiquette, one diplomat explained. How can you keep appointments with Koreans when your clocks aren't in tune.

The army was tougher. Army transportation officials, less disposed to diplomacy, asked, "how in heck can we run a railroad when everyone has his own time?" But it gave in.

The air force was last. For a while planes took off from Japan on time and arrived in South Korean half an hour ahead of schedule. Then they left South Korea on time and returned to Japan half an hour late. Finally the air force threw in its minute hand.

Especially happy are the wristwatch salesmen. They're happy because Korea-Japan commuters are talking of buying wrist watches for the other arm—so they'll know what time it is in each country.

1953 Council Named To Handle Affairs

WHITBY (CP) — A caretaker council made up of members of the 1953 council is administering Pickering township's affairs today following a judgment Friday invalidating the 1954 election.

The ruling, handed down by Ontario county judge J. E. Pritchard, came at the end of a six-day hearing during which stockbroker Gerald Allman and Stephen Stephenson, unsuccessful candidate for reeve, charged 29 irregularities in the Dec. 7 election.

Judge Pritchard, in a 24-page judgment, directed that a new election be held in the town. Testimony was that voters had not cast ballots in secret, that a raffle had been held in a polling booth, and that the clerk did not seal ballot boxes with his own seal as required by law.

Whether the 1954 council will appeal the judge's decision has not yet been decided. If new voters' lists are required, it will take six weeks to two months before another election can be held and cost the township an estimated $500.

War Impossible Soon-Scientist

DUESSELDORF, Germany (AP) The man who invented Nazi Germany's V2 rocket said Sunday he thinks atomic research will make war impossible within the next 12 months.

Professor Hermann Oberth said that by then it will be possible to reach any point on the globe within 45 minutes with atom bomb-loaded rockets.

"This means that in case of war all big cities of the enemy can be destroyed within two or three hours. Personally, I definitely believe that then no minister will decide himself for a war because he would sign his own death sentence at the same time."

Oberth addressed the German Society for Space Research, of which he is honorary president.

Seaway Bill Decision Delayed To April 1

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House of Representatives rules committee today put off until April 1 a decision on whether to send the Senate-approved St. Lawrence seaway bill to the House for a vote.

Seaway supporters, who had hoped for a committee vote today, were disappointed by the postponement. One, Representative John A. Blatnik (Dem. Minn.) told reporters:

This (action to postpone) is a double shuffle in which they (the opponents) are taking every advantage to delay."

Representative George A. Dondero (Rep. Mich.), chairman of the House public works committee which approved the bill on Feb. 3 by a 23-to-6 vote, said he was not sure if the delay would jeopardize the bill's chances on the floor.

Churchill Calls Advisers In Suez Crisis

LONDON (CP)—Britain today blamed Egypt for disorders in the Suez canal zone and said renewed negotiations for a Suez settlement are impossible under present conditions.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden declared it is "not possible" in present circumstances for Britain to reopen her discussions with Egypt on the evacuation of British troops from the canal zone.

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Churchill called his top military advisers to a surprise cabinet meeting tonight for urgent talks on worsening British-Egyptian relations. Churchill acted two hours after Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told the Commons Egyptian authorities must prevent Egyptian guerrillas from ambushing and sniping at British troops if they want Suez canal zone talks resumed.

Eden made the statement in the House of Commons in comment on deteriorating conditions in the strategic Middle East base. Four Britons were killed by Egyptian attackers there last week and others were wounded.

Replying to questions, Eden said conditions of order and security in the canal zone had deteriorated "very seriously" in the last week.

He said Britain told the Cairo regime "that in the present conditions which are due to their failure to take the necessary steps to maintain order, a resumption of discussions on the future of the canal zone base is not possible."

Find Dynamite Sticks Wedged Under Bridge

HAMILTON (CP) — A box containing 46½ sticks of dynamite was discovered just before noon Sunday, wedged between a girder and an abutment of the Black bridge on Beach road.

The box was found by Joseph Diotati, who was fishing beside the bridge.

He phoned police who took charge of the explosives.

Four People Injured As Car Spins; Collides With Auto

Four people were treated at Civic Hospital Sunday afternoon as a result of spectacular collision on Highway 28 just south of the Kendry station. One of the cars involved suffered damages in the neighborhood of $1,000.

John Cavanagh, of 467 Gordon Ave., was driving south when his car went out of control just beyond the railway tracks at Kendry. He was in collision with a Peterborough-bound car driven by Leston Jones of Port Hope.

Miss Helen Dinsdale of 33 Jackson Ave., a passenger in the Cavanagh car, told The Examiner that the car skidded just past the tracks, "turned around three or four times" and was in collision with the Jones' vehicle.

THROWN FROM CAR

Most seriously injured of the four in the Cavanagh car was Miss Marjorie Wood of 24 Stewart St., sitting in the front seat beside the driver. She was thrown from the car by the impact and suffered cuts and bruises to the head and face. She, with Mr. Cavanagh, are in satisfactory condition in hospital today.

The four were travelling to Toronto in order that Miss Joan Cavanagh could catch a 2 o'clock plane at Malton, said Miss Dinsdale, who works at the Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto. The accident happened shortly before one o'clock.

A. A. Shearing of Oshawa, driving behind the Cavanagh car said he saw the car skid just after passing the tracks, and turn about several times on the road. Mr. Shearing said the Jones' car was "almost stopped" and near the right side of the road at the time of the impact.

CAR RESTS IN DITCH

After the impact the Cavanagh car was found in the right ditch, its back end on the shoulder. Damage to the right front fender, side and grille was extensive. Windows on the right side were smashed, the front bumper was torn in two and parts of the engine were scattered on the road.

The Jones' car was over on its right shoulder, across from the Cavanagh vehicle and facing towards the city. It was damaged on the left fender and grille, and the steering wheel was buckled. Jars of fruit preserves were scattered over the pavement.

John Cavanagh and Miss Wood were in the front seat, while Miss Dinsdale and Joan Cavanagh were in the rear. Neither passenger in

Churchill Won't Oblige U.K. Rumors By Retiring

LONDON (Reuters)—Rumor is trying to hustle Sir Winston Churchill into retirement—but he won't oblige. A fresh spate of rumors about the 79-year-old prime minister burst forth in Sunday's newspapers. The prophets — emboldened by the knowledge that Churchill never denies speculation—even reshuffled the Conservative party cabinet and discussed a national election this fall.

Some insist the prime minister will resign soon after the Queen returns in May from her Commonwealth tour, and that Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden will take over then.

What are the facts?

1. Sources closest to Churchill said that while he is admittedly unpredictable, they are convinced he has so far made no definite plans for retirement.

2. Conservative party quarters declared nobody in the party organization had been "alerted" to expect an election this year.

3. Definite plans are being made for Churchill—as leader of the party — to make his customary speech to a mass meeting of Conservatives at the end of their annual conference next October.

4. The prime minister has recently been fitter than at any time since his illness last summer and is still as anxious as ever to make some personal contributions to the peaceful settlement of the world's problems before he lays down his official burdens.

Farmer Becomes Living Torch

MALLORYTOWN, Ont. (CP) — Francis Avery, 45-year-old farmer, became a living torch Sunday when he rushed into the flaming interior of his home to lead his 83-year-old mother and his two children to safety.

Avery is in hospital today suffering third degree burns to the head and body. His wife has been a patient in hospital for two weeks suffering from pneumonia.

The Avery farm is located about 10 miles west of Brockville. The fire, of unknown origin, had turned the downstairs of the home into an inferno when Avery, who was working in the barn noticed it.

The flames set his clothes afire as he entered but he ran through the house and led his mother, Mrs. George Avery, and his two children, Wayne 9, and Sheila, 12, out the front door.

The house was burned to the ground.

Four Men Rescued When Plane Damaged
